THURSDAY, JANUARY 19, 1893.

HE LIVED BY HIS WITS.

BUT HE IS NOW ON TRIAL FOR BIGAMY.

His Name is W. H. Saunders and he is the Son of a Middlesex County Clergyman—A Remarkably Successful Career of Deception

CHICAGO, Jan. 18.—W. H. Saunders, son of an Exeter, Ont., clergyman, is being tried here on 16 charges of conspiracy and two of perjury.

His career has been an eventful one, and in his wake are scattered hearts, battered pocketbooks, victims by the hundred and a ruined home.

His wife in Exeter has been apprised of his collision with Detective Storen, and his wife at the Palmer House is interceding with the police not to punish him.

He is about 34 years old. His nerve is nickleplated, and his appearance is one that would readily impress women whose husbands have ceased to exist.

Two deluded women have called at detective headquarters to condone with the imprisoned man. They were sure that he must be the victim of a conspiracy, for such a nice man could do no wrong. Saunders was to have married both of them when he had time.

Saunders arrived in this city four months ago and at once began business. Four days after his arrival, according to police reports, he was arrested, and got out on "straw" bail. At first he had an office in the Masonic building, which was fitted up on the "time plan." He advertised for individuals who wanted to make bankers' salaries by working at home, making Turner landscapes by a new process. At one time it seemed as if he would have to secure help to wait upon those who called. After being arrested he changed quarters and was next heard of at 194 Clark-street, where he again began business, with one Coburn as a partner.

Emma Fritzmeyer is a confiding woman, and has worked in the linen room of the Palmer House for a number of years. She owns a farm near Port Huron, Mich., and when Saunders heard of this he began operations to get it. This could only be done by making Emma his wife, and although he was already a husband and father, the idea of taking another helpmate had no terrors for him.

He met Emma six weeks ago, and she became infatuated. He was posing as a lawyer, with an office at 198 Clark street, and had never before met a woman whom he would like to call Mrs. W. H. Saunders until he met Emma. Of course Miss Fritzmeyer was a trifle pleased at the compliment paid, and when "off watch" she would visit the office and confer with "Willie."

On the second visit Emma told Saunders of her standing in this world: She was alone, no one to protect her, and, as far as coin of the realm was concerned, she had a reasonable supply and an unencumbered farm near Port Huron, Mich.

Saunders would like to wed, but his business was of such an exacting nature that he feared he would be but an indifferent husband. However, he proposed, was accepted, and four weeks ago yesterday they were married.

He had no time to furnish a house, and Mrs. Saunders was allowed to look after the linen at the Palmer House, while he corralled the sucker that is said to be born every minute. He would furnish a house when his business affairs became more settled.

They are now settled. The wife of a well-known citizen was found in Saunders' office the day of the arrest, and surmising that she was Mrs. Saunders No. 2, Detective Storen addressed her as such. After being cross-questioned the woman broke down and told a strange story of how she became infatuated with Saunders. She was on the eve of leaving her husband and eloping with him. With her young brother, who wished to become a painter, she visited the studio to see if the place was a proper one.

Saunders induced her to find the young man other employment, but she would be welcome at any time. She called and told Saunders her family affairs. He told her to leave her husband, convert her property into cash and fly with him to some distant Eden, where the remainder of their lives would be passed in sweet idleness, or words to that effect. The husband consented to sell the property, or a portion of it, and the transfer was to be made the day Saunders was arrested.

All the victims were anxious to appear and prosecute Saunders.

BEHRING SEA AFFAIR.

The Arbitrators To Meet In Paris On Feb. 23

OTTAWA, Jan. 19.—Hon. C. H. Tupper leaves for New York on Monday and will sail for England on Wednesday by the Majestic, in connection with his duties as British agent on the Behring Sea arbitration case.

No announcement has been made as to the movement of Sir John Thompson, and unless the date of the meeting of the arbitration in Paris is changed it is difficult to see how Sir John can retain his position as arbitrator while Parliament is sitting and his presence is required here. The date of the meeting is now fixed for Feb. 23, but it is thought the meeting will be only formal and an adjournment for two or three months will be made.

Should this be done, and Parliament not sit over three months, Sir John would be able to attend when the arbitrators meet for business. Otherwise he will be obliged to resign and another arbitrator appointed. This was mentioned at the time Sir John Abbott resigned and Sir John Thompson assumed the Premiership. In the event of Sir John Thompson being unable to serve on the arbitration the name of Sir Charles Tupper would naturally suggest itself as his probable successor, or possibly that of Sir A. T. Galt, who so successfully represented Canada on the Halifax commission.

A GENEROUS BOARDER.

A BOSTON MILLIONAIRE REMEMBERS THE GIRLS.

An Old Bachelor, Living at the United States Hotel, Boston, Divides $40,000 Among the Servant Girls of the House—They Cry Happy Tears.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Jan. 19.—John Spalding, a millionaire bachelor living at the United States Hotel, Boston, has just given eight servant girls employed in the hotel $40,000. Mr. Spalding is connected with the Revere Sugar Refining Company of East Boston, is a director of the Boston and Albany Railroad, and a host of corporations, and is very wealthy. He owns splendid place in Dorchester, but has a suite of rooms at the United States Hotel every winter. Mr. Spalding is a philanthropist who does not believe in doing all his good after he dies.

About Christmas time he told Landlord Tilly Haynes he would like to remember several of the women employes. So a few days later Spalding gave eight little bundles to Mrs. Hickey, Mrs. Haynes' sister, with the request that she hand them to the girls. One was for the little English girl who takes the tickets at the dining room door, another for the one who tends the telephone, a third for the one who oversees the cleaning, and so on five times more. Mrs. Hickey peeped into the packages and was upset by finding 25 shares of the preferred stock of the Revere Sugar Refining Company in each. As the market value of the stock is 120, the eight gifts aggregate $24,000. She asked Mr. Spalding if he had not made a mistake and was told no. When the young women received their presents one fainted from joy and most of the cried.

This quite overcame Spalding, and he said he guessed he had made a mistake, for the dividend of 10 per cent. on preferred stock could be drawn only semi-annually. So he made up eight additional rolls and in each of these were 15 shares of the common stock of the company on which the dividends are payable quarterly. This stock was recently quoted at 105, which made $1575 more for each of the girls as a holiday reminder, making the total present $4575, or $36,600 for the eight. Furthermore, keen financiers say Revere preferred stock is on its way to 150, so the gifts will easily reach the $40,000.

A COLD TOSS.

A Father Aroused By His House Being In Flames.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 19.—The family of Thomas C. Ross, Tecumseh-avenue, had a very narrow escape with their lives early yesterday and a decidedly unpleasant experience.

Mr. Ross was awakened by a feeling of suffocation and found his room filled with smoke.

Without a moment's delay he aroused his wife and then hurried to his children's bedroom.

There was no time to escape by the usual way and a window was hastily raised and the children were one by one thrown out through the window into the snow and the bitterly cold night with nothing to protect them but their night clothes.

As soon as the neighbors could be aroused the homeless family were cared for.

AN OLD OFFENDER.

He is Suspected of Being the Daring Robber in Queen-street.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Louis Witkowski, who claims to be a tailor living at 5 Hagerman-street, was arrested last night by Sergt. Reburn on suspicion of being one of the perpetrators of the jewelry store robberies which occurred lately in Queen-street. Witkowski is an old offender and is said to answer to the descriptions given by both the suffering jewelry men. Many members of the force were after him yesterday, but failed to locate him. Sergt. Reburn at 7 o'clock started to look for the suspect. As he crossed the corner of Queen and Yonge-streets he noticed his man go over to the other side and attempt to slide away. He was locked up last night at No. 1.

FED CHICKENS WRONG.

Therefore He Was Beaten, Frozen and Sent Back to the City.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Alfred Twait, an 11-year-old boy, who for four years before last July was an inmate of the Protestant Orphans' Home and was adopted by a Keadleworth farmer, returned to the city last night in a pitiable condition. He tells a hard story, which may or may not be true. He was adopted by Edward J. Smith. He went to feed the chickens, did not scatter the seed to suit his master and was knocked over with a fork. He still carried an ugly gash on the temple, which he says is the result. Both his hands and feet have been frozen. He was given a ticket for Toronto and on his arrival was removed in the ambulance to the Sick Children's Hospital.

A NARROW SHAVE.

Trolley Accident in Yonge-Street—A Sleigh Smashed by Collision.

TORONTO, Jan. 19.—Yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock as a trolley was coming at a good speed down Yonge-street, the driver of a laden sleigh belonging to Messrs. Rice & Davis, fruiterers, Church-street, crossed from Maitland-street directly in front of the on-coming trolley. The driver put on the brake, sounded the gong, but the rails being slippery he could not pull up soon enough to prevent the collision. The trolley struck the sleigh at the hind part, smashing the runners and throwing the driver and his barrels to the ground. Fortunately he was not hurt. The sleigh was completely wrecked. The man had whipped his horse and thought he could safely cross the track into Broadalbane-street. He had a narrow escape from death. The brake of the trolley was smashed, and the front of the car and the wire guard damaged.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Coates informs me that the Toronto 4 per cent. local improvement bonds, placed by the city in the hands of brokers at 96 1-2, amounting to £153,312, have all been taken up by investors before the time specified at 100 1-2.

Another miner railway has defaulted. The Trustees, Executors and Securities Insurance Corporation announce that the interest due Jan. 1 on the bonds of the Shediac and Lansdowne Railway of New Brunswick have not been paid. The corporation also deny that they have any concern with the issue of $400,000 in bonds of the Nova Scotia Grand Trunk Railway. Lord Claude Hamilton says his name was used without his consent.

For Service in Egypt.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The King's Dragoon Guards have been ordered to send to Portsmouth on Jan. 25 that portion of the regiment which left Egypt in 1891.

ITALY'S FINANCIAL

A Large Deficiency in a Bank—Failure in Sicily Becomes Known.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—A deficiency of 3,000,000 francs is stated to exist in the Rome branch of the Banco Napoli. The cashier of the Rome branch has been arrested and a director has absconded. It is reported the absconding director recently bought a ticket to the United States. Another rumor is to the effect that he has gone to Italy.

Grave rumors are afloat regarding the Banco Romano and the police have the directors under surveillance for fear they will run away. The Banco Romano has recently been conducting negotiations with the Banco Nazionale, and there is a consensus of opinion that the only hope of salvation for the Romano is in a coalition with the Nazionale.

Financiers are greatly excited, and there is also much excitement among depositors, many of whom will be ruined in the event of serious disaster to the Banco Romano.

Advices from Sicily state that although the vigorous efforts of the Government have succeeded to a large degree in stamping out brigandage, the brigands who had been driven into hiding are again beginning to show themselves, and the authorities are organizing measures for their suppression.

THE RAVINE HER GRAVE.

The Body of a Young English Woman Found in the Ligurian Alps.

BERNE, Jan. 19.—The mutilated body of a young English woman, who was a bold mountain climber, was found at the bottom of a rocky ravine in the Ligurian Alps yesterday.

An avalanche killed a farmer and his son near Lucerne yesterday.

Satolli to Live in Gotham.

ROME, Jan. 19.—As it is not the intention of the Vatican to establish a legation in the United States Mgr. Satolli, the Apostolic Delegate, will, it is stated here, reside in New York and not in Washington. It is stated that Mgr. Satolli's salary will be about $8000 a year.

Cholera in Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Jan. 19.—Three more negroes belonging to the crew of the steamer Gretchen Bohleu have been seized with cholera.

The Infanta Declines.

MADRID, Jan. 19.—The Infanta Isabella has withdrawn her provisional promise to open the Chicago Columbian Exposition. She considers the expense would be beyond her income.

The Cold in Europe.

BERLIN, Jan. 19.—Three frozen bodies were found yesterday in the streets. In Servia the wolves are prowling around towns and villages.

The Spree's Towing Bill.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The steamer Lake Huron has received $60,000 for towing the Spree into Queenstown.

Politics in Australia.

MELBOURNE, Jan. 19.—By a vote of 45 to 42 the Colonial Parliament yesterday declared its want of confidence in the Government.

THE SARNIA STEAL.

Bail Refused James McMahon, the Alleged Express Robber.

SARNIA, Jan. 19.—James McMahon, who is confined in Sarnia Jail awaiting trial for robbing the Canadian express office, made application to be admitted to bail, but it was refused, and McMahon will have to remain behind the bars. The supposed accomplice of McMahon is said to be in Detroit, but there is a question if he will ever be apprehended, provided he remains out of Canada, McMahon's diversified statements making it difficult to prove any extraditable case against him. It appears that he only took the money from McMahon and again returned it to him when requested to do so, excepting, it is claimed, that he made the key which was left in the safe.

A CHALLENGE.

Galananugh, In An Aluminium Shell, Will Row Any One In An Ordinary Boat.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—In reply to D. E. Waters' statement regarding paper and aluminium shells, D. J. Galananugh writes:

"I will wager that I can construct an eight-oared shell of aluminium which shall weigh less than his paper boats and be more seaworthy than his boats. To substantiate which I will make the following proposition:

"I will row any man in America a three-mile race for $500 or $1000 a side, said oarsman to row in a paper shell constructed by Waters, and I to row in an aluminium shell constructed by myself; the race to take place upon waters to be mutually agreed upon.

"Should Mr. Waters agree to the above fair proposition I will immediately post a forfeit for the race."

Knotty Point At Issue.

LONDON, Ont., Jan 19.—Mrs. James McAllister of the village of Norwich, county of Oxford, died on March 25, 1889, leaving about $30,000 to a few heirs, with the following direction to her executors as to holding back the intended share to one of them, viz.:

"Until they, my said executors, shall be satisfied in their description that he, the said Robert Franklin McAllister, shall have quit drinking or dissipation and reformed from such habits, whom they shall pay over to him the said principal and interest; but they, my said executors, shall, nevertheless, even if he shall continue in dissipation, see that he never want either for board or clothing."

Some $6000 or $9000 would have fallen to the erring son, but witnesses said he never earned the material bequest by improved behavior, but, continuing his dissipated career, fell from a train near Dorchester while returning from the London exhibition last autumn. The deceased left surviving him a child, who also shared the grandmother's bounty. An action was brought and heard at the assizes on Monday to determine whether the unearned bequest at his death descended to his child or reverted to the residuary legatee. His Lordship reserved judgment.

WEST PETERBOROUGH AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

The Annual Meeting Held—The Reports Received Show Satisfactory Results—Officers Elected.

The annual meeting of the West Peterborough Agricultural Society was held in the town council chamber, on Wednesday afternoon. President Geo. E. Elliott occupied the chair, and there was a fair number of directors and members present, in fact larger than usual. The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mr. Wm. Collins and approved.

The report of the following township societies were then read as follows:—

Smith, Ennismore and Lakefield Society showing:—

Total receipts	$520 26
Total expenditure	523 38

Treasurer—Jos. Clark.

Directors—J. Mouncey, J. Lightfoot, W. H. Hutchinson, Jas. Dawson, Jas. Wood, N. Dawson, Wm. McAllister, John Buchanan, George Fair.

Auditors — Edward Ball, Bruce Heron.

The annual report of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society was not presented, owing to the annual meeting of the society not being held yet.

President Elliott stated that a move was being made to amalgamate this society with the West Riding Society for exhibition purposes. The Horticultural Society was anxious for the union, and he thought such an action would be beneficial to both organizations.

The treasurer's statement of the West Riding Agricultural Society was presented as follows:

Treasurer's statement for the year ending December 31st, 1892:

Receipts.

To balance on hand as per last annual report	$ 165 29

THE REPORT OF DIRECTORS was presented as follows:

To the Members of the West Riding Agricultural Society:

GENTLEMEN, — In presenting you with our annual statement we are happy to be able to announce that the past year has been one of encouraging success. In comparing the financial results with those of other years, it is to be noticed that, after paying our prize list and other necessary expenses there is a balance on hand of $337.67, which we are happy to state is the most favourable balance that has ever existed at the close of the year's operations since the lease of the present grounds began. This showing is all the more gratifying when it is remembered that we neither solicited nor received a dollar towards the prize list from any source outside the usual government grant and the hotelkeepers' fund for special prize. The sum of $150 voted by the county council in 1891, did not come into our hands until Jan. 1892. Of this $100 was at once used to assist in discharging obligations that belonged to '91. The remaining $50 was expended on capital account to assist in building the exhibition horse ring. The inside estimate of the cost of this work was $250, but your directors are pleased to state that owing to the generously volunteered assistance of members and farmers living in the vicinity the actual expenditure was kept down to about one-third that amount. Several gentlemen from a distance pronounced this ring one of the best for exhibition purposes to be found in the province. The Directors take this opportunity of thanking the gentlemen who so kindly came to to their aid in its construction. They would also call attention to the honour and advantage the society enjoyed in having the friendly services of His Honour Lieut.-Governor Kirkpatrick, to open the exhibition, which it is fitting should be formally acknowledged and included in a review of the factors that contributed to the success of our annual exhibition.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

W. COLLINS, Secretary. G. E. ELLIOTT. President.

Moved by Mr. D. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. A. Fairbairn, that the directors report be received.

The president stated that the society was starting the year under very favourable circumstances. The membership at the last annual meetihg was 94, it is now 124.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The following officers were then elected for the ensuing year:—

President—Geo. E. Elliott.

1st Vice-President—Wm. Rutherford.

2nd " " —J. A. Davidson.

Treasurer—C. McGill.

Directors—Jas. Stevenson, M.P., J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Jas. Kendry, T Hall, Robt. Vance, Dawson Kennedy, John Stothart, H. C. Winch, and A. P. Morgan.

Auditors—W. J. Green, Fred Davidson.

Before adjourning the president stated the society's lease for the ground ran out in 1893, but the directors hoped to make an arrangement whereby the grounds could be re-leased. They owed $700 on the buildings yet. $200 of this the society would pay now. The meeting then adjourned.

The newly elected directors will meet on Saturday, Jan. 28th inst. to elect a secretary and transact other business.

Something To Remember.

If you're a weak or ailing woman: that there's only one medicine so sure to help you that it can be guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription! In building up overworked, feeble, delicate women, or in any "female complaint" or weakness, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a safe and certain remedy for woman's ills and ailments. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

Nothing else can be as cheap. With this, you pay only for the good you get.

Bordering on Consumption.

When a cold is neglected it frequently develops a condition bordering on consumption. No other remedy will so quickly relieve and cure cases of this dangerous kind as Dr. Woods Norway Pine Syrup, because no other remedy possesses such perfect curative powers as does this prince of pectoral remedies.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not being held out by others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have conclude that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr. Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 28 in. wide,	17½	Good Linen Towels each	5½
9 lb. Wool Blankets,	$3.75	Grey Wool Blankets,	31c. a lb.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel,	$1.00	25 yards Factory Cotton,	$1.00

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a glance at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

IN GLASS. That's the way Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets come. And it's a more important point than you think. It keeps them always fresh and reliable, unlike the ordinary pills in cheap wooden or pasteboard boxes.

They're put up in a better way, and they act in a better way, than the huge, old-fashioned pills. No griping, no violence, no reaction afterward that sometimes leaves you worse off than before. In that way, they cure permanently. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured.

They're tiny, sugar-coated granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts—the smallest in size, the easiest to take, and cheapest pill you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

There's nothing likely to be "just as good."

ENNISMORE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Inaugural Meeting of the Council.

The inaugural meeting of the council was held on Jan. 10th. The following members-elect having subscribed to the declaration of office, took their seats — Reeve Jeremiah McCarthy, councillors Messrs. J. K. Galvin, P. J. Galvin, Jas. Murphy and M Perdue.

ANNUAL APPOINTMENTS.

Bylaws appointing township officers and a Board of Health were duly passed as follows: Clerk, J. F. Sullivan; assessor, P. B. Sullivan—the roll to be returned by April 20th; treasurer, John Young; special auditor, Peter F. Flood. (The Reeve, appointed James Gifford the other special auditor.)

Board of Health—Jeremiah McCarthy, reeve; J. F. Sullivan, clerk; Wm. Geary, Jas. Murphy and Richard Cosgrove.

THOUGHTFUL KINDNESS.

A refund of $13.13, amount of county and township taxes, was voted to Mrs. James Keene, on account of sickness and death in her family.

Thomas O'Connor, was voted $1.50 in payment of services as constable on nomination day, 1892.

The sum of $4.00 each was voted to Francis Moloney and Thos. O'Connor, in payment for services as auditors for 1892.

The joints and muscles are so lubricated by Hood's Sarsaparilla that all rheumatism and stiffness soon disappear. Try it.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Last Friday evening just after ten the English church bell sounded an alarm of fire. Before the engine could be run out, it was discovered to be from a chimney in C. G. Blomfield's residence which was soon extinguished by willing hands.

The ice harvest is now on and large quantities of ice are being stored in the village; as soon as the weather moderates soon will leave to take out and store ice for the use of many of the cottage owners up the lakes.

The ice has taken down to the edge of the dam in the river. On Monday Mr. Robert Carter crossed over to Smith street some 25 yards above the dam, taking an axe with him he found the ice to be from four to six inches thick notwithstanding the powerful current in that locality.

COUNCIL MEETING.

The inauguration of the council for 1893, took place in the town hall on Monday evening when the clerk announced that W. H. Casement had been declared reeve by acclamation, and that Messrs. F. Lillicrap, Dr. Burgess, John Hull and James Moore had been elected councillors, and that all had taken the required declarations. After routine a by-law appointing Dr. D. Fraser and C. J. Blomfield, auditors, and one appointing the reeve, clerk, Robt. Graham, C. J. Blomfield, and John Isbister a Board of Health, were passed through their several readings.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Hull, that the standing committees for the year be appointed as follows:—

Road and Sidewalk—Councillors Lillicrap, Burgess and Moore.

Finance—Councillors Hull and Dr. Burgess.

General—Burgess, Lillicrap, Moore, Hull.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Lillicrap, seconded by Mr. Moore, that the clerk be instructed to furnish for the information of the council at its next meeting, the number of loads of gravel bought, the quantity of plank and nails, number of men and teams, number of days the road master was engaged on roads and sidewalks, the number of nights the electric lights were out, number of persons arrested or summoned for breach of bylaws or statutes by the village constable during the year 1892.—Carried.

The clerk was instructed to procure six copies of the Municipal World for 1893 for the use of this council.

Mr. J. P. Strickland addressed the council in regard to the obstruction of Water street by the G. T. R. piling ties. A long discussion took place, which was ended by the motion to adjourn.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because Cures Catarrh the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is because it is always the same in appearance, flavor, and effect, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed. It is, therefore, the most economical blood-purifier in existence. It Cures SCROFULA makes food nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It searches out all impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly by the natural channels. AYER'S Sarsaparilla gives elasticity to the step, and imparts to the aged and infirm, renewed health, strength, and vitality.

THE Superior Medicine

MACMASTER & McGIBBON, Montreal.

The Directors, who are now the owners of the entire Capital stock, have decided, at the request of numerous friends of the Company throughout Canada, to enlarge the proprietorship of its stock, and to offer for sale, at par, ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, fully paid and non-assessable.

Payments are to be made as follows:—Five per cent. on application; fifteen per cent. on allotment, twenty per cent. each in one, two, three and four months from the date of allotment. Applicants have the right to pay in full on allotment.

Applications for shares will be received until February 15th, 1893, at any of the offices of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the offices of the Union Bank of Halifax, and at the head office of the company, N. Y. Life Building, Montreal.

Forms of application for shares may be obtained at any of the above places, or they will be sent by mail on request.

Should no allotment of stock be made to any applicant for shares, the amount paid will be returned in full, and in the event of the Directors finding it impossible to allot the full number of shares applied for, the surplus of the deposit will be credited toward the amount payable on allotment.

The right is reserved of withdrawing the offer in whole or part at any time before allotment, and of allotting to any applicant any less number of shares than the number applied for.

As the dividends of the Company are payable quarterly, beginning with the first day of March next, allottees of stock will be entitled to receive a proportion of the quarterly dividend as declared, corresponding to the amount paid upon their subscription.

It is proposed to apply to the Stock Exchanges of Montreal and Toronto for official quotations of the shares of the Company.

The Consumers Cordage Company was organized in June, 1890, with a Capital of one million dollars, to operate several of the largest Cordage and Binder Twine Factories in Canada. It, at first, operated these under leases, but its operations having been successful, the Capital Stock was subsequently increased to Three Million Dollars, and the leased properties were purchased.

The Company has no mortgage indebtedness; and, according to the law under which it was incorporated, none can be created without the consent of two-thirds of the shareholders, represented at a meeting called for the purpose.

The Company has gained in the assay of its Business:—

(a) Public statements of its affairs, certified to by Messrs. Caldwell, Tait & Wilks, Chartered Accountants.

(b) The following letter from Messrs. Abbotts, Campbell & Meredith, advocates, Montreal, upon the legality of its incorporation, and the issue of its stock:—

MONTREAL, January 5, 1893.

Consumers Cordage Co., Ltd., Montreal:—

GENTLEMEN,—We have examined the books and documents connected with the organization of the Consumers Cordage Company, Limited, and are of opinion that it has been properly incorporated, and that its capital stock of $3,000,000, as issued, is fully paid up and non-assessable, according to the provisions of the "Companies Act."

We are, yours truly,

(signed), ABBOTTS, CAMPBELL & MEREDITH.

(c). A report from Messrs. Macmaster and McGibbon, Solicitors of the Company, that the titles to its Mills have been duly examined, and that no encumbrances exist.

Applicants for shares may examine these documents, copies of which may be seen at the Company's offices, and at the various offices of the Banks mentioned above.

The Consumers Cordage Company is probably the second largest Manufacturer of Cordage and Binder Twine in the world, and claims the following very material advantages over its competitors:—

1st. Ample capital to conduct its business which enables it:—

(a) To buy its raw material in larger quantities, and at lower prices.

(b) To use only the latest and most improved machinery, thus keeping its mills in the highest state of efficiency.

2nd. Economy in selling and distributing its manufactured product.

3rd. The business covers so wide a territory (its manufactured goods go to almost every civilized country in the world) that it cannot be seriously injured by local troubles; and its Manufacturing establishments are so scattered that the danger of severe loss by fire is very slight.

4th. Lower cost of production.

(a). By maintaining the sharpest competition between its several mills, it is enabled to introduce in all the best methods found in each.

(b). By spreading its commercial expenses over a larger output.

(c) By placing in one hand the purchasing of the Raw Materials and Manufacturing supplies for the several Mills, thus securing lowest prices.

(d). By manufacturing for themselves many of their supplies.

The Company has always found it in its interest to divide the economies effected in production and distribution with the Consumer, and since its existence the Consumer has, upon the average, had a better article at a lower price than previously.

The Company does not claim to have any monopoly, or to earn monopoly profits; in fact, it has not done so. Since its organization it has been able, owing to the advantages above referred to, to earn a net return on its present capital of not less than 10 per cent. per annum (as statements in their Bankers' hands will show), and the Directors believe that these profits will be maintained in the future, as the cost of production and distribution shows each year a marked decrease.

The Dividend for the year ending 31st October, 1892, was at the rate of 8½ per cent. per annum. The past record of the Company and its present position justify the Directors in believing that quarterly dividends of one and three-quarters per cent. can be paid [and should the profits for the present year be as large as the outlook promises, the final quarter's dividend might be increased.

Any further information may be had at the head office, or the Company at Montreal.

SCAVENGING.

THE undersigned is prepared to do scavenger work promptly and on most reasonable terms. Jobs of all sizes estimated before done. Holes dug and boxes put in. Orders may be addressed to P.O. Box 563, Peterborough. Letter will receive prompt attention

GEORGE STEVENS.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and fled from his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the

TO-MORROW NIGHT

Card of Thanks.

Mr. John McNaughton desires to use the columns of the EXAMINER to convey to the members of the council his hearty thanks for the attentive hearing they gave him on Monday night last, when he addressed the civic body on two important questions under an obligation to the ratepayers of No. 1 Ward. More than that he desires to thank the Market Committee for the prompt manner in which its members have attended to the matter of having the market clerk measure all wood offered for sale on the market. Mr. McNaughton also feels grateful to think that the suggestion thrown out in his speech to the effect that street watering should be done by a frontage tax, will come up for discussion at the next meeting of the council.

TO-MORROW NIGHT

The Final Arrangements Complete.

The Sons of Canada met in their new lodge room again last night with a large attendance. Complete arrangements were made in every detail for the success of their annual carnival at the skating rink to-morrow night. After business was finished an adjournment was made to the lodge dining room where and enjoyable hour was spent in discussing the bivalves. Songs were then sung, toasts proposed and felicitous replies made, and all in all a thoroughly pleasureable time was passed. Masqueraders at the carnival are especially requested to write their names and characters impersonated on cards, which will be provided them at the door in order that the newspapers may obtain as complete a list of the masqueraders as possible.

The Lakefield Hockeyists Down the Collegiate Institute Boys.

The Collegiate Institute hockey team drove to Lakefield yesterday afternoon to play the hockey club of that village a friendly match. They were, however, unsuccessful in defeating their opponents who beat them by four goals to two in an interessing and exciting match. The goals for the Collegiate were scored by Messrs. Heap and Grubbe. The Lakefielders were much larger in size than the visitors, and put up a better showing of hockey. However, the Collegiats have no reason to deplore their lot, and expect at the next match, which will be played here next week, to retrieve their lost laurels. Following are the teams:

Tenders Asked For.

Advertisements are out asking for tenders for the supply of lumber, etc., for use on the public works of Peterborough for the year 1893. All tenders should be addressed to T. E. Bradburn, chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee. Tenders are also asked for 50 cords of tamarac wood, and 100 cords of mixed wood for charity purposes, all tenders to be addressed to H. C. Winch, chairman of Charity Committee. The time for receiving tenders for the above closes on February 3rd.

Dr. Bell's Interesting Address.

On Thursday evening, January 26th, in the school room of St. Andrew's church, Dr. Bell will recount in his graphic style the chief incidents and describe the scenes of his voyage of last winter, which included the islands of Bermuda, the Leeward, Windward, Trinidad and other islands, and Demarara. Dr. Bell during his voyage took about eighty photographic negatives, and sixty of these have been prepared as slides and, by the aid of Mr. R. M. Roy's powerful stereopticon, will be used to illustrate and add interest to Dr. Bell's descriptive address, which is given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church, and will be well worth hearing.

An Accidental Discharge of a Revolver.

On Tuesday night at Lindsay, an accident serious enough in itself happened but it might have been worse. Mr. Harry Neil of the Harry Lindley Company which recently played in Peterborough, was on the stage and in carelessly handling an old pistol, the firearm discharged badly lacerating Mr. Neil's hand. It was a narrow escape. The injured man was in town yesterday and had his wounds dressed by Dr. Halliday. He left yesterday for Ottawa, having severed his connection with the Lindley Company. He will be remembered by Peterboroughonians as a capital vocalist with a full deep voice which pleased all in his appearances at the opera house here.

Ashburnham School Board.

The first statutory meeting of the newly elected Ashburnham School Board was held last night. Present were Messrs. E. A. Peck, F. Adams, A. D. Russell, R. Sheridan, Alex. Reid, and Jos. Craig. The secretary, Mr. A. Ingram, presided, and called for nominations for the position of chairman. On motion of Messrs. E. A. Peck, and Alex. Reid, Mr. Frank Adams was appointed chairman for the ensuing year. Mr. Ingram was re-elected secretary at a salary of $25 per year. The following were appointed on the Property Committee: Messrs. Russell, Craig and Sheridan. A few small accounts were passed, and a discussion took place on the unsanitary condition of the closets of the public school. After the transaction of several minor matters the Board adjourned.

She Left the Parental Roof.

Chief Roszel was called to the Queen's Hotel to-day to inquire into matter of a young girl who got off the train and said she had neither friends, money or home. She said she had been spending a few days with her sister in Kinmount and that she would care for her no longer, hence she had to leave. She told the constable her father had died in Toronto, when she and her mother removed to to Picton, and after a week's residence there her remaining parent's death occurred also. The chief at a loss what to do, locked the young girl up, when she becoming intimidated, revealed her story. It appears her parents live in Picton, and everything seems to indicate that the daughter, becoming tired of home life ran away. The erring one will be despatched home to-morrow. In the meantime she is staying at the Queen's.

A DIPHTHERIA EPIDEMIC.

The Harvey Board of Health and the Medical Health Officer have decided to close the school in Section No. 1, (Galway Road), School Section No. 2, (near Nogie's creek), and also ordered that no services of any kind be held in the church for two or three weeks in order to prevent the spread of that malignant and contagious disease, diphtheria. Two or three houses have been placarded on the Galway road and one or two deaths have occurred in the families. It has been confined to Harvey so far, but it is creeping around, and requires much caution on the part of the public generally in order to stamp out that dangerous disease.—COM.

For the Good of Others

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an

Article of Merit

and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe

Nervous Headache

for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could and did do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

Council Meeting.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The members elect for Harvey, met at the town hall, January 16th, viz, Robert Shaw, Esq, reeve, and Councillors Flynn, McIlmoyl, Oliver and A. G. Shearer. The members filed their declarations and took their seats for the current year. After routine a by-law was passed confirming the appointment of W. P. Chase and John Elliott as auditors. A by-law was passed appointing Board of Health officers for Harvey, for 1893, viz., R. Shaw, reeve, Jas. S. Cairnduff, clerk, and Charles McIlmoyl, Robert Renwick, Thomas Flynn and James Ingram, also appointing C. E. Bonnell, M.D., as Medical Health Officer for Harvey for 1893. The clerk was instructed to notify Mr. Thexton to settle for the timber cut on the concession line between lot 17. On motion Mrs. Holt's taxes were ordered to be removed from the collector's roll for 1892. A bylaw was passed re-appointing the treasurer, clerk and assessor for 1893. Accounts passed and orders drawn on the treasurer for payment as follows: Jos. Stephenson, for 21 loads of gravel at 5c. each, $10.50; Quinton Moore, for one barrel of flour for Jno. Lancefield, $4; Samuel Purser, for supplies for Abott, $7.43; D. R. Montgomery, to rectify error in levy upon S.S. No. 5 for 1892, $15; John J. Elliott, caretaker fo town hall for 1892, $6.00; Peter Hamilton, for one steel road scraper, $8; William Beatty, for timber for Crowe's crossway, $5; Mr. Weir, salary as treasurer for 92, $45; Thomas Flynn, two days as commissioner on roads, $3; Charles McIlmoyl, two days as commissioner on roads, $3; R. Shaw, one day examining Sandy Point road, $1.50; A. G. Shearer, one day examining Sandy Point road, $1.50. The collector was instructed to proceed with the collection of the taxes for 1892 remaining unpaid. The council adjourned to meet February 27th next at the clerk's office.

THE TOWN FINANCES.

The Review in last night's issue returns to the question of the state of the town's finances and in so doing assumes a peculiar attitude. Speaking, apparently, on behalf of the mayor and council, the servants of the people, it asserts in effect that it is mean and cowardly to discuss the town's financial position with a view of finding out where the money has gone which is represented by the over $6,000 of a deficit in the financial operations of 1892. In effect it declares that the "statement" issued by the council, and signed by the mayor and treasurer, is not a sufficient and reliable statement of the town's financial position, and that we must await the deliberate process of an audit before we can expect any light on the subject of the missing $6,000, and over. The Review and its friends just now show an exceeding anxiety for an audit, which they did not show when the EXAMINER issued its challenge for an independent audit of the town's books. If Mayor Kendry had so much confidence in the correctness of his assertion that there was no deficit, and the Review were so positive of the incorrectness of our position, why did they not accept our challenge and put $100 additional in the charity fund of the town? We are charged with mean "insinuations." We have used none—we have explicity and unequivocally charged that there was a shortage of over $6,000, and in the public interests, demanded disproof. We took the statutory statement as the basis of calculation, and now we are told that it is "mean and cowardly" to carry on a discussion arising out of such statement—we must wait for the auditors' report. What is the use of going to the expense of issuing a statement, if it furnishes no reliable information? If the "statement" cannot be depended upon—if no reliable information can be got from it, the inference is fair that it was more intended to mislead than enlighten. In the beginning the "statement" was all-sufficient and there was no need of an audit—now it is all audit and nothing but audit. The EXAMINER does not expect anything but abuse from a source that is interested in putting a good face upon a bad financial situation. Our desire was to get at the bottom of the deficit, if the bottom could be found, and we would join with the ratepayers in rejoicing over the disproval of the deficit. The fact remains that there is over $6,000 deficit upon the operations of the year 1892, and that the ratepayers have been, and are being, misled as to the true state of affairs. We do not wish to foreshadow the auditors' report, but we can assure the auditors that when it does appear it will be subjected to a rigid scrutiny.

BOARD OF HEALTH AND THE COUNCIL.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—In noticing in the EXAMINER of last night a communication on the above subject, my attention was drawn to the fact that my name has been mentioned for this year's Board of Health again. As much as I would like to serve the town, if in my power, the experience of former years has shown me sufficiently that the Board of Health cannot accomplish anything without coming in constant friction with the council, which will, either not take any notice of the Board of Health's resolutions, or frustrates their action altogether.

The public cannot but notice the revenge the council has taken in disposing of the most energetic members of the Board of Health; and as the writer has strongly supported their action, I cannot do otherwise than resign and allow another member to take my place.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
Yours truly,
WM. LECH.

Jan. 19th

[Mr. Lech has taken the only course which was open to a self-respecting man under the circumstances. During the past year the Board of Health, of which he was a member, worked energetically for the improvement of the sanitary condition of the town. This is shown by the exhaustive report which was presented at the final meeting of the Board. This report also shows that the attitude of the town council was more obstructive than co-operative, and that the suggestions and recommendations of the Board were treated with a deplorable indifference. THE EXAMINER does not wish to enter upon a discussion of the sanitary condition and needs of the town, because it would be unadvisable to do so in its general interest, but there is no denying the fact that there is need of energetic action on the part of the Board of Health, and of active, sympathetic and cordial co-operation on the part of the town council. It is better to be prepared in the most thorough manner possible to keep the cholera or other pestilence outside, than to meet it unprepared and with our hands tied, in a sanitary sense. It is to be hoped that the present council will take a course more in accordance with the advanced spirit of the age, than the council of last year, and treat the new Board of Health, with the degree of respect its importance demands. If members of the Board of Health are to be punished by the council for doing their duty faithfully to the people, then the sooner the appointment is taken out of the hands of the council and given to the people the better.—ED. EXAMINER.

DON'T KICK THEM WHEN THEY'RE DOWN.

This life seems but a stage at best,
Each one their part must play;
Some roll in wealth, some are oppressed
While journeying on life's way.
One in the prompter's chair we find,
While another acts the clown;
One strikes his brother from behind
And kicks him when he's down.

Sprung from one head the human race,
As brothers ought to dwell;
Blood-thirsty Cain a first murder case
Through time incessant swells.
In every rank such men are found,
Some dressed in royalty's gown;
Will crush a poor man to the ground
And kick him when he's down.

Cruel human nature rules supreme,
Ingratitude bears the sway;
Cold inhumanity extreme
Predominates to-day.
Man unto man gives word or blow,
For whether hate or renown;
Laying a quite weaker brother low,
And kicks him when he's down.

Up! Act like men, brute force forbear;
God's image don't disgrace!
He formed you by design to wear
A heavenward erect face.
Your life acts pitying love demand,
True smiles without a frown,
Man against man raise not your hand,
Nor kick him when he's down.

If cruel misfortune's sharpest dart
Threatens your neighbour's pate,
Compassion show, cheer up his heart,
His dark hours alleviate.
When poverty brings pain and woe
Their wants with blessings crown;
With hand and heart your kindness show;
Don't kick them when they're down.

If your weak brother free imbibes,
Don't glory in his fall,
Persuasion try, stand by his side,
And strive him to recall;
If laid low by the sparkling cup,
In shade red, white or brown,
Don't pass him by, stoop, raise him up,
Don't kick him when he's down.

This world would bloom like Paradise,
If men joined hand in hand,
Philantrophy would rule o'er vice,
And love with mercy blend.
Th s speak to every rank and age,
Even wearers of a crown
Should spurn oppression, conquer rage,
And kick none when they're down.

MORAL.

Men's greed for gain, dread curse and bane,
Mars this fair world to-day;
Hearts hardened cold, remorseless bold,
Defenceless neighbors slay.
Death planning heads, senseless treads,
On highway and in town;
By revolver balls their victim falls,
And kicked to death while down.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

At the rink last night Skip McGill played Skip Rutherford an interesting match of 16 ends. The rinks which played are the ones which will do battle for Peterborough in the primary competition for the Tankard at Lindsay on Monday next. Following is the result:—

J Stanger,		W G Ferguson,
T P Attrill,		J B Pentland,
R S Davidson,		S Ray,
C McGill, skip	22	T Rutherford, skip	17

The Dryden cup quartettes will also do some great practising before Tuesday next.

The second draw in the 13-point game, Granite Division:

1 E Rutherford	vs	E B Edwards
2 G W Hatton	"	F J Lewis
3 J Connal	"	E H D Hall
4 R M Dennistoun	"	C J Leonard
5 Judge Weller	"	E A Peck
6 W J Montgomery	"	D W Dumble
7 L M Hayes, 8 R B Rogers	"	R Stevenson
9 T R Billett	"	T P Attrill
9 Geo Matthews	"	T Connal, G M Roger

Referee, J. Northcot.

All these matches must be played off by Jan. 28th.

An interesting scratch match, five on a side, took place at the rink last night. 10 ends were played. The skips were Judge Weller who defeated D. Bellegham by a score of 12 to 10 as follows:

S Howson,	Wm Smith,
W Hall,	F Bartlett,
G Edmison,	R B Rogers,
J McClelland,	C N Brown,
Judge Weller, skip 12	D Bellegham, skip .. 10

In last night's game between Skips McGill and Rutherford, the former made a seven—changing the position of 8 stones with two stones, which is a very unusual play.

NEW YORK (SPECIAL.)

Pretty gowns may be made for all kinds of wear by taking ideas from ornate ball toilets. So, dear home dressmaker, observe this initial picture. Let it teach you firstly, that the women with small waists are not going to give up showing them all of a sudden. They need not. One must admit that fashion is taking a big, deep breath, and demanding more room to breathe and move in, but a trim waist and corsetted hips are going to have their share of admirers for a long time yet. Besides, we cannot throw away all our old gowns and rush recklessly into new styles. Luckily for the old gowns, a very few additions will put them quite in harmony with present demands. Upright puffs must come down from the shoulders. Carry the fulness straight out from the shoulder now as far as you like, balloon shape is the thing now. Make yourself look as if you had stuck each arm through a prize pumpkin or a double prize watermelon. Increase the broad effect by a ruffle of lace or of anything that will lie out over these puffs, and narrow in towards the waist, or finish off the edge of the very popular and easily adjusted Zouave. Your old dress is thus transformed. Sash belts are another thing that furbelow up an old gown into a new one. Remember, too, that the opposition to the Empire encourage paniers. The way to bring about paniers is to start very sneakly just a ruffle or fall of lace at the hips, just something to call attention to the pretty line of that part of yourself, which also covers the "wear" that will show about the hips of an old dress. You see, a fashion is to be ruled to your advantage, instead of making a slave of you. I wonder how often I shall have to rub that into you before you learn to look over your old gowns before you get a new one.

Let us be explicit as to that initial sketch. It was drawn from a toilet in dark green velvet and changeable red sicilienne silk. The edge of the skirt is surrounded by two flounces, fastened on at the same time, one turning upwards and the other down. They are sewn to keep this form. The skirt is about three yards and a half wide. It is composed of a front breadth, two side breadths on each side, and two back breadths, the latter very much sloped at the top. If necessary, the parts that are cut out at the top, in order to make this bias, can be used to widen the skirt. The front breadth is rounded on top and has a small dart on each side. The first side widths are rather longer than usual, in order that the skirt may afterwards be made quite equal in length. The side breadths are a little longer, and the back ones are cut the whole length of the train. In joining the different breadths, which are lined with muslin through all the parts which touch the ground, only the silk is taken; the muslin is sewn separately, and is afterwards attached underneath these seams. Of course the seams must be ironed first. The front breadth has one dart, the side ones have two and the back breadths are gathered in at the waist. The inside of the skirt is trimmed with two or three flounces of scalloped silk, at the top the latter of pleated ed lace are sewn on, the ends of which fall in front on to the skirt in the shape of a jabot, as shown by the engraving. The plain waist of dark green velvet has a plastron behind and in front; it is of the same color as the changeable material of the dress. The plastron is gathered ready to fasten to the collar. These pleats are stretched very tightly and in the back form a groove of pleats above the waist belt. The velvet is, of course, cut away where the plastron comes, so that this is only supported by the lining. The velvet is folded on both sides, according to the form of this plastron. The braces are of lace like the basques, and are fastened at the back underneath the belt. The plastron is edged with three folds of lace, which are fastened on to the pleated flounce. A folded belt on strong lining is fastened at the side. The bands of velvet which rise from the belt at the back join on the plastron in front underneath the braces, and thus form a stimulated corselet. Balloon sleeves on tightly fitting lining are gathered in by an elastic at the bottom and trimmed with a rosette or a bow of ribbon.

The second ball toilet illustrated is made of cinder gray cactus cloth with a sunken figure. It is princess shape, and the bottom has a border of flame-colored novelty, velvet bordered on each side with gray ostrich ruching. The pointed front of red velvet is trimmed with feathers and shows a plastron of gray. The back is shirred at the shoulders and waist, and there is a v of the velvet. A short Jabot falls on one side of the back. The upper portion of the sleeves are of the cloth, and the lower of velvet.

The fashion writers of the day are more reckless than exact in their quotation of "periods." Everything short-waisted is called Empire. Strictly speaking, the fashions of "The Empire" (1804) merely exaggerated those of the Republic in its later fancies. (1796-1804). The short-waisted gown was not invented by Josephine in the Empire. It was merely adapted by her. Her adaptation was the sack dress, with the waist close up under the arms, and the bosom pushed up to the chin. A criticism of the time has it thus, "A fashion far from graceful, and a woman needs to be beautiful to look well in such a costume." Gowns were indecently low for the street and at all times. Artificial flowers were an innovation, and were much used on gowns and in the hair. Mme. de Stael wrote "Corinne" about this time, and the harp became the rage and floating scarfs more than ever popular. But, after all, these things were hardly invented in the Empire period, and to speak of a Josephine gown is more correct when you mean the very short waists and very plain skirts, for the Empire saw many a fashion besides the short waisted one. Indeed, in this period stays came back. Most of the gowns labelled as Empire are really revivals from Directory dresses in the period of the French Republic (1789-1804). Bodices were then short-waisted, displaying a good deal of the bosom, unless it were hidden by a gauze handkerchief or a long scarf printed in colors, or braided or brocaded. In this early time of short-waisted dresses the women had a dear affectation of innocence, and not a bit of the Empire immodesty, for all their low dresses. They wore straw bonnets and were the most demure things in the world, if they wanted to be. These were the Beau Brummel dresses (1789, Louis XVI France, George IV England).

Then, as time went on, modesty became more and more foreign to the short-waisted gown. Exaggerations alone had vogue. Gowns were short-waisted with long tight sleeves or short ones, or the arms were bare or covered with long gloves. The skirts trailed and all sorts of headgear was in vogue. The Greeks were borrowed from for head-dresses and wigs, tiarras and diamond crescents. Spangles were invented and much used on dresses. Transparent materials came in vogue, and raiment became more "gauze-veiled nudity." All this was more characteristic of the Republic than of the Empire. As for pretty modesty in short-waists and long skirts and scarfs, that is not Empire at all. You may call it, as I have said Beau Brummel, if you like.

Another lot of gowns that are being labelled "Empire" belong rightly to the period following the Empire, the Restoration (1815). Short-waisted gowns now took on dignity, valuable jewels, wide bright-colored sashes, delicate fans and embroidered reticules were much worn. Plaid dresses came in, and you see now what has suggested our sudden jump of late into plaids, though as yet we have not adapted them to the short-waisted gowns. Large chip hats had the edges cut into squares, green was much in vogue and so were cloaks with double collars. Silver was woven into stuffs, feather trimming and fur trimming were the rage, sleeves were puffed and trimmed with rows of ruching. You see the Restoration is well represented in our fashions at present, and many of its characteristics have been classed under "Empire," while many more have not been classed at all, which only goes to show that one lovely woman has epitomized several periods in herself, and just because Josephine is represented in short-waisted gowns, all short-waisted gowns forever more are Empire. But if you do not want to go into just her kind of short-waisted gowns you will find lots of other kinds in the periods covered by the term Empire, the short-waisted dresses, for instance, that are short-skirted, too, trimmed with wreaths of flowers or ribbon spirally wound about the skirt, a wreath of flowers or ribbon about the head. You may wear bodices short-waisted, but not under the arms, and very full skirts and swell little short-waisted coats in Thermidor style. You may do your hair high or low and quite loose, so long as it is picturesque.

MANUFACTURING FURRIERS.

Who have opened the Holiday Season with a regular FURORE of Fashionable Furs. The sensitive pockets of the people have been touched by the low range of Prices for elegant Furs which we have established all over our Fur Store.

Not CHEAP Furs, But Furs CHEAP.

That's our idea of the business, and we strictly adhere to it.

LADIES' FUR COATS:

The Ladies' "Comforter" in cold weather, Coats of Seal, Otter, Astrachan, Mink, Persian Lamb, &c. Coats Fur-lined and Trimmed with Furs in the most Fashionable Styles. Seal Skin Jackets, Astrachan Mantles, Mink Wraps, Persian Sacks with or without Storm Collars, that completely cover the ears. Fur Caps, Muffs, Boas, Mitts and Gauntlets.

FUR CAPES:

One of the blessings of fashion; we have them in Beaver, Sable, Astrachan, Persian Lamb, Greenland Seal, Grey Lamb, Black Opossum, Siberian Beaver, &c. Shapes right, lengths full.

CHILDREN'S FURS:

The tender little blossoms must be guarded against the bitter frost and cold. Nothing so effective as Furs. Small Furs, too, in conceits as pert and bright as the antics of the natural owners of the skin.

GENTLEMEN'S FUR COATS:

Fur-Lined Coats, Gauntlets, Collars, Cuffs, Caps, &c., in any style or quality of Fur desired. We make a specialty of Mink-Lined Coats, very stylish, warm and comfortable.

ODD SHAPES.

Our Characteristics of Hats Nowadays.

The styles seen at the milliners and on the heads of women of fashion are varied and peculiar. All sorts of whimsical shapes and curious colors can be noted, many of which when held in the hand are unhandsome; yet when elevated to the post of honor, prove very becoming; this provided that they bear the impress of an artist's skillful hand. French felts, beaver and velvet divide the honors among hats which are smaller than formerly, though the picturesque hats adorned with plumes of feathers are still worn. Often a felt hat will have the under side of the brim of felt or velvet in a sharply contrasting color, such as red on a brown or black shape, or violet with green or black; while the pretty toque and Tudor hats have the crown of bright violet velvet, with a brim of sable or mink fur, or of chartreuse green velvet, with black velvet brim, spangled with jet sequins, and a triplet of black ostrich tips, or a jet Mephisto tuft set jauntily at the side. Toques look showy if the brim is formed of a complete sable, the beautiful little head peeping saucily out in front. The hat sketched is designed for a young girl, and is of red felt, trimmed with a bow of moire ribbon to match. Another youthful hat, suitable for a young lady of from fifteen to seventeen years of age, was of seal-brown felt, with bow in front of shot red and brown ribbon, surmounted with two brown plumes, and finished with a crystal buckle.

OUT-DOORS.

Comfort in a Short Fur-Trimmed Wrap.

The short fur-trimmed wrap shown in the illustration has two capes, cut round and falling one over the other. The edges of both capes are trimmed with Chinese goat skin. The fur collar widens into the form of a plastron, and fastens in front with invisible fastenings. The hat is rough green felt and the brim is bent wave-fashion in front and behind, and trimmed with three small plumes and aigrette, the latter being placed in front. The feathers hang loosely at the back, over the edge of the brim.

I have noticed that well-fitting cloth paletots are being much worn. They are quite distinct from "ulsters," being made of fine cloth, fastened up one side and trimmed right around and up the fastening with a narrow band of fur, the turn-down collar and deep cuffs being also of fur. Occasionally, the paletot is fur-lined throughout, being thereby rendered waterproof, though when the fur lining is dispensed with the cloth can be waterproofed before making up. Very dressy paletots have sleeves of shot or plain velvet, these invariably being large in the upper part, and gradually decreasing to the waist. I have seen a few long coats made entirely of velvet, a most extravagant material for this purpose, as it shows every crease and very soon becomes rusty.

Coming to jackets the only rule to which a jacket need conform is that it must be at least sixteen inches long in the basque. This law, like that of the Medes and Persians, is unalterable. It is not, however, easy to lengthen a jacket when too short. I would suggest that the old jacket be worn out on stormy days and the money that was to be devoted to the alteration be kept towards buying material for making a new coat.

FLORETTE.

Over the whole world the proportion of the sexes is about equal; but in separate parts of the world it varies greatly. For instance, in this country there are 98 women to every 100 men; in Europe there are rather more than 100 women to 100 men. In uncivilized countries the men are believed largely to outnumber the women, this on account of the fact that more men are needed to carry on the wars in which such people are constantly engaged, and because of the rougher ways of living. But so long as there can be no census of Africa and Asia, so long statisticians can only guess at the proportion of the two sexes.—Globe-Democrat.

In a little village in Sussex, England, there is said to be a garden of lilies, where thousands of white blossoms shed their perfume, and where women gardeners tend and pack and ship the fragrant product. Twenty-five years ago a single lily bulb was given to Mrs. Bates, a farmer's daughter, who tended the gift with the attention women give to flowers, and when sixteen bulbs had resulted from the original one, and Mrs. Bates, finding her children, as she called them, had outgrown the sunny window where they grew, she planted them in the corner of the garden. Ten years ago a daughter of Mrs. Bates, inspired by the enterprise of the time, sent some blossoms to the London market, and now, in association with her sister, has made the Bates lilies famous for their beauty and perfection. The daughters are keen business women, interviewing their buyers at the six o'clock market, selling without the interference of agents to private customers florists and commission merchants. The average product is 600 dozen a week.

They Got it At Last.

For many years scientists tried to concentrate the blood, flesh and bone making qualities contained in the oil of the Norwegian cod. They only partially succeeded. But by new chemical processes, rendered feasible by electrical forces, the life giving properties of the oil have all been captured, and are safely imprisoned within that famous remedy which is being talked about all over the country, known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Physicians acknowledge that this is the greatest discovery, or rather the perfection of a discovery, ever given to the world. To say that it cures consumption by making blood, flesh and bone for the patient is quite enough. It is a remedy that positively needs no puffing. Many young people have been saved by its use. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at all Drug Stores.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

STARTLING TESTIMONY GIVEN BY REINACH'S CLERK.

An Austrian Newspaper Correspondent Marched Out of France and Ordered to Never Return—France Is Snarling Over England's Growl.

PARIS, Jan. 19.—Advocate-General Ran continued his address against the accused directors of the Panama Canal enterprise and their associates. He said that the defendants could not find shelter under the law of prescription, as the offences charged had been committed within the last three years, although they originated earlier. The issue of the lottery bonds was a swindle. The reports published contained inaccurate figures intended to mislead the public, and fraudulent underwriting syndicates were formed, for all of which Ferdinand de Lesseps and the others accused were equally responsible.

Eiffel was an accomplice in the frauds, secretly receiving money, knowing well the money he received was part of the proceeds of the swindle. Eiffel had executed scarcely any portion of the works. He had supplied hardly any material. He had simply embezzled the company's funds. In conclusion the Advocate-General demanded severe punishment for the men who in order to attract capital had recourse to every kind of trick and fraud.

M. Szelkely, Austrian newspaper correspondent, whose expulsion from France was ordered by the Government, was escorted to the frontier by two policemen to-day. Arriving shore he was told that he must never return to France again.

In the Chamber of Deputies to-day M. Deloncle questioned the Government as to the truth of the report that Great Britain had compelled the Khedive to cancel the appointment of one of his ministers and what action France intended to take in the matter.

M. Develle, Minister of Foreign Affairs, replied that it would be difficult at the present time to give particulars regarding the serious events at Cairo. The Khedive, he added, was acting within his rights when he changed the chief of his cabinet. Nothing affecting the independence of Egypt could be a matter of indifference to France. [Cries of hear, hear.]

M. Stephane, one of Baron de Reinach's clerks, testified to-day that the Baron had left him a list of the persons compromised in the distributions of Panama Canal money. It contains the names of more than 200 Deputies. Stephans said he gave the list to Clemenceau, who denies it.

PARIS BRIGANDS.

They Demanded the Money Or the Life of the Panama Canal Company.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—Yesterday M. De Camaguao admitted receiving 60,000 francs for Panama advertising inserted in the columns of his paper, but contended that this was the amount due him according to his advertising rates.

Charles Lalou, editor of La France, and Deputy for the Nord, The News correspondent hears, yesterday challenged Camille Dreyfus to a duel.

Interest centered in the confession of Charles De Lesseps to M. Franqueville. He gave gave an oral history of the Panama bribery and implicated ten more Deputies as receivers of regular subsidies from the Canal Company.

M. De Lesseps compared the Panama offices with the forest of Bondy, into which all the brigands of Paris crowded. They were the source of constant terror, he said. Their attitude was "Your money or your life."

JUSTICE IS BLIND.

And It Needed to Be When It Caused McEwen to Be Hung.

GLASGOW, Jan. 19.—A horrible scene occurred yesterday at the execution of Wm. McEwen for the murder of a woman at Polloksheils. McEwen, after committing the crime, had attempted to commit suicide by cutting his throat.

It was thought he would die from the effects of the wound, but the doctors succeeded in saving him for the gallows, although his neck was left in a weak condition. When he was brought out for execution this morning the mark of the self-inflicted wound could plainly be seen.

The condemned man was given a drop of seven feet. He walked without apparent fear to the gallows and the rope was adjusted. When the bolt was drawn the man's head was nearly torn off and blood gushed out over his body and the gallows. Death was instantaneous.

CAPRIVI'S SPEECH.

His Idea of Carrying on the Next War With France.

LONDON, Jan. 19.—The Berlin correspondent of The Standard says of Count Von Caprivi's great speech before the commission on the Army Bill:

The gist of it was that the French would form several armies on the outbreak of the next war, and these armies would advance from different points. The best defence, he said, would then be the offensive.

If we were victorious the whole French army would fall back on Paris and rely upon its fortress. We would be compelled to invest Toul, Verdun and another fortress, and would need for the purpose three divisions.

The barring forts are a skilful innovation, and we would have to capture some of them. This we would hope to do within a week. For this purpose we would need siege artillery. We should have to cross the Seine on this route to Normandy.

Paris and her ports have a circumference of 19 miles. Eighteen army corps would be needed to encircle the city. Such an investiture would be out of the question. Paris would have to be taken by front attack. This also would require large numbers of troops.

GRAVE ROBBERS.

The Record of a Negro and His Stalwart Sons.

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—The Advertiser's Washington special says, in regard to the detection of grave robbers in the Washington cemeteries, that George W. Marlowe, the king of the Ghouls, delivered four bodies to three medical colleges yesterday.

This was verified by the watchers on duty Yesterday morning Marlowe himself admitted to a reporter who called at his home, as I represented that he was a doctor in search of "subjects," that he had robbed the graves with the assistance of three stalwart sons.

He is a heavy set negro, with sharp features, a heavy black mustache and long mutton chop whiskers. He made the statement that he was regularly engaged in the business of body-snatching and shipped his ghastly booty to numerous points throughout the country.

From the calculations made Marlowe's income must exceed $5000 per annum. Fifteen dollars per subject is the ruling price in Washington colleges, and $25 for bodies shipped to points outside. In Washington the students pay $18 for each cadaver, leaving a profit of $3 for the demonstrator. Marlowe said he supplied at regular intervals the dissecting material for the medical departments of the Columbian University, the Georgetown Medical College, Harvard University Medical College and National University Medical College. During the past year, said Marlowe, I resurrected and sold 340 subjects; of these only 140 came from Potter's Field.

GASOLINE EXPLOSION.

Enveloped in Flames While Trying to Thaw Water Pipes.

HAMILTON, Jan. 18.—Mr. George Pyle, an apprentice in the employ of Mr. Frank Squibb, plumber, John-street, narrowly escaped being cremated about 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. He was sent to the residence of Mr. W. A. Holton, at the end of King-street east, to thaw out the pipe in the kitchen. On arriving he found the water front in the stove and the pipes leading from the main part of the house frozen solid.

Mr. Pyle had his own gasoline stove and at once started to light it. Whether the gasoline had frozen in the burner or not, it is hard to tell, but all at once the fluid spurted out of the burner and caught fire. Like a flash it ran all over the stove and fairly enveloped Mr. Pyle in flames, at the same time setting fire to the kitchen.

Mr. W. A. Holton was on the other side of the furnace and was horrified by the sight. When he had recovered from the temporary shock which he experienced Mr. Holton assisted Pyle in the direction of the door and rolled him in the snow with the object of extinguishing his burning clothing.

Pyle was conscious of his awful predicament, and although the skin was falling off his face did everything that mortal man could do to put out the flames that surrounded his person. Mr. Holton says it seemed to him the more snow he heaped upon Pyle the fiercer did the flames appear.

Finally, after the burning clothing was extinguished, the man jumped up and rushed into the kitchen and assisted Mr. Holton in putting out the fire, which by this time was threatening to consume the house.

Subsequently the heroic workman was rolled up in a blanket and removed to his home in East-avenue. His face and hands are horribly burned, but still he is getting along very well to-day. The fire department was called out, but as a wrong number was given the flames were extinguished when they arrived at the scene.

Coming Events Casting Their Shadows Before!

The coming event at the City Clothing Store is stock-taking day—Wednesday, February 1st.

The shadows which this coming event are casting before it are the splendid Bargains that customers are now receiving, previous to stock-taking, at our bona fide January Clearing Sale now going on.

OVERCOATS, HEAVY SUITS, CLOTHS, and MEN'S FURNISHINGS are all reflecting bargains which never fail to attract sensible buyers and make business brisk at the City Clothing Store.

Our great stock-taking sale every January is always looked forward to with general expectations by the public, who never fail to appreciate our bona-fide bargains.

MEN'S and BOYS' OVERCOATS are being rattled off at a brisk rate, because of the big reductions in all our prices.

Startling reductions in SUITS of all kinds. Prices go down to figures that convince buyers we mean business.

Every piece of WINTER CLOTH in stock is thrown on the Bargain Counters to make room for spring importations. MEN'S FURNISHINGS at comparatively low prices. Remember it is a business principle with us to sacrifice profits during January in order to reduce our winter stock; therefore, this is your opportunity to purchase fresh, clean and sensible Clothing and first-class Cloths at prices unparalleled in the trade.

The Talk

We have made throughout the town and country about our Linen Sale, has made the demand for these goods spring up briskly. It is a satisfaction to note how our statements about Linen Goods and prices are received. The remarkable point is that even on days when the weather is against us, crowds of ready buyers come to carry off, not only the announced bargains, but others that are waiting a chance to be talked about.

Before saying a word about any other line, we desire to emphasize the very special value represented in and much talked of Table Linens, Table Napkins and Towellings. The prices are 25 to 35 per cent. less than usual. The entire linen family is represented among the special bargains offered. The hardest thing for women to understand is how such prices are possible.

The reason for an abundance of bargains just now is the change from merchandise winter to merchandise spring. New goods are being opened up every day. We tell you the facts and leave you to act on your own notions. Every day brings to our notice some things that should go faster; and they do go faster by going for less money—our Linen Goods for instance.

11. Lots Nos. 16, 17 and 18, Con. 6, Harvey.
12. Lots Nos. 17 and 18, Con. 7, Harvey.

Much of these lands are very suitable for grazing purposes. There is also a large quantity of valuable timber and wood on them. The lands are distant about 20 miles from Peterborough and are adjacent to Deer Bay or the new government roads being built from about Scott's mills to Burleigh Falls, and which it is expected will be completed next summer, and the timber and wood could be carried by scows to Lakefield or Lindsay. This sale will provide an excellent opportunity to parties desiring wood lots or lands for grazing purposes.

Mr. J. F. Lillicrap, Lakefield, is prepared to furnish reports on the respective lots to intending bidders.

TERMS OF SALE:—One half of the purchase money to be paid at the time of sale, and the balance in twelve months thereafter on furnishing approved security, with interest at 6 per cent. per annum, or the purchaser may pay the whole in cash and obtain a 2 per cent. deduction on one half of his purchase money.

There will be a reserved bid on each parcel.

Further particulars and other conditions of sale may be learned on application to the undersigned and will be made known at the time of sale.

A DISTURBED ISLAND.

Hippolyte is Beheading Hayti from Rebels At Home and a War Ship.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—A Herald's special from Port au Prince, Hayti, says: "Although there has been no further trouble in the neighboring town of L'Anse de Nesu, the inhabitants are still greatly alarmed, for there is no telling where the disorders will break out again. As cabled from Kingston, a detachment of troops was sent from this city to quell an outbreak on the part of the lawless element of L'Anse de Nesu. The rioters resisted the troops, and in the melee that followed one of the Haytian officers was killed. As to whether there were any further casualties is not known here yet, but it is stated that the uprising has been suppressed and that the mayor of the place had been imprisoned.

President Hippolyte is still without information as to the result of the expedition, which was sent, under the command of M. Mentax, Minister of War, to put down the reported revolt in St. Michael.

The Buffalo Times editorially says that American guns now point threateningly at the forts of Port au Prince, Hayti. There is bad blood between Hippolyte and Uncle Sam, all over the affair of Frederick Mevs. It appears that Mevs was arrested and thrown into the foulest kind of a prison, where he was kept for 30 days without the privilege of a hearing, all because of the anti-American feeling in Hayti. The laws of the country guarantee a native prisoner a hearing within 48 hours.

In the case of Mevs the assistant commissaire, the native officer, stated in open court that Mevs was not guilty of the offence charged, and asked for his release. During all the time of Mevs' imprisonment the protests of the American charge d'affaires, Dr. Terres, were contemptuously ignored.

United States Minister Durham is on the scene backed by the American warship Atlanta, and awaiting orders from the State Department. Mr. Mevs demands $20,000 as an indemnity for the outrage, and The New York Herald's correspondent reports that the Haytian Minister of Foreign Affairs, Edmund Leapinasse, has privately declared that Hayti would see all her cities in ashes before she would pay an indemnity to the United States. He has also threatened to seize every American in Hayti as hostages if the Atlanta attempts to bombard Port au Prince.

This minister has made a formal statement to the American legation that no disrespect was intended towards the United States in the Mevs case, and this having been accepted the question is now with the amount of the indemnity.

The attitude of Hippolyte toward the United States is bitter, and the feeling has been spread among the people. The time seems to have come to administer discipline of some description. The fiasco in the Mole St. Nicholas matter has not heightened Hipnolyte's opinion of the slow-moving American Government. The forcing of matters to an issue now is of great necessity for the welfare of Americans in Hayti. A failure in this instance would make their departure from the country inevitable, on account of the hostile feeling that would continue to develop. The events of the next few days with reference to the Haytian controversy will be fraught with interest.

CLEVELAND'S SECRETARY.

He is a Newspaper Man And is in Touch With the Country.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—Mr. Dunnell, who has been selected by Mr. Cleveland for the important post of private secretary, has been connected with journalism for upward of 20 years, most of that period with The New York Times.

At the outset of his career he did local politics for that paper, and afterward and until about 12 years ago was its Albany correspondent, and the immediate predecessor of George F. Spinney, the present managing editor. Since 1880 Mr. Dunnell has been The Times' Washington correspondent.

He has traveled much throughout the country during the Congress vacation, and has written letters to his paper from nearly every state in the Union. This has been his occupation especially in Presidential campaigns, and he has gained a wide reputation for the correctness of his election forecast.

During the last campaign he visited Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana. His predictions from most of these states proved to be remarkably accurate.

Mr. Dunnell's acquaintance with public men of all parties is unusually large, and his fairness and discretion have been everywhere recognized. The new private secretary, like his predecessor, is a man of small stature and slight figure. He is a pronounced blonde, of fresh complexion, curly hair, light mustache, and, being quite near-sighted, wears glasses.

The majority of people would take him for a much younger man than he really is. His family consists of a wife and daughter, and he is a nephew of the Rev. Dr. William N. Dunnell of All Saints' Protestant Episcopal Church in Henry-street, this city. Mr. Dunnell has a home at Orange, N.J., and lives there with his family when his duties do not require his presence at Washington.

UNCLE SAM'S CANAL

The National Board of Trade Suggests an Early Survey.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 20.—The National Board of Trade has adopted resolutions endorsing and approving of the objects aimed at under the Later-State Commerce Act, with recommendation that it be maintained in the statutes of the United States in the interest of the commerce of the entire country, but suggesting a number of amendments.

The board adopted a resolution urging Congress to appropriate $100,000 to make a survey for the proposed canal from the great lakes to the sea.

A Played-Out Road.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Jan. 20.—Business on the main line of the Union Pacific railroad seems to be paralyzed. Dozens of train men have been "pulled off" during the past three days. Time at the shops has been reduced to eight hours a day. It is reported the coal miners at Carbon, Hanna and Rock Springs, numbering 3000, will be put on half-time in a few days. Tuesday and yesterday there were but six freights west from this place, and none east. A month ago the average was 28 each way every day.

PANAMA CANAL CASES.

THE DEFENCE APPEALS TO SENTIMENT FOR SUPPORT.

The Ground Taken Is That Count de Lesseps and His Colleagues Are Being Made Scapegoats To Advance the Designs of Ambitious Men.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The defence in the Panama cases opened yesterday and the court room was packed with people anxious to hear Maitre Barbeux's speech in opening the case for his clients.

M. Barboux argued that it was not alone moral conditions that had led to the arrest and prosecution of the accused, political considerations had much to do with the prosecution, and he emphatically insisted that the men he was defending should not be made scapegoats for the advantage of any party or faction or to advance the designs of ambitious men.

He maintained that the probity of his clients was in no wise affected by the indictment on which they were standing trial. He eulogized Ferdinand de Lesseps as a man of the highest character; so keen was his sense of honor that, after appearing before Magistrate Prinet at the opening of the enquiry, he was overwhelmed.

For two months he had not left his bed, and during that time he had not uttered a word. Had the great Frenchman been able to appear in court, the whole audience would have risen to salute the glory of his fame.

Maitre Barboux gave full vent to his oratory in recounting many struggles of M. Ferdinand de Lesseps, and laid particular stress upon his statement regarding M. de Lesseps' contest with Great Britain over the Suez Canal.

He then proceeded to examine into the duties and responsibilities of the directors of the company, which he declared had been faithfully and correctly carried out. He dealt with the charges against M. De Lesseps and endeavored to show that they were unfounded. In concluding his speech Maitre Barboux declared that the safety outlays made on behalf of the company were justified, and he proposed to prove that public opinion on this matter had been misled.

When Maitre Barboux had finished the court adjourned until Tuesday.

A warrant has been issued by the French authorities for Cornelius Herz, on grounds that will justify his immediate extradition.

The Socialists continue to make the Panama scandal the basis for revolutionary agitation. Citizen Guesde says, in an interview yesterday, that the Panama developments are advancing the hour of a Socialist triumph. The revelations, he declares, bad as they are, have told our party nothing new. It has long been known that opportunist circles were tainted and falling to pieces through decomposition. The Panama affair is a great scandal, but all great banks and industrial enterprises are in much the same condition, only the turpitude is hidden more deeply.

The revolutionists are already preparing for the May-day demonstration, which promises to be imposing this year. The committee on organization, which was appointed last year, still exists, and will shortly convoke a general meeting of all the delegates of the working corporation, for the purpose of electing another committee whose task it will be to get up a movement "less pacific" than the last. What that may mean is kept a secret.

In the Chamber of Deputies yesterday M. Casimier Pierier, the president, announced that M. Baihaut, now under arrest in connection with the Panama affair, has resigned his seat.

The debate on the budget was then taken up. An amendment was offered to abolish the embassy to the Vatican. This received support of M. Hubbard, who made a speech in favor of it, but when a vote was taken the amendment was defeated by 126 majority.

The Cocarde publishes a letter signed "Cornelius Herz," in which Herz is represented as acknowledging that he received 2,000,000 francs from Baron de Reinach. This sum, however, the letter says, was paid on private account and was in no way connected with Panama affairs.

The letter alleges that Herz knew nothing of the uses to which the Panama funds were put, and denies Herz drove De Reinach to death by blackmailing him.

On the contrary, Reinach had tried to poison Herz, although eventually he was induced to pay the latter what he owed him.

In conclusion the letter requests three weeks' grace, in which Herz will arrange and send to Paris documents which will vindicate him. The letter bears internal evidence of having been written by Herz, otherwise its authenticity rests upon The Cocarde's assertion alone.

La France publishes an interview with M. Andrieux, ex-prefect of police and suppositicious a Royalist agent. M. Andrieux says that during his recent visit to London he found Herz to be really very ill. Herz had denied that he received from Clemenceau the list of names which M. Andrieux had communicated to the parliamentary commission of enquiry. Herz had said that if necessary he would return to France without being extradited. He had always acted honestly, and had not been a foreign spy.

The Italian Scandal.

ROME, Jan. 20.—An official enquiry into the condition of the Banco Romano reveals that the note issue, instead of being 73,000,000 lire, as announced by the bank, reaches 125,000,000 lire.

Signor Tanlongo, the governor, and Signor Lazzaroni, the cashier of the bank, have been arrested.

Passed a Burning Ship.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 20.—The British ship Goodrich, from Liverpool, reports the probable total loss of a large ship off the Isthmus of Panama. Captain Williams reports that on Dec. 27 he came up with a large iron ship. Coal smoke was issuing from her hatches, and to all appearances the fire had been burning for several days and perhaps weeks.

The weather was equally and uncertain at the time, so that the officers of the Goodrich did not dare to approach too near. She was about 320 feet long, and would register from 2500 to 3000 tons.

Banquet to D'Alton McCarthy, M.P.

BARRIE, Jan. 20—A banquet in behalf of the citizens of Barrie has been tendered D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P., at the Town Hall, Barrie, on Wednesday evening, the 25th January, at 8.30 o'clock, which invitation the hon. gentleman has accepted.

After addressing the convention at Stayner, on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. McCarthy will proceed to Barrie to attend the banquet.

THEY FOUGHT FOR FOOD.

GERMANY'S POLICE HAVE WORK WITH THE UNEMPLOYED.

The Mob Waved Red Flags and Clamored on the Bourse and Bakers' Shops—A Large Force of Gendarmes Were Required to Restore Order in the Streets.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 20.—Early yesterday 800 unemployed gathered near the Place de la Constitution and were addressed by several Anarchist agitators.

The speakers told the men that the city belonged to the workers, and exhorted them to take all food and clothes they needed from the shops.

The men raised the cry, "To the Bourse." About a dozen men drew bundles of red flags from their coats and distributed them, and the mob started down Avenue du Midi, waving the flags and shouting against the capitalists. At the Place Rouppe seven gendarmes tried to stop the mob, but they were thrown down and beaten before they could draw their swords.

A call for reinforcements was sent to the central police station, and 60 gendarmes reached the Bourse just as the foremost men in the mob were mounting the steps.

The gendarmes drew their sabres and ordered the mob to disperse. The men still still pushed their way up the steps. The gendarmes then charged, cutting right and left. The workingmen [illegible] back with clubs and stones. [illegible] gendarmes were slightly wounded and many workingmen were cut.

A gendarme knocked down the leader with the flat of his sword, and captured the large red flag which the man had carried at the head of the mob. After 10 minutes' struggle the rioters were dispersed.

Meantime the Socialist and Anarchist speakers had incited some 200 men about half a mile from the Bourse to attack shops. They broke into six bakers' shops, took all the bread they wanted and threw the rest into the street.

As they started for another shop the police appeared with drawn sabres and dispersed them.

CRISIS INEVITABLE.

The Monarchists of France Are Ready to Assume Power.

PARIS, Jan. 20.—The Comte D'Haussonville, leader of the Monarchist party and general representative of the Comte de Paris, has formulated the Orleanists' program in a long letter to M. Edouard Herve, editor of The Soleil.

After drawing a dark picture of the corruption revealed by the investigation and the consequent consternation among the true friends of France, he denies the charge that the Monarchists have tried to aggravate the scandal.

The role of conspirator was congenial neither to himself nor to any of his friends. Nobody could doubt that the time had come when a strong hand and a strong will were needed at the head of the French people. The attention of the nation at large, however, was absorbed by the men of the Government now in power.

All having anything to lose were alarmed by the Socialist war now waged against capital. The Government had no power to stem this movement.

The Monarchists ought to assume the leadership and direction of public opinion in this emergency. A league to sustain public integrity and to protect society should be formed, as the Government was absorbed in cares for the public defence. The organization of the Monarchists' movement was complete, and the Monarchists should now seek to make all Conservative and Liberal alliances possible without distinction.

Precise instructions would be issued before the beginning of the general elections. It would be premature to submit a plan for a form of government so far in advance of the elections, especially when the Conservatives themselves had not agreed upon any one form. Meantime it was necessary to prepare for the conflict and for unforeseen emergencies as a violent crisis was inevitable. When the people of France should tire of the republic the Monarchist party would be ready to defend the cause of law and order, to drive back the enemies of society and to place the institutions of France upon enduring foundations. That which to-day seemed chimerical would then become easy and legitimate.

In anticipation of that day the Monarchists were bound by loyalty to France to organize with all the forces they could rally to their assistance and to prepare the way for their Prince of Orleans.

QUEEN NATALIE.

She Yet Finds Favor in the Eyes of Her Divorced Husband.

BELGRADE, Jan. 20.—It is reported here that Ex-King Milan of Servia arrived at Biarritz on Jan. 1 and at once proceeded to Queen Natalie's villa.

The latter was greatly surprised to see her divorced husband. It is said that the scene at their meeting was a moving one and that the visit of the king resulted in the reconciliation of the estranged couple. Official advices, however, do not confirm this report.

Cholera in Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 20.—The Hallesche Zeitung says that since the outbreak of cholera in the Noitledon lunatic asylum 28 persons have been stricken with the disease. Thirteen of those attacked have died. The disease is pronounced to be true Asiatic cholera.

Stayed With His Supporters.

LONDON, Jan. 20.—The Chronicle announces that the Cabinet have decided to create a Department of Labor in connection with the Board of Trade. The place of Chief Commissioner of Labor was offered to Tom Mann, but he declined the offer on the ground that he could serve the interests of workingmen better if he remained out of office.

ANOTHER NEW DRESS.

TO-MORROW the EXAMINER will appear in a new dress of minion type, supplied by the old reliable firm Messrs. Miller & Richard. On the first of the year the EXAMINER appeared in a new dress of brevier body type. It is exceedingly legible, as will be seen by this paragraph which is printed with it, and greatly pleased our readers, but it was found to be too extended—occupied so much space that we could not give the amount of reading we wished to give without using a considerable quantity of the smaller type. We therefore procured an entire new dress of minion—a type of intermediate size which will be used in printing to-morrow's and subsequent issues.

"REPORTS from practical miners showing that the gold lands of the neighborhood of Lake of the Woods are exceedingly rich, serve to remind the people of Ontario," says the Ottawa Free Press, "of the long but successful struggle made by Sir Oliver Mowat and his colleagues to secure to this province full possession of those lands. Sir John Macdonald declared in the midst of the battle for Ontario's territorial rights that "not one stick of timber, not one ounce of gold, lead or iron in the then disputed territory would ever belong to Ontario." The late chieftain was not so wise or so far-seeing as he imagined he was. He and the retainers among whom he parcelled out the lands were driven out of the disputed territory, and it now belongs to this province. Yet the people of Ontario are obliged to bear the greater portion of the cost of the fight made by the Tory bosses to wrest their territory from them."

ATTENTION is again directed to the meeting of members of the Liberal party of the West Riding of Peterborough, to be held in Mr. G. M. Rogers office, Water street, on Saturday next to select delegates to attend the gathering of representative men of the party to be held in Toronto, on Tuesday, January 24th. It is to be hoped that there will be a good attendance at the meeting which takes place at two o'clock p.m.

WHO IS FLORETTE?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly give space to an appreciative reader to express her hearty enjoyment of "Florette's" illustrated New York fashion letter which appears daily in the EXAMINER. It is just splendid, and, while I like other parts of your paper, this is the most interesting column to me, and I am sure to your many other lady readers, for we are alike—we all dearly love anything that tells us what is the proper thing in the way of dress. Will you tell me who Florette is?

Yours, etc.,
DAISY.

Wednesday, Jan. 18th.

[Florette is a New York lady, who as "Daisy" must have noted, is especially qualified for the work she does. Her letter comes from the same source as our excellent illustrated weekly fashion letter.

NEW CHEESE FACTORY.

We are credibly informed that Mr. McCormick, who recently became a resident of Omemee, is taking steps towards establishing a cheese factory in the village. We hope Mr. McCormack will meet with the encouragement he deserves. There ought to be a good opening here for this enterprise, and it would be a benefit to the farmers and the village.—Omemee Recorder.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not being held out by others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have conclude that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr. Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 26 in. wide,	17½	Good Linen Towels each	5½
9 lb. Wool Blankets,	$3.75	Grey Wool Blankets,	31c. a lb.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel,	$1.00	25 yards Factory Cotton,	$1.00

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a glance at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

TO BRACE UP the system after "La Grippe," pneumonia, fevers, and other prostrating acute diseases; to build up needed flesh and strength, and to restore health and vigor when you feel "run-down" and used up, the best thing in the world is Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It promotes all the bodily functions, rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses, repairs, and invigorates the entire system.

For the most stubborn Scrofulous, Skin or Scalp Diseases, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and kindred ailments, the "Discovery" is the only remedy that's guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Isn't it safe to say that no other blood-purifier can be "just as good?"

If it were, wouldn't it be sold so?

Can you think of anything more convincing than the promise that is made by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy? It is this: "If we can't cure your Catarrh, we'll pay you $500."

ELECTORAL COLLEGES.

Their Inutility and Mischievousness Are Pointed Out.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 19.—The Record says editorially: The invincible conservatism that clings to old systems and institutions long after their inutility and mischievousness have been demonstrated has received a fresh lesson in the electoral colleges which on Monday went through the motions of electing a president and vice-president of the United States.

Though the form of the old electoral system survives as an obstruction and a menace, its spirit is gone. In four states—Ohio, California, North Dakota and Oregon—a defective expression is given to the popular will. An elector for Ohio votes for Cleveland, an elector for California votes for Harrison, and an elector for Oregon votes for Weaver, while North Dakota impartially gives an electoral vote to each of the three candidates for the Presidency. Under a direct popular vote an outcome so absurd and illegical would be impossible.

The electoral system has betrayed its defectiveness from the beginning, and never in a single instance has it worked in accordance with its original design. Under the first form of the electoral colleges it was possible to elect a President and a Vice-President of opposite parties. Though differing more widely in politics than Cleveland and Harrison do now, John Adams was chosen President and Thomas Jefferson Vice-President by the electoral colleges in 1796.

Four years afterward Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr, the rival candidates, received the same number of electoral votes, and the election was thrown into the House. The change was then made to the present system, under which the elector may vote for but one candidate for the Presidency. Under the old plan the elector voted for two candidates, the one receiving the next highest vote having been declared the Vice-President.

In 1830 Van Buren was elected President, but the Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency on the ticket with him failed to receive a majority of the electoral votes. Failing in the electoral colleges, he was elected Vice-President by the Senate.

Three times the candidate for the Presidency who received a plurality of the popular vote has been rejected by the electoral colleges. In 1824 Andrew Jackson received a plurality of the electoral as well as of the popular vote, and John Quincy Adams was elected President by the House.

In 1876 Tilden, although the choice of the people, was defeated by a fraudulent manipulation of the electoral colleges in Louisiana and Florida. In 1888 Cleveland received a plurality of one hundred thousand votes, and Harrison received 55 majority of the electors.

Is not the history of the existing electoral system sufficient to break the resistance of conservatism to its removal? The system not only fails to give a true and effective expression to the popular will, but it remains as a menace and a danger to the public peace. Its clumsy machinery, in causing a dispute over the Presidential succession, might some day lead to civil conflict.

If all parties had not been weary of civil war in 1876 Hayes would possibly not have been permitted to take peaceable possession of the Presidential office. A wise people should profit by the lessons of experience, which teach nothing more plainly than that the electoral colleges are an obstruction, a nuisance and a political danger.

KNOCKED OUT.

Sumptions Son Discovers He Can Not Kill Canadian Railways.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—A Washington special to The Sun says: So far as can be learned here, the question of whether the Canadian Government would or would not remove its discriminating canal tolls has not been taken into consideration by the President in connection with the question of recommending to Congress action looking to the curtailing of the privilege of Canadian railroads in the United States.

The President has about completed the preparation of his message, which, it is feared, will not be so strong in terms as was originally intended. When the President first took up the question he was very much impressed with the desirability of radical measures against the Canadian roads.

The abolishment of the present system of consular sealing was the first thing thought of. But Attorney-General Miller, having decided that this could not be done without action by Congress, the President abandoned his idea of having this order issued and decided to recommend that Congress do what he himself had not the authority to do. The friends of the Canadian roads began to show the President their side of the case.

They pointed out to him that in several states decided advantages are gained by the presence of the Canadian lines, and that it would be unfair and unwise to rob them of these advantages, simply for the purpose of striking at a foreign corporation.

One Senator called the attention of the President to the fact that the United States would lose much more than it would gain by the abolishment of the system of transporting goods in bond. He told the President that if his object was to benefit the American people he would do well to go slow and study the question in all its ramifications before he adopted a course that might hit the pocketbooks of English bond holders, but which would be positive injury to those citizens of the United States living in states that derived great advantage from the presence of the Canadian lines.

This sort of argument caused the President to go a little slow, and it is now thought he will content himself with suggesting to Congress some modifications of the existing transportation system without recommending the abolishment of any part of them.

He will, it is said, ask for more stringent regulations regarding the sealing of cars at ports of entry in the United States, as there is no doubt that the Canadian roads have entire control of this branch of the business at present.

"Now is the winter of our discontent made glorious summer" by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This wonderful medicine so invigorates the system and enriches the blood that cold weather becomes positively enjoyable. Arctic explorers would do well to make a note of this.

Bordering on Consumption.

When a cold is neglected it frequently develops a condition bordering on consumption. No other remedy will so quickly relieve and cure cases of this dangerous kind as Dr. Woods Norway Pine Syrup, because no other remedy possesses such perfect curative powers as does this prince of pectoral remedies.

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is superior to all other preparations claiming to be blood-purifiers. First of all, because the principal ingredient used in it is the extract of genuine Honduras sarsaparilla root, the variety richest in medicinal properties. Also, because Cures Catarrh the yellow dock, being raised expressly for the Company, is always fresh and of the very best kind. With equal discrimination and care, each of the other ingredients are selected and compounded. It is because it is always the same in appearance, flavor, and effect, and, being highly concentrated, only small doses are needed. It is, therefore, the most economical blood-purifier in existence. It Cures SCROFULA makes food nourishing, work pleasant, sleep refreshing, and life enjoyable. It searches out all impurities in the system and expels them harmlessly by the natural channels. AYER'S Sarsaparilla gives elasticity to the step, and imparts to the aged and infirm, renewed health, strength, and vitality.

GEORGE STEVENS

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and fled from his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides, by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the Carnival To-Night !

A GRAND CONCERT.

Harmonious Hum of the "Singers"—Convention and Conference of the District Agents.

The annual convention of the managers and agents of the great Singer Sewing Machine Company, opened in the commodious sitting room of of the Grand Central hotel at ten o'clock this morning. The gathering which comprises all the agencies of the Eastern district, extending from Bowmanville to Gananoque, including Lindsay, Peterborough and other northern towns and villages, was a large and representative one. The convention, judging by the attendance, promises to be the most successful and beneficial yet held since their inauguration. Mr. J. Laishley, the efficient and energetic manager of the Kingston district is the chairman, while Mr. Jos. B. Wemp, of Kingston, ably fulfills the duties of secretary. Following are the names of managers with agencies, in attendance: R. N. Morton, manager for Canada; R. Cline, manager of manufacturing department, Montreal; J. Laishley, manager of Kingston district; L. C. Laishley, manager for Toronto district; Jos. B. Wemp, secretary, Kingston; W. E. Vandervoort, manager, Belleville district; G. H. Rankin, manager Picton district; D. W. Little, manager of Kingston city office. The following agents were also present: J. N. Kivell, Bowmanville; W. A. Russell, Port Hope; R. H. Rutherford, Colborne; T. C. Fraser, Napanee; J. Bennett, Napanee; J. N. McCreary, Napanee; J Hore, Lindsay; W. S. Munn, Minden; J. Roy, Bancroft; E. Kills, Lindsay; W. Galbraith, Camden East; W. Mitchell, Campbellford; A. Davidson, Norwood; G. H. Hinds, Camden East; W. E. Green, Belleville; D. Gowan, Gananoque; H. S. Colliver, Picton; R. Wellington, Lindsay; J. McKenzie, Port Hope; J. A Chambers, Madoc; C. C. Brown, Madoc. A few others may arrive this afternoon.

The chairman and secretary this morning read reports from the different districts and of the number of machines sold and business done by the agents during the year. These showed the number of sales of the Singer sewing machines to be in excess of any previous year and all are well pleased with the satisfactory manner the business had been conducted. The new improved Singer sewing machine with its numerous ingenious attachments seems to be more popular than ever with the general public. The convention, which is for the purpose of "comparing notes" and gaining pointers, so to speak, will continue this afternoon and all day to-morrow. This evening the Company will entertain its agents to a fine banquet at the Grand Central Hotel prepared in elaborate style by Mine Host Lackie. A pleasureable time is expected by all. The representatives of the Company which has its head offices at New York, and its principal Canadian establishment at Montreal, are a gathering of good looking and gentlemanly fellows, who are delighted with the enterprising town of Peterborough and doubtless will go away with lasting impressions of the town and its hospitable citizens, splendid public buildings and flourishing manufactories. They cannot but be favourably impressed with the provision made by the local manager, Mr. W. Laishley, for their comfort and convenience.

BREEZY BATTALION BRIEFS

What is Going on Among the Officers and Men of the Rangers.

The annual dinner of the 57th Battalion officers will come off at the Snowden House this evening. It is expected that about forty will be present, including visitors and friends and a happy time is assured.

Lieut.-Col. VanStraubenzie, D.A.G., Kingston, arrived in town last night and will be one of the guests at the dinner this evening. This morning, in company with Col. J. Z. Rogers, Adjt. R. M. Dennistoun, Capt. E. F. Mason, and other officers of the 57th, he carefully examined the books of the battalion and stated that he never saw the service rolls and various account books more neatly or systematically kept in his life. This statement, coming from a veteran officer like the Deputy-Adjutant General, who has seen service both at home and abroad, is a high compliment, and reflects much credit on those concerned.

Lt.-Col. D'Arcy Boulton, senior officer of Canada, and Commander of the Third Regiment of Cavalry, Prince of Wales Dragoons, of Cobourg, is in town, and will be present at the officers' dinner to-night. Col. Boulton is 79 years of age, and one of the best known and respected officers in the cavalry branch of the service.

Lt. G. A. Schofield, the active secretary of the mess committee, has received letters of regret from the officers of the following regiments, to whom invitations had been sent: Governor-General's Body Guards, Ottawa; 14th Battalion, Kingston; Dufferin Rifles, Brantford, and Queen's Own, Toronto.

Lieut.-Col. Straubenzie, D.A.G., made his annual official inspection of the different armories and accoutrements of the various companies of the 57th Battalion this morning. He also inspected the drill shed, which presented a very clean appearance. The D.A.G. also examined the outfits of the pioneer and ambulance corps, as well as inspecting the books, accoutrements, etc., of "C" Troop, Third Regiment of Cavalry, Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers commanding. He spoke very highly of the way in which the equipments of "C" Troop of Cavalry Prince of Wales Dragoon Guards were kept—one of the best he had ever inspected. He said the new block pavement of the shed was a great improvement, and the officers quarters also came in for a share of commendation. The armouries were pronounced to be in the best of good order and arrangement. Col. Straubenzie inspected the Ashburnham drill shed with a view to making it the headquarters of "C" Troop of Cavalry and local wing of the Durham Field Battery. This will afford greater accommodation to the needs of the 57th.

Capt. E. F. Mason, "A" Company, will take charge of the non-commissioned class, which will muster for instruction in the various duties of their respective ranks on the 31st. In connection with these classes, lectures on interior economy, discipline and military law will be delivered by the various officers.

There is some talk of the 57th Battalion going on its annual tour to Brantford this year to visit the Dufferin Rifles. They may, however, go to Hamilton to pay their respect to the 13th.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—There was no police court this morning.

—The usual cards bearing the names of the standing committees of the council for 1893 have been printed.

—Woodstock opens its grand new opera house on Jan. 27th and 28th. When does Peterborough's turn come?

—The postponement of the annual "January thaw" is affecting the supply of water in wells in some parts of the town.

—There are seven masters on the staff of the Woodstock Collegiate Institute—five of whom are graduates of Toronto University.

—The fire brigade were called out about 9 o'clock this morning for a burning chimney at the American Hotel, Hunter street. No water was used.

—The members of the Omenaee orchestra have in contemplation a concert to raise money to procure more new music—in other words to "raise the wind."

—A debate will occur at the Catholic Association rooms this evening on the subject, "Resolved, that Napoleon was a greater general and statesman than Wellington."

—The Fire, Water and Light Committee met last night with a small attendance. No steps of public importance regarding the resignation of the brigade, which takes effect on Feb. 1st, were taken.

—Mr. Chas. Le Gros is having his fine barber shop tastefully painted and papered. He has removed the partition between his tobacco shop and tonsorial parlours in order to admit more light into the latter.

—Chief Roszel received a telegram this morning from J. Duff, Indian River, stating that a man had stolen a coat there. He referred the sender of the telegram to High Constable Cochrane, and this afternoon another telegram was received stating that the would-be thief had returned the property.

—Street Inspector Robert Pope, while on his way home yesterday afternoon was proceeding along Stewart when he saw a horse which had evidently loosened itself from the cutter, running from a lane into the street. Mr. Pope bravely seized the bridle and after considerable trouble brought the animal to a standstill. The horse belonged to Dr. Clarke

T P Attrill, skip..... 2	S Ray, skip 21

The two tankard rinks, skips McGill and Rutherford, will take part in the match to-night for the Sons of Canada prize.

The other rinks which will compete for the set of brooms offered by the Sons of Canada at the carnival to-night are:

J Graham,	H Snowdon,
C C Brown,	W G Morrow,
E Rutherford,	David Hall,
Thos Connal, skip	A E Thompson, skip.

Two matches in the second draw of the 13-point game of the Granites were played yesterday afternoon as follows:

Judge Weller .... 13 vs	E A Peck, 10
T Connal..... 14 "	G M Roger, 10

In order to afford those curlers who have recently joined the Granite Division this year an equal basis for playing, an extra draw in 13 point games has been prepared by the secretary, Mr. E. B. Edwards. This is an outside contest, as it were, and instead of an old curler being pitted against a new man even though the latter has a handicap allowed him, it is believed that a draw of the following character will give greater satisfaction to the neophites of the roarin' game and infuse them with greater enthusiasm. Following is the draw:—

1 Knapman	vs	Rogw
2 Schofield	"	Clementi
3 Billett	"	Leonard
4 Belcher	"	Heathcott
5 Ross	"	Toller
6 Rev. H. Symonds	"	Collins

J. C. TURNBULL'S.

Owing to the immense damage done to part of our stock by fire, smoke and water, we have decided to offer our whole stock at

SWEEPING REDUCTIONS.

The principal damage was done in the cellar. Flannels, Blankets, Comforters, etc., were all burnt more or less, also an immense stock of Grey and White Cottons, Prints and Shirtings, which we had just received for the Spring Trade. Our first and second flats are slightly damaged by smoke only, but we have always aimed to sell nothing but clean, fresh, first-class goods and in order to retain our reputation, have decided to clear everything of our present stock at prices that will astonish the closest buyers.

A DEFECTIVE STOVE-PIPE

Causes a Rather Exciting Blaze on Chambers Street Yesterday After. noon.

The firemen were called out yesterday afternoon shortly after four o'clock to extinguish a blaze which had started on Chambers street on the roof of a brick house occupied by Mr. John O'Neil abutting a double tenement house owned by Mr. T. Bradburn. The fire originated from a stove upstairs, the pipe of which protruded through an opening made in the roof, which was used as a chimney. The fire spread rapidly from the roof of Mr. O'Neil's premises to the roughcast house of Mr. Bradburn. On account of the flames lurking under the shingles and rafters in the gable ends of both residences, it was exceedingly difficult for the firemen to get at the fire. A large number gathered around, and while the two streams were being played upon the devouring element; many of them getting in the way got thoroughly drenched. After considerable hard labour on the part of the brigade the smouldering blaze was at last subdued, but the roofs of both structures were badly eaten by the flames. Mr. Bradburn has an insurance on his property in the London, Liverpool & Globe, but cannot tell what his loss will be yet—it will probably reach $200 or $300. The dwelling was unoccupied at the time.

Mr. O'Neil's household furniture upstairs is badly damaged by smoke and water. He estimates his loss at $200, insured in the Agricultural. Mr. Christopher Armstrong, of Otonabee, is the owner of the building; his loss will not be heavy; insured in the Guardian, Cox & Davis, agents, for $800. Upstairs in the house at the time of the fire was Mr. Chas. O'Neil, who is lying dangerously ill. He suffered greatly from the excitement and smoke.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH ANNUAL MEETING.

Highly Successful Record of the Year—Encouraging Reports Presented—Every Department Prospersus.

The annual meeting of St. Andrew's congregation was held last evening in the commodious Sunday school rooms, which were brilliantly lit up for the occasion. The ladies of the congregation gave a social tea from 5.30 to 7.30. Three tables were set in the Bible class room. These were artistically decorated and laden with delicacies, quite tempting indeed. The new kitchen with its many advantages was much appreciated last evening. A very pleasing feature was the large number of the congregation both from the country and town, that were present to enjoy together a social tea. A most enjoyable time was spent in social conversation and becoming acquainted with each other.

When the hour had arrived for the business meeting to commence, the pastor called the meeting to order, and opened the same with prayer. He then requested them to elect a chairman for the evening. Mr. George Edmison was elected, and in a neat little speech thanked the congregation for the honour and heartily congratulated the congregation for such a large meeting and the very favourable circumstances under which they were assembled.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by the secretary and on motion were received and adopted.

The various reports were then read:—

THE REPORT OF THE SESSION

was presented by the pastor. It showed that since the last annual meeting an excellent and efficient session had been elected, and that each elder had his district for special supervision. It also showed that 105 new members had been received during the year, that 4 had been removed by death, 11 by certificate and 3 without certificate, leaving a net gain of 87.

THE REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

was read by Mr. George Paton. It showed that the finances of the congregation were in a most healthy condition; that the revenue had largely increased during the past year. It referred to the twenty-one years' lease of the Aldridge property and stated that it would not be again leased, but would be taken over by the congregation. The report also referred at length to the new Sunday School room, etc.

Messrs. Richard Gray, R. McWilliams and Carey were appointed managers.

After being discussed for a time, the report was received and adopted.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT

was presented by Mr. Willie White, secretary-treasurer. This report showed the flourishing condition of the school, the average attendance per Sabbath having increased 62, the excellent staff of officers and teachers, the choice library and the large sums of money collected during the year.

THE REPORT OF THE W.F.M.S.

was then presented by Miss Carruthers, secretary. This report was most encouraging and showed the excellent work done during the year, the increase in membership, the money collected for Foreign Missions, and the increased interest in mission work.

THE REPORT OF THE LADIES AID

Society was presented by Mrs. John McClelland. It showed the great work done by this society during the year, in furnishing the new parlour, the platform and desk in new school room, communion linen, etc., that it also sent help to Point Aux Trembles school, and gave $50 to the poor.

THE REPORT OF THE Y. P. S. C. E.

was read by Mr. Johnston. It showed this society to be most vigorous. There are a hundred members, an increase of twenty-two over last year. It gave $40 to the Y.M.C.A., $15 to aid the Sunday school, provided flowers for the church, sick etc., and was now endeavoring to raise money to support two foreign missionaries. A junior Y. P. S. C. E. has also been recently organized and has already a membership of thirty-one.

All the reports were received and adopted. The improved condition of every department was reason for general congratulation. The large increase in numbers in church, Sunday school, Y.P.S.C.E. and all the societies, the large increase in the membership of the congregation, the greatly improved financial condition of the congregation, the increased contributions to missions, etc., were matters for general rejoicing, one of the oldest members declaring that never in the history of the church had there been such a satisfactory meeting. A special vote of thanks was tendered the choir for the efficient and valuable services of the past year. The meeting was brought to a close by the singing of the doxology, and the pastor, Rev. A. MacWilliams, pronouncing the benediction.

APSLEY.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The thermometer registered 33° below zero Sunday morning.

Judge Weller held a reception at the town hall on Thursday, 12th inst.

The annual meeting of the Burleigh and United Townships Agricultural Society was held at the town hall, Apsley, 12th January. The secretary-treasurer submitted his report which was as as follows: Received from all sources, $102.81; expenditure, $173.93, leaving a balance due the treasurer, $11.12.—The report was received. Election of officers: President. W. H. Hales; Vice-President, Alexander Brown; Secretary-Treasurer, D. Anderson; Directors, Hugh Caldwell, D. Lean, John Young, Wm. Hales, jr., Wm. James, Alfred Smith, John Lean, Geo. A. Bullied, F. Elmhirst; Auditors, J. J. Welsh and Duncan Brown.

COUNCIL MEETING.

Reeve Elmhirst and all the old councillors were returned for 1893, met at the town hall on Monday, took the oath of office and proceeded to business. No change made in the offices except that of assessor. There were four applications. Hugh Caldwell received the appointment.

Councillor Scott has just returned home from his wedding tour. His many friends will wish Mrs. Scott and him much happiness.

Peterborough Does Up Cobourg in a Well Played Game, by a score of 7 to 2.

The Peterborough Hockey Club accompanied by a few friends left town yesterday noon for Cobourg to play their first hockey match with Cobourg who is pitted against Peterborough in the Third District of the Ontario Hockey League Series. Port Hope was reached shortly after one o'clock when dinner was partaken of at the St. Lawrence Hotel. After satisfying their ravenous appetites the hockeyists drove to Cobourg, reaching the University town shortly after three o'clock and soon made their way to the town skating rink, where a large crowd were present awaiting their arrival. The game commenced at 4 o'clock. The ice was in splendid condition but the rink is poorly shaped being large at one end, and small at the other Mr. W. H. Bradburn was on the ice and kept a watchful eye over his men. Following is the personnel of the teams:—

Cobourg.		Peterborough.
W. Delaney	goal	T H Dumble
W Fenwick	point	G Sawers
W Warden	cover point	W B Carmichael
H Holland	forwards	W Phelan
A C Grierson	forwards	H E C Wonham
F Kerr	forwards	J Parson
Geo Brown	forwards	W J Montgomery
P Daintry	umpire	J P Hurley
Referee		Dr. Fairbanks

Peterborough started to work with a vengeance and soon showed their opponents that they meant business from the word go. Hardly had the game begun before Phelan's magnificent forward work was effective in securing a goal. Two other goals were also made by the home boys before the first half was terminated. These were scored by Messrs. Worham and Parson.

Cobourg fellows played a very good game but were not equal to the emergency and the first half closed by a score of 3 to 0 goals in favour of Peterborough. Cobourg's forwards were rather weak but the defence put up some strong playing. In the second half the interest and cheering of the spectators still continued and gradually the number of goals for Peterborough kept increasing, their opponents towards the latter end only fighting with the energy of despair. Montgomery took another goal, then Cobourg attained the only two made during the affray, one was gotten by a fluke and the other by a foul, as the Cobourg's claimed, which was made by Dumble, whom they alleged, went down on his knees in goal. However this in no way deterred the home boys who were doing admirable team play, from piling up three more goals made successively by Wonham, Parsons and Phelan. The game ending 7 goals to 2 in their favour. For the vanquished Grierson Holland and Fenwick, accomplished the most, while every man of the victors had no reason to feel abashed at his rush work, stick handling, dodging and passing, Dumble in goal being the star of of the day. After supper taken at the Dunham House, the Peterboroughs mounted the train, reaching home at 9 o'clock last night.

COMING CONQUESTS.

Trinity College School team of Port Hope, will play here on Wednesday night next.

The Peterboroughs will play the return match with Lindsay at that town on Thursday night next.

Cobourg will probably play here on a week from Saturday night next, the 28th inst.

A FLOURISHING INSTITUTION

Is the Charlotte Street Church Sunday School—Annual Meeting Held.

The annual meeting of the Charlotte street Methodist church Sunday school was held in their Sunday school rooms last night. Rev. George Edwards, pastor, presided. There was a large attendance and the officers and teachers of the school have every reason to be proud of its financial standing and the encouraging prospects for the future. The financial statement for the year was presented as follows, showing the receipts and expenditure of the school for the year ending Dec. 31st, 1892:—

A Marvellous Cure After Ordinary Means Fail!

GLAD NEWS FROM OTTAWA!

FREDERICK FINTER.

A few short months ago Mr. Frederick Finter, of Cedar Gate, Ottawa, Ont., suffered excruciating agony. His case was a very critical one; his hopes of life were very feeble and slim. The skill of experienced medical men was of no avail, and the ordinary and everyday patent medicines gave no measure of relief. Mr. Finter thanks God for his wonderful and almost miraculous deliverance from death through the agency of Paine's Celery Compound. Mr. Finter's letter, which is dated Dec. 22, 1892, reads as follows:

"I consider it a duty to acknowledge the great good that I derived from your valuable remedy, Paine's Celery Compound. For four years I endured terrible agony and misery owing to pains in my head and chest. Life was a burden to me, and no living mortal could attempt to describe my sufferings. I was treated by doctors and used many patent medicines, but nothing gave me relief until I used your Paine's Celery Compound. I thank God for the day it was brought to my notice in the Ottawa papers. I have taken three bottles of the medicine, and to-day I can truly say that I feel like a new man. I feel certain that if the suffering people of Canada would only try Paine's Celery Compound, they would be cured. I will recommend the remedy whenever I have the opportunity, as it is the best ever given to sufferers.

FREDERICK FINTER.

Mr. Finter is vouched for and recommended by the Rev. W. W. Quicke, rector of St. David's church, Ottawa.

TARIFF REFORM.

There is a remedy, which must be applied, and it is decreased taxation and increased markets. Refrom the tariff, and reform it in the line of absolute free trade, such as it is known in England. That shall be the goal for us. Of course, in our present condtion it is not possible for us to adopt free trade in its entirety, as it is in England; but, then, in England free trade was not adopted at a full sweep, but gradully, and so as not to jeopardise any existing interests. This should be the policy of the Liberal party; and, so far as I have anything to do with the management of this question, I say this is line upon which we should proceed, now and forever. Let me hope that if the principles of free trade were adopted, as they will be adopted some day, between England, the United States and Canada, such a proceeding would create such a revolution that the example will be followed by other nations.—Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, at the Toronto Young Men's Liberal club banquet.

Why you take Cold and Cough.

Generally caused by exposure to cold, wet feet, sitting in a draught, coming from hot and crowded places, in thin dress, or wearing damp clothes, stockings, or any other cause tending to check suddenly the perspiration. The result produces inflammation of the lining membrane of the lungs or throat, and this causes phlegm or matter, which nature tries to throw off by expectoration. A Full-Dress Reception Gown For Winter Wear.

The accompanying sketch shows a full-dress reception gown for winter wear. It is a combination of Russian green velvet, brocade of the same shade, blue fox fur and Russian green bengaline, the latter material being used to make the full blouse front. The skirt is of the velvet with a band of the fox fur all around the bottom. The tunic is scalloped and trimmed with silk fringe to match. Near the bottom, as the train develops, these scallops become deeper festoons, and are raised under windmill-sail bows at first, then only erect bows as the train rounds. The sleeves fit tightly as far as the elbows, but from there to the shoulders are very full. The costume is finished by a short figaro jacket having a high collar and trimmed with fox fur. At the waist is an Empire band of the plain velvet.

Some Empire tunics are seen composed of transparent gauze, flowing over a tight-fitting dress of silk. Sometimes this tunic will be of a different color from the under-dress. For instance, I saw one the other day of old gold gauze over a bright pink dress, which produced a most lovely effect, changing color with each movement, the combination in fact, making a color that I have never seen before. Sometimes this Empire tunic is used for the front of the dress alone. It is then formed of a piece of material falling straight from the neck to the end of the skirt, and fastened into the under-arm seams.

These tunics are always accompanied by very full sleeves, often in velvet according with the color of the dress. To add to their already great volume, these sleeves are often surmounted by velvet wings, and in this case the former are of the same material as the dress.

The square-cut empire necks are seldom trimmed, being usually finished by a straight band at the back and front, and then trimmed with lace, etc., it always stops at the sleeves. Round and pointed necks, on the contrary, are nearly always ornamented with a bertha of lace or mousseline de soie, which is carried over the shoulders.

FLORETTE.

The proposal to sheath ships with copper coated with mercury is attracting attention. The idea is that such an arrangement would effectually prevent barnacles from adhering to the bottom of vessels. In order to keep the mercury on and to prevent oxidation the copper would be constantly charged with electricity. This would bring about another interesting possibility. Any gold or silver that might be in the water would be precipitated on the bottom of the vessel, and it could then be scraped off when the vessel arrived in port.

If you are getting lazy, watch James. If your faith is below par, read Paul. If you are impatient, sit down quietly and have a talk with Job. If you are just a little strong-headed, go and see Moses. If you are getting weak-kneed, take a look at Elijah. If there is no song in your heart, listen to David. If you are getting sordid, spend a while with Isaiah. If you feel chilly, get the beloved disciple to put his arms around you. If you are losing sight of the future, climb up to Revelation and get a glimpse of the promised land.

Honor and shame from no condition rise;
Act well your part, there all the honor lies.

The familiar saying about "robbing Peter to pay Paul" was first used when Westminster Abby was called St. Peter's Cathedral, and when money was needed to settle accounts in the neighboring Cathedral of St. Paul, in London city. The authorities made the transfer, and the adherents of the mulcted church called it "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Pink Pills for Pale People are the only Scientific and Rational, and therefore the only Perfect Remedy ever discovered for the cure of diseases depending upon a depraved and watery state of the blood. As they supply in a condensed form, the substances actually needed to enrich the blood and restore the nerves, they remove the cause and so cure the disease. Cure for Constipation and Headache.

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that, when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots and leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50c. per package. dw

M. Gastelier, a French Deputy, was invited to a banquet a few days ago, and when called on for a speech simply thanked the company for inviting him to be its guest, and added: "French Deputies are not often asked to banquets nowadays; it requires courage to invite them."

A correspondent of the Pilot has been visiting the birthplace and boyhood home of John Boyle O'Reilly in Ireland, and there are still the old quarters where he worked as an apprentice in a newspaper office for two shillings a week, and the old thirteenth century castle in which he was born and where his father taught school. The most interesting spot of all is the old churchyard with its yew trees and clinging ivy. Here on a stone in the south wall are the initials "J. B. O'R." which were carved out there thirty years ago by O'Reilly himself, and it is noted that some hand carefully clips the ivy and keeps it from overgrowing the stone upon which the letters are cut. There are those who remember having heard O'Reilly say: "I should like to be buried just under that spot; and, please God, perhaps I may be."

At a German party, writes a Berlin correspondent of the New York Evening Post, no trifling cold supper is served. The German host considers something substantial necessary. At about eleven o'clock small tables are brought into the parlor, large enough for two or six persons to be comfortably seated at them. A supper of four or more courses is then served. First comes a fish salad and white bread or rolls, with pickles and other relishes; then hot roast veal perhaps, with boiled potatoes, sweet pickles, sauce, etc.; next, roast venison, or other meat, more potatoes and preserves. The fourth course may be cheeses and bread, pumpernickle, etc.; and a fifth course of a sweet pudding, blanc mange, or something of the sort completes the supper. At all suppers and parties beer, wine, or "bowls," or all three, flow freely. "Bowls" is a drink the principle ingredient of which is white wine, to which has been added sugar and fruit juice, orange, pine-apple, or raspberries, etc.

Henri Rochefort is getting some run as well as notoriety out of the French scandal. He gave a little supper in London to a few friends, the menu of which was unique and suggestive, to say the least. There were oysters "ministerielles," hors-d'œuvre a la Cornelius Herz, a salade franco-russe, a plum-pudding a la creme de cheques, bonbons anarchistes and gelee de Panama. The wine was described as "below the ordinary." The little explosives placed at each plate contained verses written by the host addressed to his guests and pregnant with Rochefortian wit anent the great scandal in France.

English can furnish instances of child-marriages, not perhaps to any great extent, but as young as any to be found in Eastern countries, where such marriages are almost of daily occurrences. The youngest English bride on record is beyond all doubt, a daughter of Sir William Brereton, who, in the sixteenth century, was united in the bonds of holy matrimony, when only two years of age, to a bridegroom who was only her senior by one year. In this case the children were carried into church, and their elders spoke for them. Subsequently, when the pair reached years of maturity, they ratified the strange tie. In this instance the object was to carry out a desire to unite property.

They Got it At Last.

For many years scientists tried to concentrate the blood, flesh and bone making qualities contained in the oil of the Norwegian cod. They only partially succeeded. But by new chemical processes, rendered feasible by electrical forces, the life giving properties of the oil have all been captured, and are safely imprisoned within that famous remedy which is being talked about all over the country, known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Physicians acknowledge that this is the greatest discovery, or rather the perfection of a discovery, ever given to the world. To say that it cures consumption by making blood, flesh and bone for the patient is quite enough. It is a remedy that positively needs no puffing. Many young people have been saved by its use. In big bottles, 50c. and $1.00, at all Drug Stores.

Gentlemen,—I have found B.B.B. an excellent remedy, both as a blood purifier and general family medicine. I was for a long time troubled with sick headache and heartburn, and tried a bottle, which gave me such perfect satisfaction that I have since then used it as our family medicine.

...G FIRE IN CALEDONIA

THE BUSINESS PORTION SHOWS A BLACK GAP.

Fully $35,000 Lost in the Conflagration—The Alarm Was Sounded in the Dead of the Night—The Fire Brigade Worked Well—Plenty of Water.

CALEDONIA, Ont., Jan. 20.—The most disastrous fire which has visited the town of Caledonia in many years—and there have been a number of bad ones—took place yesterday, destroying a large three-story brick double store building, a large three-story frame hotel, a mill, boot and shoe store, doctor's office and a society hall and doing damage to the extent of fully $35,000.

The fire was discovered about 12 30 o'clock in the boot and shoe store of Mr. Taylor, situated on the main street, just near the intersection of the street which runs by the side of the river.

Mr. D. M. Turnbull, the chief of the fire department, had his men on hand and at work in short order, but the fire had gained great headway in the frame building before it was discovered, it taking place in the dead of the night.

The Caledonia Milling Company occupy part of the two-story frame building in which Mr. Taylor's store is situated, and this, too, was soon in flames. The building came to the corner of the cross street, and the firemen knew they could prevent it from going any farther south.

Soon, however, it started in a westward direction, and the office of Dr. Burns was in flames. Over Dr. Burns' office is a large hall in which the secret societies meet. This was destroyed. To the north of the frame place in which the fire started was a three-story double store, substantially built of brick.

It had quite a lot of snow on the roof, and it was hoped that this would check the flames. Originally the building had a flat roof, and as it kept continually leaking another roof was built right over it with quite a space between.

Into this place the fire got, and then all hope of saving the building was gone. The big dry goods house of the place, kept by Messrs. Atkinson Bros., and the flour and feed firm of Hull & Old were in this building. They lost everything. Still southward went the devouring element, and the three-story frame hotel of Mr. E. T. Hind was soon a tremendous bonfire with all the furniture.

Fortunately the inmates had had ample time to get out with their personal effects. By heroic efforts and a splendid supply of water at their command Chief Turnbull and his men were able to master the flames when they got this far. It was 6 o'clock this morning, however, before the fire was perfectly under control.

The Taylor and Caledonia Milling Co. buildings were owned by the company mentioned and were pretty well insured. The building occupied by Dr. Burns and the secret societies belonged to Mr. Nicholas Garland of Toronto and was also insured. Mr. Garrick of Portage la Prairie owned the Atkinson building and Hull & Old buildings, and Mr. Hind owned his own place. The estimate of $35,000 is a moderate one of the loss. The stock of Atkinson Bros. was insured at $7000, and every cent's worth of stuff was destroyed. An insurance of $1000 on Hull & Old's stock will barely cover loss. Mr. Hind had, it is said, $3000 insurance, which will not nearly cover the loss. All the buildings were completely destroyed.

The Caledonia Milling Company's safe was not locked, and when the floors caved in it fell into the cellar and its contents came out. Notes to the value of $7000 were burned, but it is thought the notes can all be accounted for.

There was a great deal of danger at times from falling walls, etc., but no serious accidents occurred.

Insurance to the extent of $20,000 has so far been accounted for.

THE COAL COMBINE.

It Causes Hardships to Miners As Well As Consumers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—It is a question whether the 60,000 residents of the Lehigh coal region will kill the Reading combine or the combine will kill them.

The people are doing all in their power to throttle the monster. It, on the other hand, is doing all in its power to ruin the people and to paralyze the Lehigh or Hazleton field.

The following petition to be presented this week has been circulated throughout the region and has been generally signed:

"We, the undersigned, respectfully ask the Legislature of Pennsylvania to revoke the charters of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company, which has by flagrant violations of the constitution shown itself to be a corporate outlaw and a menace to society."

In commenting on this, a merchant of Hazleton said:

"We are fighting for our homes and our families as much to-day as we did in the sixties, although we are not using powder. If we win we will continue to live here. If we lose the Hazleton coal region will be ruined and deserted."

Not very long ago there was not a more prosperous community in the anthracite coal regions than that of the Hazleton fields. There is to-day not a more blighted spot than this same section. It is all due to the coal combine.

Collieries have been working on little more than quarter time for the last year; the miners have had little to spend and the merchants have suffered.

If any one should wish to fully understand the full meaning of the two words "coal combine" he should visit the Hazleton fields.

BOLD BURGLARS.

They Make a Raid on a Dunnville Hardware Store.

DUNNVILLE, Ont., Jan. 21.—Congdon & Marshall's hardware store was entered by burglars last night. About a dozen revolvers and some small goods were taken from the store and ab at $35 and some checks on the Bank of Commerce, made payable to L. A. Congdon, secretary, and belonging to the Dunnville Natural Gas Company, were stolen, also a large bundle of receipts. Supposed to be the work of tramps.

They Struck Financial Snags.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—The creditors of James Brand, the insolvent boot and shoe dealer of Embro, met yesterday afternoon in the office of J. D. King & Co. The statement showed liabilities of $3600 and assets of $2400. Mr. Brand made an offer of 55 cents on the dollar, payable in 2, 4 and 6 months. This the creditors refused to accept, and an adjournment was made in order to give him time to increase the offer.

George Smith, boots and shoes of Dunnville, has assigned to W. D. Swartz.

W. E. Kirbey, bricklayer of Orangeville, has assigned to J. M. Bennett.

Vickers Pleads Guilty.

STRATFORD, Ont., Jan. 20.—George Vickers, sewing machine agent of Mitchell, who disappeared after discounting $1300 of forged paper with Mr. Cull, a private banker at that town, and was captured in Michigan, was up on remand to-day, when he withdrew his plea of not guilty and pleaded guilty to three charges preferred against him. He was remanded for a week for sentence.

Canadian Counterfeiters.

TORONTO, Jan. 20.—The Ontario Government will be asked to send a detective to Lancaster, near Cornwall, where a gang of counterfeiters are said to have floated much bogus coin. They are making 25c and 50c pieces, and a few counterfeit dollar pieces are also in circulation.

His Youth Gave Him Friends.

SARNIA, Ont., Jan. 20.—James McMann pleaded guilty to robbing the safe in the express office here on Dec. 20 last. Judge Mackenzie was asked by a large number of citizens to be merciful to the young thief. Judgment was reserved.

The Talk

We have made throughout the town and country about our Linen Sale, has made the demand for these goods spring up briskly. It is a satisfaction to note how our statements about Linen Goods and prices are received. The remarkable point is that even on days when the weather is against us, crowds of ready buyers come to carry off, not only the announced bargains, but others that are waiting a chance to be talked about.

Before saying a word about any other line, we desire to emphasize the very special value represented in our much talked of Table Linens, Table Napkins and Towellings. The prices are 25 to 35 per cent. less than usual. The entire linen family is represented among the special bargains offered. The hardest thing for women to understand is how such prices are possible

The reason for an abundance of bargains just now is the change from merchandise winter to merchandise spring. New goods are being opened up every day. We tell you the facts and leave you to act on your own notions. Every day brings to our notice some things that should go faster; and they do go faster by going for less money—our Linen Goods for instance.

CANADA'S DAIRY YIELD

HOW IT IS HANDLED BY DEALERS ABROAD.

Canada's Exhibit of a Mammoth Cheese at the World's Fair to Be a Small Advertisement Abroad—Prof. Robertson's Interesting Report.

Ottawa Jan. 21.—Invitations have been issued by the Minister of Agriculture to a the Provincial Governments to send representatives to a conference to be held here on the 31st inst. on the subject of quarantine and public health, or as the invitation puts it, "maritime and provincial sanitation."

The intention is to get, if possible, and of action so that in the event of a cholera or other epidemic next summer the duties of the Dominion and Provincial Governments may be clearly defined and there may be no clashing of authority, as there came very near being last fall.

Prof. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner, has prepared an excellent report on his recent visit to England, in which he deals with Canadian butter, cheese and other products in the English market. He says that he sold all the samples he took over belonging to the Government at good prices, and the profits will go a long way towards paying the expense of his trip. He found Canadian cheese, butter, bacon and eggs growing in favor, but complains of the unfairness of retail dealers, who sell at least one-third of their Canadian cheese as "best English." He says that scarcely a butcher will own to selling Canadian or American beef, most of it being palmed off as English.

The demand for fresh made fine butter he found increasing, especially amongst the working classes, and says that Canadian fed and Canadian cured swine products are constantly growing in favor.

Eggs are required to be very fresh, and he thinks it would pay to collect from the farmers twice a week. Poultry is wanted not only at Christmas but on through January, February and March.

Mr. Robertson touches on an important point when he says:

"I hope our Department of Agriculture, or our merchants, or both, working in harmony as in the past, may be equal to the devising and operating of some means of distributing our products to the ultimate consumers whereby the unreasonable profits of the retailers may no longer interpose a barrier to the more general consumption under their own name of Canadian cheese, beef, bacon, eggs, poultry, etc. The difference between the prices charged by the retailers for our best products and the prices realized by the producers on the Canadian side is out of all reasonable proportion to the value of the services rendered in the distribution. I heard of one retail butcher who had made a million of dollars in a few years out of selling prime Canadian fed beef as the "best English." Doubtless the customers who purchased from him got good value, but a much larger share of what they paid should have come to the pockets of our Canadian farmers. That is only one instance out of a large trade."

The mammoth cheese, which Prof. Robertson had made for the Chicago Exhibition, is likely to prove a good investment in every way and to fully justify the Professor's course in having made this "mammoth cheese." Here is what he says about the offer he received in England.

"I received from the largest retail dealer in provisions in the world an offer for our mammoth Canadian cheese, which is to form the centre of the dairy pyramid of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago. He has no less than 90 large shops in different parts of London, and shops in nearly every large city in Great Britain and Ireland.

The price offered is one that will recoup the department for all the expenses of manufacturing the mammoth cheese, besides the offerer, who is no other than the great Lipton, whose retail sales of tea reach 275 tons per week, undertakes to exhibit the cheese free of expense to the Department and without charge to the public in every large city of commercial importance in Great Britain and Ireland.

He will also spend $15,000 in advertising it as the largest cheese in the world. A this will call attention to the magnitude of the Canadian trade in cheese, and make its excellence better known to the great masses of consumers.

Mr. John Costigan will act as Minister of Marine and Fisheries during the absence of Hon. C. H. Tupper in England.

AGAINST POLYGAMY.

Native Mexicans Are Rucking Against Mormon Colonists.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 21.—A special from Chihuahua, Mexico, says: The Government authorities here have received information that there is trouble brewing at Santa Rosalie, this state, between the native Mexicans and the Mormon colonists who recently arrived there and settled upon a large tract of land granted them in the concession by the Government.

The Mexican citizens claim that the Mormons have openly adopted the practice of polygamy, in violation of the terms under which their concession was obtained.

The merchants of the town have refused to sell the colonists food and the latter have suffered severe hardships, but have established stores of their own. They will operate on the co-operative plan.

The Fourth Registered.

BOSTON, Jan. 20.—Julius Eichberg, director of the Boston Conservatory of Music, which he founded in 1867, and one of the greatest violin teachers in the country, died yesterday, aged 69. He was the author of several comic operas.

The Khedive Hedging

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Cairo correspondent of The Times says: It is reported that the Khedive has conferred the highest decoration of the Order of Osmanieh upon Fakri Pasha, and that he has also promised Fakri Pasha the post of Grand Master of Ceremonies.

Some student disorders similar to those which preceded the rebellion of Arabi Pasha have recently occurred in Cairo. They have in no way been discountenanced by the Khedive.

SUTTON-CAPRON MATCH.

SUTTON IS WINNER AT BALK-LINE BILLIARDS.

The Score Was 500 to 439—The Galt Man Leads for the Greater Part of the Game—Low Averages for the Men—How the Crowd Became Excited.

TORONTO, Jan. 21.—Merrily clicked the ivories for 4 hours and 10 minutes last night and early this morning, when George Sutton of Toronto and George Capron of Galt played off their big balk-line match for $500 a side and two-thirds of the gate.

The local man fought an uphill fight for the greater part of the contest and eventually walked home a winner beating his opponent by 61 points. May's 4½x9 steel cushion table was placed on the stage and the vociferous applause at opportune moments from the 200 men and one woman in the balcony and gallery, showed that they all occupied suitable positions for seeing.

The contestants mutually agreed on our own John Burns for referee, and cleverly he performed his duties.

Nimbly he stepped to the front of the stage and explained how only a single shot could be made after the object balls were called in balk.

Jimmy Jenny was the marker, and the mode of his pronouncing "seven" brought hilarious comments from some frisky youths among the gods.

The experts looked anxious as they prepared for the fray. Both doffed their coats. Sutton played in his shirt sleeves and Capron wore a neat knitted jacket. Besides the officials there were the men's backers, Messrs. Patrick and Wilson, and the newspaper men on the stage. The reporters acted as scorers. The bank for choice resulted in Sutton making a perfect shot, while Capron fell just short. He chose the white ball, and took the ordinary initial two rail shot, which missed by a hair's breadth. Capron took three cushions around the end for the first billiard. A carom followed, and he missed an easy one. Sutton came with eleven useful ones and retired with a left hand hard one. Capron replied with another three and Sutton was applauded for 25, retiring on draw to the cushion. Capron's 34 in the fifth were started with a follow, when he sent the red up and down the table for a clever position. And on his twenty-eighth point he made a bank fluke. An easy one finally sent him to his seat.

BOTH MEN MADE THIS—A MASSE.

Sutton collared the ivories on his tenth shot in the sixth at the end balk-line and merrily danced off 14 more. In the eleventh easy Sutton made a pretty draw to the cushion with reverse siding for position as shown here, but nine was all he could get, and Capron missed a masse. The game was keeping remarkably even and in the fourteenth innings the score was 109 to 108. Capron was cheered for a pretty masse in the nineteenth. In the twenty-second Sutton again got the ivories at his favorite spot on the rail and balk-line and rolled up 23. In the seventeenth, eighteenth and nineteenth Capron put on useful figures and at the twenty-second was 16 ahead.

The crowd howled with delight when Sutton got within one of a half century in the twenty-eighth, which was punctuated with many brilliant shots. This run placed Sutton ahead 226 to 197. In the thirty-ninth Capron got the balls in the rail and balk-line and looked dangerous, but 15 was the limit. In the forty-ninth innings Capron again fluked his tenth point, and went on to 33 and missed around the table. In the fifty-first he made the first miscue of the game. The crowd cheered when Sutton went to the rail first and sent the first object ball across and back to the corner for a neat position. And in the 54th the local lad was credited with a genuine fluke. He missed a simple draw, but came back to score from the cushion.

One of the cleverest shots of the game was made by the Galt man in the sixty-eighth. The three balls were in a line with the red in the corner. Up and down he sent the cue ball and accurately tallied. He made a pretty left-handed kiss in the same innings with the first object ball frozen on the long rail.

In the seventieth and seventy fifth both men miscued. Sutton appeared now in poor form after he made his fifty-two, and for 16 innings didn't get into doubles, while Capron was clicking off the points at a rapid rate. In the sixty-sixth Capron was 41 points ahead, and a Galt football man in the gallery yelled:

Good boy Jec. In the sixty-seventh Sutton rolled up 26 and the Rossin House gang looked happier. In the sixty-eighth Capron made 23 and that was his last. It was in the seventy-sixth innings that Sutton showed his nerve. He tied up the balls from a difficult start—Capron was resorting to a safe game. Difficult draws follows, one, two and three cushion shots came with a hilarious regularity and the crowd attuned itself to his merry music. His twentieth shot was a draw, with the first ball at the lower cushion, sending it up and down for a beautiful position. A follow and him with the three balls in line for his thirty-second point [illegible] went until his string showed [illegible] and Sutton's point stopped at 44. Capron followed with two and appeared off. Sutton gave six and Capron three. Two and one were put on respectively, and [illegible] got the ivories together, ran out [illegible] the game was over.

It took just four hours and 10 minutes, to make the 500, and both men worked hard. Capron refreshed himself frequently while Sutton's spare moments were occupied in placing sprits on the hands. Only one retirement was necessary for failing to go out of balk. That was Sutton early in the game. Capron miscued five times and Sutton twice. The crowd all remained until the end and great were the cheers for victor and vanquished at the close. The principals cordially shook hands at the close and Capron will endeavor to turn the tables in the straight game next week.

Sutton appeared by long odds the best all Hardies. It was Capron's pretentious play that kept him ahead the greater part of the game. His strokes appeared a wizard compared with the finished work of his opponent. Sutton had more control of the ivories and managed better, while Capron certainly made round-the-table shots more frequently. Sutton fatled thrice through apparent carelessness. Sutton's grasp of the stick was with a firm, full hand, while Capron's finger tips held his stick. Both men are equally dextrous with the left hand. The averages of both men are particularly low. Eight was looked for. Here are the figures by innings:

EMIGRATION RESTRICTION.

Would-Be Emigrants are Paupers in the Cities.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Several newspapers have demanded that the Government prepare at once an emigration bill to meet the emergency created by the United States quarantine regulations.

The present laws are quite inadequate. Scores of emigrants whom the British steamship companies have refused to accept after having sold them tickets are now charges on the public in Hamburg, as they have not sufficient money to complete their journeys homeward.

Stettin and Bremen are similarly embarrassed. The Hamburg authorities say more than 20,000 persons in Austria, Hungary, Russia and Germany, who have paid their money for passage to the United States, will not be accepted by the steamship companies, and unless something be done to stop them are likely to be stranded in cities along the German seaboard.

The consequent burden upon the city treasuries would be enormous; danger from the spread of cholera or typhus among the Russian or Polish Hebrews, moreover, would threaten every large port like Bremen or Hamburg.

HAPPY AGAIN.

Milan and Natali Have Kissed and Made It Up.

BELGRADE, Jan. 21.—Official conformation is given to the report that a reconciliation has been effected between ex-King Milan and his divorced wife Natalie.

What the political result, if any, of this reconciliation will be cannot be prophesied, but the official statement that the differences have been settled has caused great popular rejoicing.

Cold in Germany.

BERLIN, Jan. 21.—Four workmen were found frozen to death under a barn near Potsdam yesterday.

Despatches from Eilenberg and Greifswald report that several persons were found dead on the public roads yesterday.

Gladstone is Well.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—In view of persistent and malicious canards, circulated by Tory writers, concerning Mr. Gladstone's health, the correspondent of the United Press has been authorized to state that Mr. Gladstone has an excellent appetite, sleeps remarkably well and in his daily work shows exceptional vitality.

Partition of Poland.

WARSAW, Jan. 21.—The Russian authorities have ordered that the hundredth anniversary of the second partition of Poland shall be celebrated by general fetes and services in the churches, parades of the troops and grand balls.

General Gourko, the Russian commander, will give a ball in honor of the occasion, and leading members of the Polish nobility have been commanded to attend.

Not Much Faith

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Daily News says: We have not much faith in the artificial arrangement which United States Senator Chandler suggests as regards the admission of emigrants. We do not doubt that after a year of exclusion and due consideration America will realize that she is confronted by exactly the same problems as formerly.

Cholera at Berlin.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—There was one new case of cholera and three deaths from the disease at the Weitleben Lunatic Asylum yesterday. The outbreak is due to the fact that the water from the River Saale is used at the institution.

No One Killed.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 21.—A collision between a freight and a passenger train on the railway near this city resulted in 20 persons being seriously injured, although no lives are reported lost.

Morley Planning Schemers.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Arnold Morley, the Postmaster-General, and his brother Samuel have brought suit to recover £140,000 which they allege were scheamed out of a deceased brother Henry by three Plymouth Brethren named Langhman. Henry Morley belonged to the sect and suicided in 1891.

A Western Lawyer Dead.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 21.—William V. Mackline, one of the best known barristers of Saskatchewan, died at Prince Albert on Wednesday. He formerly belonged to Brighton, Ont.

SONS OF CANADA CARNIVAL.

Thus a Pronounced Success—The First of the Season—List of Prize Winners—A Magnificent Event—The Rink Gaily Decorated.

The second annual carnival given under the auspices of Peterborough Lodge, No. 13, Sons of Canada, at the Charlotte street skating rink last evening, was a gratifying success. The rink was tastefully and elaborately decorated for the happy occasion by Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son, ably assisted by the carnival committee. Flags, streamers and bunting floated through the air in a bewildering profusion. Mottoes emblematic of the order, the motherland and Canada, were hung around every quarter of the icy field, producing a splendid effect.

The masqueraders, though not so numerous as in other years, all thoroughly enjoyed themselves, and the scene as scores of boys, both fancy dressed and comically clad, and maidens, gaily attired and some picturesquely apparelled, glided on skates over the glary ice—for it was in a capital condition—at the eyes of the immense throng of 800 people present, was a memorable one. Everything was bright, beautiful and attractive, the costumes and head-dresses of the masquers harmonizing to a degree with the superb decorations. The 57th battalion and Peterborough Fire Brigade Band was also out in full force, and made their first public appearance with their splendidly toned new instruments. At intervals during the evening the talented musicians played with excellent taste and blend, each selection being heartily received. The music seemed to have an inspiring effect on the masqueraders, and as the sweet strains of melody floated through the hall the nimble feet would glide all the more rapidly round their confined sphere. For an hour and a quarter the cheery spectators feasted on the scene of beauty and magnificence, no others being allowed on the ice except the impersonators until 9 o'clock. Following is as complete a list of the characters personated as was obtainable:

THE PRIZE WINNERS AND RACES.

The task of awarding the prizes was by no means a delectable one and it took the painstaking judges some time to make their awards. The judges were Mr. and Mrs. Macfarlane Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Fortye, and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stevenson. That they performed their duties well goes without saying. Following are the list of prize winners and the prizes offered in each of the events:—

I. Best dressed lady in fancy costume—1st prize, ladies writing desk, solid leather, value $10; 2nd prize, lemonade set, 9 pieces with tray, value $5; 1st, Miss Mabel Walton; 2nd, Miss Vennie Harper.

II. Best dressed gentleman in fancy costume—1st prize, art union steel engraving, handsomely framed, valued at $10; 2nd prize, smokers companion, valued at $5; 1st, Wm. Hendren; 2nd, R. Turner.

III. Best dressed girl under 16 years of age in fancy costume—1st prize, a jewel case in plush with oxydised trimmings, value $5; 2nd prize, oxydised silver work box, value $3; 1st, Miss Gertie Gidley; 2nd, Miss Flora Patterson.

IV. Best dressed boy under fourteen years of age in fancy costume—1st prize, plush album trimmed with oxydised silver, value $5; 2nd prize, basket of flowers, value $3—1, Fred Roddy; 2, Eddie Graham.

V. Best dressed lady in comic costume—Brass bottle, vase and floral cushion in popular authors vase of flowers, value $5; 1, Miss Strain; 2, Miss Patterson.

VI. Best dressed gentleman in comic costume—A complete set of Dickens, 15 volumes, value $10—1, Jas. Wall.

VII. Best dressed boy under sixteen years of age, in comic costume—A game of crooknole, value $5—1, Kenneth Chown.

THE RACES ARE LIGHT.

After the prizes had been declared, the public was allowed on the ice, and the limited space was almost crowded to suffocation—so much so that it was almost impossible to get the ice clear for the races at the ring of the bell. The first race was for gentlemen, eight times round the rink, DAILY EXAMINER for one year, value $4. There were four starters in this event and the speed at which the skaters glided on the steel was terrific. The contest was, however, taken by Mr. Gus Sawers after a hard pull, the other competitors falling out and D. Wright coming in a good second.

Boys race under 16 years, 8 times around the rink, prize, an alarm clock, value $2.50, was taken by E. Hall after an exciting contest in which four took part.

The barrel race, which was very amusing, was also captured by E. Hall after an hot resting run.

SECRETITIOUS TOBACCO CURES.

A couple of cigar boxes given to the two rinks of curlers caused considerable sport and enthusiasm. The two tankard rinks had a very close game of sixteen ends and skip Rutherford was successful in defeating skip McGill by one shot. Following is the result:

R. H. Kelly,	A. Stanger,
W. G. Ferguson,	T. P. Aitcill,
J. Ray,	F. Davidson,
J. Rutherford, skip.	C. McGill, skip. 15

The other rink which competed for the trophy was a unique one. The wielders of the brooms were clad in quaint antediluvian costumes, which evoked much merriment. The contest was very keen throughout and interest ran high. Following is the result. 12 ends were played:

Jas. Graham,	Gus. Sawers,
H. Fitzgerald,	W. G. Morrow,
E. Rutherford,	W. Hall,
Thos. Connel, skip. 12	A. R. Thompson, skip. 10

The carnival closed shortly before 11 o'clock, when all repaired to their respective homes, feeling well pleased with the success and enjoyment of the event.

NOTES AMONG SOUVENIRS.

The committee for the Sons of Canada lodge in charge of the carnival were R. S. Hfarvie, chairman; A. W. Kennedy, secretary, and F. G. Schneider, treasurer. They all worked hard for its success.

Mr. W. McCarthy is attending to the wants of the inner man with the assistance of a staff of willing helpers.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not greater than others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have concluded that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 28 in. wide, - - 17c. Good Linen Towels each - - - 5c
9 lb. Wool Blankets, - - - - - $3.75 Grey Wool Blankets, - - - 75c. a pr.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel, $1.00 25 yards Factory Cotton, - - $1.00.

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a visit at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

A QUEBEC MIRACLE.

A Reporter Finds an Astonished Man in the Ancient Capital.

Paul Crotty's Remarkable Recovery from Helpless Paralysis and Deformity by Inflammatory Rheumatism—Taken from a Hospital to Die when Relief Comes—The Particulars of the Case as Investigated by a Telegraph Reporter.

From the Telegraph, Quebec.

It is admitted that we live in an age of wonders, and there is no reason why wonders should not be accomplished in medical as well as in other branches of scientific research. Of late scarcely a week passes but what we read in Canadian and American papers of remarkable cures effected through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. We confess we have not paid much attention to their worth until lately, when more than one marvellous cure in our midst has been brought to our attention, convincing us as well as others of the merits of Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Among the cases thus brought to our notice is one which we consider it our bounden duty to chronicle. The subject of this sketch is a young man well known in the city of Quebec, and who has been brought back from the very brink of the grave to restored health. The subject of this sketch is the son of Mr. Thos. Crotty, who resides at No. 63 St. Patrick street. Thos. Crotty, jr., is 29 years of age and for the past eight years has been a martyr to inflammatory rheumatism, in fact so much so that for the past year he has been a deformed cripple. From winter he was removed to the Hotel Dieu hospital for treatment, every day he gradually grew worse, and his sufferings, according to the good sisters in charge of the building, were terrible. The very flesh left the body, and from his chest downward he became paralyzed. His arms and legs were twisted into a most unshapen condition, and the poor fellow was an object of pity to be seen. During the month of [illegible] he was unable to move even his head without causing intense pain. His digestive organs refused to act, and the only nourishment he could partake of was milk and that had to be given to him with a spoon, and at one time his mouth had to be forced open while the poor fellow was being spoon-fed. Finally his life was despaired of by the attending physicians, Drs. Vallee, Cattlier and Turcotte, who admitted that they could do nothing for him, and said that his death was only a matter of time. When Crotty's mother heard this she determined to bring her son home to die. Consequently in the 15th of May last the patient was carried up in blankets and taken to his parent's home by means of the city ambulance. After an elapse of 3 weeks his sight returned, but otherwise his condition was apparently growing worse. It was at this juncture that the members of the family had their attention arrested by one of the remarkable cures published in the Telegraph, resulting from the us of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Crotty asked his mother to procure some. The good woman never for a moment thought they would be of any use, but determined to gratify him. In time the second box was used, when it was seen that there was a very slight [illegible] the patient took hopes to persit in the use of the Pluk Pills and Crotty continued taking them until he was brought so often to the attention of the Telegraph, that we determined to investigate the matter for ourselves, and one of our reporters was despatched to see Crotty, who we knew very well for years, and in fact ever since the first issue of the Telegraph was started twenty years ago, to sail the paper, and we have known him ever since and watched his enterprising career, and the majority of the citizens of Quebec will recognize in him Thomas Crotty, the book agent.

MR. CROTTY'S STATEMENT.

When it was found that Crotty was getting better, it was decided to remove him again to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, and there our reporter found him reading a newspaper and looking quite cheerful, and apparently very far from the grave. In the course of a long interview, Mr. Crotty corroborated what the reporter had already heard, adding that he never expected to be alive at present, and his friends who saw him say he was May entertained the same opinion. Said Crotty: "I owe my life to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was confined to my bed with the [illegible] city that I have suffered with inflammatory rheumatism for the past eight years. [illegible] but my pain [illegible] agony I suffered, because it was indescribable. I often prayed to be relieved by death. On the 24th of May last when the doctors gave me up I was taken home and I was resigned to meet death as a pleasure, but kind Providence had willed it otherwise. It was then that I came across one of those wonderful cures through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and determined to try them. At my solicitation my mother got some and strange to say [illegible] had been taking them very long I felt a difference in my condition. [illegible] me and continuing their use I could feel that the blood which had left off coursing through my veins was once more circulating. As time went on the terrible pains began to ease and my appetite began to return, and I found that I was being brought back from the grave to a new life. My legs and arms, which had been paralyzed, began to show life and I now became sensitive to the least draught of air. I then thought that I would be better in the hospital, so I was brought back, and an improving in health and strength every day. Since then I have not interfered with my taking Pink Pills, though they first surprised them very seriously."

Crotty showed the reporter how his once deformed limbs were regaining their proper shape. There is a stiffness still in the joints of his knees and wrists, which is only to be expected after his years of suffering, but in other respects he is a healthy man, eating well and sleeping well. The good sisters in charge of the hospital agree that he is cured through the agency of Dr. Williams' wonderful Pink Pills, and every day they bring visitors to see the patient, and the wonderful cure that had been accomplished by this remarkable remedy, which to-day is acknowledged to be one of the greatest achievements of modern science.

The reporter called at the residence of Mr. Crotty's parents, and his story was fully corroborated by Mrs. Crotty, an intelligent woman, who expressed in warm terms the gratitude she felt at her son's restoration from a life of agony, from, in fact, a living death.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a perfect blood builder and nerve restorer, curing such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration and the tired feeling therefrom, the after effects of la grippe, influenza and severe colds, diseases depending on humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., Pink Pills give a healthy glow to pale and and sallow complexions, and are a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, such as suppression or irregularities, and in all cases arising from mental worry, over-work or excesses of any nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schnectady, N.Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firms' trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cts. a box or six boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers substitutes in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. The public are also cautioned against all other so-called blood builders and nerve tonics, no matter what name they may be given them. They are all imitations whose makers hope to reap a pecuniary advantage from the wonderful reputation achieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Ask your dealer for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and refuse all imitations and substitutes.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which the pills are sold make a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

LAKEFIELD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. Nolan, Williams formerly of Lakefield, and brother-in-law of Mr. John Hull, has been elected Minister of Agriculture by the State Legislature of North Dakota. Mr. Williams went to Dakota about ten years ago, and has thus risen to an important position of trust. Dakota takes very kindly to Canadians. Dalhousie boys also seem to [illegible] Messrs. James Canton & Co., of Orono, have established a private bank in Lakefield, of which Mr. T. H. Bellamy of Orono, is manager. This banking [illegible] Lakefield highly recommends [illegible] will doubtless fill the want for such an institution which the business men of the village have long felt. [illegible]

Now is the winter of our discontent, made glorious summer by Ayer's Sarsaparilla. This wonderful medicine so invigorates the system and enriches the blood that cold weather becomes positively enjoyable. Even arctic explorers would do well to make a note of this.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A man, called as a friend's place one day,
He wasn't in it;
He had seen "the Boys" coming and had [illegible]
He wasn't in it;
He had heard so much said, he was tired out with it,
Of insurance and agents—was all a blank bluff,
When one's cash must be shuffled to win it,
He wasn't in it.

A bit of a draft blew off his bald head,
He was in it;
Pneumonia laid him straightway to his bed,
He stayed in it;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
And he's in [illegible]

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
Get right in it;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
Then stay in it.
Remember that fires take your goods out of sight,
And that accidents happen each day [illegible]
While insurance protects every minute,
If you're in it.

A Bank Manager's Opinion

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that the Canada Life Lives upon the highest platform. It is [illegible] and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Policies.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontine, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution on tontine periods, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in [illegible] American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of testimony is quoted from Mr. [illegible] Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Government Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that pays large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger [illegible] on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays [illegible] dividends on the usual terms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "better all" the same purposes, cannot be relied on for [illegible] returns of [illegible] under the Tontine forms of insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "adopt the" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

Banker Hawkin's reason:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a business, but I might say a Christian Institution."

Lord Lyndhurst's reason:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Recollect insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the McKenna's Flirtation.

Much that is pleasureable is made known by the announcement that those admirable artists, Barry and Fay, have again united their forces and that they are to be seen at Bradburn's Opera House on the night of Tuesday, January 24th. This will be their first joint appearance in almost three years, Mr. Fay having been absent from the cast each of the last two seasons that "McKenna's Flirtation" was presented on the road. During his absence he has been in the far west and also on a tour through the principal cities of the European continent, in search of that greatest of all blessings, robust health. He returns to professional life very much benefitted by his lengthy vacation, and he seems to find as much enjoyment in the excitement of the stage as a high spirited boy does in playing truant.

Napoleon Victorious.

At the rooms of the Catholic Association last evening, before a large audience, the following subject was debated:—Resolved "that Napoleon was an abler general and a better statesman than Wellington." Rev. Father Collins and O'Connell and a number of the directors of the association were present. Mr. Brick occupied the chair. The generalship and statesmanship of Napoleon was supported by Messrs. T. Begley, A. Letellier, and D. McCabe. Messrs. R. Henry and F. Dwyer performed a similar duty in behalf of Wellington. The chairman decided in favour of the affirmative. It is the intention of the above association to have weekly debates. The subject to be debated next Friday is, Resolved "That the steam engine has been more beneficial to mankind than the printing press." Readings and recitations will be a feature of the programme. The objects of the association are for the religious, social and intellectual and physical improvement of its members, and providing for them a place of wholesome entertainment and recreation. The rooms are furnished with a reading room, library, apparatus for playing different games, a gymnasium and an assembly room.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The market this morning was rather small.

—The Board of Health will meet on Monday night at 8 o'clock.

—The vice-regal hockey team of Ottawa, will play Peterborough shortly.

—The Singer sewing machine representatives in town enjoyed a sleigh drive today.

—The local hockey club are endeavouring to get on a match with Belleville for next week.

—The Sons of Canada desire to thank the judges at last night's carnival for their kindness in acting.

—Messrs. J. J. Turner & Son decorated the dining room of the Snowden House in a tasty manner for the officers' dinner last night.

—Two rinks of the Peterborough curlers will leave for Lindsay on Monday to compete in the primary competition for the Tankard, and for the Dryden Cup on Tuesday.

—The Flower Committee of the Charlotte street Methodist church Epworth League of Christian Endeavour will hold a fine musical entertainment on Monday evening to which the public are invited.

—Mr. Wm. Burdick, of the Oriental Hotel billiard rooms, saw the great billiard contest in Toronto yesterday between Capron and Sutton, the latter being victorious, and says it was a well played game. Mr. Burdick may possibly get on a match with Sutton soon.

—In the first draw of 13 point games of the Granites, an interesting game was played yesterday afternoon between R. B. Rogers and L. M. Hayes, which resulted in a score of 13 to 8, in favour of the former. In the second draw of 13 point games E. Rutherford defeated E. B. Edwards, by a score of 13 to 6.

—A long-headed Cockney genius has invented a photographic attachment that will make photographs popular, say in Lindsay. By this arrangement ladies' feet in a full length photograph can be reduced to any desired size, so that a Lindsay lady's feet can by this means be included in an ordinary cabinet photograph.

All friends of the work are cordially invited to be present.

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, Jan. 21st.

At the police court this morning four young boys were charged with disgraceful conduct on Saturday last towards Mr. Wm. Telford, of Smith. The complainant said he was going along McDonel street near Mr. Bradburn's residence when a gang of boys, for what he could not tell, said, "Come on and have some fun with the old man." They then called him names and acted derisively—even throwing pieces of ice, etc., at him, striking him in the back. For the offence the magistrate fined the leading offender $1 or ten days in gaol, and gave the others a severe lesson, warning them of the consequences if they came before him again on a second charge. Peaceful citizens must not be molested or have their liberty interfered with by young ruffians,

A CARD OF THANKS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—Allow me through your columns to tender my thanks to the Peterborough Fire Brigade for their sound judgment and prompt, energetic action in dealing with and quenching the fire at my residence on Thursday—and with the least possible damage. I wish also to tender the same thanks to all who rendered much appreciated assistance on the same occasion. Their kindness will never be forgotten. And I think the town council stand greatly in their own light if they do not pay our noble brigade better in the future than they have done in the past, for I think they cannot be excelled.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I remain,
Yours truly,
JOHN O'NEILL.

THE TOWN FINANCES.

OUR contemporary the Review discusses the town finances, with about as brilliant an exhibition of knowledge of them as the average old country editor shows of Canadian affairs—distortion rather than discussion is its strong point. The least-informed ratepayer of the town knows the position assumed by the EXAMINER—that there is a deficiency of over $0,000 on the financial operations of the past year, and the most amusing part of the discussion is that everybody in town believes and feels that there is a deficit except the Review. The are none so blind as those who will not see.

As announced yesterday, to-day's issue of THE EXAMINER appears in a new dress—minion type. It is smaller in size than the recent new dress, and enables us to put more reading matter in the same space—while its clearness renders it easily read. THE EXAMINER is now, typographically, and otherwise, one of the best daily papers issued outside the larger cities, and it shall be the purpose of the publishers to increase its excellence in every department. The large circulation and liberal advertising patronage accorded THE EXAMINER is an indication that its efforts are appreciated.

THE REASON WHY SO MANY MOTHERS ARE HAPPY.

There are times when a mother's heart swells with pride and gratitude, and she often tells her friends why she is pleased and happy. As a rule, the mother's joy is deep and unbounded when her baby is gaining in flesh, bone and muscle; she notes with pride that it sleeps and rests well, and the glow of health is continually showing up in the little face.

The happy mother knows well that this condition has been brought about by Lac-Lactated Food. She remembers that before Lactated Food was used, her baby was wasting away—was peevish and fretful, sleepless and irritable. The great and happy change was effected by special elements of nutrition in Lactated Food, which are not found in the ordinary foods of our times.

This wonderful Lactated Food has saved a greater number of young and tender lives during the past year than all the other agencies combined. Our best doctors openly acknowledge the superiority of the great food, and prescribe it freely.

MILITARY MEN'S MERRIMENT.

ANNUAL COMMISSIARIAT FESTIVAL OF THE 57th BATTALION OFFICERS.

A Jovial Gathering—The Dining Room Gaily Decorated—Everything Passed off in Unison and Friendship—The Guests Present—The Toasts Enthusiastically Drunk and as Warmly Responded to—Sorg. Sallies and Laughter.

The annual banquet of the 57th Battalion officers—the yearly commissiarat festival—was celebrated at the Snowden last evening and was a pleasant and unqualified success. The spacious dining room of mine host Wm. Snowden was artistically decorated with flowers, bunting, flags and streamers—a perfect scene of beauty and gorgeousness. The bill of fare which confronted the banquetters was one which Mr. Snowden placed on in true military mess style, which his successful experience in cartering to military gatherings qualified him to prepare. After the soldierly appetites of the officers and their guests had been gratified the capital toast list was attacked "and all went merry as a marriage bell." Major R. W. Bell was the president and Capt. Brennan vice-president of the mess. They ably discharged their respective duties. At the centre of the table was seated Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, commanding 57th Battalion Peterborough Rangers, and on his right was the splendid physique of Lieut.-Col Von Straubenzie, D.A.G., and to the left Lieut.-Col. D'Arcy Boulton, commanding 3rd Regiment of Prince of Wales' Dragoon Guards, and the oldest officer at present in Canada who is engaged in active service. After these came Lieut.-Col. H. C. Rogers, Major Ward, 46th Battalion, Port Hope; Mr. James Stevenson, M.P., Mr. T. A. Hay, Lieut. E. B. Loucks of the cavalry and Lieut. J. Snyder of the artillery, and others. Each military man donned his mess dress uniform.

THE TOAST LIST.

The President proposed the toast of the "Queen" which was most loyally honoured, the National Anthem being fervently sung.

"The Deputy-Adjutant General" was proposed by Vice-President Capt. Brennan, and the strains "He's a jolly Good Fellow" and "He'll be a General Bye and Bye" rolled out clear and strong. Lieut.-Col. Straubenzie replied in a graceful speech, expressing his pleasure at being present as the guest of the noble 57th. He congratulated the Rangers on the improvements made and general efficiency of the battalion of late and was delighted with the tidiness and admirable arrangements of the armouries, accoutrements and books of the 57th after the inspection he had made during the day. When he resumed his seat the general was loudly applauded.

"The Visiting Officers" was next proposed. Coupled with this was the name of Lieut.-Col. Boulton who responded in an interesting manner. He spoke of his early acquaintance with the Peterborough battalion, he having arrived here with his brother from Toronto in 1825. The speaker graphically described the hardship he had undergone on his journey to town to visit Col. MacDonald of the Government House, which building was on the site of the new market. He had been an active officer in the service since the year 1837—the time he accompanied the battalion, under Col. Brown, to the front. The colonel stated he felt like a soldier, "every inch of him," and was now 81 years of age, but felt that he was rejuvenating.

Major Ward, whose name was identified with the toast followed in a racy speech, referring with many witty sallies to his attendance at the last annual banquet of the battalion, and recalling many pleasant remembrances. He had met Col. Boulton in the field, and traversed many weary miles with him over rough and rugged ways, and paid a deserving tribute to his well known agility as a rider—probably the best in Canada.

Col. H. C. Rogers, whose name was also coupled with the toast, answered the summons for a speech by thanking the officers for the cordial manner in which the toast was drunk. He claimed a share of credit in nourishing the 57th Battalion while in its infancy, and his interest in its success was by no means waning yet. He did not know why he left unless tired of walking. He had been 21 years in the service, and referred to Col. Boulton in many pleasant connections. He was glad to see Capt. Mason, the wide-awake captain of "A" company, at the board this evening, injured in active service, and still suffering from the effects. Capt. Mason was one of the most respected and popular officers of the battalion. He (Col. Rogers) had enrolled five of his sons in this corps, and he would like to see some of the officers beat it. Lieut. E. B. Loucks, and Lieut. Jas. Snyder followed in fluent addresses and were cheered to the echo.

"The House of Commons" was responded to by Mr. Jas. Stevenson, M. P., in a comprehensive speech.

Lieut.-Col. Boulton next proposed the toats of the hosts—Lieut.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, and officers of the 57th Battalion. Col. Rogers and Majors Bell and Edwards duly responded, thanking the proposer for his kindness and thoughtfulness. They all recounted incidents of the battalion's growth and stated they were pleased to be identified with such a well equipped and thoroughly drilled battalion as the 57th, which was well known at home and abroad.

Capt. and Adjt. R. M. Dennistonn offered the toast of "Babies of the Regiment" connecting the names of Asst.-Sergt. Dr. Vernon Halliday and Lieut. Jos. Mills, who made suitable replies.

"Ex-members" of the battalion was next on the list, and Mr. T. A. Hay who had been connected with the battalion 25 years ago responed, stating that he had not yet lost his interest in it.

Col. J. Z. Rogers during the evening read letters of regret from Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., Mayor Kendry, 14th Battalion officers, Kingston, officers of Dufferin Rifles, Brantford; Governor-General Foot Guards, Ottawa; and others.

Capital songs were contributed at intervals by Adjt. Dennistoun, Major Ward, Major Edwards, Assistant-Surgeon Halliday, Lieut. G. A. S[illegible]field, Lieut. A. Stevenson and greeted with prolonged applause Major Edwards recited "The Relief of Lucknow" in a fine elocutionary manner and Col. Straubenzie remarked that he was adjutant of the battalion at the relief of Lucknow. The joyous gathering of the forty warriors present, then dispersed, having to surrender to the attacks of time after the most brilliant banquet that the 57th Battalion officers ever held.

"AROUND THE FESTIVE BOARD THEY MEET."

The Annual Banquet Tendered the Managers, Agents, and Book-keepers by the Singer Sewing Machine Co.—A Pleasant Event—A Well Selected Toast List.

The annual banquet, a pleasant contemporaneous event with the yearly convention of the Singer men of the East Ontario district, occurred at the Grand Central Hotel last evening and was a creditable gathering and one which from the jovial associations connected with it will not soon be forgotten by the banquetters. There were present about forty representatives of the Company, and after the splendid spread provided by Mine Host Lackie in his usually fine manner, a lengthy but exceedingly pleasant toast list was begun. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. Laishley, manager for Kingston district, in an agreeable manner. On his right was seated Mr. R. N. Morton, the energetic general manager for Canada, and on his left Mr. George Cline, the overseer of the manufacturing department at Montreal. Mr. L. C. Laishley, manager for Toronto, ably filled the position of vice-chairman. The toasts were all enthusiastically drunk and rapturously received, while the several speeches were kindly and goo -natured.

The first toast, as it might naturally be supposed, was to Mr. W. Laishley, the vigilant manager for Peterborough, who responded in a neat and pithy speech. Mr. Laishley had the honour of winning a worthy present in the form of a valuable and highly ornamental silver cup, for taking in more funds for the company at Peterborough branch during the last three months than in any other branch office in the Eastern District. The prize which was presented to Mr. Lashley by the company for his genuine hustling qualities speaks volumes for him as a faithful and respected employee to represent the company's interests here. The agents who had won prizes for sales, collecting, etc., were next toasted. The prizes are handsome gold pins emblematic of the Singer Company or some secret society of which the recipient may be a member. Following are the agents who received such recognitions. They all responded in witty and timely speeches to the toast:—Messrs. Rankin, Picton; Roy, Ormsby; W. E. Vandervoort, Belleville; C. W. Vandervoort, Belleville; Wellington, Lindsay; Hockins, Colborne; Chambers, Madoc; McCreary, Napanee; Little, Kingston; Hall, Kingston; Green, Stirling; W. J. Hall, Peterborough; Hore, Lindsay; McNalley, Peterborough; Rutherford, Peterborough; Kivell, Bowmanville; Galbraith, Camden East; Foley Peterborough.

The toast of R. N. Morton, general manager of the Singer Company for Canada was fervently drunk and responded to by Mr. Morton in a stirring speech. Mr. Morton gave a compact synopsis of the business done by the company in the Dominion during the past year. 14,460 machines—the largest number in its history—had been sold representing a cash business of $230,000—an exceedingly good record. The prospects for the continuing sales of the firm were very bright.

Mr. R. N. Cline, of Montreal, agreeably responded to the toast of the manufacturing interests of the company.

The toast of the local agents, road-masters and canvassers drew happy speeches from a large number and as each one rose to deliver "his post prandial oration" the strains of "For he's a jolly good fellow" rang out.

The toast of the Toronto manager, Mr. L. C. Laishley, was drunk with a gusto and as heartily replied to by Mr. Laishley.

The toast of "The Bookkeeper," roused many to their feet in pointed addresses.

The toast of "The Chairman," Mr. Laishley, was tumultuously received, and "For He's a Daisy," sung with enthusiasm. Mr. Laisley delivered a congratulatory address expressing the pleasure it gave him to be present, and meet the men under his charge at the close of another succesful year's operations. Mr. Laishley on behalf of the company takes charge of the various details of the banquet and convention, and has the best wishes of every servent of the company.

"The District Manager," "Ladies," "Host and Hostess," and "The Queen," completed the toast list, and the jubilant company dispersed at an early hour.

"1892. The Cream of the Havana Crop."

"La Cadena" and "La Flora" brads of cigars are undoubtedly superior in quality and considerably lower in price than any brand imported. Prejudiced smokers will not admit this to be the case. The connoisseur knows it. S. DAVIS & Sons, Montreal.

A CHAT ABOUT EGYPT.

Mr. Hampden Burnham's Archaic Address—At the Collegiate Assembly Rooms—A Comparatively Large Attendance.

There was a regretably small attendance at the Assembly Rooms of the Collegiate Institute last night, on the occasion of the fourth address of the series under the auspices of the Literary Society. However, the attendance was large compared with previous occasions of the kind. The chair was occupied by Mr. Sheriff Hall, who called upon the Glee Club to render a selection, which was done in an excellent manner. The chairman in a few graceful words introduced Mr. Burnham, who had, he said, shown an interest in the Institute in a very practical manner, who gave a capital address under the modest title of

A CHAT ABOUT EGYPT.

The extreme antiquity of Egypt was pointed out, the country having a settled form of government under the Pharaoh's when Moses left Mesopotamia for Egypt. Greek civilization began 1400 years before Christ, and Egyptian 2500 years. The source of the Nile was traced, its tributaries described and their influence upon the annual inundation indicated—without one of these tributaries there would be no inundation and without the inundation, no Egypt. The valley of the Nile, the only fertile land in Egypt, had an area only about twice that of England—but it was of unequalled fertility—yielding, according to Herodotus, one hundred and fifty fold. At the mouth of the Rosetta branch of the Nile was found in 1798 the marvellous "Rosetta stone"—the key to the history of Egypt. The speaker showed that Greece borrowed its civilization from Egypt, Rome from Greece and from Rome it was handed down to us. Beginning at Syene, the speaker followed the Nile northward, describing in a graphic and instructive manner the wonderful architectural remains that seem to sow the soil of Egypt like scattered grain—the countless

TOMBS, TEMPLES, MONOLITHS, SPHINXES.

Particularly interesting stay was made at Thebes and Memphis; interesting sketches were given of the pyramids. Heliopolis was pointed out as the school ground of Plato. The Egyptian hieroglyphics and demotics were used to prove the Egyptian origin of writing and letters and to disprove the claim of the Phœnicians to the invention of letters. Geometry had its origin in Egypt. The chief glory of Egypt was its architectural pre-eminence—it gave origin to two leading styles of extant architecture—the severe Doric and the ornate Corinthian and their evolution was described in an interesting manner. At the close of the instructive address which was illustrated by a map that was left as an addition to the equipment of the Institute, a cordial vote of thanks, moved by Mr. J. W. Bennet, seconded by Mr. Dumble, was tendered Mr. Burnham.

A well sung song "Beautiful Dreamer," given with much expression by Sergt. Major Rundle, with the guitar obligato effectively supplied by Mr. V. C. McGill, followed by "God Save the Queen" brought the proceedings of an interesting and profitable evening to a close.

To preserve a youthful appearance as long as possible, it is indispensable that the hair should retain its natural color and fullness. There is no preparation so effective as Ayer's Hair Vigor. It prevents baldness, and keeps the scalp clean, cool, and healthy.

It isn't in the ordinary way that Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription comes to the weak and suffering woman who needs it. It's guaranteed. Not with words merely; any medicine can make claims and promises. What is done with the "Favorite Prescription" is done, if it fails to benefit or cure in any case, your money is returned. Can you ask any better proof that a medicine will do what it promises?

It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a certain remedy for the ills and ailments that beset a woman. In "female complaint" of every kind, periodical pains, internal inflammation or ulceration, bearing down sensations, and all chronic weaknesses and irregularities, it is a positive and complete cure.

To every tired, overworked, worn man, and to every weak, nervous, suffering one, it is guaranteed to bring health and strength.

To every sufferer from Catarrh, no matter how bad the case or of how long standing, the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy say this: "If we can't cure it, perfectly and permanently, we'll pay you $500 in cash." Sold by all druggists.

SUCH a spell of cold weather as that which we experienced during the holidays makes talk of cloaks and wraps especially timely. The initial illustration shows a pretty model of stylish costume of material which has small diagonal threads running through a grayish green cloth. The passementerie trimming is of round silk cord with little knots, triangular in shape, in the middle of each side. The basque is a pointed affair, closing in the middle with hooks and eyes, the plastron is sewn on on one side and fastened on the shoulder and under the other armhole and hooks. This plastron is made of material cut on the straight, is gathered in slightly at the neck and falls in small gathers, and is provided with a band of material to prevent it from stretching. The hooks should either be sewn fast to a strip of silk or to the lining itself. In the latter case, the upper material must first be sewn in with the lining. The back part of the princess robe must be cut bias at the middle seam that the skirt falls into perfect shape. Some extra material may be also added, as there is ample room. Instead of breast darts, protection seams are placed underneath the bodice so as not to be visible on the outside, these seams must be sewn in small gores and thoroughly pressed. The front breadths are fastened with hooks and eyes, and the plastron is also secured to the rest of the costume in the same manner. The costume has a bertha in the shape of a flounce, which is formed into epaulets on the shoulders, and is trimmed with passementerie and fur, like the length of the front. The fur should be either black or very dark in tone, Persian lamb or skunk preferably. The skirt should be lined with satin or silk, or even flannel, if preferred, as it is to be worn without any other garment. From about half a yard beneath the waist it should be sewn together. The sleeves are cut out of same material, and have as usual two seams. They are lined and slightly drawn in, so as to form a puff. This puff must be draped on the lining and sewn in under the cuffs in such a manner as to give the impression that the whole sleeve is made in one. They are then trimmed with fur and passementerie to the manner indicated.

Warm as is the garment just described, it would be cold-hearted and shivery to give a whole letter up to such delineation. So I turn to some gowns sketched at a reception. And where do you think the reception was? On the stage, in a play. Do you suppose ordinary women ever have conventional receptions and wear their gowns as they do, whether the gowns were as lovely or not? The woman shown in the first picture is the hostess, and as a daughter who went forward to greet her first guest, bodice and the sleeves were apple green. The latter part of the [illegible] pleasant fashion and was of the rainbow stuff. The sleeves were split to show the arms. Black velvet made the throat more slender, and velvet about the waist did the same for that. The skirt and sleeves were edged with black. That is tremendously stylish, and the fan which she made her little Delsarte gestures was black. She was in such a hurry to get to the guest that she had to lift her gown to avoid tripping, and that showed a petticoat of rose silk.

FIRST GUEST.

Meanwhile, the guest came in, and she was a vision. She had on for a wrap a wonderful thing they call a sapuchon in Paris, of white velvet, with a flaring Henry II collar held in at the lower edge by a band of sable, and she [illegible] ends of the capuchon in her hands to stimulate the [illegible]. The sable ran all down the [illegible] and [illegible]. Her dress was shot silk, silver and silver, the belt was silver, the sleeves were very big and the little vest was [illegible] as not to interfere or hide them at all. The white and the sable, and the gray and silver made her dark beauty seem the only beauty that was real, except that the rose and apple green could [illegible]. See how the first guest has her head tipped down? In the play the two women were not really very good friends, and the guest was getting ready to say something smart and cutting. You can see it as plain as day by the way she looks, and that is the result of Delsarte methods, or whatever you want to call it, that makes women on the stage do something, instead of being so [illegible].

[illegible] came in later. She was just as smart as the first guest, and I took her just as [illegible] having something elegant and cutting [illegible]. Didn't she just enjoy it, though, when her head tipped back and to one side, that little innocent smile, her hand just [illegible] the chair, and her pretty self [illegible] forward with her shoulder back, so that her [illegible] would show all the better, and her [illegible] elbow out so her astrachan cape would stick out effectively and make the other woman hate her capuchon! See how she accomplishes two things by putting her hand on her hip: she takes the chance to pull up her skirt a little [illegible] to show the hostess her skirt, [illegible] the very latest [illegible] over white Lawn, and the hostess wishes she had died before she ever put on that old rose colored thing of hers. Much of this is shown in the third picture, but it is needful to say that this guest's gown is emerald green. She is a blonde, too, and the hostess needn't think apple green is the only green that will make a blonde look lovely. The bodice is shirred very full at the neck, and then drawn in tight at the waist with a belt of black velvet all covered with green jet nail heads and pendants. Around the bottom of the skirt are two rows of astrachan, and the cape is of the softest astrachan in the world, and the two ruffles that make it are as full as if they were of cloth. The other guest hates her sable, and is afraid she is so far ahead in the fashions that no one will know that sable is really the thing and that astrachan is not.

Another guest, she of the fourth picture, came still later, and I have her as she was in an awful scene. Her reception was a big scene in the play, and wasn't intended merely to show the dresses. This last actress, you see, is dressed to work, [illegible] act. Her gown, too, is quite plain, and it clears the door and actress pretty back so that it seems a part of her being mad when she does become angry. Anyone can see

The Directors, who are now the owners of the entire Capital stock, have decided, at the request of numerous friends of the Company throughout Canada, to enlarge the proprietorship of its stock, and to offer for sale, at par, ten thousand shares of one hundred dollars each, fully paid and non-assessable.

Payments are to be made as follows:—Five per cent. on application; fifteen per cent. on allotment, twenty per cent. each in two, three and four months from the date of allotment. Applicants have the right to pay in full on allotment.

Applications for shares will be received until February 15th, 1893, at any of the offices of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the offices of the Union Bank of Halifax, and at the head office of the Company, N. Y. Life Building, Montreal.

Forms of application for shares may be obtained at any of the above places or they will be sent by mail on request.

Should the allotment of shares in the case of any applicant [illegible] in the event of the Directors finding it necessary to reduce the full number of shares applied for, the surplus of the deposit will be applied towards the amount payable on allotment, and the balance, if any, will be returned without delay. Applicants who [illegible] any less number than the number applied for.

All calls on the Company's shares are payable quarterly, beginning with the first day of [illegible], and shareholders will be entitled to receive proportion of the quarterly dividend as [illegible] corresponding to the amount paid [illegible] subscription.

It is proposed to apply to the Montreal Exchange and Toronto for official quotations of the shares of the Company.

The Consumers Cordage Company was organized in June, 1892, with a capital of one million dollars, to operate several of the largest Cordage and Binder Twine Factories in Canada. It, at first, operated about under [illegible] but its operations having been successful the Capital was subsequently increased to Three Million Dollars, and the leased properties were purchased.

The Company has no mortgages [illegible] and, according to the law under which it was incorporated, [illegible] without the consent of two-thirds of the shares holders, represented at a meeting called for the purpose.

The Company has played in the season of its history:

(a) Past examination of its affairs, certified to by Messrs. Cockburn, Scott & Wilks, Chartered Accountants.

(b) The following letter from Messrs. Abbotts, Campbell & Meredith, advocates, Montreal, upon the legality of its incorporation, and the issue of its stock:—

Montreal, January 5, 1893.

Consumers Cordage Co., Ltd.

Gentlemen,—We have examined the books and documents connected with the organization of the Consumers Cordage Company, Limited, and under [illegible] it has been properly incorporated, and that its capital stock of $3,000,000, as issued, is fully paid up and non-assessable, according to the provisions of the "Companies Act."

We are, yours truly,

(signed) ABBOTTS, CAMPBELL & MEREDITH.

(c) A report from Messrs. Mennier and McKibbon, Solicitors of the Company, that the titles to its Mills have been duly examined, and that no encumbrances exist.

Applicants for shares may extend the time for documents, copies of which may be seen at the Company's offices, and at the various offices of the Banks mentioned above.

The Consumers Cordage Company is probably the second largest Manufacturer of Cordage and Binder Twine in the world, and [illegible] following very materially and [illegible] over its competitors:

1st. They buy its raw material in [illegible] quantities, and at lower prices.

2nd. To use only the latest and most improved machinery, thus keeping its mills in the highest state of efficiency.

3rd. Economy in selling and distributing its manufactured goods:

(a) The business covers as wide a territory as that [illegible] goods to almost every civilized country in the world, that it cannot be seriously injured by local frontiers; and its Manufacturing establishments are so scattered that the danger of severe loss by fire is very slight.

4th. Lower cost of production:

(a) By establishing the sharpest competition between the several mills, to be enabled to [illegible] in all the best methods tested in each.

(b) By operating its commercial department on a large [illegible].

(c) By placing in one hand the purchasing of the Raw Materials and Manufacturing supplies for the several Mills, thus securing lowest prices.

(d) By manufacturing for themselves many of their supplies.

The Company has always found it in its interest to divide the profits of its production and distribution with the Consumer, and, since its existence the Consumer has, upon the average, had a better article at a lower price than previously.

The Company does not claim to have any monopoly, or to earn monopoly profits; in fact, it has not done so. Since its organization it has been, also, alive to the advantages above referred to, to earn a per cent. on its present capital of not less than 10 per cent. per annum, (as statements in their bankers' hands will show), and the Directors believe that these profits will be maintained in the future, as the cost of production and distribution shows each year a marked decrease.

The Dividend for the year ending 31st October, 1892, was at the rate of 8½ per cent. per annum. The past record of the Company, and its present position justify the Directors in believing that quarterly dividends of [illegible] per cent. can be paid [illegible] the profits for the current year [illegible] Large and [illegible] premises, the [illegible] quantity [illegible] might be increased.

Any further information [illegible] had at the head office, or [illegible] Montreal.

THE LOSS MADE GOOD.

And How the Guarantee Company Will Get Away With Shortages.

OTTAWA, Jan. 20.—The first important step was taken yesterday by London Guarantee and Accident Assurance Company in connection with the defalcations in the accountant's office in the House of Commons, when the amount which the officers were behind in their cash was paid over to the Government. It was not until now that the exact amount of shortages could be told by the Department of Justice. C. D. Richardson, manager of the Guarantee and Accident Company, arrived here from Montreal this morning, and along with Stewart Henderson, counsel for the company, handed the money over to the Department of Justice. The amount of the defalcations was put at $2258, and this sum was paid over by the company.

The next step by the company will be to look after Mr. Brewer, the accountant, and Mr. Bolton, the assistant, for the money. Mr. Brewer is in the city, but Mr. Bolton has not been seen in Ottawa since a few days after the affair happened. It is said that he is somewhere up the Ottawa among the lumbering shanties. Should procedings be taken against the officers mentioned the trial will bring out some interesting revelations.

Gunning Accident.

BRANTFORD, Jan. 20.—Yesterday a lad named William Gaskill was admitted to the hospital suffering from a gunshot wound in the left hand. He had been out shooting rabbits in the vicinity of Tranquility, and while carrying his gun he accidentally discharged it. The shot struck the left hand of the lad and shattered three of the fingers. After the accident Gaskel, with his companion, tried to walk across the fields to the house of a neighboring farmer, but through loss of blood he was unable to go any further. Assistance was sent for and the boy taken to the hospital. The doctors found it necessary to amputate two of the fingers. It is thought the hand will be saved.

BOAS.

Something About Those Worn Indoor and Out.

Of the two figures in the illustration that on the left shows a dress of dark blue silk with a design after a cashmere shawl pattern and shot with the shades used through. It has a full front of mauve crepe dotted with gold beads, beautiful sleeves of blue velvet, and collarette and flounce on skirt of the velvet lined with mauve satin merveilleux. This flounce is put on full and has a narrow beading so that the satin may show.

The gown worn by the seated figure is a dress of heliotrope cloth. The corselet band, epaulets and flounce on the skirt are of narrow lizard green and prune striped velvet. The front is of rose crepe sarah. A rose colored velvet could be used instead of the crepe and a pelisse cloak of heliotrope cloth with revers of the velvet and trimmed with otter could be worn out of doors with the costume. But in any case the huge feather boa would be appropriate. The boa does not loom favor though one reason for its existence is menaced by the turn towards very short waisted gowns. A full broad boa emphasizes a small waist to perfection. Indeed, some of them are so generous, and some of the waists are so tiny that there is scarcely a line of the figure to show on either side, as one looks in front. Of course the boa is not good for the throat, it gives you all sorts of troubles, but what of that? It is a sort of anachronism so far as seasons go, because it is worn with thin dresses and when the arms are bare. Its only use with the latter style of gown is as a scarf. It is really more becoming than a scarf, because fur or feathers are soft and outline the lower contour of a woman's face. This is a beauty with many women. Boas are worn in all colors, and as a rule to contrast instead of match or harmonize with the gown. With a low-neck gown, especially if one's neck is not all it should be they afford a needed relief to outline, while the gown has still the dressy effect of low neck. In the theatre, when the heavy wrap must be left for convenience in the cloak room, the boa may be taken to the seat as a protection from draughts. They are a safe investment, because they are not very expensive and their use will be recognized for a long time yet.

"Yes, if you both stay single," and the father declined to discuss the matter further.

They Got It At Last.
For many years scientists tried to concentrate the blood, flesh and bone making qualities contained in the oil of the Norwegian cod. They only partially succeeded. But by new chemical processes, rendered feasible by electrical forces, the life giving properties of the oil have all been captured, and are safely imprisoned within that famous remedy which is being talked about all over the country, known as "Mitchell's Hypophosphites Cod Liver Oil." Physicians acknowledge that this is the greatest discovery, or rather the perfection of a discovery, ever given to the world. To say that it cures consumption by making blood, flesh and bone for the patient is quite enough. It is a remedy that positively needs no puffing. Many young people have been saved by its use. CORNY HERZ IS ON DECK.

HE IS RAISING A DUST AMONG THE BOODLERS.

Everybody Fears That the Worst Will Now Come Out—Herz Not a Spy For the Triple Alliance—He Had But Tried to Detach Italy.

PARIS, Jan. 21.—The sole topic of conversation in the Chamber lobbies and cafes yesterday has been the arrest of Cornelius Herz. The prospect of his return to France and the possibility that he will reveal evidence which he holds against suspicious politicians and financiers have excited general apprehension. Outside of royalist and socialistic circles the arrest is regarded with a feeling closely akin to panic.

The gravest fears exist on account of the Senate, whose members are believed to be threatened more seriously than all others through Herz's return. Everybody feels that the worst will come out as soon as Herz shall come before the examining magistrate.

In view of Herz's capture, The Liberte comes out with a statement as to relations between Herz and Baron de Reinach. Documents seized upon the premises occupied by Herz when he lived under the name of Schivaw show, says this journal, that Reinach was the debtor and Herz the creditor, as was affirmed by Herz in his letter published in The Cocarde last evening.

At the Palais Bourbon this afternoon M. Andrieux was the principal object of curiosity and at every turn he was the centre of a little knot of deputies, who plied him with questions as to Herz. M. Andrieux reiterated his conviction that Herz was not a spy for the Triple Alliance, but as stated in the Figaro interview, had striven earnestly to detach Italy from Austria, Hungary and Germany.

After Deputy Gerville Reache had informed the Parliamentary Commission of Enquiry that he would introduce in the Chamber a bill forbidding recipients of Panama money to alienate their estates, M. Andrieux was called upon to throw more light on the bribery of 104 deputies, concerning whom he testified on Dec. 22. He said that he did not have the original of the photographed list which he had submitted to the commission.

The name cut out of the list, he said, was that of a high political dignitary. He had promised on his honor not to reveal this name, and he must persist in his refusal. M. Andrieux refused also to give names mentioned in M. Arton's notebook on the ground that there was not sufficient evidence against the men named, and he did not wish to blacken reputations ruthlessly. As to the check endorsed by M. Davourat, presumably as agent for some high personage, M. Andrieux said he could only refer the commission to the speech of M. Rouvier in the Chamber on the day of his retirement from the Ministry of Finance. Rouvier had obtained Panama money for the purpose of replenishing the secret service fund.

When attacked by The Lanterne in 1887, Rouvier had paid 100,000 francs to that journal as the price of peace. He explained the matter to the Cabinet, and was allowed to take 80,000 francs of the secret service money, and thus had depleted the fund.

The Lanterne had ceased attacking Rouvier, but had continued to denounce the other minister.

Reverting to the Reinach documents, M. Andrieux said he had obtained the memoranda as to Thierree checks, etc., from Cornelius Herz, who had received them from Reinach. Andrieux did not know that Reinach had shown the memoranda to Clemenceau, but he himself had once shown them to Clemenceau. Herz, after quarreling with Reinach, had sent to M. Constans, then Minister of Interior, documents showing that Reinach had tried to poison him.

Subsequently, however, Reinach and Herz had been reconciled. As to checks mentioned in Arton's notebook, Arton alone could give the desired information. Arton was at present in correspondence with several men in Paris, notably with Boulangist Deputies Georges, Laguerre and Terrail-Mermeix.

On the strength of M. Andrieux's testimony the commission decided to summon Deputies Laguerre and Terrail-Mermeix and Clemenceau to appear before them to-morrow.

After leaving the commission M. Andrieux passed several minutes in conversation with Deputies Dechayne and Millavoie, to whom he reiterated his statements as regards Herz's loyalty to France and his efforts to break the Triple Alliance.

The Temps says in view of M. Stephane's testimony as to his delivering to M. Clemenceau Baron de Reinach's memoranda concerning the bribery of Deputies, M. Tiburce Franqueville, examining magistrate, has summoned Clemenceau to appear before him to-morrow for examination.

There are three counts in the indictment against Cornelius Herz. The first concerns the 600,000 francs received by him from Charles de Lesseps; the second the two million francs received by him from Baron de Reinach; the third the menacing letters written by him with the intention of blackmailing Baron de Reinach.

The total number of Arton check foils is now known to be 1010. Of this number probably the majority are excluded from legal consideration by the statute of limitations, as the checks were drawn before 1883. The Parliamentary Commission of Enquiry may examine the stubs of these checks, but the judges are bound to ignore them. The most important of the checks in question, however, were drawn in 1887 and 1888 on the deputies, theatrical beauties and other personal persons, mostly women and newspaper men. The whole sum involved in these drafts is some six million francs.

M. Andrieux told the Parliamentary Commission of Enquiry to-day that some years ago he received from Brazil a letter signed "Amal," in which Baron de Reinach was accused of having hired the writer to poison Cornelius Herz. When the letter was shown to him Reinach pretended that he had wished merely to frighten Herz into leaving Paris.

The letter from Amal, however, was in no way jocular, but apparently meant business. After the reconciliation between the two men, M. Andrieux said Reinach was anxious to have his son marry Miss Herz.

OTHER REASONS GIVEN.

The Scandal Was Unearthed for Reason of Personal Revenge.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Morning Post publishes an interview with Henri Rochefort concerning the Panama scandal. Rochefort says: "There is no doubt Constans started the Panama exposure to get revenge for his exclusion from the Cabinet.

"He derived the bulk of his information from Cornelius Herz. Constans, moreover, inspires The Cocarde, even when it attacks President Carnot. It is absurd to suppose that Carnot received any benefit or favor from the Panama Canal Company.

"He can be blamed for accepting dishonest men for his ministers. The zeal of M. Bourgeois in sifting the Panama affair is due to his ambition to become President. They all want to be President, 30 or more of them.

"The Panama directors will receive severe sentences. Then five or six deputies and ex-members will be sacrificed and the rest will escape. It is almost certain that the proceedings against Rouvier will be dropped, although I do not believe he applied the money in the secret service. It went into his own pocket.

"Floquet, however, paid out a great deal of money to small newspapers. The Republic is in no way endangered by the scandals. Nobody need fear a dictatorship or kingship, or anything of that sort.

"The Comte de Paris is too prudent to think of mounting the throne. Nor will the scandal affect the Russian alliance. Russia needs the alliance with France to counterpoise the triple alliance. At the next elections the Socialists will gain the greatest benefits from the scandals."

Herz Arrested.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Dr. Cornelius Herz was arrested at last night on a warrant issued on demand of the French Government on a charge of having been fraudulently implicated in Panama swindling and corruption.

The detectives found Herz sick in bed, and the attending physician declared he was in such a serious condition that he could only be removed at imminent peril of his life, and that from present appearances it would be impossible to remove him for some time. The detectives were ordered to remain with the prisoner.

The police have seized all of Cornelius Herz's money and effects.

The medical certificate given to-day by the doctor summoned to the Tankerville house by the detectives who arrested Herz, says that he is suffering from "affection of the heart, diabetes, great prostration and functional derangement."

What Germany May Do.

LONDON, Jan. 21.—The Berlin correspondent of The Telegraph says that the German Government contemplates proposing to the powers that they withdraw their ambassadors from Paris temporarily as a protest against the attacks made recently upon Baron Mohrenheim.

The Talk

We have made throughout the town and country about our Linen Sale, has made the demand for these goods spring up briskly. It is a satisfaction to note how our statements about Linen Goods and prices are received. The remarkable point is that even on days when the weather is against us, crowds of ready buyers come to carry off, not only the announced ba gains, but others that are waiting a chance to be talked about.

Before saying a word about any other line, we desire to emphasize the very special value represented in our much talked of Table Linens, Table Napkins and Towellings. The prices are 25 to 35 per cent. less than usual. The entire linen family is represented among the special bargains offered. The hardest thing for women to understand is how such prices are possible

The reason for an abundance of bargains just now is the change from merchandise winter to merchandise spring. New goods are being opened up every day. We tell you the facts and leave you to act on your own notions. Every day brings to our notice some things that should go faster; and they do go faster by going for less money—our Linen Goods for instance.

AT THE PRIVY COUNCIL.

THE CASE OF SEPARATE SCHOOLS FOR MANITOBA.

Mr. Ewart Argues the Case on Behalf of the Manitoba Minority in a Speech of One Hour's Duration—The Manitoba Government Not Represented.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 23.—There was a full meeting of council Saturday at 11 to hear the argument of Mr. J. S. Ewart, counsel for the Manitoba minority in support of the petition of Archbishop Taché and others for remedial legislation. Every member of the council was in his seat with the exception of Hon. Frank Smith. Hon. John Carling, Senator Bernier, Mr. La Riviere, M.P., Rev. Father Lacombe, Chevalier John Heney and about a dozen citizens of Ottawa were also present.

Hon. Mr. Ives, President of the Council, briefly stated that the object of the meeting was to hear Mr. Ewart, as had been suggested by the sub-committee of the council, whose report it was not considered necessary to read.

Mr. Ewart spoke for nearly an hour, practically repeating and elaborating the arguments adduced by him before the sub-committee a month ago. He recited the state of educational matters prior to Confederation; the establishment of Separate schools in Ontario and Quebec as a matter of justice to the minorities in these provinces; the insertion of the clauses in the British North American Act maintaining the rights granted to minorities, and contended that the Manitoba act of 1870 was intended to provide that the rights of the minority, whether Protestant or Catholic, should be guaranteed to them. He held in effect that the Local Legislature, at its first session in 1871, having established Protestant and Catholic schools, the latter had acquired a right which could not be taken away, and that the attempt of the Manitoba Government by the acts of 1890 to abolish the Catholic schools gave occasion for the exercise by the Governor-General in Council of the power reserved to him by the Manitoba Act of 1870, of proposing to the Parliament of Canada the remedial legislation which that Act provided for. He claimed not only that His Excellency had this power, but that it was his duty to exercise and leave it to Parliament to deal with the question.

He referred to the New Brunswick school question, and quoted the resolutions passed by the House in 1873, and again in 1875, advising the New Brunswick Legislature to deal fairly by the minority, and said Parliament had just as much right to deal with the question of education in the province, as it had to deal with the question of Home Rule for Ireland. He referred to the Privy Council's decision and argued that that decision did not debar remedial legislation, but on the contrary it rendered remedial legislation necessary. If the Manitoba School Act had been declared ultra vires there could have been no remedial legislature for there would have been nothing to remedy. It was only when the act was declared ultra vires that remedial legislation could be asked.

In conclusion, he replied to the question suggested in the report of the sub-committee of council as follows:

Various questions are proposed in the recent order in council. I have thought it best to answer them altogether by the argument which I have now completed. I trust that in what I have said I have made it clear that the answers should be as follows:

1. This is an appeal contemplated by sub-section 6 of sec. 93 of the B.N.A. Act and sub-section 2 of section 22 of the Manitoba Act.

2. The grounds set forth in the petitions are such as may be the subject of an appeal.

3. The decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council has no bearing upon the appeal for redress so far as it is based upon rights acquired after the union, further than that decision finally disposes of the contention that the second sub-section of the Manitoba Act furnishes a remedy merely against ultra vires statues.

4. Sub-section 3 of section 93 of the British North America Act applies to Manitoba unless it is varied by the Manitoba Act. If it is not varied it applies, and if it is, the variation has widened and not narrowed its scope. It is immaterial to the petitioners which alternative is adopted.

5. His Excellency the Governor-General in Council has power to grant the orders asked for by the petitioners.

6. The Acts of Manitoba passed prior to the session of 1890 conferred on the minority, a right or privilege with respect to education within the meaning of sub-section 2 of Sec. 22 of the Manitoba act and established a system of separate or dissentient schools within the meaning of sub-section 3 of Sec. 93 of the B. N. A. act, and the two acts of 1890 affected beyond question such rights and privileges in such manner as to warrant the present appeal.

On the conclusion of Mr. Ewart's address Hon. Mr. Ives read a letter from Lieut.-Governor Schultz to the Secretary of State in reply to the despatch transmitting copies of the petition received and inviting the Manitoba Government to be represented at the argument. The Lieutenant-Governor stated that his Government had decided not to be represented at the argument on the 21st.

Hon. Mr. Ives then asked if there was any one present who wished to be heard by council, and there being no response the press and public were invited to withdraw so that the council might deliberate on the matter. That finished the business for the present.

Mr. Ewart leaves for Winnipeg to-night.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The 100th anniversary of the execution of Louis XVI. was appropriately observed yesterday by the Royalists of France.

The Boats Saved Them.

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 23.—A Monterey, Mexico, special says: Farther particulars of the loss of the steamer Paris, from Havre for New Orleans, off the Mexican coast near Tuxpan last Wednesday, were received to-day.

The vessel was disabled during a heavy storm several days ago, and was making for Tuxpan, when she struck an unusually heavy sea and began going to pieces. An effort was made to run her across the bar, but she went down before the work could be accomplished.

The captain, crew and passengers took to the boats, and reached Tuxpan without difficulty.

DRENCHED WITH FLAME.

A CROWD CRAZY UNDER A DELUGE OF BURNING OIL.

A Passenger Train Runs Through An Open Switch and Smashes Into an Oil Train—Two of the Tanks Split Open and a Huge Blaze Follows.

ALTON, Ill., Jan. 23.—One of the most frightful accidents that ever occurred in or near this city happened at 9 Saturday morning at Alton Junction, four miles from here, on the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus & St. Louis Railway. The southwestern lumber train from St. Louis was 13 minutes late and came into Wann, the station at the Junction, at the rate of 40 miles an hour, and ran into an open switch, crashing into a train of freight cars containing a number of oil tanks.

Two of the oil tanks were split open and the oil caught fire, spreading to the other tank, box and freight cars, and the entire train burned up.

The passenger engineer, W. B. Ross of Malton, Ill., remained on his engine to put on the air brakes and was killed. Fireman Whiteman escaped by jumping. The engine and the combination baggage car and smoker were damaged and eight oil tanks, eight box cars and six flats were rapidly destroyed by the fire. The loss will probably reach $100,000.

An eye-witness says that the shock of the collision was such as to split two loaded tanks wide open, and the oil immediately caught fire, the flames shooting 50 feet into the air. The locomotive and baggage cars were totally wrecked, but the remainder of the passenger train was removed beyond the reach of the flames.

In an incredibly short time the freight train was a mass of flames. Fear of an explosion prevented any attempt to save it. The wrecking train came up from East St. Louis at 11 o'clock, but could do little, and half a dozen switch engines were run out from here to clear the yards.

Hearing of the wreck hundreds of people from this city and vicinity were attracted by curiosity to the scene.

A few minutes past 12 o'clock there was a slight explosion of one tank, which scattered the debris on all sides and set fire to the stock yards' enclosures. This produced the impression that the danger of explosions was passed, and the throng of bystanders rushed in to save the stock yards from destruction.

A minute later there was a deafening report that shook the earth and a sheet of seething burning oil was flung in all directions. For those within the circle of 100 yards there was no escape. Their clothing was burned and literally fell from their bodies.

In a moment those who were not completely disabled began running hither and thither, waving their hands and screaming for help. Some went to the nearest water and others ran into the fields and still missing. Panic reigned for a short time until the uninjured recovered their presence of mind to care for the afflicted.

Two barrels of linseed oil were taken from a grocery store and applied to the wounds by several physicians, who happened to be on the ground. Every house in the little village was turned into a temporary hospital, and every doctor in Alton and its vicinity was summoned. As soon as possible a train was made up and 20 of the sufferers were brought here to St. Joseph's Hospital.

A FALLING WALL.

Kills Two Firemen and Seriously Injures One Other.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 23.—One of the most disastrous fires that have occurred in this city in five years broke out at 10 o'clock last night in the large six-story McKay building in Stone-street.

The fire started in the fourth story and hardly had the alarm been given before the four upper floors were a roaring mass of flames. The fire spread rapidly into the story below, and in spite of the hard-working firemen at midnight the building was in ruins.

Half an hour after the alarm was given a corner of the wall was seen to topple. A group of firemen had just descended from the ladder when the warning was given. The foreman ordered these on the north side of the truck to push it out of the way, and three of the men, mistaking the order, went to the south.

The wall fell upon them, killing one instantly and injuring the two others. One of the two latter died three hours later.

The building was occupied by nearly a dozen manufacturing concerns and was valued at $60,000 and was insured for $35,000. The Lighthouse Manufacturing Company, one of the occupants of the building, had just executed a contract with the Government for furnishing $1,000,000 worth of mail bags. The estimated loss of the contents of the building is $200,000.

TO BE SET FREE.

Sam Mitchell, Who Murdered Alex. McIntosh, Will be Released on Feb. 20th Next.

KINGSTON, Ont., Jan. 23.—Sam Mitchell, sentenced to 10 years for the murder of Alexander McIntosh, will be released on Feb. 20th next. Mitchell shot McIntosh in his house on Isabella-street, St. Thomas, on Easter Sunday, 1884. The coroner's jury at the inquest returned a verdict of justifiable homicide. Public opinion was strongly in favor of Mitchell, and had he been brought to trial at that time he would have been acquitted. His trial did not take place till some months afterwards, and in the meantime additional facts elicited regarding the relations which had existed for a long time between McIntosh and Mrs. Mitchell, of which it was said Mitchell had been aware, caused a revulsion of feeling, and when Mitchell was tried he was found guilty of manslaughter and sentenced to 10 years in penitentiary. Several largely signed petitions for his release were sent to the Minister of Justice, but their prayer was not granted.

ROBERT STEVENSON DYING.

The Author of "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" Has Consumption.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 23.—Leigh Lynch, World's Fair Commissioner for Samoa, who arrived yesterday with many curios, said to-day that Robert Louis Stevenson, the novelist, will probably never leave his island home, as he is dying of consumption.

Stevenson is not writing a new novel, as has been stated, although he works for a few hours every morning on literary matter, presumably for magazines.

GERMANY IS CENTRAL.

ALL EUROPE HAS TURNED CURIOUS EYES TO HER.

Denmark Has Become Alarmed—So Has Austria-Hungary—The Sultan of Turkey Takes Beer and Protests for Breakfast.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Chancellor Von Caprivi is still struggling in the deep diplomatic water into which he plunged during the recent sessions of the Parliamentary Commission on the Army bill. Denmark, offended by his allusions to the Franco-Russian intrigue at the Copenhagen Court, has now become alarmed in consequence of the sensation caused by King Christian's unexpected decision not to attend the Princess Margaret's wedding.

The Danish Foreign Office and the Danish ambassadors are taking unusual pains to let the world understand that the unpleasantness of the weather is King Christian's sole reason for changing his mind, but in this city the excuse is regarded as ridiculously inadequate.

Numerous notes have passed between Berlin and Copenhagen during the past week as to the Chancellor's speech before the Parliamentary Commission, and the German Foreign Office has made explanations without end, but Denmark's suspicions have not been lulled. The explanations of the Danish diplomatists as to the necessity they feel for the spending of 56,000,000 marks in fortifying Copenhagen and for pushing their line of defence close against the Schleswig frontier are received here with lack of confidence.

Austria-Hungary also, which has long been expected to say "me, too," to everything Germany asserted, has become restive. Chancellor Caprivi's statements, re-echoed by members of the Reichstag, that the brunt of the next general war must be borne by Germany for the triple alliance, had already evoked some spirited remonstrances from the Vienna press. The Kreuz Zeitung has put the climax upon Austria-Hungary's grievances by publishing a long leader to the effect that the dual Empire is under moral obligations to increase her military establishment in the proportion indicated for Germany by the military.

This leader elicited a prompt remonstrance from Vienna, to which Caprivi could only reply that The Kreuz Zeitung was not an official nor a semi-official organ, and the German Government was, therefore, in no way responsible for its opinions.

With this disavowal Austria-Hungary has been obliged to content herself, although Vienna dailies still grumble about the persistent depreciation of Austria-Hungary's military strength now in vogue in Germany.

Despatches from Constantinople show that the diplomatic corps in that city is in one of its perennial tends. The cause this time is that German influence again predominates, and Prince Radolin, German ambassador, is the most favored of the representatives of foreign sovereigns. M. Nelidoff, Russian ambassador, and Sir Francis Ford, British ambassador, have protested against the favoring of Germany in commercial concessions, but the Sultan has remained firm. The special facilities granted to German trade in Turkey have been gained by Prince Radolin principally at the expense of Great Britain, although Russia too has suffered considerably.

The efforts of France to monopolize the foreign influence, always notable in Turkish affairs, have failed also. This fact is shown by the Sultan's recent request that Prince Heinrich of Hohenzollern secure for him permission to send several Turkish marine officers to join the German navy in order that they might receive the benefits of training under German officers on German men-of-war. If war should be declared to-morrow between Russia and Germany the German Foreign Office would feel confident of Turkey's moral support if not of her active participation against Russia.

Numerous petitions against the return of the Jesuit orders are received constantly by the Government from Protestant communities, which have been alarmed by reports of Chancellor Von Caprivi's negotiations with the Clericals. The agitation has assumed enormous proportions throughout the Protestant states of the empire, and on Monday was reported to have produced such effect upon the Government that the Chancellor had assured several high church dignitaries he would not allow the admission of the Jesuits under any conditions.

The report enraged the Clerical Deputies, and they decided to remind the Government sharply of the importance of their attitude towards the Army bill. They put up Dr. Lieber, leader of the Democratic wing of the Centre, to speak for this purpose in the commission on Wednesday. Lieber, however, went beyond his instructions and delivered a violent harangue which few but South German Clericals care to endorse. Every member of the Reichstag has received from an unknown source a pamphlet on the Army bill. The author remains anonymous, although he is known to be an eminent Saxon general.

The peace of Europe, he says, is not likely to be maintained after the autumn of 1894, when the Russian army will be armed with the small calibre repeating rifle, therefore will be fully prepared to strike. While the re-armament is still incomplete, and Russia consequently feels constrained to keep the peace, Germany must find her opportunity for final preparation for the inevitable conflict.

The proposals to reject the Army bill could be made in good faith only by those ignorant of the growing perils of the international situation; compromises delaying the execution of the bill's provisions for two years or three years were hardly less fatuous; the Imperial Government, after years of provocation, has taken steps to stop the scattering of French propaganda from Luxemburg among the people of the annexed provinces.

A specific complaint, accompanied with proof, has been made by the German Foreign office against a Luxemburg society called the Union des Patriotes Francais. The Provincial Government seized several hundred leaflets that had been distributed and sent them to Berlin with vehement protests that the union was doing untold mischief through its inflammatory appeals, and should be squelched at any cost.

CANADIAN CATTLE.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—Representatives of the various Scotch interests in the Canadian cattle trade, including farmers, shippers and cattle salesmen, met in conference at Glasgow to consider the restrictions on the trade. It was decided to urge the Board of Agriculture to bring pressure on the Government to withdraw the prohibition, as it is considered unnecessary and injurious to the interests of the community generally.

WHAT A YEAR HATH WROUGHT

SYNOPSIS OF Y. M. C. A. WORK FOR 1892.

A Clear Balance Sheet—Records of Good Work in all Departments—A Member for Every day in the Year, Save one—The Secretary's Comprehensive Report.

Below is presented to-day the annual report of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A. kindly furnished by Mr. General Secretary Chapman. It will be read at the anniversary on Tuesday night, but it is given to-day so that space will not be too much encroached upon in dealing with the report of the anniversary services:—

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 24th, 1893.

To the President and Members of the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association:

DEAR BRETHREN,—It is for various reasons, impossible for me to present a report as I would like to do. The year has been divided into three periods, the first of six months during which your late secretary, Mr. Colville, was in charge, the second of four months during which there was no secretary, and the third of two months during which the writer was in charge. Records are therefore only available for eight months, and these, though in most respects complete, are, of course, mainly unfamiliar.

The following report is a synopsis of those read at the annual business meeting on the 12th inst.

FINANCES.—Owing to the strenuous efforts of our president and the indefatigable chairman of the finance committee we were enabled to close the year free of debt. Our thanks are due to St. Paul's, George street, the Baptist and St. Andrew's churches for collections, and to the St. Andrew's C. E. Society for $40, the proceeds of a garden party given by them. Also to the Ladies' Auxiliary for $60, contributed towards the lighting of the rooms, as well as to all our ordinary contributors. A special fund of $13.10, called the extension fund, has been contributed by several of our younger members in aid of the general association work in our country and foreign lands. The total expenditures were nearly $1,000, and we shall need fully as much, if not more, for the work of the coming year.

RELIGIOUS DEPARTMENT.—During the past three years this department has been especially strong, and the first half of the past year was no exception to this rule. During January special services were conducted under the auspices of the association in George street church by Mrs. Baeyertz, the converted Jewess, and in St. Andrew's church by Rev. Mr. Meikle, the evangelist. These services resulted in the professed conversion of twenty-one young men, and at least seventeen others, have professed to receive Christ as their Saviour during the year. For a part of the year services were conducted by members of the Association at the Nicholls Hospital, the Protestant Home and the gaol. A deep interest in Bible study was manifested during the early part of the year. The week of prayer (Nov. 14-21) was observed by holding prayer meetings in the rooms. In five of the churches special sermons were preached; in four of these collections were taken in aid of the work. During Nov. and Dec. special evangelistic services were held in the George street and Mark street churches, which though not in any way under the auspices of the Association, were interesting to us from the fact that through them a large number of young men professed faith in Christ. We aim to make all other departments subordinate to this. While seeking to benefit young men in every possible way, we especially seek by our evangelistic meetmeetings, Bible classes, tract distribution, visitation in sickness and most important of all, by personal conversation and prayer in the rooms, to lead them to a personal knowledge of Christ and a deeper consecration to His service.

The following is a statistical record, as far as obtainable, of our work in this department:

GOSPEL MEETINGS.

	Ave. Att.
Mixed meeting, Sunday evening at 8.30	180
Open air meeting Sunday afternoon during summer	220
Young men's meeting, Sunday afternoon at 4.15	36
Young men's meeting Saturday evening at 8	37

BIBLE CLASSES, ETC.

Sunday morning at 9.30	9
Thursday evening at 8	11
Saturday morning students' class during last spring	5
Visits to sick during four months	395

The rooms are usually closed with prayer and Scripture reading, and the average members present at these exercises has been 8. Our Invitation Committee has done faithful work in distributing invitations on the street to the Saturday night meeting, and the Reception Committee has provided ushers for the Sunday night meeting.

SOCIAL DEPARTMENT.—The following receptions to young men were held: New Year's Day, attendance about 500; Good Friday, attendance about 200. Open house was also kept on the Queen's Birthday, and a reception given to the present secretary on November 4. Members of the reception committee were on duty 275 evenings of the year, and great credit is due to the chairman of the committee, Mr. A. J. Hamilton, and to the president, Mr. Early, for their faithful attention to this work.

INTELLECTUAL DEPARTMENT.—The reading rooms have been supplied with about 75 papers and magazines, many of which were kindly donated by the publishers and other friends. The illustrated periodicals have been kept in the members' reading room, but this, after a year's trial, is thought to have been a mistake, and they are now in the public reading room. The library, though small, contains a number of excellent books, and we only wish that it were more largely patronized. No attempt has been made to conduct a course of educational classes or practical talks.

PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT.—Gymnastic classes were conducted twice a week during the winter months by Sergeant-Major Rundle, to whom great credit is due for his excellent instruction and also for the fact that his services were donated. Our bath rooms have been fairly well patronized and have given satisfaction during the greater part of the year.

MEMBERSHIP.—The number of members reported last year was as follows:—Active 67; associate, 26; sustaining, 181; juniors 90; total, 364. During the year 12 members removed, of whom, however, 8 had paid their fees, and one death occurred in the junior department, in addition to which 66 members of the Association and 36 of the junior department have lapsed by non-payment of fees, a total loss of 107. 41 new members have been received in the association and junior departments, so that our present membership is as follows: Active, 106; Associate, 35; Sustaining (non-members), 97; Juniors, 60—total 298. Deducting the 97 who are contributors but not members, and the 60 Juniors, whose records we prefer to keep separately, our present membership is actually 141. Of these 50 are ordinary, 38 full, and 53 sustaining members. Among the removals may be mentioned several of our best workers, viz.: Geo. Gilchrist, Alfred Miller, H. H. Holland, E. Clydesdale, R. L. D. Mackie, J. E. Pengelly, Geo. S. Bean, our late treasurer, F. A. Brisco, who has gone as assistant secretary to the association at London, Ont., and last, but not not least, our late secretary.

JUNIOR DEPARTMENT.—As already reported the membership in this department last year was 90, but is now only 60. Gospel meetings have been held on Friday evenings during all the summer months with an average attendance of 31. During December, gymnastic instruction was given on Saturday mornings by Major Rundle. The Major also gives an extra hour per week without remuneration. This department lost one member by death, viz.: Arthur Green, who was taken away on March 9th, and whose death was a very joyful and triumphant one.

LADIES' AUXILIARY.—The ladies deserve our hearty thanks for their kind assistance in looking after the furnishing and care of our parlours, and providing refreshments at the receptions, and also for paying for the lights in our hall and street lamps, viz.: $60. They raised $76.32 by a concert, and have now $40.60 on hand.

ROOMS AND FURNITURE.—A large number of chairs were procured for the hall, which is now comfortably seated. A re-arrangement of the lights was effected, which will we think, result in an annual saving of over $40.00. Donations of useful articles have been made by several friends.

ENTERTAINMENTS.—Five entertainments were given during the year, viz.:—

Feb. 26, lecture by J. R. Clarke.
Mar. 23, readings, etc, Sarah Lord Bailey.
April 21, piano recital, Boscovitz.
May 27, benefit concert for Major Rundle.
June 23, garden party by St. Andrews' Y.P.S. C.E., at the grounds of J. J. Lundy Esq.

CONVENTION.—The Provincial Convention at London, Feb. 11-14th, was attended by our president and secretary and Mr. Alfred Miller as delegates from our association, and is said to have been one of deep interest and great spiritual power.

VISITORS.—We were favoured with visits from several of our former members, among whom may be mentioned Messrs. Jolly, Bean, Miller, Holland and Mackie, and our late secretary who on Dec. 21st. addressed two meetings, one of boys and the other of young men in our parlors, also Mr. Fedarb, secretary of the Ottawa Association, who addressed a number of our workers, and Provincial Secretary Cole who visited us three times in connection with our change of secretaries.

MISCELLANEOUS.—Much work has been done that has not been tabulated. A number of young men coming to town have been introduced to the parlors, while others who have removed have been introduced to the association in the place to which they have gone. Employment has been found for some and boarding houses for others, while advice and assistance of various kinds has been given to many more. The aim of the association is to benefit young men in every possible way, and the carrying out of this purpose involves a great variety of agencies and methods.

CHANGE OF SECRETARIES.—The association has suffered a great loss by the removal of its late secretary, Mr. R. J. Colville, who, after over three years of the most active, earnest, faithful and truly successful effort on behalf of the association and the young men of Peterborough, was led to accept an urgent call to become secretary of the West End Association of Toronto. For four months after Mr. Colville's removal the association was without a secretary, but the work was efficiently maintained through the faithful effort of several of the association workers, notably the president and Mr. A. J. Hamilton. On the 1st of November the present secretary entered on his duties, and while shrinking from the responsibilities involved in assuming charge of so important a field and following so exceptionally successful a predecessor, he bespeaks your earnest prayers and hearty co-operation, which, accompanied by God's blessing, will, we trust, ensure cotinued success.

THANKS.—In conclusion we desire to thank not only those friends of the work whose kind services have been mentioned, but also the pastors of churches for their ready and sympathetic assistance, and the newspapers for their constant willingness to oblige by inserting notices of meetings, etc., free of charge.

Above all we desire to return thanks to our Lord and Master, through whose grace we have been permitted to assist in his glorious work, and whose pardon we humbly implore for our errors and unfaithfulness. We go forward, trusting in the promise that He is able to make all grace abound toward us, that we always having all-sufficiency in all things may abound unto every good work.

Respectfully submitted,
W. F. CHAPMAN,
Secretary.

Like a Thief in the Night.

Consumption comes. A slight cold, with your system in the scrofulous condition that's caused by impure blood, is enough to fasten it upon you. That is the time when neglect and delay are full of danger.

Consumption is Lung-scrofula. You can prevent it, and you can cure it, if you haven't waited too long, with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the most potent blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. For every disease that has to be reached through the blood, for Scrofula in all its forms, Consumption, Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all severe, lingering Coughs, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

To invigorate both the body and the brain use the reliable tonic, Milburn's Aromatic Quinine Wine.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not being held out by others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have conclude that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr. Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 26 in. wide, - -	17½	Good Linen Towels each - - -	5½
9 lb. Wool Blankets, - - - - -	$3.75	Grey Wool Blankets, - - -	31c. a lb.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel,	$1.00	25 yards Factory Cotton, - -	$1.00

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a glance at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

EASY TO TAKE

—Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. Smallest, easiest, cheapest, best. They're tiny, sugar-coated, anti-bilious granules, a compound of refined and concentrated vegetable extracts. Without disturbance or trouble, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach, and bowels are prevented, relieved, and cured. Permanently cured, too. By their mild and natural action, these little Pellets lead the system into natural ways again. Their influence lasts.

And they're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or your money is promptly returned. You pay only for the good you get.

Everything catarrhal in its nature, Catarrh itself, and all the troubles that come from Catarrh, are perfectly and permanently cured by Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. No matter how bad your case or of how long standing, you can be cured.

A STRANGE STORY.

Are These Things Within the Possibilities?

BY NANCY NUGENT.

Copyright by the Author, 1892.

I was called one night to visit the wife of an old friend who had been married about two years. They lived in the suburbs of a large city. My friend was editor of one of the city papers.

I had just begun my career as a medical man.

I had known my friend, Paul Pentland's wife, only a short time before he had married her. She was very beautiful. Dark as midnight, and as dreamy.

I had not seen either of them for nearly a year. Previous to that I had spent all my spare time with them. At their pretty home, I had been treated as a brother, Mrs. Pentland calling me by my name, Jack, and I called her, Letty.

They were perfectly happy in their married life.

As I hastened onward, I tried to picture to myself the change there might be in one year. I had known them so well, and knew how happy they were that I was wholly unprepared for the great change that had taken place.

As I sprang from my carriage the front door opened and Paul stood waiting me. I ran up the steps and shook hands with him. When he drew me into the hall, and I was enabled to see his face, I uttered an exclamation of surprise.

"Why, Paul, old man, what have you been doing to yourself?"

"Come this way, Jack, and I will tell you."

We were soon sitting in Paul's room, and, looking into his troubled eyes, I wondered if it were possible to change from the bright happy Paul of one year ago, into the haggard, weary man of to-night.

He sat looking into the fire for some time, then he turned those sad, brown eyes on me.

"I think I can trust you with my horrible secret. I will have to, or go crazy. Jack, I believe my wife is insane. Yet she seems as sane as either you or I. Her attendants think me a most brutal husband. God knows how I have loved and cared for her. I have never spoken one harsh word to her, my beautiful Letty.

"She thinks I come home and accuse her of being untrue to me; that I ill-treat her. She wakens in the night screaming. When her maid comes in and asks her what she wants she says, 'I dare not tell,' looking at me with such horror in her eyes, that you cannot blame her servants for saying I ill-treat her. I want you to question her about her health she may be ill. Come, I will take you to her room, she retires early, always at ten. I cannot account for it. As soon as the clock strikes ten nothing would keep her up."

"How long has this been going on?" I asked.

"About a year; shortly after you left us. It came on very suddenly. She was as usual in the morning; but when I came home shortly after ten at night she was in bed. I went up to say good night, and to ask if she were well. She said she was. I asked her why she had retired so early, she made such a strange answer:

"'Why, you know you all say I have to be in bed at ten, because it is the rule.'

"I never said so, Letty, and I bent over to kiss her, when she uttered scream after scream the most demoniacal I ever heard. Her maid ran in asking what she wanted, and what was the matter. She answered as I have told you, that she dare not tell, looking at me with horror-distended eyes, and that has continued ever since. Come."

He led me to her door. "You had better go in alone; she has often asked to see Jack. My presence may excite her, and I would that you see her calm first, she may tell you what troubles her."

Grasping my hands, he looked into my face with a look of beseeching confidence. "Save her for me, Jack," was all he could say.

When I entered her room she turned on the pillow to look at me. It was the same beautiful Letty of old, dreamy and sensitive. How beautiful her eyes were; no insanity there. Could it be that Paul did abuse her? Surely, no. Paul could not do so base an act. As I advanced she reached out her hand to me.

"Jack, you have come at last. I thought you would never come; does he know you are here?"

"Yes."

She looked surprised.

"Sometimes he is so good to me and treats me kindly. I try to be happy and forget the horror of it all, but I can't—I can't!"

She took my hand in hers as she spoke. Holding it, she asked in her sweet, low voice:

"Jack, will you listen to me? I must tell you all about it; but you must promise you will not let him know I have told you anything. It is wrong, I know, for a wife to tell her troubles, but you are only Jack. You may be able to tell me what is the matter with him. Lean close, Jack."

I bent over her and she whispered: "I believe my husband is insane. At least at times he must be. Oh! it is horrible to live day after day in such dread. His violence is fiendish, and I have been so good to him and bear it all without complaining. I not only suffer the physical pain at the time, but for days before I know that he will come and cruelly torment me. I am in constant fear of him. Oh, Jack! I am married to a maniac. Can you realize the awful horror of such a married life? Why, oh, why am I so made that I know those awful scenes will happen for days before they take place? I suffer so terribly. The agony I endure while I wait and wait for the time to come is almost unbearable, yet I dare not defend myself or ask anyone to help me, for they would know that Paul is insane—a madman. Yet only on one subject: he thinks I have been untrue to him. To-day, to-morrow, or it may not be until the day after, I know it will come; but how I know I cannot understand, he will come to me and will stand by my bed and will clench his hands, his mouth will work until foam oozes from his pallid lips. He seems unable to speak. Then with his eyes scintillating and projecting from their sockets, his white lips drawn back from his teeth, he will stoop slowly over me, the while opening and closing those long, thin fingers, until I can feel his breath; then, with a rapid movement, he places his cold, clammy fingers around my throat, and in a hoarse whisper he will say: 'False, false as hell!' Then, with a snarl like a hungry tiger, he sinks his teeth into my cheeks, sometimes once, other times more. Then with horrible strength he closes his fingers and I know nothing until I hear my maid asking me what is the matter, and all I can say is, "I dare not tell.' They do not know he is insane. Can we keep it from them? Servants talk so, you know. I will trust you, Jack, to cure him; they say you have become clever. Will you try?"

I promised I would do what I could and left her, saying I would see her in the morning. Paul met me in the hall, looking anxious.

"Well, what do you think about her; is she ill or insane?"

"I cannot say she is insane. To-night there was absolutely nothing to indicate such a state of health. She talked most rationally and her health seems good. I will see her in the morning."

Would You Buy,

If the Prices Were Low?

Most men who do not own houses would become owners if they could do so at a moderate cost.

It is my business to build houses, the cost of which is within the reach of people in fair circumstances.

I have one house, well built, good location, Aylmer street, between Townsend and Rink streets—$1,300. Look it up. Will have two on Dalhousie street, work now going on.

"TO BE OR NOT TO BE—IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and that time his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE RAVED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently assertedby Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the

LOCAL NEWS.

Piano Tuning.

Mr. G. Gumpricht is in town. Orders may be left at Messrs Taylor & Macdonald's or at the Peterborough Book-store.

Social.

A social under the auspices of the Women's Auxiliary will be held at Mrs. Geo. W. Rubidge's, No. 294 Rubidge street, on Tuesday, January 24th, at 8 p.m., in aid of the debt on Algoma Diocese. 2d

T. Kelly has removed his dry goods store to 365 George St.—O. C. Rowse's old stand.

Man or Boy.

You will be hard to please if we can't suit you at the Montreal Clothing House, 390 George street. Down comes the price of clothing in our store to boom our giant January clearing sale. Our cheapest goods, so far as fit and finish are concerned, are quite as good as the most expensive.

Calcutt's Dublin Porter.

Allowed by all hotel men the best made in Canada. Always ask for it—only $1.00 per dozen. Sold by the leading grocers and liquor stores. Recommended by the leading medical faculty to both male and female as a tonic for indigestion, loss of appetite and weakness. Telephone No. 98. d

Telfordian Temperature Topics.

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 23rd.—At yesterday morning's observation the self-registering thermometer indicated zero, with 13° below zero during the night. Everything is going up, preparing for our January thaw. At 9:30 this morning the mercury had risen to 20° above zero.—THOS. TELFORD.

The Liberal Delegates.

The following delegates were selected Saturday to represent the West Riding at the conference of Liberals to be held in Toronto, on Tuesday 24th. Peterborough, Messrs: Peter Hamilton; Smith, Geo. E. Elliott; Lakefield, John Hull; Ennismore, C. O'Connor and Wm. Crough; North Monaghan, John McIntosh; South Monaghan, Wm. Rutherford; Messrs. Richard Hall and J. R. Stratton were also selected.

Don't Forget the Date.

On Thursday evening next, January 26th, in St. Andrew's church, Dr. R. W. Bell, will give a highly interesting account of his recent trip to the West Indies. The whole narrative will be enlivened by Mr. R. M. Roy, with steropticon views, illustrative of the various scenes and situations, described in the trip. The entertainment is under the auspices of the Ladies' Foreign Mission Society, and should be largely patronized. 1d

Salvation Army Announcements.

Ensign Dawson, superintendent of the Prison Gate Home, Kingston, will conduct services at the barracks here on Sunday next. It is probable that the members of the army band will be recommissioned by the Ensign.

Mrs. Booth wife of Commandant Booth of the Toronto Corps, will begin a series of meetings in the barracks on a week from Thursday night next in the interest of the rescue work of the Army.

The Damage Settled.

On Friday Messrs. Fairweather & Co. were engaged with the appraiser for the insurance companies, Mr. Houston, settling the amount of damage occasioned by the recent fire in adjoining premises. The matter was satisfactorily arranged and Fairweather & Co. are putting on sale a large quantity of furs and other goods damaged by smoke, which they will sell below cost price to clear. The advantage of buying now will be apparent, and people will do well to attend the sale, which commences on Saturday, Jan. 21st. 3d

A rather exciting sweepstakes race took place at the driving park on Saturday afternoon before a knot of horseman. There were three horses in the field and the races were quite keen and interesting. W. Sherin drove J. E. McIntyre's "Clan Alpine," Jas. Connors, Connors Bros.' "Doney C.," and J. Newhall drove his own horse "Gladstone." Messrs. J. Baptie and H. C. Winch acted as judges. Three mile heats were trotted, "Clan Alpine" taking first place in three straights, "Doney C." second, and "Gladstone" third. The struggle for first place between "Clan Alpine" and "Doney C," was very keen, the finish in each heat being close. "Gladstone" held his own in the first heat until the first 100 yards, when he fell back considerably. In the other two heats he did not show as fine speeding qualities. The Port Hope races come off on Wednesday and Thursday of this week, and it is expected some local horses will enter.

The funeral will take place tomorrow at 10 a.m.

McKenna's Flirtation.

Barry and Fay, bear the banner for having made the longest run ever made by travelling stars, appearing in a similar line of entertainment in New York City. Their first production of McKenna's Flirtation was at the Park Theatre, where it ran 139 times. So great was their success, that they subsequently produced at four other theatres there, and gave altogether 238 performances of it. This is admittedly the record-breaking run in the metropolis. They will appear at Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday, Jan. 24th. 1d

Good for the Rangers!

In the Canada Gazette returns of the comparative efficiency of the different infantry corps for the past year, the standing of the 57th Battalion is one to be proud of. The 57th ranks highest in number three military district and stands fifth in comparison with all the corps of the Dominion. This standing is given on the scores made in the competition for the Gzowski Cup, as to efficiency in drill and general efficiency. The points awarded the crack city corps were given in the following order:—Thirteenth Battalion, Hamilton, 98½; Royal Grenadiers, Toronto, 91½; Governor General's Foot Guards, Ottawa, 87½; Queen's Own, Toronto, 76; Fifth-seventh, Peterborough, 72. Some of the city corps scored as low as 34. From this it will be seen that the gallant Rangers are worthy of the pride our citizens take in them. It is fortunate that the above intelligence was not available for the annual banquet of the battalion on Friday night—there would have hardly been a roof left on the Snowden House.

CHURCH CHIMES.

Rev. Geo. Edwards preached missionary sermons at Warsaw yesterday.

The annual meeting of the St. Paul's church congregation will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 1st.

In St. John's church last evening Mr. W. J. Drope sang in a pleasing manner "One Sweetly Solemn Thought."

Rev. Mr. Lewis, of Warsaw, conducted the services in the Charlotte street Methodist church yesterday, and preached two impressive sermons.

Mr. Chappel, of Trinity College, conducted the services at St. Mark's, Otonabee, yesterday, and also assisted at the services at St. Luke's church, Ashburnham.

The Rev. A. MacWilliams, of St. Andrew's church, left by the morning train for Petrolea to visit his father, who is aged and unwell. He will be gone all week.

Mr. E. Elcombe conducted the services at the Park street Baptist mission last night. Miss Mann has been elected superintendent of the Sunday-school, which is in a flourishing condition.

The anniversary services of the Charlotte street Methodist church will be held one a week from next Sunday. It is probable Rev. S. J. Shorey, of Napanee, a former pastor of the church, will officiate.

The special services which have been going on in the Murray street Baptist church the last two weeks, will be continued again next week. The services have been very successful and well attended.

The floral committee of the Charlotte street church Epworth League of Christian Endeavour will give a pleasant musical entertainment this evening in the church, consisting of solos, duets, trios and other attractions.

The kindly resolution passed at the recent meeting of the Presbytery of Peterborough, regarding the illness of Rev. Mr. Torrance, the highly esteemed pastor of St. Paul's church, was read by Rev. Mr. Goldsmith at yesterday morning's service.

Rev. Mr. Goldsmith in St. Paul's church preached two stirring and powerful discourse yesterday. A stranger stated this morning that he had not heard such an exposition of the divine truth put in such clear and convincing manner for many months.

Miss Harris sang a solo in a splendid manner at St. Andrew's church last evening for the last time. Miss Harris has been a talented and faithful member of the choir of St. Andrew's for months past, and in leaving for Detroit she carries with her the best wishes of her many friends.

At the meeting of the West and South Victoria Reform Association at Lindsay, on Saturday, Mr. Geo. McHugh was unanimously elected president, vice Mr. Wm. Eyres, who has removed from the county to become a resident of Peterborough. Mr. D. R. Anderson was re-elected secretary.

Rev. Mr. Goldsmith in St. Paul's church yesterday referred hopefully to Rev. Mr. Torrance's recovering health, and said that the reverend gentleman was able to do considerable correspondence. A church official a day or two ago had received a rather lengthily written epistle by him.

The anniversary of the Young Men's Christian Association will be held George street Methodist church on Tuesday evening. Reports of the work done during the year will be presented and special music will be furnished by the church choir, the Y.M.C.A. quartette and and band. Interesting addressess will also be delivered.

In the George street church last night Rev. Mr. Locke preached a pithy and telling sermon on the Bible, it history, influence, association and the salient part it has played all over the Christian world upon civilization. The Bible, written by forty different authors and over a period extending centuries in length, was the most wonderful, most inspired, most precious and most influental book of any age.

Yesterday morning there was a fair congregation at St. Andrew's. Rev. A. McWilliams preached an instructive sermon on the "Intercession of Christ" from 1st John II., I: "We have an Advocate with the Father." In the evening the congregation was very large. The sermon was eloquent and forcible on the "Hidden Treasure." Great interest has been taken in these sermons on the Parables. The choir under the able leadership of Miss Densil, is very excellent.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Meet de Congregate.

In a thirteen point game played on Friday A. E. Thompson defeated Wm. Snowden by a score of 13 to 7.

Rufus Stevenson and S. Belcher played a 13-point game at the rink on Saturday night in the new members' draw. The game ended, as the members claim, by each scoring 14, both making a "double header", so to speak. They will play off again to-morrow afternoon.

The two Tankard rinks left for Lindsay this morning to take part in the primary competition for the Ontario Tankard. The personnel of the rinks was as follows: Pentland, Ferguson, Ray, Rutherford, (skip) Stanger, Attrill, Davidson, McGill, (skip.) They will play in the Dryden Cup competition to-morrow, when Ray and Attrill will be the skips. The rinks will probably be absent three days.

A rink composed of new curlers whose experience in throwing stones has been very limited drove out to Lakefield on Saturday afternoon to play Mr. G. A. Strickland's canoe factory quartette a friendly match. The ice was in a fine condition and the visitors, who did not expect to win, made a remarkably good showing. 16 ends were played resulting as follows:—

Peterborough.	Lakefield.
W Heathcott,	G Baptie,
W D Parker,	J Richardson,
A W Strickland,	G Baldon,
Geo Boucher, skip...46	G A Strickland, skip.31

The same rink will go to Lindsay next Saturday to play a friendly game. They will also try their luck at Lakefield again when some of their positions will be reversed, Mr. Strickland enacting the role of skip.

The two rink competition of the Granites for new members will occur to-morrow evening. Great interest is being centered in the struggle among the different sides.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. McFarlane have the sympathy of the community in the loss of their child, two months old, which was buried on Wednesday, Jan. 18th. As death has been a frequent visitor to their home, there being only one child remaining, the circumstances are unusually sad.

The roads are in splendid condition for traffic at present, and advantage is being taken of the fact by many who have any teaming to do.

A very successful missionary meeting was held at Bethel church on Tuesday evening, Jan. 17th. Addresses of a very interesting and profitable nature were given by Mrs. Kendry, Peterborough, Rev. Mr. Howard, of Keene, and Rev. J. Thom, of Ashburnham.

BULEIGH, ANSTRUTHER AND CHANDOS.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The first meeting of the municipal council of Burleigh, etc., was held on Monday, Jan. 16th, 1893. Members present—Reeve F. Elmhirst, and Councillors Jas. Scott, W. H. Hales, W. Hales, Wm. Langford. The members after having taken their declaration of office took their seats.

The minutes of former meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. H. Caldwell was appointed assessor at a salary of $55.

Mr. C. R. D. Booth was appointed auditor by the council. The Reeve appointed Mr. T. G. Eastland as his auditor..

On motion of the council the taxes were ordered to be paid in by the first of May, and that the clerk have 25 notices printed to that effect.

Mr. Chas. Hawley applied for the timber on the 6th concession line of Chandos in lieu of a road across lot 30, concession 8, given by him. On motion the timber was given him for road.

Bylaw appointing officers went through its several readings.

Council adjourned until the last Saturday in February.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

Rev. Jas. Thom, addressed a large audience at the gospel and song service last evening.

Mr. E. A. Mannell, one of the best workers in the association leaves for Montreal this week where he is to fill a position in the G.T.R. general offices. He will be greatly missed both in the association and in the George street church of which he is a member. THE GREAT SINGER CONVENTION Closed on Saturday Afternoon by a Sleigh Drive Around the Town—Presentation to Mr. Laishley, Manager for Eastern Ontario—Visit to the Local Office.

The annual convention of the Singer Sewing Machine Company's representatives for Eastern Ontario closed on Saturday afternoon by a great sleigh drive. The procession was headed by Mr. W. Laishley, the active local manager, in his own conveyance, drawing a fine improved Singer machine and accompanied by his brother, Mr. L. C. Laishley, manager for Toronto district. Following came a large carry-all drawn by two fine spans of horses, tandem style, and in pursuit were two other carry-alls, in all bearing about fifty agents. The Singer men thoroughly enjoyed themselves and for two hours "did up the town" blowing horns, flourishing brooms, etc. They had a hale, hearty good time and will carry away with them many pleasant recollections of Peterborough and its citizens.

REMEMBERED THEIR MANAGER.

At the close of the company's splendid banquet on Tuesday night, Mr. J. Laishley, the efficient manager for Eastern Ontario, who ably fulfilled the position of chairman, was made the recipient of a pleasant surprise by the employees of the company under his supervision. Mr. J. N. Kivell, the perservering agent of the company at Bowmanville, read the following address, and Mr. John H. Orr, manager for Lindsay, made the presentation of a valuable gold headed ebony cane, suitably engraved, and supplied by Messrs. Clarke & Gibson. Following is a copy of the address presented Mr. Laishley:—

PETERBOROUGH, Jan. 23th, 1893.

Mr. J. Laishley, Manager of the Singer Manufacturing Company, Kingston District:

DEAR SIR AND MANAGER,—It is with much pleasure that we, your local agents, take this opportunity of presenting you with this short address in token of our appreciation of the successful manner in which you have conducted the business during the past year.

You have always been prompt in attending to our wants, and have always dealt honestly and justly with us.

We consider that you have given us every dollar that the business could afford, and we as a body join our hands together to bring you business for 1893 to compare with any in the Dominion, and to place you in such a position that you may be proud of your men and the work done by them.

We trust that the Company may deem it advisable to retain you in your present position, and that we may meet at the close of the ensuing year with the same friendly feeling for each other as now exists on this auspicious occasion. Wishing you a happy and prosperous new year, we remain,

Respectfully yours,

(Signed)
EMPLOYEES OF THE SINGER SEWING MFG. CO., EASTERN ONTARIO DISTRICT.

Mr. Laishley though taken by astonishment, made a feeling reply, thanking the employees for their tangible appreciation of good will and respect, and congratulating them on their successful sales made during the past year. He wished them one and all success in the future and would not soon forget their extreme kindness towards him.

A VISIT TO THE LOCAL OFFICE.

An EXAMINER reporter this morning paid a visit to the company's local agency in Peterborough, Mr. W. Laishley, manager, and found everything about the offices on Water street, directly opposite the market, in admirable order, everything being neat, tidy and tasty. The front office is a perfect bower of beauty, the walls being hidden by the numerous pretty and unique decorations in the line of all kinds of fancy work made solely by means of the well-known Singer machine without any appliances whatever. In a prominent place stands the magnificent silver cup presented by the company to Mr. Laishley at the late convention here for making the largest number of sales at the Peterborough branch since October last. On it are engraved the following words in handsome lettering:

> Won by W. Laishley, at Peterborough, 1892; competing offices: Kingston, Belleville, Peterborough and Lindsay.

Mr. Laishley has a large supply of all kinds of machines manufactured by the Singer Company, to do all sorts of work and to satisfy all trades and classes of people. Among these machines are the following excellent machines which have given unbounded satisfaction to the public for the last number of years: Three, five and seven drawer cabinet family machines, in oak and walnut, handsomely finished, also drop cabinet machines, in oak and walnut. The latter is a novel invention and one worthy of inspection. In the manufacturing department are tailors' machines with a large arm, plain machines for tailoring and dressmaking the patching machine used by all shoemakers, the cylinder machine used by carriage makers for making dashes and all styles of trimmings for conveyances. This machine has a two foot arm and Mr. B. F. Ackerman has two in his large harness manufactory on George street. Another powerful machine is the one with two needles and a double bobbin for stitching corsets and making gloves. The sweat pad machine has an arm four feet high and two feet long guaranteed to sew through any material five inches thick. The chain stitch machine is used exclusively for chain stitching on underwear and is used in all woollen factories.

WHAT THE MACHINE CAN DO.

In the line of making all kinds of fancy work the Singer machine without applinces to-day stands unrivalled. By following simple instructions, furnished gratuitously by an expert lady who visits the Peterborough office once every three months, all the pretty things that eye can desire or heart wish can be made easily and quickly. Some of these which are on exhibition at the Water street office and artistically arranged, are etching and silk embroidery on a pair of bolting cloth curtains, costing no less than $250, arrasene work in plush, mantle and drapery, pin cushions with work; arrasene work on plush, satin and silk; etching on silk; silk etching on bolting cloth panel; arrasene work on plush letter holder, panels and slipper holder, toilet sets, etching on silk; five o'clock tea cosy, etching on silk and embroidery on fine linen; silk etching on linen; silk etching on velvet; sachet bag, satin, worked with silk; silk etching on bolting cloth, velvet, tambourine, and smoking cap, one dozen scarfs of bolting cloth worked with silk, pair of corsets worked with a three needle machine on silk, and a multitude of other unique articles too numerous to enumerate. Those citizens buying the "Singer" have instruction in all these lines free at the office here, and will do Mr. Laishley an appreciated kindness by leaving their names with him. The lady instructor will be around in a few days and now is the time to act.

SIR LEONARD'S SUCCESSOR.

K. T. Burns, M.P., to Be Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick.

OTTAWA, Jan. 23.—It has been said on pretty good authority that the question of who is to succeed Sir Leonard Tilley as Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick has been settled, and that the next issue of The Canada Gazette will contain the appointment of K. T. Burns, M.P. for Gloucester.

The names of Mr. Burns, Hon. Michael Adams, Hon. Peter Mitchell and others have been mentioned in connection with the position for some time past, and it is now said that all the others have dropped out of the race, or have been dropped, and that Mr. Burns has been appointed.

Mr. Burns was born at Thomastown, Tipperary, Ireland, Jan. 8, 1842. He was educated at Halifax and St. John, and then became a merchant and mill-owner. He served in the militia for a number of years, and retired in 1874 with the rank of captain. He was in the New Brunswick Legislature from 1874 to 1878, was first returned to the Commons at the general elections in 1882, and re-elected at the last general elections.

MGR. SATOLLI'S PROSPECTS.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Bishop Keane, rector of the Catholic University where Mgr. Satolli's permanent headquarters are, gave a dinner to Mgr. Satolli. The bishop said that he could illustrate by comparison the relation of Mgr. Satolli's office to the Church of the United States only by showing its similarity to that of the change when a territorial government is elevated to the dignity of a state government.

Mgr. Satolli, in reply, referred to the Pope's love for the American people.

POISON IN HAYTI.

The Rebellion Crushed by Government Troops.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The Herald's Port au Prince special says: The Government troops have been victorious in their mission, according to advices just received here. The forces under the command of the Minister of War have returned in triumph from L'Anse de Nean, where the uprising against the Government of President Hippolyte has been entirely crushed. They captured a number of prisoners, who are now in jail in this city.

Additional excitement was caused this afternoon when news was circulated that the oldest son of President Hippolyte had died in the palace. There was a rumor that he had been poisoned by enemies of the President and this caused uneasiness. The people of Port au Prince had already been worked up to a high tension. During the night friends of the exiles who are living in Kingston, Jamaica, had placarded the city with inflammatory posters, which created alarm.

Killed in the Bush.

STRATFORD, Jan. 23.—James Mungovan, who lived near Gadshill, was killed while chopping in the bush on the Canada Company's land about two miles from the village. Deceased's brother is proprietor of The Orangeville Post, and another brother is a priest in Chatham.

Plan of Home Rule.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—At the close of the Liberal federation Saturday evening Home Secretary Asquith announced that the plan of Home Rule for Ireland would be on larger liberal lines. Ireland would obtain general autonomy, although the ultimate ascendancy of the Imperial party would be effectually maintained. Mr. Asquith, addressing the electoral agents to-day, intimated that the Corrupt Practises Act would be made more stringent and the period of residence required to qualify for voting would be reduced.

Probably Correct.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The Rome correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: "It is expected that Archbishop Corrigan of New York will receive a severe admonition from the Pope in regard to his opposition to Archbishop Satolli and Archbishop Ireland. It has been decided that the new papal delegate will reside in Washington."

A Charming Winter Climate.

"One of the chief delights of America," a famous foreigner recently said, "is the remarkable diversity of climate and altitude. Every taste can be suited there." The rigor of our Northern winters tells on a great many constitutions and such people are obliged to "winter South," or to move there altogether. To this large and increasing class North Galveston offers pecul ar advantages at prices within the reach of the most modest purse. This new and coming commercial point offers business openings for the merchant; work for the labouring man; homes for the delicate; rich harvest to the fruit-grower—profits and pleasure for all. In no place in America is there better opportunity for safe investment. All classes of persons, therefore, are interested in the development of North Galveston and any inquiry will be answered and full information furnished by T. Hurley, Peterborough Ont., the local agent of the North Galveston Association.

SUGAR-BEET CULTURE.

A LARGE PART OF CANADA IS SUITABLE FOR PRODUCING THIS PRODUCT.

Official Information as to Soil Required—The Time to Sow and How and When to Harvest—Other Particulars of Benefit to Those Who Are Thinking of Going Into the Business.

The sugar-beet is a variety of the ordinary beet that, by careful and scientific selection and propagation, has been improved, so that now examples are not wanting whose juice contains 20 per cent sugar.

The sugar-beet has been found to thrive throughout the greater part of Europe and the United States. As the northern or southern limit of this very extended area of growth is approached the sugar-beet increases in richness. What the sugar-cane is to the tropics, the sugar-beet is to the temperate zones. There can be no doubt that what the climate of a large portion of Canada is suitable for the development of beets rich in sugar.

The value of beets for the manufacture of sugar depends upon their richness in sugar and the purity of their juice, and these again in turn depend upon the kind of seed, the quality and condition of the soil, the extent and nature of the cultivation and the character of the season. Failure in the past has often resulted from not recognizing the fact that the sugar-beet requires a different and more thorough cultivation than beets grown for fodder purposes. A right preparation of the soil, correct planting, and the keeping of the root well below the surface of the ground, all exert their influence upon this crop, both as to quality and quantity.

In view of the probable extension of the beet-sugar industry in the near future and the consequent growth of these roots in larger quantities in this country, it has been thought advisable to give some information—necessarily in a concise form—regarding those methods of culture which have been found advantageous by experienced sugar-beet growers.

SOIL.—The sugar-beet will grow in almost any soil, but its profitable culture requires a good soil, properly prepared.

Heavy clay and wet soils, rocky and marshy lands, are not desirable. By judicious drainage the former may be vastly improved. Soils in which clay predominate are often too hard and impenetrable. In a ground full of stones the roots become forked and unsuited for the factory, and in a wet soil a watery root is produced.

Rich, loose, sandy soils, containing a fair proportion of lime, are the most favorable for the growth of beets rich in sugar.

Too much organic matter in the soil is apt to impair the purity of the juice, and for this reason the soil selected should be well manured the previous autumn, no application being made in the spring. The manure used should be in a thoroughly rotted condition.

The soil must not only be fertile, but its mechanical condition must be such that the roots may easily penetrate it. Soils in suitable condition for grain crops give excellent results, and a soil in which the sod-turned sod is thoroughly rotted is also good. New soil is not considered the most desirable.

In seasons when it is hot and dry the stronger and heavier soil, if well drained, will be found more favorable than a loose sandy soil, but the latter, if well manured, will be the better if the summer is rainy or cold.

The ground should receive a thorough cultivation previous to seeding. If at all heavy it should not be worked while wet.

SOWING.—The proper time for seeding will depend upon the season and the soil, but during the latter part of April or the beginning of May the soil will in most localities be sufficiently dry, without having lost that degree of moisture necessary for the germination of the seed. The earlier the sowing the better, as the beets require to grow as long as possible. If found, desirable, the seed may be soaked from five to ten hours before.

The seed should be planted from ½ to 1½ inches deep, and in drills 12 to 20 inches apart. As it is not the purpose to raise a large beet—from 1 lb. to 2 lb. is a good size for sugar-content—the closer the plants in the row and the nearer together the drills the larger will be the yield to the acre, other things being equal.

WEEDING.—When the weeds appear, if the beets are above ground, this operation should be commenced. A dry day should be selected for the work, which may be done by a hoe or suitable cultivator.

THINNING.—This may be done when the beets have attained a thickness of about ½ inch. A damp day should be chosen, the roots being left from 6 to 9 inches apart, according to the richness of the soil. The richer the soil the closer the beets may be left. It is not desirable to raise a very large beet; small beets are the richer in sugar and have purer juice.

CULTIVATION.—It is of the utmost importance that the weeds be constantly destroyed and the soil kept loose. The number of times necessary to go over the ground will depend on the nature of the soil and the season.

Moreover, it is necessary that the beet should not be allowed to grow above ground; and consequently, as the summer advances, earthing up will have to be resorted to. In the part of the beet-root developed above ground there is very little sugar. In the manufacture of the sugar this portion, if present, is always cut off and discarded—for not only is it poor in sugar, but it contains an excess of other substances, which makes difficult the extraction of the sugar. Care should be taken not to break off the leaves during the early growth of the plant, for it is by them that the sugar is developed.

HARVESTING.—When the leaves turn yellow the beet is approaching maturity. Although it is desirable to leave the beets in the ground as long as possible, they should be pulled before the first heavy frost, as such would materially lower the percentage of sugar.

If not intended at once for the factory they may be kept in a pit.—Frank T. Shutt, Chief Chemist, Dominion Experimental Farm.

Plowing for Wheat.

Experience gained in many years of wheat raising on the prairie lands has taught this concerning the fall plowing for wheat: Early plowing is best if it is deep. Early plowing holds the moisture. The earth settles enough before cold weather to give the wheat plants a firm bed in which to root. If plowing is delayed until later in the fall it should be shallower. Land plowed late and shallow often gives a good crop, particularly when there is no shortage of moisture in the fall. In this case the wheat roots gain a hold in the solid soil below where the plowshare has cut. Deeper plowing done later is the best to use a roller on. Rolling will give firm root bed. Shallow plowing early and deep plowing late are to be carefully avoided.

UNCLE SAM BOTHERED.

He Is Discovering That De Lesseps Made a Break on Him.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 21.—Congress is discussing the Panama Canal scandal, because the exposures have shown that Count de Lesseps had secured the acquiescence of the American Republic to the construction of the railway and canal at the Isthmus upon the understanding that American interests there would be preserved, and the Count had afterwards secured complete control of the road in order to preserve his own interests against those of the United States.

Congress now wants to discover if it has unwittingly surrendered any rights under the Monroe doctrine, and also the names of Americans who were bribed by the Count to carry out the scheme of encroachment.

HARRISON'S KICK.

He Tried to Hurt and He Bruised His Toes.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—A Washington special says the President will send to Congress within a few days a special message in response to the Hitt resolution, calling upon him to inform the House what regulations are now in force concerning the transportation of imported merchandise in bond or duty paid, and products or manufactures of the United States from one port in the United States over Canadian territory to another port therein, and especially whether a careful inspection of such merchandise should not be had at the Canadian frontier upon departure or arrival.

The correspondent claims to be able to state upon high authority that the message of President Harrison will point out clearly a plan by which the discrimination in favor of the Canadian Pacific Railroad against railroads of the United States may be effectively prevented without violation of the Treaty of Washington. The President will declare that this Government has a right to require the inspection by its customs officers of goods received from a territory "not contiguous" at one American port and sent by the high seas to another American port for transhipment. For example, the greater bulk of the silks and teas sent from the Orient for importation into this country are delivered in bond at San Francisco and then sent by vessel to Columbia, in the State of Washington, whence under seal they are carried over the Canadian Pacific road and thence across the border to New York or some other United States port.

Under the view which President Harrison will take such importations would hereafter receive examination by United States customs officials upon arrival at San Francisco, and the duty upon them would be immediately levied and collected. The effect of this would be to throw their transportation across the continent into the control of American railways instead of the Canadian military line. These will be the chief points of the much-heralded "retaliatory" message soon to be transmitted to Congress.

Not Quite Sickled.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Jan. 21.—Mrs. Phœbe Hearst, widow of the California senator and millionaire, denied last evening that she was engaged to be married to Senator Faulkner, or in fact to anyone. She added that she did not know the West Virginia statesman. She did not understand how the report could have originated.

Bradstreets' Report.

NEW YORK, Jan. 21.—In the Province of Ontario general trade appears to be very quiet, with a hopeful outlook. In Quebec sales of drygoods are stimulated by the cold weather. Last year is said by Montreal dealers to have been the best for drygoods jobbers since 1885. St. Johns, Nfld., advices say that trade generally has been good there, the lobster fishery has been almost a failure, shore and bank moderate, and seal fishing an average.

Bank clearings at Halifax, Montreal, Toronto and Hamilton aggregate $22,097,000 this week, 4½ per cent. less than last week, but 26 per cent. more than in the like week a year ago.

Business failures in Canada this week equal 39 against 37 last week and 72 in the like week of 1892.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for Coughs and Colds does, it is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle Free, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c. and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

Bordering on Consumption.

HOOPS.

Florette Says They Are Coming and Gives Good Advice.

Here is a lovely dinner dress of black faille trimmed with jet and having a bodice of rose sumah and sleeves of mousseline de soie of the same shade. The berthe and flounce around the sleeves are black lace. The sash is of white black and rose ribbon and fastens at the side with long streamer ends. While speaking of sashes, let me say that you might as well have no change of clothes at all as have no sashes. They must be thick and long and of all colors. They must wind about the waist, or go around the arms, or hang as a scarf over the shoulders. You must wear them when they are scarfs as if you were born with it on, if you don't you might as well give it up. The old fashioned scarfs of fifty years ago are very nice if you can get them, but if you can't, have fringe worked into scarfs of fine crepe and silk. These are almost as pretty and the main thing is to have plenty of them. These are the days when one strips the table, the easel and the piano and puts the spoils on one's self.

We hear the dread whisper "hoops" and shriek, "It cannot be!" but it was once, and may be again. Yet when we have so many "periods" on hand why bring in another? Let us absolutely refuse to adopt the hoops. And still, to fortify ourselves against possibilities, let us reflect upon some of the advantages that hoops offer. First, we may have all the pockets we want; next, they are very cool, and they do set off a tiny waist. Then if a woman has nice shoulders, and is not as shapely as she should be otherwise, hoops hide all that, so there are bound to be some who will be pleased with their return.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

NOVA SCOTIA COAL.

The Legislature to Consider the Projects of a Syndicate.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 23.—The Nova Scotia Legislature opened Saturday afternoon for a session of more than ordinary importance. The coal deal with capitalists of the United States and Canada is to be considered. Lieutenant-Governor Daly in his opening speech said:

I desire to avail myself of your advice in a matter of immediate importance, and therefore have summoned you to meet at an earlier date than usual and before the completion of the public documents necessary to the proper consideration of the ordinary business of the province. The special business which has led up to this early meeting of the Legislature relates to the development of our mineral wealth. Encouraged by the provisions of the Mines and Minerals Act of last session capitalists have come forward to undertake extensive coal mining operations. The high financial standing and known enterprise of the parties and the investments they have already made on the faith of assurances given them are a guarantee of their intention to vigorously prosecute the work they have undertaken, which I feel assured will largely increase the provincial revenues and beneficially effect the many interests connected with the coal trade, while it will, I trust, at the same time yield to investors the liberal return which their enterprize will so well deserve. I invite your most careful consideration to the bill which will be submitted to you to confirm the arrangements which my government made with the parties who have undertaken this very important work.

It is reported that the bill for enactment of the deal will be submitted to the House on Saturday afternoon or brought down next Monday at the latest. It is expected that a lively debate will occur then, as a strong opposition to the project is being manifested in certain quarters. An incident of to-day was the playing of "Down in a Coal Mine" by the band of one of the battalions forming the guard of honor for the opening ceremonies when marching to position.

What Mr. Whitney Says.

BOSTON, Jan. 23.—Mr. H. M. Whitney, one of the syndicate, said Saturday of his Nova Scotia coal scheme:

I am connected with a number of men, some Canadians and some Americans, who intend to take over a number of these mining properties. The underlying idea of the whole scheme is to bring into one large organization, with ample capital, a considerable number of these coal properties, no one of which operated separately has been able to make the large expenditure necessary to the most economical production and transportation of coal. We contemplate the extension of the coal trade to the West Indies and part of South America.

Mr. Whitney's syndicate will have a capital of $10,000,000. It is said that W. C. Whitney is interested in it.

THE FATAL SCAFFOLD.

Two Terrible Accidents at Cornwall - Half-a-Dozen Employees Injured.

CORNWALL, Jan. 23.—A sad and fatal accident occurred at the Canada Cotton Mill Saturday night in which Mr. John McDonald brother of Mr. Daniel McDonald, Reeve of Cornwall Township, lost his life and several other men were injured.

Shortly before the mill closed down for the day, Mr. James Pendergast, engineer, discovered that a light line of shafting in the northwest corner of the boiler-house was loose. A gang of men, one of whom was the deceased, were detailed to return after tea and repair it. A staging was erected, and about 9 o'clock, as the men attempted to block up one end of the shafting, the other end gave way, and, falling on the staging, upset it, and the whole business, scaffold, shafting and men, fell in a confused mass on the hard floor beneath, a distance of 14 feet. The shafting was about six feet long and had a number of pulleys. With its settings it weighed about 300 pounds. The men on the scaffold were John Martin, Thomas Cummings, John Cummings, William Murphy, John Adams and the deceased. McDonald's death was instantaneous. The neck had evidently been broken, as there were no cuts or bruises on the body. Thomas Cummings was also badly injured. One arm was broken and the other badly bruised. John Martin's leg was cut near the knee by an iron bolt. The others were all badly shaken up and more or less bruised.

In the mills of the Toronto Paper Company last night Mr. Samuel Eamer fell down the elevator to the cellar, a distance of about 18 feet, and struck his head sideways on the iron cage of the elevator. The unfortunate man lay there insensible till picked up by some of his fellow-workmen. He was covered with blood, the sharp edge of the iron having torn the scalp nearly from his head. Besides the scalp wound Mr. Eamer's jaw is fractured and his face badly cut. It is feared that he has sustained serious, if not fatal internal injuries.

NATIONAL REJOICING

Ex-King Milan Made a Clean Move by Courting Again His Estranged Wife.

BELGRADE, Jan. 23.—Even the Servian Radicals have joined in the national rejoicing over the reconciliation of Milan and Natalie. The newspapers are vieing with each other in expressing congratulations and good wishes. Young King Alexander has telegraphed to his parents that the announcement of the reconciliation was the pleasantest news ever received by him and has afforded him the happiest hour of his life.

The reconciliation is believed to be an achievement of Russian diplomacy, which has found the absence of such a good friend as Natalie a serious detriment to its interests.

The question as to the necessity of another marriage ceremony is much discussed. The divorce was not accepted as valid by Natalie, although Milan has always maintained that it was complete from every point of view. As the divorce was sanctioned by law it probably will stand and another wedding will be indispensable.

A DYNAMITE FIEND.

A Hotel Partly Wrecked and a House Damaged.

ROME, Jan. 23.—Dynamite bombs exploded almost simultaneously Saturday before the Hotel D' Angleterre and in the garden of the proprietor's house, in the Via San Claudo. The hotel was partly wrecked.

Nobody was injured, although the hotel had more than 100 lodgers at the hour of the explosion.

The proprietor said this evening that the hotel and contents were almost a total loss. The proprietor's house in the Via San Claudo was less damaged. Nobody was injured, as the family had left home for the afternoon.

The proprietor of the hotel says he is convinced that both explosions were caused by a man whom he discharged recently from his service.

EGAN'S RELEASE.

Nine Years in Portland Prison Equal to 18 Years Out of It.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—James Francis Egan, the Irish dynamiter, owes his release from prison to the persistent efforts of Mr. Redmond, the leader of the Parnellites. On his release from prison Egan was met by John Barry, who accompanied him to London. Egan visited the National Liberal Club in London Saturday night.

He conversed there with Messrs. Macdonnell, Donald, Sullivan and other Irish members of Parliament. Egan proceeded to Birmingham alone on Sunday morning. He was met on his arrival there by his wife. Although thinner and grayer than when he entered Portland prison, Egan looks fairly healthy.

Speaking of the severity of the treatment of political prisoners, Egan said: "Nine years in Portland are equal to 18 years of ordinary life. But there is plenty of life in me yet."

In an interview Egan maintained the truth of the defense he presented at his trial that he was not aware of Daly's connection with the dynamite conspiracy.

Throughout his imprisonment he was buoyed up with the consciousness of his innocence.

He expressed himself as deeply indebted to the two Irish parties for the efforts they made to procure his release from prison. It is reported that another political prisoner was released from Portland Prison on Tuesday last.

FOREIGN FINANCES.

Heavy Investments Through Cheapness of Money.

LONDON, Jan. 23.—The rise of foreign exchange rates, notably on Paris, upset the calculations of the money market during the past week. In spite of the revenue payments discount values weakened to 1¼ for three months and ¼ for short.

A more hopeful feeling prevailed on the stock exchange during the week, and a heavy investment business was transacted owing to the cheapness of money. American railroads were very firm on New York's initiative. Business was more active than it has been for a long time past. Extensive purchases were made on home and foreign account. The dealings, however, were not in behalf of the public but chiefly on professional account.

A Difficult Task.

BERLIN, Jan. 23.—Gen. Gourko, Governor-General of Warsaw, has granted German employes in factories in Russian Poland one more year in which to learn the Russian language. In case they do not know the language in January, 1894, they will be expelled.

Parents Must Have Rest.

Coming Events Casting Their Shadows Before!

The coming event at the City Clothing Store is stock-taking day—Wednesday, February 1st.

The shadows which this coming event are casting before it are the splendid Bargains that customers are now receiving, previous to stock-taking, at our bona fide January Clearing Sale now going on.

OVERCOATS, HEAVY SUITS, CLOTHS, and MEN'S FURNISHINGS are all reflecting bargains which never fail to attract sensible buyers and make business brisk at the City Clothing Store.

Our great stock-taking sale every January is always looked forward to with general expectations by the public, who never fail to appreciate our bona-fide bargains.

MEN'S and BOYS' OVERCOATS are being rattled off at a brisk rate, because of the big reductions in all our prices.

Startling reductions in SUITS of all kinds. Prices go down to figures that convince buyers we mean business.

Every piece of WINTER CLOTH in stock is thrown on the Bargain Counters to make room for spring importations. MEN'S FURNISHINGS at comparatively low prices. Remember it is a business principle with us to sacrifice profits during January in order to reduce our winter stock; therefore, this is your opportunity to purchase fresh, clean and sensible Clothing and first-class Cloths at prices unparalleled in the trade.

The Talk

We have made throughout the town and country about our Linen Sale, has made the demand for these goods spring up briskly. It is a satisfaction to note how our statements about Linen Goods and prices are received. The remarkable point is that even on days when the weather is against us, crowds of ready buyers come to carry off, not only the announced ba gains, but others that are waiting a chance to be talked about.

Before saying a word about any other line, we desire to emphasize the very special value represented in our much talked of Table Linens, Table Napkins and Towellings. The prices are 25 to 35 per cent. less than usual. The entire linen family is represented among the special bargains offered. The hardest thing for women to understand is how such prices are possible

The reason for an abundance of bargains just now is the change from merchandise winter to merchandise spring. New goods are being opened up every day. We tell you the facts and leave you to act on your own notions. Every day brings to our notice some things that should go faster; and they do go faster by going for less money—our Linen Goods for instance.

A GERMAN STATESMAN.

READS THE RESULTS OF CAPRIVI'S WAR SPEECHES.

He Says War Cannot Be Deferred Much After 1894.—It Is More Imminent Now Than at Any Previous Time in Twenty Years—The Significant Signs of Foreign Politics.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—During the discussion of the budget in commission yesterday Von Kendell, Imperialist, who was ambassador to Italy, said that the utterances of Chancellor Von Caprivi, his own observations of the relations of the great powers, and some signs which should be intelligible to everybody acquainted with foreign politics, had convinced him that war was more imminent to-day than at any previous time in the last 20 years.

Many things pointed to the probability that it could not be deferred much after 1894.

Despite the remonstrances of the Government, the Budget Commission of the Reichstag has reduced the naval budget by 1,140,000 marks.

OTTAWA NOTES.

Algoma Wants Emigrants—Ontario's Decrease of Crime.

OTTAWA, Jan. 24.—The Department of Customs has given a decision with regard to sample cards and portfolios, which is of some importance to importers. The decision is conveyed in a circular to collectors from which the following is an extract:

"The attention of this department having been drawn to a practice which has prevailed at some ports of entry of charging duty upon cards and portfolios having no commercial value in themselves and to which commercial samples are attached, you are hereby instructed that for the future no duty must be collected on such sample cards or portfolios; and the same rule must apply to sample books having no commercial value and to which commercial samples are attached.

"As making clear the intention of this department you are further advised that the term 'no commercial value' is held to be applicable only to such cards and portfolios as are necessary for the proper display of commercial samples and which reach Canada with such samples attached or adhering to them, and which, after having been used to show goods, are of no further value, being so damaged while in use for such purposes as not to be perceptible, susceptible of being adapted to other use."

The Public Works Department is preparing to invite competition amongst sculptors for the best model of a statue of the late Sir John Macdonald, towards which Parliament last session voted $10,000.

The same plan will be adopted as was followed in the case of the statue of Sir George E. Cartier. Several photographs have been obtained showing Sir John in different attitudes, and a short biography will be provided, together with particulars of height, etc., and then an advertisement will be inserted in Canada, English, French and Italian papers offering a prize of $1000 for the best model. In the case of Sir George Cartier there were over 20 competitors, the prize being taken by M. Hebert, a Canadian.

At the conference on quarantine matters to be held here on the 31st inst. between the Dominion and Provincial authorities, the question as to the best method of collecting and publishing health statistics will also be discussed.

Complaints have been made by residents of the Algoma District that, while efforts were being made by the Dominion Government to attract immigrants to other parts of the Dominion, Algoma had been neglected. Hon. Mr. Daly has at the instance of Mr. G. H. Macdonnel, M.P., agreed to appoint J. D. McKay of Port Arthur to proceed to the North of England and Scotland to represent the advantages of Algoma as a field for settlement.

Mr. McKay is well acquainted both with Algoma and the districts he will visit, and his efforts ought to be conducive to considerable emigration from these districts to Algoma.

The annual report of the Minister of Justice on the penitentiaries in Canada for the fiscal year ended June 30 shows that the total number of convicts received during the year was 387, as compared with 414 the previous year, a decrease of 27.

The number discharged was 408, as compared with 416 in 1891. The number remaining in all the penitentiaries on June 30, 1892, was 1223, of whom 26 were females, all of them being in Kingston.

There were 11 deaths during the year, of which nine were in Kingston. There were seven escapes, two from Kingston, one from Dorchester, two from Manitoba and two from British Columbia.

Ontario made by far the best showing of the provinces, as the prison population of Kingston decreased 54, while there was an increase in each of the other penitentiaries.

THE KHEDIVE IS PLUCKY

BECAUSE HE IS BACKED BY THREE NATIONS.

Gladstone May Have to Let Loose His Dogs of War Before He Grapples With the Home Rule Bill—France Has Wriggled Herself Into the Turmoil.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Cabinet held two long sessions Monday to consider the Egyptian question. Lord Rosebery has received advices from Lord Cromer, the British Minister to Egypt, to the effect that the Khedive has intimated his intention to refer to the Turkish Sultan and to twenty powers the action of England in causing the dismissal of the Egyptian Cabinet.

Other advices from Cairo state that the natives are in a more excited condition than at any time since the outbreak under Arabi Pasha. While a considerable party of the moderate and intelligent natives support the British position, the multitude take sides with the Khedive and against what they call infidel dictation.

The Marquis of Ripon, Secretary for the Colonies, left a bed of sickness to be present at the Cabinet meeting to-day. While the Cabinet was in session a stream of telegrams continued to pour into the Foreign Office from Cairo. These were immediately transmitted to the Cabinet. The prolonged session of the Cabinet is understood to be due to a difference of opinion as to necessity of reinforcing the British army of occupation in Egypt, both with a view to protecting British interests at Cairo and to protect the frontier against dervishes, who have recently become very menacing.

A note received Lord Rosebery on Saturday from the French Foreign Office stating that the French Government, while refraining from objecting to Riaz Pasha as Premier, would maintain the right of the Khedive to choose his ministers.

A Cairo despatch received in Paris this afternoon says the Sultan has telegraphed to the Khedive his congratulations on the attitude which the Khedive had assumed in respect to the formation of a Cabinet independent of English interference. The Sultan will send the Khedive a present of six horses.

In an interview at Cairo this evening Lord Cromer, in reply to questions about the situation, said, "There is no cause to apprehend a disturbance, but if a disturbance should occur I guarantee it will be of short duration."

It is officially announced that the British Government has decided upon a slight increase of the British troops in Egypt, in view of the fact that recent events have threatened to disturb public security.

The reinforcements to be sent to Egypt are not likely to exceed 1000 troops and two war ships for Alexandria and Port Said, and one warship for Suez.

UNREST IN EGYPT.

The Khedive Is Tempted into Being a Naughty Boy.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Cairo correspondent of The Times says: The situation is very strained. Popular excitement is increasing owing to the general belief that the Khedive intends to test Great Britain's determination to continue her occupation and ascendancy.

The press denounces the British officials as rebels because they refused to recognize three new Ministers during the two days between the Khedive's nominations and England's recognition of them. The Khedive is credited openly with the intention to dismiss all the highest English officials.

The language of the press is increasingly violent, and alludes to the Khedive as a hero. The Khedive, with a strong nature impelling him to extremes, can easily be made a tool of by the cleverer heads about the Khedive's court.

The Cairo correspondent of The Daily News says: The situation here is critical and unless Great Britain takes very stringent measures she will have to solve a more serious question than ever before in Egypt. The anti-English demonstration planned for the occasion of the Khedive's visit to the Opera House was frustrated only by the rigorous measures of the authorities and the strong police force present. The British troops were confined to their barracks and a strong detachment was stationed near the opera house.

THE MORLEY CASE.

The Plymouth Brethren Will Have to Come to Terms.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The trial of the Morley-Longhemans case, which is an action to recover the sum of £140,000, the amount alleged to have been secured by undue influence by the Longhemans, Plymouth Brethren, from Henry Morley, deceased, brother of the Postmaster-General, was continued yesterday.

An accountant named Blow testified he had traced the transfer sums amounting to £132,682 from Henry Morley to the Longhemans. He had also found a number of checks drawn by Henry Morley, the payees of which could not be traced.

The Solicitor-General asked the court to decide in favor of the plaintiff. He claimed that evidence clearly proved that the Longhemans induced Henry Morley, while mentally unsound, to surrender his fortune to them.

Caught by a Fairy.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—A sensation has been caused in Irish circles by the announcement that T. B. Curran, M.P. for Kilkenny, has been privately married at the registry office in Manchester to an Australian dancer named Marie Brooks, who is playing the principal part—that of a boy—in a local pantomime.

THE LION WILL GROWL.

A Central American Mob Hoots a British Minister's Son—He May Die.

PANAMA, Jan. 24.—A despatch from Guatemala says that a mob has attacked the British Legation and had beaten Minister Gosling's eldest son so severely that he may die.

Minister Gosling's youngest son shot one of the mob dead.

The British warship Mothemene is at San Jose, and her commander has called for the Warspite and Nymph to come and assist him in blockading the port so that reparation may be obtained without the bombardment of the port.

President Barrios is said to have refused so far to grant the British demand for reparation.

He protests that he is powerless to do so, as any attempt on his part to atone for the outrages would cause an Indian uprising, if not a general revolution.

He begged the British Minister and commander to wait until popular fury had subsided before they act. The immediate cause of the riot is not mentioned.

KILLED HIMSELF.

He Was a Victim of Drunkenness and Despondency.

ST. THOMAS, Ont., Jan. 24.—Yesterday forenoon a most determined suicide took place in the gore o' Westminster on lot 24, con. "G," about a mile north of the Southwold townline. Some years ago John Mulligan, a well-to-do farmer, died leaving a family of three sons and four daughters.

Each of the sons was left a 100-acre farm, but strong drink proved a curse in William's case, and for 20 years he has spent not only his time, but his means, in drinking.

Lately he has lived on the old homestead with his brothers and two sisters. He was a married man, but his wife died some years ago, leaving three sons, who are still living.

For the past two weeks the deceased has displayed a more or less violent temper and two weeks ago he threatened the life of his sister. Yesterday morning he asked for her, but searching could not find her.

He threatened his eldest son and about 10 o'clock went upstairs to his bedroom. In a few moments his son John heard a shot. He ran to the bedroom door, but finding it partly closed, hesitated out of fear of the brother, before entering.

The exclamation "I am shot" meeting his ears he rushed in and found William lying on the floor shot through the breast. The deceased was about 49 years of age.

Two brothers, James and John, four sisters, two unmarried and two others, Mrs. Beattie and Mrs. Jones of Florence, and his three sons survive him. His father and mother have been dead for some years. An inquest is spoken of.

NOT OFFICIAL.

But It Says That Mgr. Satolli Will Not Remain Long in the U. S.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Herald's Washington correspondent says: Some significant rumors are in circulation here as to Archbishop Satolli's successor as apostolic delegate. On the best authority I am informed that Satolli is not likely to remain in the United States for many years. He is destined to secure a cardinal's hat.

He is a favorite with Pope Leo XIII., who has the utmost confidence in his sagacity, love of justice and progressiveness of spirit. The Pope wishes to make Satolli a cardinal, and as the Pontiff's health is not of the best, he is likely to make the promotion before long.

The next Papal delegate will not necessarily be an Italian. He may be an American, I am led to believe. Either Archbishop Ireland or Bishop Keane would be acceptable to the progressive element of the church in this country. The Pope is said to esteem them both highly.

In case Archbishop Ireland is made a Cardinal at the time of Satolli's promotion, the former might be made the latter's successor as delegate. Bishop Keane, it is believed, would prove a favorite for the place if Archbishop Ireland is a Cardinal when Satolli leaves this country.

REFORM IN DENVER.

Places of Amusement Closed—A Dean's House Raided.

DENVER, Col., Jan. 24.—All places of amusements were closed yesterday by the order of the Police Board, and the proprietors were placed in jail. The police were forced to make the arrests by Rev. H. M. Hart, Dean of the Episcopal Church, who has inaugurated a crusade against Sunday amusements and insists upon the enforcement of the law.

After the theatres were closed, immense crowds gathered in the principal streets and talked the matter over. Suddenly a move was made for Dean Hart's house, and in a short time about 2000 people surrounded it, and after hooting and cat-calling stones were thrown, smashing several windows.

The police soon arrived on the scene and dispersed the crowd without making any arrests. Nobody was in the bombarded building at the time, the Dean and the family having been removed by friends a short time before the mob arrived. The excitement soon subsided and no further trouble is expected.

WESTERN DASH.

A Kansas Beauty of 18 Years Finds Fun in Horse Stealing.

FORT SCOTT, Kan., Jan. 24.—Mary Colvin, 18 years old, notorious as a female horse thief whose youth and beauty aroused sympathy and clemency, was released from jail Saturday afternoon and last night perpetrated another daring theft by stealing two horses and a carriage from a livery stable at Hepler, this county. She escaped, but officers are in pursuit.

Has an Official Flavor.

NEW YORK, Jan. 24.—The Times says: It was learned last night in official naval circles that England proposes, in the event of the Prince of Wales visiting the Columbian Fair, sending her entire Channel squadron to the Columbian naval review.

If this is done there will be present the most powerful fleet assembled to-day under one flag. The special squadron commanded by Rear-Admiral Gherardi, is timed to arrive at Barbadoes by Feb. 1. This squadron will sail direct from Hampton Roads, Va., and there await the arrival of the various foreign squadrons.

Railway Accident.

TROY, N.Y., Jan. 24.—The Montreal train due in this city at 4.20 p.m. was wrecked at Rutland by a broken frog. Three cars were ditched, while the locomotive remained intact.

K. H. Cobb, a Boston cigar drummer, was instantly killed. Conductor Clark, Engineer Stickney, Fireman Willis and Trainmen Dermady and Harrington were severely injured.

United States National Banks.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—All national banks have responded to the call of the Comptroller of the Currency for the condition of each bank at the close of business on Dec. 9 last. The reports show that the aggregate of resources of all national banks is $3,480,349,697.

Another Crooks Man Dead.

CHICAGO, Jan. 24.—It is just learned that James Frank Black, alias Frank Woodruff, who was arrested on suspicion of being connected with the murder of Dr. Cronin, died at the Lansing Penitentiary Oct. 10. Black makes the seventh participant in this crime, or witness at the trial, who has since died.

Car Shops Consumed.

PITTSBURG, Pa., Jan. 24.—The car shops of the Pittsburg and Lake Erie Railroad Company at Chartiers were entirely consumed by fire last night, with several freight cars and two passenger coaches. The fire was caused by natural gas.

FARMERS AND THEIR MARKET.

The plight of the average farmer is not a happy one. His agricultural operations are hampered by the burdens which taxes impose upon almost everything he uses in his work or his household. The seasons have been against him for some time past, and what little he produces is made additionally unprofitable by low prices and a contracted market. The excellent market he enjoyed in the United States for barley, malt, hay, potatoes, horses, cattle, sheep and eggs has been very largely wiped out by an iniquitous piece of retaliatory legislation, the McKinley Act. Our largest shipment to the United States market was barley. For instance, as far back as 1878 we sold to the United States 6,243,000 bushels per year at the price of 75 cents per bushel. In 1889-90, the year previous to the McKinley tariff, we sent in 9,039,000 bushels at an average of 50 cents per bushel. The McKinley tariff reduced the amount by over seven million bushels; in other words, our exports to the United States in 1891-92 amounted to only 2,721,000 bushels. Instead we sent 2,439,000 bushels to the mother country, or to both countries a little more than half of what we sent to the U. S. in 1889-90. The price was only 49 cents, or about 30 cents less than we we would have got if we had a free market in the United States. The barley trade of last year is about two million dollars short of what we did with our southern neighbours in 1889-90. This loss falls chiefly upon Ontario. The principal barley producing province, and two millions of dollars loss divided amongst the farmers of Ontario represents all the difference between profit and loss. This is independent of the increased price—which would amount to one half a million more—we would have got if we had had free access to the United States market and independent of the increased barley trade with Great Britain. The absurd and unchristian trade doctrine of strangulation has struck the Ontario farmers to the tune of about two and a half millions on barley alone, while it has knocked off over half a million, net, in horses—that is including the increase in the British market, and about a million in the matter of eggs. It is true there has been an increase in our exports to England, but this falls about two millions short of compensating for the loss of American markets. If the British market, which is free, falls two millions short of the American market with its Chinese wall of tariff, what would the result be if this tariff wall were torn down and we and our Yankee neighbours were allowed to trade like Christians. The politicians may adopt all sorts of fancy expedients to force the course of trade and divert it from the channels nature has marked out, but the agricultural and other resources of this country will not reach a full or satisfactorily partial state of development till the goal of unrestricted intercourse between contiguous countries is reached. The present state of our trade relations may suit the protected manufacturer, to whom the tariff assures a royal profit, but the farmer has to accept the scaly profits he can get out of a McKinleyized market next door, or punt his produce across the "herring pond" to a market three thousand miles away.

THE Kingston Whig comes out in a neat new dress which, of course, greatly improves her appearance. And at her age of life, too! Think of a gay old girl of sixty summers hankering, like a sixteener, for new frocks. But girls will be girls, whether sixteen or sixty, and the Whig, being every inch a newspaper, richly deserves the beautiful new dress she has donned at the beginning of her seventh decade. THE EXAMINER congratulates its Limestone City cotem., and hopes that it may have an evergreen old age to wear out many new dresses in vigorously upholding the principles of Liberalism and furnishing, according to its past custom, it thousands of readers, "lashins" of live news.

DURING the first ten years of Confederation—from 1868 to 1878—the ten years of depression that is claimed to have justified the N. P. iniquity, the aggregate trade of Canada increased forty-one million dollars. During the period from 1882 to 1892, the full bloom ten years of the N.P., the increase was only twenty millions. Under the N.P. the only substantial items of increase are the taxation and the exodus.

Like a Thief in the Night.

Consumption comes. A slight cold, with your system in the scrofulous condition that's caused by impure blood, is enough to fasten it upon you. That is the time when neglect and delay are full of danger.

Consumption is Lung-scrofula. You can prevent it, and you can cure it, if you haven't waited too long, with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the most potent blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. For every disease that has to be reached through the blood, for Scrofula in all its forms, Consumption, Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all severe, lingering Coughs, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

On Sunday morning while driving into the Presbyterian church yard, one horse of Mr. A. Smith's spirited team shied, causing the sleigh to run against the platform, disembarking the occupants. Fortunately no one was injured.

It is probably not the coldest weather you ever knew in your life; but that is how you feel just now, because past sufferings are soon forgotten, and because your blood needs the enriching, invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the superior medicine.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1.

Perfect Satisfaction.

Gentlemen,—I have found B.B.B. an excellent remedy, both as a blood purifier and general family medicine. I was for a long time troubled with sick headache and heartburn, and tried a bottle, which gave me such perfect satisfaction that I have since then used it as our family medicine.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not being held out by others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have conclude that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr. Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 26 in. wide, - -	17½	Good Linen Towels each - - -	5½
9 lb. Wool Blankets, - - - - -	$3.75	Grey Wool Blankets, - - -	31c. a lb.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel,	$1.00	25 yards Factory Cotton, - -	$1.00

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a glance at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR COLUMN.

"FOR CHRIST AND THE CHURCH."

[All communications intended for this column must be marked "Christian Endeavour" and sent to Box 113, Peterborough, not later than Friday previous to date of issue.]

Topic for week beginning Jan. 29th, "The day of small things," Zech. 4, 10, Job 8, 7-10

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR DAY.

Days of small things are those that are remembered and celebrated. The birthday of a person or a nation, the very beginning of great enterprises, even a defeat that came before a victory, is that around which interest centres, and on which history builds. Almost every anniversary that calls forth rejoicing dates back to very small beginnings. Often when one seeks for the facts as to the early days of some great movement, it is impossible to recover them, because they were so trivial. Yet we are slow to learn the lesson and still too frequently despise the day of small things. It is not every day of small things that comes to be celebrated. Smallness in itself gives no promise of future glory. Grains of sand are small, as well as mustard seed. It is life, not size, that wins its way.

Growth is a law of God's world. Faith sees in small things only greater room for growth. It was Christ's own way to compare the beginnings of the kingdom of heaven to very insignificant things. * * While we tell again the story of the small beginnings of our society, while we contrast with them the present success, while we thankfully acknowledge God's blessing that has wrought the change, let us also look it this as the day of small things compared with what God has in store for true workers "For Christ and the Church."

DAILY READINGS.

First day—"Growth of the Kingdom," Mark 4, 26-29.
Second day—"Grain of Mustard Seed," Mark 4, 30-34.
Third day—"Faithful in a very little," Luke 19, 16-26.
Fourth day—"A little one shall become a thousand," Isa. 60, 19-22.
Fifth day—"The Lord can save by many or by few," Judges 7, 1-7.
Sixth day—"The beginning was small," Job 8, 7-10.
Seventh day—"Christian Endeavour Day"—"The day of small things. God's blessing upon it," Zech. 4, 10; Job. 8, 7-10.

A Voice from China.

We are glad to present to our readers this week a letter from President Clark, now on a tour around the world in the interests of Christian Endeavour:

STEAMER CHINGTU, ON CHINA SEA,
Near Hong Kong, Nov. 11, 1892.

MY DEAR FRIENDS,—So often have I thought of you all while at the other ends of the earth from you that I am moved to write you a brief letter concerning some matters that have been much upon my mind. And first I wish to express my deep gratitude to God, who has made my journey thus far so much more encouraging and productive than I dared hope. Evidently "Christian Endeavour" means the same thing in Australia as it means in America. In God's hands Christian Endeavour is already a world-wide movement, and is proving itself adapted not only to every evangelical denomination, but to every nation on the face of the face of the globe. Thus our fellowship is extending and our brotherhood is to some extent answering our Lord's prayer "that they all may be one."

But the space of this letter will not allow me to write more of the things I have seen. In the Golden Rule and other papers I shall write to many of you full particulars of these things which interest us.

As I am looking forward to the Week of Prayer (it may have passed when you read this letter), I am hoping and praying, as I know you are, that this may be a year of great spiritual blessings and of many conversions. Let us do all we can to answer our own prayers, remembering the vow which so many of us took at New York last July "to endeavour to bring one soul to Christ during the year."

Again let me urge you to make this a year memorable for a missionary advance movement. Dedicate, will you not, Christian Endeavour Day, February 2nd, 1893, to this effort, and so far as possible, let me ask you to have a self-denial week immediately before that day, so that your Christian Endeavour Day thank-offering to missions may cost you something, and be in a sense "extra" over and above what you would otherwise give.

From the hundreds of replies that came to my office before I left home in regard to the proportion of Christian Endeavourers who attend their own Sunday evening and midweek services, I was glad to find that 86 per cent. of our active members attended regularly and habitually the Sunday evening service; and that 64 per cent. attended the midweek church service—in each case fully twice as large a proportion as attended these services from the whole church, old and young. But let us not be satisfied with these figures. They are not as large as they should be. Let us not be satisfied until all our active members are faithful in their support of all the other services of the church, as well as of our Christian Endeavour meetings, unless they are "prevented by a reason which they can conscientiously give to the Master."

Again praising God for His wonderful mercies to our cause during the past year, and thanking Him, also, upon every remembrance of you all, and hoping to meet and greet many of you personally at our great convention in Montreal next July, I am, whether in Australia or Asia, Europe or America,

Always your sincere and devoted friend,
FRANCIS E. CLARK.

Anderson, John Lancaster, John Deyell, Archibald Weir and J. M. Drummond, local Board of Health. Messrs. Anderson and Lancaster were appointed to expend a sum not to exceed $175 in gravelling the river road running through lots 21 and 22, concession 5, $120 of the above sum to be taken out of the commissioners' 1893 ward appropriation. On motion the taxes for 1892 of Mrs. Patrick O'Leary, Jas. Armstrong and Henry Michael were struck off. The following accounts were passed: John Graham, gravel, $2.80; John Knox, gravel, $1.75; Richard Lane, cedar, $2.91; Robt. Harrison, gravel, $6.60; D. F. Drummond, cedar and repairing culvert, $1; George Hunter, $3 for cutting brush off road allowance opposite lot 8, concession 8; J. M. Drummond, registering births, deaths and marriages for 1892, $10.80; Stephen Thorn, gravel, $1.20; Dr. Shaw, services as medical health officer and attending meetings, $10; Henry Crane, refund of statute labour tax, 75c. Wm. Redpath's dog tax was struck off. The council adjourned to 20th of February next.

The Advertising.

Of Hood's Sarsaparilla is always within the bounds of reason because it is true; it always appeals to the sober, common sense of thinking people because it is true; and it is always fully substantiated by endorsements which, in the financial world would be accepted without a moment's hesitation.

For a general family cathartic we confidently recommend Hood's Pills.

Would You Buy,

If the Prices Were Low?

Most men who do not own houses would become owners if they could do so at a moderate cost.

It is my business to build houses, the cost of which is within the reach of people in fair circumstances.

I have one house, well built, good location, Aylmer street, between Townsend and Rink streets—$2,600. Look it up. Will have two on Dalhousie street, work now going on.

SOLICITORS.

MACMASTER & McGIBBON, Montreal.

The Directors, who are now the owners of the entire Capital stock, have decided, at the request of numerous friends of the Company throughout Canada, to enlarge the proprietorship of its stock, and to offer for sale, at par, ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, fully paid and non-assessable.

Payments are to be made as follows:—Five per cent. on application; fifteen per cent. on allotment; twenty per cent. each in one, two, three and four months from the date of allotment. Applicants have the right to pay in full on allotment.

Applications for shares will be received until February 15th, 1893, at any of the offices of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the offices of the Union Bank of Halifax, and at the head office of the company, N. Y. Life Building, Montreal.

Forms of application for shares may be obtained at any of the above places, or they will be sent by mail on request.

Should no allotment of stock be made to any applicant for shares, the amount paid will be returned in full, and in the event of the Directors finding it impossible to allot the full number of shares applied for, the surplus of the deposit will be credited toward the amount payable on allotment.

The right is reserved of withdrawing the offer in whole or part at any time before allotment, and of allotting to any applicant any less number of shares than the number applied for.

As the dividends of the Company are payable quarterly, beginning with the first day of March next, allottees of stock will be entitled to receive a proportion of the quarterly dividend as declared, corresponding to the amount paid upon their subscription.

It is proposed to apply to the Stock Exchanges of Montreal and Toronto for official quotations of the shares of the Company.

The Consumers Cordage Company was organized in June, 1890, with a Capital of one million dollars, to operate several of the largest Cordage and Binder Twine Factories in Canada. It, at first, operated these under lease, but its operations having been successful, the Capital stock was subsequently increased to Three Million Dollars, and the leased properties were purchased.

The Company has no mortgage indebtedness; and, according to the law under which it was incorporated, none can be created without the consent of two-thirds of the shareholders, represented at a meeting called for the purpose.

The Company has placed in the hands of its Bankers:—

(a) Full statements of its affairs, certified to by Messrs. Caldwell, Watt & Wilkie, Chartered Accountants.

(b) The following letter from Messrs. Macmaster, Cassels & Macmaster, advocates, Montreal, upon the legality of its incorporation, and the issue of its stock:—

MONTREAL, January 5, 1893.

Consumers Cordage Co., Ltd., Montreal:—

GENTLEMEN,—We have examined the books and documents connected with the organization of the Consumers Cordage Company, Limited, and are of opinion that it has been properly incorporated, and that its capital stock of $3,000,000, as issued, is fully paid up and non-assessable, according to the provisions of the "Companies Act."

We are, yours truly,
(signed), ABBOTT, CAMPBELL & MEREDITH.

(c) A report from Messrs. Macmaster and McGibbon, Solicitors of the Company, that the titles to its Mills have been duly examined, and that no encumbrances exist.

Applicants for shares may examine these documents, copies of which may be seen at the Company's offices, and at the various offices of the Banks mentioned above.

The Consumers Cordage Company is probably the second largest Manufacturers of Cordage and Binder Twine in the world, and claims the following very material advantages over its competitors:—

1st. Ample capital to conduct its business which enables it:—

(a) To buy its raw material in large quantities, and at lower prices.

(b) To use only the latest and most improved machinery, thus keeping its mills in the highest state of efficiency.

2nd. Economy in selling and distributing its manufactured products.

3rd. The business covers so wide a territory (its manufactured goods go to almost every civilized country in the world) that it cannot be seriously affected by local troubles; and its Manufacturing conditions are so scattered that the danger of serious loss by fire is very slight.

4th. Lower cost of production.

(a). By maintaining the sharpest competition between its several mills, it is enabled to introduce in all the best methods found in each.

(b). By spreading its commercial expenses over a larger output.

(c) By placing in one hand the purchasing of the Raw Materials and Manufacturing supplies for the several Mills, thus securing lowest prices.

(d). By manufacturing for themselves many of their supplies.

The Company has always found it to its interest to divide the economies effected in production and distribution with the Consumer, and since its existence the Consumer has, upon the average, had a better article at a lower price than previously.

The Company does not claim to have any monopoly, or to earn monopoly profits; in fact, it has not done so. Since its organization it has been able, owing to the advantages above referred to, to earn a net return on its present capital of not less than 10 per cent. per annum (as statements in their Bankers' hands will show), and the Directors believe that these profits will be maintained in the future, as the cost of production and distribution shows each year a marked decrease.

The Dividend for the year ending 31st October, 1892, was at the rate of 8½ percent. per annum. The past record of the Company and its present position justify the Directors in believing that quarterly dividends of one and three-quarters per cent. can be paid (and should the profits for the present year be as large as the outlook promises, the final quarter's dividend might be increased.

Any further information may be had at the head office of the Company at Montreal.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the boys" coming and fled from his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently assertedby Companies whose business is nearly all tontine, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the

AT OPERA HOUSE

An Interesting Missionary Meeting.

An interesting missionary meeting was held in the George street Methodist church last night under the auspices of the Missionary Committee of the Epworth League of Christian Endeavour. Miss Frise presided and there was a large attendance. Mr. W. F. Chapman gave a very comprehensive address on missions generally. Miss C. B. Sanderson presented the report of the Missionary Committee, which showed the finances of the committee to be in a healthy condition, about $20 being on hand for missionary purposes. A hopeful letter was read from the Chinese girl, which the society supports in British Columbia. Mr. H. E. Armstrong and E. A. Mannell gave words of encouragement after which the meeting, which was a very impressive one, closed.

Into His New Store.

Mr. Thos. Kelly, one of the oldest George street merchants, yesterday removed his immense stock of dry goods from the store at the corner of Simcoe and George streets which he has occupied for many years, to the shop four or five doors north, formerly occupied by the late O. C. Rowse. Mr. Kelly's new quarters are well lighted and heated, extend the whole length of the block for three storeys up, and are in every way adapted for a first-class dry goods store. In order to clear out some of his surplus stock to have room in his new quarters, and also to accommodate his spring importations, Mr. Kelly will begin a tremendous clearing of dress goods, black cashmeres, and remnants of silks. Ladies' woollen hosiery at a marvellous drop in price, and other things along the same lines. Call and secure bargains. Mr. Kelly would be pleased to meet all his old customers, and as many new ones as possible, in his commodious new premises.

BATTALION BRIEFS.

Annual Meeting of the Officers of the 57th Held Last Night—Reports Received—Committees Elected.

The annual meeting of the officers of the 57th Battalion, Peterborough Rangers, was held in the orderly room at the drill shed last night. There was a large attendance, Lt.-Col. J. Z. Rogers, presiding. The financial report from the regimental committee was presented by Lieut. Schofield. Capt. Langford presented the report from the band committee, Major Bell the report of the rifle committee, and Capt. Mason the report of the mess committee. All the reports were very favourable, and were adopted.

The following committees were then elected:

Regimental Committee — Major Bell, Major Edwards and Lieut. Schofield.

Band Committee—Capts. Langford, Millar and Lech.

Rifle Committee— Major Bell, Capt. Dennistoun, Capt. Mason, Lieut. Schofield, Capt. Hill, Lieut. Hayes, Capt. Millar and Capt. Brennan.

Mess Committee—Surgeon Dr. Halliday, Capt. Mason, Lieut. Hayes.

The senior officer of each committee to be the chairman.

The question of the trophy which is to be competed for annually by the different companies, and which was won last year by "A" Company for drill and attendance was referred to a special committee of the officers commanding the various companies to report on the nature the prize will take.

The application of the band for grant towards their new instruments was referred to the Band Committee to report.

Nothing was said in reference to the annual trip of the battalion next summer. After the transaction of some minor business the meeting adjourned.

At 2.30 a public meeting will be held, at which reports will be presented, followed by an address from Mrs. Wilson, of Neemuch, Central India. All women interested in mission work are invited to be present. At 8 p.m. a meeting open to all will be held when addresses will be given by the Rev. Thos. Goldsmith and the Rev. J. R. Smith, D.D., late of California.

Will Have Things Fitted Up.

Messrs. Kingan & Co., hardware dealers, who will remove from their Hunter street premises to the store lately occupied by Mr. Thos. Kelly, corner of Simcoe and George streets, will have them elaborately fitted up. The cellar and top stories have already been cleared up and repaired. The first story will be tuck-pointed, while an entirely new front will be placed in. The old stairway and hall to the left will be removed, and the shop made some six or eight feet wider. New plate glass will be placed in position here, and a handsome plate glass window will be made of the corner. Inside the whole store will be repapered and painted, newly floored and a host of other improvements made, too numerous to mention.

A Happy Matrimonial Event.

A happy matrimonial event was celebrated at the residence of Rev. Mr. Craig, Methodist minister, Hiawatha, on Wednesday last, when his eldest daughter, Anne, was wedded to Mr. E. B. Stone, barrister, Peterborough. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a small number of friends and relatives. Rev. Mr. Clewarth, of Smith, officiated, assisted by the bride's father. After the solemn event the happy couple together with their friends sat down to a choice wedding breakfast, amid the congratulations of their friends. The presents were unique and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Stone returned to town yesterday after a short wedding tour west. They have taken up their residence at 827 Water street, where their many friends will wish them a joyous and long wedded life.

Presentation to Bishop O'Connor.

A reception under the auspices of St. Peter's Court, No. 225, Catholic Order of Foresters, was tendered His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, in their elegant and commodious new lodge rooms last night. There was a large attendance of the brethren, Bro. J. J. Lynch, C.R., presiding. A finely worded address, which was beautifully engrossed and artistically illuminated, was presented to the guest of the evening, Bishop O'Connor, by Bro. J. P. Bryson, secretary. The address referred in grateful terms to the interest and concern always shown by His Lordship on behalf of the society, and their great esteem and respect for him. The surprised recipient, Bishop O'Connor, made an impressive reply thanking the members for their evidences of good will and kindness and speaking at length upon the object and benefits of the order. A hearty vote of thanks moved by Bro. Bryson and seconded by Bro. W. J. Watson was then tendered the speaker for his presence and His Lordship again replied in a similar strain. The meeting was a very pleasant one throughout and will long be remembered by the members. Rev. Father Collins was also present.

—The large arc light in the middle of the skating rink fell with a crash last night between 10 and 11 o'clock as the boys were playing hockey. The large globe was smashed to atoms and the light barely missed drooping on one or two hockeyists.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. T. Fitzgerald took place this morning from the family residence on Water street to the Little Lake cemetery, and was attended by a large number of people. Rev. J. H. Locke, of the George street church, conducted the solemnities.

—The work of flooring and fitting up the immense flour mill of the Peterborough Milling Company, together with the two stories recently added, will be completed in a couple of weeks. The improved machinery which was purchased some time ago will then be placed in position.

—The following horses have entered the different events in the Port Hope races, which begin to-morrow: F. J. Daly's "Blackstone," Lindsay, W. H. Simpson's "Mamie S.," Lindsay, J. E. McIntyre's "Clan Alpine," H. C. Winch's chestnut mare, R. Croft's mare "Parnell," Cobourg, and others.

—The following players will compose the team from the Collegiate Institute Hockey Club, which will be pitted against the Lakefielders in the match to-night at the rink: Hamilton, goal; Halliday, point; Adams, cover point; Grubbe and Davidson, right forward; King and Heap, left forward.

—The Peterborough Light and Power Company, with their usual enterprise, have been putting in duplicate machines and appliances at their power house, so that if anything gets out of repair or goes wrong with the incandescent lights, the matter can be remedied and the lights turned on again in a very few minutes. This is a move which the public will appreciate.

PERSONAL.

Miss B. Roxborough, Norwood, and Miss J. Fowlds, Hastings, are visiting Miss Annie Cameron, George street.

Mr. Herbert Bell who has been suffering from illness during the past five weeks is convalescent. He will be able to resume his studies in Trinity Medical College next week.

Mr. Thos. I. Ford, artist reporter of the Toronto Times, is in town to-day, in the interest of the paper he represents. The Times is a live interesting weekly paper and its circulation is rapidly extending throughout the Dominion. It will be on sale at the Peterborough Bookstore, commencing Saturday 28th.

Y. M. C. A. NOTES.

All friends of the Young Men's Christian Association are cordially invited to attend the anniversary exercises in George street church at 8 o'clock this evening. Music by George street choir and Y.M.C.A. Band and Quartette. Addresses by Messrs. S. J. Moore and R. J. Colville, of Toronto, and Frank M. Pratt, of Hamilton. Collection in aid the association funds.

When Mr. Colville consented to address the Y.M.C.A. anniversary which takes place in George street church to-night he fully expected to be able to spend a day in calling on friends in town but he now finds that this will be impossible as he will only arrive on 8.15 train this evening and will leave for Montreal in company with other convention delegates by the midnight train.

The numerous testimonials received place Dr. Butler's Golden Pills in the foremost rank of reliable remedial agents. Try them.

Colorless, Emaciated, Helpless

A Complete Cure by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is from Mr. D M. Jordan, a retired farmer, and one of the most respected citizens of Otsego Co., N. Y.

"Fourteen years ago I had an attack of the gravel, and have since been troubled with my

Liver and Kidneys

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I feel well and am well. All who know me marvel to see me so well." D. M. JORDAN.

Alarm Clocks!

There are a great many small Alarm Clocks which have been running for a few years and are now out of order, which the owners are allowing to remain idle, because they think it will cost too much to repair them. If you bring them to us you will find that we will make them run as well as they ever did, at a very small charge. We have already changed hundreds of them from being merely rubbish into good timepieces. If you want to buy a new one, we will sell you an Alarm Clock at a lower price than any one else in the trade. We sell only the very best make and warrant every one.

FLOWERS EVERYWHERE.

The Flower Committee of the Charlotte Street Church E. L. of C. E. Provide a Choice Programme of Music.

The Flower Committee of the Charlotte street church Epworth League of Christian Endeavour gave a pleasing musical entertainment in the Charlotte street church last evening at which there was a large attendance. In the rear of the platform was the word "Welcome" in alternate red and white lettering, while around the platform flowers of all kinds, fragrant, beautiful and in bloom, lent an additional air of welcome to the stranger. Mr. M. A. Morrison, president, presided, and after the opening devotional exercises Mr. P. Hamilton, chairman of the flower committee, was called to the chair and presided for the remainder of the evening. A lengthly and well rendered programme was then carried out to the satisfaction of all present—the evening being one of rare pleasure. Miss Sherlock read a paper on the duties of the Flower Committee. Miss Clarke favoured the gathering with a fine instrumental solo. Miss Barker gave a vocal solo with auto-harp accompaniment, Miss F. Madden a reading, and the Y. M. C. A. trio, consisting of Messrs. Squires, Wesley and Stiers, rendered a couple of delightful selections during the evening, to the effective accompaniment of Mr. Geo. Schneider. Mr. McKay gave an appropriate address, and Mr. Walter and Misses Florence and Grace Brooks a splendid trio, with Mrs. Brooks as accompanist. Mrs. Hodgson on the piano, Mr. J. E. Hodgson with the flute and Mr. Wilson with the violin, furnished a beautiful musical trio. Messrs. Percy and Leslie Owens performed an instrument duet creditably. Mr. Thos. Corkery and Miss Emerson gave capital readings. Mr. Gray a song, Misses Martha and Maggie Stevens a duet, and Mr. Hodgson another musical selection. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the talented contributors to the programme, by Messrs. L. C. Cluxton and A. L. Davis, when the entertainment dispersed, being in every way a success.

THE REIMERS PIANO COMPANY.

Seeking a new Site for Their Factory—The Claims of Peterborough to be Investigated—The Board of Trade in Consultation on the Subject.

The secretary of the Board of Trade has received the following letter from the Reimers Piano Company, which manufactures the patent Separable Case Pianoforte on a large scale, in reference to securing the establishment of their factory in Peterborough:—

TORONTO, Jan. 23rd, 1893.

MR. BURNHAM, secretary Board of Trade, Peterborough, Ont.

DEAR SIR,—We beg to acknowledge receipt of yours of the 17th inst. in reference to making arrangements for establishing our factory in Peterborough. We are at present looking for some suitable place to establish our factory; we find we can have privileges in outside towns which will enable us to manufacture cheaper there than here, and have had several propositions made to us but, before making any arrangements whatever, we have decided to visit Peterborough and interview you. Mr. Reimers, along with Mr. Hunter, will be in Peterborough on Wednesday next if you can make it convenient for them to meet a few of the members of the Board of Trade, or other gentlemen to talk the matter over. If you can make this appointment wire us immediately and oblige.

Yours truly,
The Reimer's Piano Co. of Toronto, (L'td.)
per EDW. SMITH,
Secretary.

Any person having or knowing of suitable premises for such a manufactory, might communicate at once with the Secretary of the Board of Trade. The piano manufactured by this company is a new thing in the market and promises to enjoy a large demand, so that the establishment of the factory here would mean an important addition to our industries.

A letter was received by the local Board from the Ottawa Board of Trade, asking our co-operation in securing the abolition of market fees and all tolls of every description.

These subjects will also occupy the attention of the Board this evening.

YOUNG WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

The Board of Directors Meet and Elect Officers.

A meeting of the Board of Directors was held yesterday afternoon to elect officers for the ensuing year. Mrs. Fairbairn expressed a desire to be relieved from the presidency. With much reluctance the board consented. Her services have been greatly appreciated. Owing to her multitudinous connections with as equally good works, and also not being in the best of health, the members felt that her request should be complied with. It was hoped her retirement from the position would only be temporary, but in the meantime the board will not lose her valued services, as she has been willing to take the first vice-presidency, only desiring to be relieved from the head of the association. Her place is being ably filled by Mrs. Locke, who has always taken an active interest in the association since its organization, and whose abilities are quite equal to the position. The names of the Board of Ditectors are as follows:

President—Mrs. Locke.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Fairbairn.
2nd Vice-President—Mrs. Pearse.
3rd Vice-President—Mrs. Thom.
Secretary—Mrs. McKee.
Assistant-Secretary—Miss Hodgson.
Treasurer—Mrs. (Dr.) Bell.
Assistant-Treasurer—Mrs. VanEvery.
COMMITTEE—Mesdames Walsh, Green, (Dr.) Scott, (Dr.) Burnham, Mulholland, Morrow, and Misses Nicholls, Armstrong and Hope.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A most enjoyable party was given at the residence of Dr. Jeffs on Wednesday evening last in honour of Mr. Frank Jeff.

A small frame building on George street owned by Mrs. Wrightly and occupied by Wm. Patterson, caught fire on Monday night last through a defective stovepipe, and was burned to the ground.

The ball given at the Glynn House by mine host D. Connolly on Friday night was well attended.

The nomination of members for a school board will take place at the school hall on Tuesday, Jan. 24th.

The damage to the school house by the late fire is being repaired, and school will re-open on Wednesday next.

A special meeting of the village council was held at Mathieson's hall on Saturday night for general business.

Reeve McAuley goes to Peterborough on Friday to attend county council.

Immense quantities of wood, cedar and lumber are being hauled into Havelock from the surroundings.

Mr. Wiseman having completed the building of his new mill is now ready to do any amount of sawing, chopping, etc.

Mr. Bryans has completed the filling of the ice house at Havelock having stored some 200 cars of ice this winter.

Thomas Smith, a fireman on the C.P.R. was badly scalded on the face and hands on Thursday last by the bursting of a steam tap on the engine he was employed on.

Mr. Peter Laird, carpenter, who has been working in the Northwest last summer, has returned home. He gives good accounts of the west and intends moving his family there in the spring.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

Messrs. R. M. Dennistoun and J. D. Collins in the last match in the first draw of 12 point games of the Granite competition, played off yesterday afternoon at the rink and resulted as follows:

R. M. Dennistoun, 12...vs.....J. D. Collins, 7.

A. Stevenson also played R. B. Rogers in the second draw of 12 point games resulting as follows:

A. Stevenson, 14.....vs.....R. B. Rogers, 12

The match between the new rinks of the Granites will come off this evening at the rink. Considerable talk is being indulged in as to which side will come out victorious. Skip Schofield's quartette will play Skip G. M. Roger, while Skip E. H. D. Hall will battle Skip W. D. Parker.

An interesting match took place at the rink last night between Skip Geo. Boucher and Skip A. W. Strickland. Skip Boucher's quartette was composed of himself, R. Rutherford vice, A. E. Thompson second stone and J. A. Cameron lead. Mr. Clancy played on the opposing side as lead, a stranger from Lindsay did good service as vice. Twelve ends were played with the score standing 14 to 12 in favor of skip Strickland.

In the primary competition for the Ontario Tankard at Lindsay yesterday, Peterborough, Whitby, Orillia and Lindsay took part. In the afternoon the two Peterborough rinks played Lindsay and won by a good score, as the following shows:

Peterborough.		Lindsay.
J Stanger,		M W Kennedy,
T P Attrill,		Geo Little,
R S Davidson,		J M Knowlson,
C McGill, skip	10	Wm McLennan, skip.	24
W B Ferguson,		S Malcolmson,
J B Bentland,		J G Edwards,
S Ray,		Jas Keith,
T Rutherford, skip	22	J D Flavelle, skip	8
Total	42	Total	32

Orillia in the afternoon beat Whitby by 1 shot and in the evening Peterborough and Orillia played off, the latter according to current reports in the street to-day beating the home quartettes by about 20 shots. So that Peterborough this year will not be in the final competition for the Ontario Tankard at Toronto.

To-day, with Messrs. Attrill and Ray as skips, the home rinks are playing at Lindsay in the Dryden Cup Competition.

FROM HEAD TO FOOT

you feel the good that's done by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It purifies the blood. And through the blood, it cleanses, repairs, and invigorates the whole system.

In recovering from "La Grippe," or in convalescence from pneumonia, fevers, or other wasting diseases, nothing can equal it as an appetising, restorative tonic to build up needed flesh and strength. It rouses every organ into natural action, promotes all the bodily functions, and restores health and vigor.

For every disease that comes from a torpid liver or impure blood, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, and the most stubborn Skin, Scalp, or Scrofulous affections, the "Discovery" is the only remedy so certain that it can be guaranteed. If it doesn't benefit or cure, in every case, you have your money back.

R is perfectly, permanently, positively cured by Dr, Sage's Catarrh Remedy. The proprietors of this medicine prove that by their offer. It's $500 cash for a case of Catarrh which they can't cure.

A STRANGE STORY.

Are These Things Within the Possibilities?

BY NANCY NUGENT.

"Will you stay with us all night? I have been expecting her to have one of those terrible turns for some days; she has them about every two weeks. You would understand the case better were you to see her at such a time."

I consented, and after half an hour's talk Paul proposed that I wait in the hall and if I heard her scream enter immediately, and I would find her at her worst.

I seated myself just outside the door, which had been left slightly open.

Paul went in, and I heard his steps approach the bed. I waited breathlessly for the degrading accusation Letty had prepared me for, but, as she had told me it was always whispered close to her face, I did not hear it. Soon I was terrified to hear the most heartrending screams I had ever heard. I could not move; they froze the blood in my veins. I sat as if mummified; then breaking the bondage of horror I hastened to her bedside.

Letty lay staring at Paul, her breath coming fast, her lovely eyes expressing most abject fear. I bent over her to examine her face for the bruises from the bites she had told me of. If I found any Paul was the guilty one.

Ah! there they were. On the round, red cheek the mark of a perfect set of upper and under teeth. When I saw the mark first the outlines were raised and white, while the center or where the teeth had pressed was a dark purple. There were two such marks, one on either cheek. A shudder of repulsion for my old friend shook me. Such a brutal action. Could it be that he was the insane one. I raised my eyes and looked at Paul; he stood watching Letty with the calmness of despair. He seemed unable to remove his gaze from her face as she lay watching him as if she feared another attack.

Her maid came hurrying in, saying, "What is the matter? Why will you not tell me?"

"I cannot, I dare not tell."

The spell was broken. Letty turned with a little sigh, nestled down in the pillows and was soon fast asleep.

I looked at the bruised cheek and was somewhat surprised to see the swelling of the bruises had completely disappeared, leaving only a slight red mark. I sat watching her for probably five minutes; at the end of that time every trace of the bite had vanished.

"I think, Jack," Paul said, "you have had enough horror for one night."

He bent over Letty and kissed her tenderly, then we left her with her maid.

I asked to be allowed to go to my own room immediately. I was tired and worried. Throwing myself on the bed as I was, I covered my eyes with my hands. I thought long into the night. I decided to watch Paul rather than Letty. She was not insane, but would be if his treatment of her continued. Poor Paul! I now pitied him; he did not realize the grossness of his actions to his lovely, loving wife.

I will go in the morning to my old friend, Dr. Denham, and tell him about the case, and that I am interested in insanity, and have him post me. Then, if my suspicions are verified, I will have him consigned to his private asylum. Poor Letty, what a horrible ending for such a happy beginning. I can feel her fingers around mine yet; how she clung to me in her helplessness. As my thoughts ran on a softer train I went to sleep and did not waken until morning.

When I appeared at breakfast I found Letty and Paul waiting me. He looked sad and was very restless. She was her sweet self; no trace of the terrors of last night visible on that exquisitely beautiful face. I left immediately after breakfast and drove straight to Dr. Denham's. I had to wait some time before the Dr. could come to me. As he shook hands, he told me he had just received word of the death of the husband of one of his oldest patients.

I told him I had become interested in the study of insanity, and asked to be granted the privilege of visiting his asylum, and studying his patients. He, like all enthusiasts, pleased to have a new admirer of his pet theme, gave me welcome, bade me sit by him and in an easy, kind manner gave me quite a lecture on insanity, concluding with the history of one of his patients.

"Well, my boy, you have become interested in the mysterious malady, insanity. It is a fascinating study. I have been thirty years among the insane, and I have not found two alike. Something new in each one. I have a woman under my care now whom I never allow an assistant to see. I have given her a special nurse; the cleverest and gentlest of my staff, who never leaves her and reports every day. I see her myself, every two days: yet her case baffles me. I will tell you all I know about her, then you will see her, she is beautiful as a picture, but I am sorry to say this last year she has failed very much. She has lost her rich red coloring and has become emaciated, but her glorious eyes can never change. About five years ago, shortly after I opened my asylum, there called a young man, evidently of a wealthy class. He said his only sister had a year previously married against the family's wishes, that the father had disinherited and disowned her, and had forbidden the family to even speak her name. He was the only one that had disobeyed the father's orders, and had visited her at the home of her choice. He found her surrounded by every luxury, but the year he had not seen her had wrought a great change. The vivacious girl had changed to a dreamy, sensitive and somewhat nervous woman. Being questioned as to the cause of the change, she confessed that her husband, Paul Dean by name, was unreasonably jealous of her, thinking she had been untrue to him, and at times she feared for her life. She begged her brother to stay with her for a week or two, but he, being a doctor, could not, but consented to stay over night and was allotted a room adjoining hers.

"Her great beauty was the talk of the town and of course she had a great many admirers, but I believe she was true to her husband. It seems he had very often told her she was 'false as hell,' and some day he would be tried past endurance and kill her.

"He came home this night a little earlier than usual, and as he neared his wife's room, she, thinking it was her brother, called out, 'Good night, Jack. I am very happy.' Her unfortunate speech maddened her husband. He advanced, she told us after, with his face livid and mouth foaming, with a growl seized her by the throat, repeating again and again, 'False, false as hell.' Leaning over her he had sunken his teeth in her face two or three times. She had time to utter a scream of fear and pain before his fingers closed around her throat in murderous strength. Her brother hastened into the room in time to save her life, but not her mind. At times she is as sane as I am, for two weeks, probably, then she lives that dreadful scene over again, and a peculiar thing is that she knows for two and sometimes more days before that it is going to happen. 'Nurse,' she will say, 'there is something going to happen. Paul will surely kill me this time. Why am I allowed to know this before it happens; I suffer it manifold!' Often when I went to see her it would bring on the delirium. She thought me her husband, and would scream with fear, then lay watching me until the nurse

A TITLED AUTHOR.

The Late Duchess of Cajanello Ranked High Among the Swedish Writers.

A woman of title, who, nevertheless, did not despise brains, was the Duchess of Cajanello, who died recently in Naples. She was a member of the group of Northern writers whose works are regarded with admiration by some and with intense disapproval by others, of whom Ibsen and Bjornsen are the leaders.

DUCHESS OF CAJANELLO.

The Duchess was a Swede by birth and the sister of Prof. Leffler, of Stockholm. She is known by the nom de plume of Mrs. Edgren, and wrote "True Women" and other novels. She ranked high among the Swedish writers, and her works have been translated into most European languages. In 1890 she married the Duke of Cajanello, who is a professor, perhaps the only one of ducal rank in the world.

A DOCTOR'S ADVICE.

How to Avoid Wrinkles and Get Rid of Them when They Come.

It is every woman's right to improve her personal appearance if she can. Her face and hands have much to do with this.

Lines and wrinkles come upon the face without warning, and gradually at that. They are, as a rule, permanent when once formed, but it is possible to keep them at arm's length for many years. The lines and wrinkles of the face are simply the visible exponents of oft-repeated muscular action, either through the expression of mental impressions, movement in conversation or the effects of heat and cold.

Temperature may cause facial lines which will be permanent, but the principal producer is muscular action. Any exhibition of emotion brings with it a wrinkling of the skin, and this wrinkling is localized. In one person it is apparent in the forehead, in another about the mouth; again, at the side of the nose or in front of the ears.

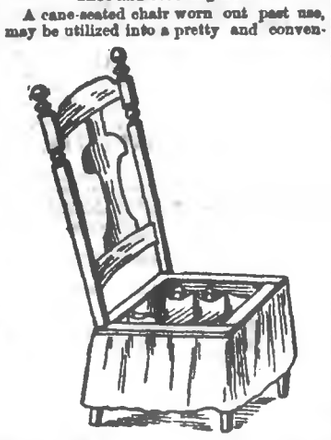
Age has but little to do with the formation of permanent lines in the face outside of those which are occasioned by the simple relaxation of the tissues incident to declining years.

In early years the childish expressions are usually those of pleasure or of grief. The latter are to be held at a distance to every possible extent, as they do more to make permanent furrows than all other influences combined.

For one who has facial lines and wrinkles there is a solace. A piece of Turkish towel, hot water and a moderate friction used every day may make many lines disappear.

Shoe and Stocking Box.

A cane-seated chair worn out past use, may be utilized into a pretty and convenient receptacle for shoes and stockings. Cut away the cane and make a stout bag of ticking with pockets as shown in engraving, and tack closely around the inside. The bag should be about ten inches deep. Make a full deep frill around the four sides. Make a wooden bottom, cover both sides, and fasten it by ribbons sewed to the covering and attached to the chair. The pocket in the middle will hold the stockings. This is a convenient and inexpensive gift for a friend.—Ohio Farmer.



Why go about hawking and spitting when Nasal Balm will remove every vestige of your catarrh, and thus relieve you of this disagreeable habit? In cases of cold in the head, Nasal Balm gives instant relief and effects a permanent cure. From dealers or by mail, post paid, 50c. small, or $1 large size bottle. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

War Well Waged.

What greater enemy of mankind than disease, and what nobler work than to fight against this death-dealing enemy of humanity. The most successful war against disease is being steadily carried on by Burdock Blood Bitters for dyspepsia constipation, bad blood, biliousness, etc., cannot resist its powers.

ORANGEVILLE, April 4th, 1892.
DR. L. A. SMITH & CO.:
DEAR SIRS,—Anti-Dandruff is evidently giving satisfaction. I have sold about half of the gross I bought from you on the 23rd of January last. I use it in my own family and like it well. Can recommend it to all who are troubled with dandruff.
Yours truly, THOS. STEVENSON.

Truly Recommended.

Gentlemen,—I can truly recommend Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for all coughs and colds. Less than one bottle cured my brother of a severe cold. MISS MAGGIE THOMPSON, Vasey, Ont.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

Expel the worms by using the safe and reliable anthelmintic, Freeman's Worm Powders.

The well known strengthening properties of Iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

AN IMPROVED BREAST COLLAR.

One That Seems Designed to Meet a Long Felt Want.

With the collar shown in the accompanying illustration, the pulling strain is designed to be thrown on the animal's shoulder proper, the point of the shoulder being relieved from pressure, thus giving comfort to the animal and permitting walking or running with the greatest ease. The improvement has been patented in the United States. The collar is connected near its rear ends with the neck strap, and at its ends with the traces, in the usual manner, and within the sheathing of the collar are permanently shaped metallic shoulder plates. The plates are formed of steel or spring brass, so that they will permanently retain their shape and yet yield sufficiently to be perfectly easy to the shoulder, each plate being bent edgewise vertically in one portion, and having its rear end inclined downward and rearward to align with the traces, together with a particular curvature and inclination at the forward end. The collar assumes the same shape as the plates, so that all strain on the point of the shoulder is removed and distributed higher up on the shoulder proper. The collar is left perfectly flexible between the shoulder points where it crosses the windpipe, and thus all liability of choking is avoided, while a much freer shoulder action is permitted than is possible with a metallic bar extending throughout the length of the collar as heretofore. The collar also looks easy and comfortable and is elegant and graceful in appearance.—Scientific American.

IMPROVED BREAST COLLAR.

Cost of Milk Production.

The one thing above all others to settle is the cost of production. Bulletin No. 77 of the New Jersey Station says:

COST OF MILK SOLIDS.

The food consumed to produce one pound of milk solids for six months commencing May 1st was:—Ayrshire, 5.9 c.; Guernsey, 5.8 c.; Holstein, 6.2.; Jersey, 6.0 c.; Shorthorn, 6.2 c. Supposing the solids to be of similiar composition (which, however, is not strictly true) the Guernsey heads the list. We will now consider the cost of producing one quart of milk, as given in the same bulletin. Ayrshire, 1.60 c.; Guernsey, 1.71 c.; Holstein, 1.75 c.; Jersey, 1.91 c.; Shorthorn, 1.71 c. Here we find the Jersey at the foot and the Ayrshire at the head, and if the milk is sold by the quart at a uniform price the Jersey must always remain at the foot.

AS TO FAT CONTENT.

the New Jersey Station obtained the following averages: Ayrshire, 3.26; Guernsey, 4.91; Holstein, 3.39; Jersey, 4.59; Shorthorn, 3.43. To get at the bottom facts the reader has now only to take his pencil and "Figure it out." We have not yet made the computation and so do not know which breed gained highest honors in this test. If we multiply the weight of one quart of milk by the per cent of fat we shall have the fat in a quart, and each kind can be treated in this same way. Then comparison of the cost with the amount of fat will show in which case the cost of fat per pound was lowest. Or we can arrive at the relative cost by comparing actual cost per quart with relative per cent fat. Let us make this comparison and see what the lesson teaches us.

Breed.	Cost per qt.	Per cent. fat.	Relative cost per lb. of fat.
Ayrshire	.0160c	3.26	.0490 cts
Guernsey	.0171c	4.91	.0348 cts
Holstein	.0175c	3.39	.0516 cts
Jersey	.0191c	4.59	.0417 cts
Shorthorn	.0171c	3.43	.0498 cts

The last column is found by dividing the cost per quart by the per cent. of fat. It does not give the actual cost to produce a pound of fat but gives the relative cost. Three and a half cents worth of food produced practically the same amount of butter fat when fed to the Guernsey as five cents worth fed to the Shorthorn. As stated in a previous issue, the rival dairy breeds best known are the Holstein and the Jersey, and this experiment agrees with the one in New York in placing the Jersey first for butter production and Holstein first for quantity of milk.—Orange Judd Farmer.

No One Need Pity You.

If you die of consumption without having tried that celebrated cure, now being talked about by every one, and known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," you are not entitled to any pity. If you want to stay with your friends in the flesh, do not let an hour pass by without sending to the nearest drug store for "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Read about the wonderful cures it has wrought. This is the electrical age of wonders, and this emulsion is the product of the latest researches in science. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all drug stores.

Prisoners Liberated.

Many who have been confined to their beds for years by rheumatism, lame back and kidney complaints, have been liberated from their sad prison by the wonderful regulating and purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters, which drives out the acrid poison from the blood and restores health to the afflicted.

Every Lady Uses It.

Dyer's Jelly of Cucumber and Roses for chapped hands or lips, as it effectually cures in every instance. Try it. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

National Pills are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

Bordering on Consumption.

When a cold is neglected it frequently develops a condition bordering on consumption. No other remedy will so quickly relieve and cure cases of this dangerous kind as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, because no other remedy possesses such perfect curative powers as does this prince of pectoral remedies.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it, is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle FREE, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c. and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

FURTHER ENQUIRY REVEALS ENORMOUS FRAUDS.

Their Profits Were Exorbitant—Trial Of Those Believed to Be Criminally Involved to Begin in February—Baron de Reinach Was Not Poisoned.

PARIS, Jan. 24.—The sub-commission appointed to examine the records of the underwriting syndicates which helped to float Panama loans reported that they had found evidences of enormous frauds. Men who had not risked a centime for enterprise had made exorbitant profits from their dealings with the company.

The so-called underwriters had employed many lobbyists and other intermediaries, whose business was to give bribes.

The trial of the men whom Mr. Franqueville, the examining magistrate, regards as criminally involved in the Panama scandal, will begin probably late in February and last some two weeks. Excepting Baihaut, however, the names of the defendants can be only surmised.

The report of the autopsy held on Baron de Reinach's body was sent this evening to the procureur-general. The report states that no trace of poison was found in the body, but that the examining physicians are unable to assert that Reinach died of natural causes. The unsatisfactoriness of this result of the autopsy is due to the fact that Reinach's body was not exhumed until decomposition was far advanced.

Epidemic of Calumny.

BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The North German Gazette says that should the monarchical powers decide to withdraw their ambassadors from Paris until the epidemic of calumny in the press ceases, Germany will co-operate, although no accusations have been made meantime against the German ambassador to France.

BAD CROPS.

Cause of the Revolution In Hayti—Hippolyte On His Muscle.

PANAMA, Jan. 24.—Mail advices from Hayti received Monday fully confirm former reports as to the progress of the revolution. Hippolyte is making strong efforts to crush the revolutionists and has met with partial success.

The revolution apparently was started prematurely and the revolutionists had not completed their organization. The vast majority of the people sympathize openly with the revolutionists, and most of the others assist them covertly. The big commercial houses also are supporting the enemies of the present Government, both on the island and abroad.

Hippolyte's partial triumph over the revolutionists is not regarded as an indication of the extent of the uprising.

When the revolutionary forces shall have been fully organized they will unite and probably will have the whole country behind them.

Letters from Port au Prince say that no attention shall be paid to statements sent out by consuls, as they are colored to suit the Government. The discontent resulting from the poorness of the crops is said to be the immediate cause of the uprising.

The Hayti Affair.

BOSTON, Jan. 24.—Frederick Mora, the American who was under arrest at Port-au-Prince for alleged smuggling, and afterwards released, has caused the international trouble between Hayti and the United States.

A United States gunboat is at Hayti demanding redress, and President Hippolyte is prepared to refuse to pay damages, and fight if necessary.

WHAT A MOB DID.

Wrecked Offices, Killed Five Types, Mortally Wounded Two Editors.

PANAMA, Jan. 24.—The artisans and laborers in the streets of Bogota united on Sunday in the streets and mobbed the offices of newspapers which recently have criticised them severely.

They destroyed the presses, pied the type, killed five compositors and mortally wounded two editors.

The mob then tried to set fire to the offices, but was held at bay by the police until the National Guard could be summoned.

The militia and the police charged the rioters, and after a stubborn fight dispersed them. Several rioters were severely wounded and many were arrested. The riots had no political significance.

The Pope and Gladstone.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The Rome correspondent of The Standard says that the Pope has intimated indirectly his desire to aid Mr. Gladstone in passing the Home Rule Bill in the hope that with Mr. Gladstone's assistance he subsequently will be able to re-establish diplomatic relations with England.

Colliery Horror.

LONDON, Jan. 24.—The wall of a shaft in the colliery at Pentypridd, near Aberdare, collapsed late yesterday as the shafts were changing. Fifteen men were on their way up and many were waiting below. Six of the 15 working the ascent were killed instantly and the others were injured severely. Ten men at the bottom of the shaft were also injured. Three more men may die.

If any doubt exists in the mind of any sufferer as to the curative properties of Dr. Butler's Golden Pills, let him or her try them and if not cured money will be refunded.

IN POPULAR FAVOR.

The Project of Mr. Whitney and Other Capitalists of the United States.

HALIFAX, N.S., Jan. 24.—In the Nova Scotia Legislature Premier Fielding introduced the much-talked-of "Act for the Further Encouragement of Coal Mining in this Province" in the presence of a crowded house, including many prominent New England and Canadian capitalists. He explained that the Government had induced H. M. Whitney and others to put capital in certain mines. Whitney is associated with enterprises in the United States, the management of which requires the consumption of more than 100,000 tons of coal yearly. Several prominent United States capitalists are interested with Whitney, and they have associated with the scheme Kidder, Peabody & Co., bankers, of Boston.

Cape Breton County contains within its borders more coal than any other part of the world of equal area, and Whitney has already obtained control of all the coal mines in that county.

In mercantile circles the terms of the Government measures were much discussed, and the general opinion expressed was that the interests of the Province are safeguarded, and that the consummation of the scheme will be of enormous benefit to Nova Scotia in stimulating trade and extending commercial relations with the United States. One of the features of the enterprise is the operation of a line of railway from the mines to Louisburg Harbor, which is open all the year around. The Government undertakes to grant a subsidy of $3200 a mile toward the completion of this railway.

Fire In Wallaceburg.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., Jan. 24.—The Sydenham Valley Canning Company's factory, owned by Skinner, Ayres & Co. of Wallaceburg, was destroyed by fire at an early hour this morning. Loss $12,000; insured for $9000. Cause of fire unknown.

Deck of Cards Made From Human Skin.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Jan. 24.—A deck of cards made from human skin will be one of Montana's exhibits at the World's Fair.

The Czar's Ambition.

VIENNA, Jan. 24.—Prof. Armenius Vamberg, the well-known Oriental traveler, is of opinion that the visit to St. Petersburg of the Ameer of Bokhara and the Khan of Khiva is a prelude to the Czar assuming the title of Emperor of Asia as an offset to Queen Victoria's title of Empress of India.

It is said that a new coat of arms for the Czar has just been completed, the design consisting of a double eagle flying over the sun's disc

Coming Events Casting Their Shadows Before!

The coming event at the City Clothing Store is stock-taking day—Wednesday, February 1st.

The shadows which this coming event are casting before it are the splendid Bargains that customers are now receiving, previous to stock-taking, at our bona fide January Clearing Sale now going on.

OVERCOATS, HEAVY SUITS, CLOTHS, and MEN'S FURNISHINGS are all reflecting bargains which never fail to attract sensible buyers and make business brisk at the City Clothing Store.

Our great stock-taking sale every January is always looked forward to with general expectations by the public, who never fail to appreciate our bona-fide bargains.

MEN'S and BOYS' OVERCOATS are being rushed out at a brisk rate, because of the big reductions in our prices.

Startling reductions in SUITS of all kinds. Prices go down to figures that convince buyers we mean business.

Every piece of WINTER CLOTH in stock is thrown on the Bargain Counters to make room for spring importations. MEN'S FURNISHINGS at comparatively low prices. Remember it is a business principle with us to sacrifice profits during January in order to reduce our winter stock; therefore, this is your opportunity to purchase fresh, clean and sensible Clothing and first-class Cloths at prices unparalleled in the trade.

The Talk

We have made throughout the town and country about our Linen Sale, has made the demand for these goods spring up briskly. It is a satisfaction to note how our statements about Linen Goods and prices are received. The remarkable point is that even on days when the weather is against us, crowds of ready buyers come to carry off, not only the announced bargains, but others that are waiting a chance to be talked about.

Before saying a word about any other line, we desire to emphasize the very special value represented in our much talked of Table Linens, Table Napkins and Towellings. The prices are 25 to 35 per cent. less than usual. The entire linen family is represented among the special bargains offered. The hardest thing for women to understand is how such prices are possible.

The reason for an abundance of bargains just now is the change from merchandise winter to merchandise spring. New goods are being opened up every day. We tell you the facts and leave you to act on your own notions. Every day brings to our notice some things that should go faster; and they do go faster by going for less money—our Linen Goods for instance.

LIBERAL CONVENTION.

ORATORS FROM THE SURBURBS ENJOY DECLAIMING.

They Journey To the Queen City From Every Crossroad To Attend the Liberal Organization Meeting — The Business Transacted Purely Formal.

TORONTO, Jan. 25.—Three hundred and twenty-two delegates, three hundred of whom were prospective candidates for parliamentary honors in the Liberal interest from every voting precinct and every crossroad in Ontario, foregathered under one roof in Richmond Hall yesterday in response to a joint circular issued by Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir Oliver Mowat for the purpose of drafting some scheme of more thoroughly organising the party.

The meeting was opened by Mr. James Sutherland, M.P., nominating Mr. James Young of Galt for the position of chairman, while W. Aylesworth of Addington was proposed as secretary.

Mr. Young ascended the platform and in a short speech introduced Sir Richard Cartwright. Sir Richard explained the objects of the meeting. Owing to the character of the enemies the Liberals had to fight and the material which they had at their command, it was absolutely necessary, if they were to win, the organization of the Liberals must be perfected, both for Dominion and provincial purposes. Incidentally he remarked that the policy of the Liberal party was free trade, that the platform of the party had not been changed since 1877. The various measures which had been advocated, continental free trade and partial revision of the tariff, were but means to accomplish the desired end. The Liberal leaders were willing to give the country free trade if a revenue had to be raised by direct taxation, but he did not think this practicable. It was better to bring about free trade gradually.

Sir Oliver Mowat, who appeared to be in particularly good spirits, followed Sir Richard and spoke with more than his usual vim. He told of the good government he had given the people during the past 20 years, and urged the necessity of a united co-operation on the part of Ontario Reformers. Some of the members of the party were, he understood, in favor of two organizations—one for the Dominion, the other for the local—but this, he thought, would be a mistake. Many Reformers had, in 1878, been led away by the protection policy of the Conservatives, and while they supported the Mowat Administration did not vote with the Liberals in Dominion politics. He thought by thorough organization and united effort these stray sheep could be coaxed back to the fold, as the time was propitious for the Liberals to give the people of the Dominion as good a Government for the next 20 years as he had given the province during the past couple of decades. He cautioned the delegates that the object of the gathering was not to discuss a party policy or to lay down a program. That would be done at a convention to be called subsequent to the session of Parliament. This meeting had been called simply for the purpose of organization.

The delegates were divided as to whether it would be best to form one central organization or to divide the Province into districts with an organization in each. Despite the request of the leaders that no question of policy be discussed, quite a few of the one hundred odd speakers expressed a desire to talk on the tariff and to have resolutions passed upon it.

Eventually it was decided to form a central executive committee of 30 members—10 members to be elected by the meeting, 10 by the Liberal members in the House of Commons and 10 by the Liberal members in the Assembly.

The new organization is to be known as the Liberal Association of Ontario and these officers were chosen:

Hon. Presidents—Sir Richard Cartwright, Sir Oliver Mowat.

President—Robert Jaffray.

Vice-Presidents—Hon. James Young of Galt, Charles Mackenzie, M.L.A., Sarnia; O. K. Fraser of Brockville, J. C. Snell, Brampton; G. A. Cox, Toronto; John Waldie, Toronto; Thomas Murray, Pembroke; William Thompson, Orillia; A. U. Bellcourt, Ottawa.

A committee was appointed to name the ten members of the executive to be appointed by the meeting, and when it was submitted there was a commotion, the farmers present objecting to the adoption of the report on the ground that there was not a fair representation of farmers on the committee. After a good deal of discussion two professional men were removed from the committee and farmers substituted therefor.

After the naming of the committee the afternoon was devoted to speeches on organization and other matters.

Among the principal speakers were: H. J. Cloran, W. T. R. Preston, Joseph Tait, J. C. Gibbons of London, W. T. Murray, ex-M.P. of Renfrew; William Paterson of Brantford. A number of the delegates, including Mr. Gibbons of London, thought that it was of the utmost importance that a policy should be clearly defined so that there would be no harking back between the leaders.

PREFERENTIAL TARIFF.

The Exporters of Birmingham Adopt the Idea.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—In response to a call from the Birmingham Chamber of Commerce the exporters of Birmingham met the members of that body yesterday and discussed Canada's offer of preferential tariffs to Great Britain. A motion in favor of accepting the offer was passed by a vote of 76 to 61, and the meeting resolved that the Chamber of Commerce do all in its power to induce the Government to take similar action.

Coalition in Spain.

MADRID, Jan. 25.—A manifesto signed by Senores Zorilla, Salmeron and Picy Margall, the leaders of three Republican sections in Spain, was issued yesterday announcing that they had formed a coalition. BERLIN, Jan. 25.—The Czarewitch arrived in this city last evening and was warmly welcomed by the Emperor, after which he was escorted to the Russian legation, where he was received by the Embassy.

FIRE-DAMP HORROR.

Explosion Kills Forty and Turned a Mine Into a Trap of Death.

VIENNA, Jan. 25.—An explosion of fire-damp occurred yesterday in the Fort Schritt mine at Dux, in Bohemia. 100 men are still entombed in the mine. Every effort is being made to rescue them.

Despatches from Dux to-night say that 90 miners were killed and scores were injured.

The explosion occurred yesterday when the shifts were changing. A cage full of miners had been lowered half way down the shaft when the ground trembled, a loud rumbling report was heard and the cable attached to the cage gave such a lurch that the lowering machinery broke.

A rush of air and dust from the pit's mouth, the sounds of crashing timbers and the cries of the men in the cage gave warning to the men above of the extent of the disaster. Help was summoned, the machinery was repaired after a delay of half an hour and the cage was raised. Ten of the occupants had been killed by the shocks, 10 had suffered fractures from which they cannot recover, 5 who had broken limbs and internal injuries will live. They had been half suffocated by the gas rising in the shaft, and said that no man could live below.

An hour later the superintendent of the mine and five miners from the night-shift went down in the cage. They were unable to go more than 100 yards from the shaft into the gallery, but they found 14 dead bodies. Of the 50 men who were waiting for the cage 10 had been killed and 40 had been partially crushed by falling timbers or half suffocated by the foul air. A short distance from the shaft the superintendent found four bodies, which had been crushed beyond recognition by a falling beam. The bodies and the injured were taken to the top, where the whole mining settlement had gathered to watch the work of rescue.

The men who had been brought up from the bottom said that a few minutes after the explosion they had heard cries and groans from the mouth of the gallery, about 200 yards from the shaft. There was heavy timber work at this place, and they believed that the men in this gallery had been imprisoned by the falling beams. They believed that some 40 men had been at work there. Shortly before the cage came down they said the cries ceased. Another rescue party went down at once, and after three of them had been carried back to the shaft unconscious penetrated to the entrance of the gallery.

The entrance was completely blocked by the wrecked woodwork. The rescue party could see several dead bodies on the other side of the timbers, but were unable to get at them and returned to the top empty-handed. It is believed that all the men in the gallery were suffocated or killed by the shock of the explosion. Twelve miners who worked in the extreme interior of the mine on the night shift, and had not started for the shaft so soon as their companions, are also believed to be dead.

Despite the apparent hopelessness of the situation a rescue party is still in the mine, and thousands have gathered at the pit's mouth. When the extent of the disaster became known the women of the dead men's families attempted to mob the mine officials, accusing them of carelessness in the management of the mine.

A BAD WRECK.

Passenger and Cattle Trains Collide—The Slaughter Was Terrible.

BUDA PESTH, Jan. 25.—A passenger way train and a cattle train collided near Grau Tuesday. The cattle train was heavily loaded, and its impetus forced the locomotive over the locomotive of the passenger train and into the first and second carriages.

The other carriages of the passenger train were partially smashed. In the first carriage three persons were killed instantly and 10 more were severely, perhaps fatally, injured. In the second carriage 15 persons were injured, two so seriously that they are expected to die. In the other carriages 18 persons were cut or bruised, but none dangerously.

The engine drivers of both trains were terribly burned, but may recover. Three hundred head of cattle were killed. Most of the injured who could be moved have been taken to the hospital in the Grau. The misplacement of a switch is supposed to have caused the accident.

THE ARMY BILL.

Caprivi Says it Does Not Imply a Doubt of the Triple Alliance.

BERLIN, Jan. 25.—Chancellor Von Caprivi yesterday attended a meeting of the Reichstag Committee on the Army bill. He declared that the proposal to increase the number of recruits up to limits of present peace footing could not replace the Government measure.

The Chancellor added that adoption of the proposal would endanger the proposed transformation of the army and prevent its mobilization at certain periods of the year, thus imperilling defence of the country. The Government bill did not imply a doubt of the continuance of the Triple Alliance, but was due to the recognition of the fact that despite the help that would be rendered by the Triple Alliance Germany in event of war would have to face superior numbers.

MURDER NEAR CHATHAM

POLICEMAN RANKIN A VICTIM OF NEGRO FEROCITY.

His Body Mown by a Chopping Ax—Policeman Deselia Passes Through a Fusillade of Bullets—Constable McDonald Shot in the Leg.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 25.—News has just reached here of the brutal murder of Policeman Rankin of this city.

He and Policeman Deselia went out to the Township of Raleigh to assist County Constable McDonald to arrest a colored man named George W. Freeman, charged with the seduction of a white girl under 16 years of age named Jane Lemett.

Arriving at the house of Freeman's father they were met by Freeman, who is a large and powerful negro, and some other colored men, who attacked them with axes and revolvers.

Rankin was shot and struck on the neck and head with a chopping ax and sank to the ground dead.

Deselia was driven off and shot at, three bullets passing through his clothes—one through the back of his coat, one through his sleeve and another through the leg of his trousers.

Deselia returned the fire, emptying his revolver, shooting one of the negroes who was assaulting poor Rankin.

Constable McDonald was shot in the leg. He and Deselia had a most wonderful escape.

A posse of special constables have just been sworn in and accompanied by about 100 enraged citizens are now on their way to the scene of the murder.

A number of mill hands from Byram's Mill, who had gathered around, were driven off by the negroes. Police Constable Rankin was the largest man on the force, very powerful and courageous, about 30 years of age, and was very popular. He leaves a wife and one child.

Detective Alexander McDonald had been out to Raleigh Township last night with a warrant to arrest Freeman.

The scoundrel is living with a mulatto woman, and has the white girl in his charge.

Freeman had the house barricaded, but the detective broke in. The desperado reached for a gun, but before he succeeded in getting it McDonald had him down.

Freeman is very powerful and weighs about 275 pounds. A desperate struggle took place for over an hour and a half. During the melee the man's wife assaulted the detective with a hoe, cutting his face and hand and beating him heterribly. barely escaped with his life. He reported how matters stood to Crown Attorney Douglas this morning, who ordered a posse of policemen to make another trial, with the above horrible result.

A GREAT SCHEME.

The Northern Pacific to Run to Russia, Through Canadian Territory.

CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 25.—J. V. Jones, one of the California delegates to the annual gathering of the Marine Engineers' Benefit Association now in session in this city, says that among the residents of the Pacific slope there is considerable talk of extending the Northern Pacific Railway, so as to enable a man leaving Chicago to reach St. Petersburg, Russia, by land. Russia is building a road from the Ural Mountains across Siberia to Vladivostock, and this last named point is that which the extended Northern Pacific would meet. He says all engineers agree to the idea as being quite practicable. The extension would run along the coast through Alaska and over the Behring Straits.

THREE NEW STATES.

Oklahoma, Utah and New Mexico Reported Favorably Upon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—The Republican caucus yesterday decided by a majority vote to take favorable action upon the admission of the territories of Oklahoma, Utah and Mexico, but left Arizona out in the cold. This result was not attained until after a prolonged discussion.

It was agreed that the question of the admission should be made the order of business to follow the discussion of the Nicaragua Canal.

Thus the chances for the discussion of the bills to admit these territories this session are very slim.

ANNIVERSARY CEREMONY.

THE Y. M. C. A. ORGANIZATION CELEBRATE ANOTHER YEAR.

The Service Held in the George Street Church - Practical and Inspired Addresses by Prominent Y. M. C. A. Workers—Deep Interest in the Proceedings—Encouraging Prospects for the Future—Praise Given to General Secretary Chapman.

The anniversary service in honour of the establishment of a branch of the Young Men's Christian Association in Peterborough some years ago, was celebrated in the George street church last evening. The attendance was a representative one from the different churches of the town and while not as large as it should have been, still considering the unwelcome weather without, it was a good showing of the interest manifested by the citizens in the success and well being of the local Y. M. C. A. organization. Mr. Geo. J. Early, president, presided and associated with him on the platform were Messrs. R. J. Colville, general secretary, West End Y. M. C. A., Toronto; Frank M. Pratt, general secretary of Hamilton Y. M. C. A.; Mr. S. J. Moore, president of West Toronto Y. M. C. A.; and W. H. Chapman, general secretary of the local organization. The opening hymn "All Hail the Power of Jesus Name," was fervently sung, after which Rev. Thos. Goldsmith, acting pastor of St. Paul's church led the congregation in prayer making an earnest supplication for the continued success and blessing of the Y.M.C.A. and its elevating and saving influences and invoking God's richest blessing upon those workers and sympathizers in their struggle and efforts to save young men from the pernicious consequences of sin and moral degradation. Rev. J. C. Davidson, rector of St. John's, then read the scriptural lesson, after which another hymn was sung. The Y.M.C.A. quartette, consisting of Messrs. Wesley, Wholton, Stiers and Squires, sang "Redeemed" with good effect.

THE PRESIDENT SAYS A FEW WORDS.

The president of the local Y.M.C.A., Mr. Early, said it would not be expected of him to say much regarding the work in Peterborough since the secretary's report which had been published in the local press covered all the ground and besides there were some well known strangers from a distance whom the audience would like to hear. His speech was in consequence better left out. They had closed the past year clear of debt and started this year with a clean sheet. He thanked all the friends of the association for their kindness and contributions. The speaker made a grateful reference to the absence of Rev. Mr. Torrance, a true friend to the association at all times, taking a deep interest in its work. All would rejoice that God had spared him, and that the reverend gentleman was regaining his pristine vigor and health. The record of the Y.M.C.A. in Peterborough for the past year stood well ahead of any in the Province. The rooms were cheery and inviting, and all strangers and visitors — in fact, anyone — would be gladly welcomed there.

THE GENERAL SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr. W. F. Chapman, general secretary, followed in a few bright and encouraging remarks. His report for the past year, through an accommodation of circumstances to the newspapers, has already appeared. He felt they were present, not to hear reports, but addresses given by speakers, some of whom they had not heard before. Mr. Geo. E. Williams, general secretary Kingston Y.M.C.A., and formerly secretary of the Y.M.C.A. here, had sent the following telegram:

"Greetings from former secretary. Hope you will soon have a building as fine as ours. 1st Peter v, 10th verse."

The speaker then welcomed Messrs. Pratt, Colville and Moore to Peterborough again. He was delighted also to see present Mr. Thompson, of Brantford, who was president for three years of the Brantford Association while he was secretary, and from him he had received much counsel and help. He asked all to remember the Y.M.C.A. convention at Montreal in their prayers, and expressed sorrow at the loss they sustained in the leaving of Mr. E. A. Mannell, a consecrated Y.M.C.A. worker here. Mr. Chapman then read his annual report, which has been published already in the EXAMINER.

The Y.M.C.A. band, under the leadership of Mr. Wholton, then gave a well-played selection.

A VOICE FROM HAMILTON.

Mr. Frank M. Pratt, secretary of the Hamilton Y.M.C.A., was introduced and gave a stirring fifteen minutes address. He said no true Y.M.C.A. man ever came to to a gathering of this nature without having his thoughts revert to the Y.M.C.A. origin. Mr. Pratt referred to the founding of the first Y.M.C.A. in 1844 by George Williams, a dry goods clerk in Vermont, who was still living. He hoped that the inspired founder would live to see the fiftieth celebration of the widespread Y.M.C.A. movement in a convention at London to be held next year. The founder, if present at the meeting tonight, would say of the Association in Peterborough that it was the most important work and the best means of reaching young men the church can find. The Peterborough branch was a live, progressive institution. The speaker paid a deserving tribute to its elegantly situated and admirably appointed rooms, stating he knows of no better rented rooms in the Dominion. He made a strong plea to the ladies to engage earnestly in Y.M.C.A. work. Some were surprised that ladies had anything to do with the movement but it was a work for the business man, the clergy and all to assist in. The furnishings of the rooms should be made as attractive as possible. The saloons were called gilded vice, then he believed in gilded virtue, and making it have as much attractiveness as the former. The ladies' influence could be exercised in many ways by holding receptions at the rooms, searching out strange young men and introducing the secretary to them. Each woman could easily secure one young man as a member of the association and so help in Christ's work. It was a terrible thing to think that 7 out of every 10 young men were going down the broad road to ruin. This could be prevented by all young women by their gifts, work and efforts in Y.M.C.A. work and daily intercession at the throne of grace.

THE FORMER SECRETARY'S ADDRESS.

Mr. Colville was given a hearty reception and expressed in a few grateful sentences his pleasure at being back among old friends and associations again. If it had not been for the persevering efforts of the Christian women of Peterborough, the Association here would not have been in such a good state to-day. He prayed that the richest blessings of heaven might rest upon their labours and gifts. The speaker referred to his successor, Mr. Chapman, and asked the prayers of all Christians in his behalf and to encourage and assist him in his work here, that he might be kept upon the mountain of hope. The late Rev. Mr. Davis, of the George street church, was a member of the first Y.M.C.A. formed by Mr. Williams. He looked back with thankfulness to God upon the work done in the past in Peterborough, and hoped the year just entered would be the brightest and most beneficial ever known in its history. He described in his closing remarks the importance of the Y.M.C.A. work, how it was a feeder for young men, and he hoped all citizens would take an interest in it. Young men must be rescued from the evil temptations that are dragging them down on every side. He referred feelingly to the lamented death of the late Miss. Ballantyne and hoped that all might emilate her noble Christian character.

Mrs. Seward and Mrs. Hamilton sang a duet in a pleasing manner.

A WELL-KNOWN TORONTO WORKER.

Mr. S. J. Moore, president of the Y.M.C.A., West Toronto, followed in a lengthy and exhaustive address. After expressing the pleasure it gave him to accept the invitation to address the meeting here, he thanked Peterborough that the West End organization of Toronto has such an active secretary as Mr. Colville, who had been developed and enthused in the great work here. After three years' hard work here he had been brought back to a sphere, the size and importance of which he had only begun to realize. Toronto had recalled him, and they had a right to have Mr. Colville after his solid work here. Mr. Moore hoped his hearers would heed the earnest words of the former speakers, and that the Heavenly Father might bless the association and its work. The speaker referred to the Y.M.C.A. movement all over the world, in heathen lands, how it was spreading the gospel and gathering in its wake young men from all the colleges and dens of iniquity. He said the percentage of associate members in proportion to the number of active in Peterborough was very large and urged the workers to go on labouring in the Master's contents are a total loss.

vineyard. Young men were being called to the most important positions of the day and it was necessary that they should form a right Christian character taking Christ as their mediator and redeemer.

CLOSING REMARKS.

A few words from Mr. Thompson, of Brantford, followed. He said owing to the lateness of the hour he would not take up the time of his hearers but he asked all to ponder in the heart what had been said. He was glad to meet President Early again, and bespeak for Mr. Chapman, whom to know was to love, a kind and helpful reception in his work here.

Mr. Early thanked the choir for furnishing the music, the trustees of the church for its use, and the public generally for their attendance. The doxology was then sung and after prayer by Mr. G. M. Roger, the impressive and highly profitable anniversary service broke up.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not being held out by others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have conclude that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr. Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 26 in. wide, - -	17½	Good Linen Towels each - - -	5½
9 lb. Wool Blankets, - - - - -	$3.75	Grey Wool Blankets, - - -	31c. a lb.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel,	$1.00	25 yards Factory Cotton, - -	$1.00

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a glance at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

IN MEMORIAM

Of John O'Connor, Died Dec. 4th, 1892, Aged 28 Years, Leaving to Mourn Their Irreparable Loss, a Widow and one Child, Aged 11 Months.

He has gone from us like a cherished vision,
Short was his life, but finished was his mission
Ere death's cold hand had chilled his throbbing heart,
And bade him from his earthly toils depart.

Farewell dear friend, and tho' beneath the sod
Thy body rests, thy soul now dwells with God;
No more on earth we hear that loving voice,
That caused all hearts around thee to rejoice.

Adieu, dear friend, thou from our midst hast fled,
Thou dost but sleep—we do not think thee dead;
Bitter the tears we wept beside thy bier,
As lovingly we gazed upon thy face so dear.

And when they hid him from our gaze, we did not stoop nor falter,
But brought him as a treasured gem and placed him at God's altar;
There in the presence dear of One who died upon the cross,
We came to seek a sure relief and tell him of our loss.
And as they bore him up the aisle, to the church bell's solemn toll,
How fervent did that prayer ascend 'Lord have mercy on his soul.'

Peaceful thy sleep, dear one, beneath the daisied turf,
That slender form, those loving eyes, were never made for earth;
Now free from all rude cares and earthly strife,
Thou waitest but the "Resurrection and the life."

And there, when in God's will, my time shall come,
I hope to meet thee in that heavenly home;
Met made with hands, but all our sins forgiven,
Prepare for us with Him, eternal life in heaven.

Peterborough.

HIS GOLDEN WEDDING DAY.

A Former Peterborough man who has Worshipped Half a Century the God, Hymen.

We clip the following from the Blue Rapid Weekly Motor, Kansas state. From it it will be observed that the marriage notice is a clipping from the Peterborough Chronicle, (now the Peterborough Examiner) Jan. 10th, 1843, when Mr. Wm. Coulter was married to Miss Lince. Our readers will remember Mr. Coulter, proprietor of the Coulter block which block embraced the stores of Messrs. Shilabury and Mercer and Miss Armstrong, and also Mr. Coulter who carried on the business of druggist for many years in the stand now occupied by Mr. Mercier and who left for Kansas about 20 years ago. The EXAMINER and Mr. Coulter's friends in Peterborough trust that he and family may enjoy many more years of happy wedded life. Following is the paragraph:—

We copy the following marriage notice from the Peterborough Chronicle, of January 10th, 1843:

MARRIED.

"On January 10th inst., by Rev. Wm. McFadden, William Coulter, Esq., to Miss Miss Lince, daughter of James Lince, Esq., of Peterborough."

A very pleasant family re-union took place in our city on Tuesday, the 10th inst., at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Coulter on Genesee street, the occasion being the fiftieth, or golden anniversary of their wedded life. The happy couple, who for half a century have journeyed together, were surrounded by their children and grandchildren, sons-in-law and daughters-in-law, who gave them their hearty congratulations. They received many valuable and handsome souvenirs in commemoration of their jubilee. There were present, Dr. C. L. Coulter, Toronto, Canada; Mr. and Mrs. John Roche, Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Coulter, Genesee; Clement Coulter, Blue Rapids; Fred H. Coulter, Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. M. Loughlin, San Francisco; Mr. and Mrs. H. Byron Coulter, Saint Joseph; George Ernest Coulter, Randolph; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Coulter, Blue Rapids, and Harold L. Coulter, Saint Joseph. The above pleasant event is one which very rarely occurs, it being the second in the history of our city. We extend to Mr. and Mrs. Coulter our congratulations, and trust they may be spared to each other and to their children for many years to come.

BELMONT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Sunday last the residence of Mr. Eli Chase, lot 12, on the 5th concession, near Belmont lake was completely destroyed by fire. The family was absent except one little girl who had fallen asleep. Waking she saw the ceiling above her in flames, and with considerable difficulty escaped. Nothing was saved. The house and its

Like a Thief in the Night.

Consumption comes. A slight cold, with your system in the scrofulous condition that's caused by impure blood, is enough to fasten it upon you. That is the time when neglect and delay are full of danger.

Consumption is Lung-scrofula. You can prevent it, and you can cure it, if you haven't waited too long, with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the most potent blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. For every disease that has to be reached through the blood, for Scrofula in all its forms, Consumption, Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all severe, lingering Coughs, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

National Pills are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

If your druggist says he does not know anything about the cures Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure have effected, write to Peterborough Medicine Company, Limited, Peterborough, Ont.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

ANOTHER FOREPAUGH.

The Great Showman's Brother, Joseph Lugrian, Seeks His share.

MONTREAL, Jan. 24.—A serious attempt will soon be made, it is said, to compel the people who at present enjoy the property left by the late Adam Forepaugh, the circus man, to share with some of Adam Forepaugh's Canadian relatives who have only recently heard of Forepaugh's death. These relations are living in Montreal and consist of a brother and his six children.

Forepaugh, as is perhaps not generally known, was a French-Canadian by birth. His name was Adam Lugrian, and he was born in the County of Maskinonge, Province of Quebec. His brother was a farmer, who afterwards moved to Montreal.

When Adam was about 17 years old a show came to Montreal. When the show left town Adam, who knew the clown, went with him. His family heard from him once and learned of his change of name, but never saw him again.

Twelve members of the family who once attended his show at St. Hyacinthe were shown to reserved seats; although Adam kept shy of them. Adam had three brothers. The widow of one of them recently wrote from Worcester, Mass., that some unknown person from Philadelphia had written her about her relation to Forepaugh, and hinted that she had a right to some of the money left. The relations here have written to her, but have received no reply.

Joseph Lugrian of this city, on behalf of his father, Anable Lugrian, who is at present 76 years of age, has decided to put the matter in the hands of some prominent law firm to see that any rights they may have in the matter are enforced.

The highest praise has been won by HOOD'S PILLS for their easy, yet efficient action.

News About Town.

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle FREE OF COST. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The large bottles are 50c. and $1.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

D. Waters, Campbellford, Ont., says that the Peterborough Medicine Co. (Limited) are at liberty to use his name in the interest of all who may be suffering as he was before he used Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

Has no equal for the prompt relief and speedy cure of Colds, Coughs, Croup, Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Preacher's Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, and other derangements of the throat and lungs. The best-known cough-cure in the world, it is recommended by eminent physicians, and is the favorite preparation with singers, actors, preachers and teachers. It soothes the inflamed membrane, loosens the phlegm, stops coughing, and induces repose.

AYER'S
Cherry Pectoral

taken for consumption, in its early stages, checks further progress of the disease, and even in the later stages, it eases the distressing cough and promotes refreshing sleep. It is agreeable to the taste, needs but small doses, and does not interfere with digestion or any of the regular organic functions. As an emergency medicine, every household should be provided with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Having used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, I can confidently recommend it for all the complaints it is claimed to cure. Its sale is increasing yearly with me, and my customers think this preparation has no equal as a cough cure."—S. W. Parent, Queensbury, N.B.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's [illegible]
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and [illegible]
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired [illegible]
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently assertedby Companies whose business is nearly all tontines, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "In it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the

Their Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society for the year 1892, will be held in the town council chamber to-morrow (Thursday) afternoon at 4 o'clock. A large attendance of directors and members is requested. Business of importance will be transacted, and officers elected for the ensuing year.

Wedded in Peterborough.

In the presence of a few friends a happy hymeneal event was celebrated at the residence of Mr. Chas. Gunsolous, McDonel street, at seven o'clock this morning when Mr. George Percy Smith, a prosperous merchant of Woodstock, was married to Miss Maggie Lowry, a young lady from Napanee. Rev. J. H. Locke, pastor of the George street Methodist church, performed the interesting ceremony, after which the bridal party and friends sat down to a choice repast. The happy couple left for the west this morning, followed by the hearty wishes of their many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Smith will take up their residence in Woodstock.

T. Kelly has removed his dry goods store to 365 George St.—O. C. Rowse's old stand.

A Fine Performance.

Barry & Fay, the inimitable twain, supported by a really excellent company, appeared last night at the opera house in their side-splitting farce, "McKenna's Flirtation," and it is needless to say that every person in the audience went home well pleased and thoroughly satisfied with the performance. The plot is very simple and successfully worked out. The striking contrast in every scene between the two principal characters form an amusing feature of the play, and the constant stream of witty cross-firing keeps the audience in continuous laughter. The minor parts were well taken and the singing was well above the average, and the whole combination presents a play scarcely, if any, inferior to Joe Murphy's famous "Kerry Cow.

Temperance Prizes.

Some time ago the ladies of the W.C.T.U. announced their intention to offer prizes to pupils of the town and county of Peterborough taking highest marks in the subjects "Temperance and Hygiene," at next midsummer Entrance Examination. Accordingly, at their last meeting a committee was formed to select and advertise the prizes, so that teachers and pupils may commence work as near as possible the beginning of the term. The prizes are: First prize—Handsome silver watch, with name of winner engraved, open-faced, stem winding and setting, suitable for boy or girl, and guaranteed by Jeweller McClelland. Second prize—Writing desk, neatly finished in oak and morocco, with name of winner stamped in gilt, and furnished with white and cream notepaper, and envelopes and all necessary writing materials. Third prize Illustrated India, a large and handsomely bound and profusely illustrated book. The prizes will be on exhibition after the middle of April.

An Enjoyable Entertainment.

A well attended and highly enjoyable entertainment was given at the residence of Mrs. Geo. Rubidge, on Rubidge street, last evening. It was given under the auspices of the Ladie's Auxiliary of St. John's church and for a laudable object that of liquidating a rather large existing debt in the Algoma diocese. Mrs. G. A. Smith, of the Ladies Auxiliary, presided in a pleasing manner and a meritorious musical programme was rendered to the delight of all present. Mrs. Hiddard and Miss Baker, organist of St. Andrew's church, played a brilliantly executed pianoforte duet. Mrs. C. Stapleton in an excellent voice sang "Dreams." Miss McDonald favoured with a cleverly rendered piano solo and Master Maitland Boswell sang Sullivan's "Chorister" with much taste and was well received. Mr. W. J. Drope gave one of his ever-welcome songs with good effect and was followed by Miss Baker in a pianoforte solo. Miss Fawcett appeared in two numbers and rendered admirable vocal selections, "My Ladies' Barrier" and "The Fairies." Mr. Maitland Boswell sang "When I am Big I'll be a Soldier." Mrs. G. A. Smith and Mr. Fred Clarke were the accomplished accompanists of the evening. Rev. C. B. Kenrick M.A., gave a short address on the object of the entertainment, after which refreshments were served.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—Trinity College School hockey team, of Port Hope, are unable to come and play the game here with Peterborough to-night as announced.

—Mr. Bond of the Lion Brand Store, Hunter Street, has secured land and premises at Monaghan in connection with his wholesale business.

—The next address in the Collegiate Institute Literary Society series will be delived on Friday, Feb. 3rd, by Mr. J. Coyle Brown, P.S.I., on the "Future of Canada."

—A jolly party of eleven young ladies and gentlemen drove out to Chemong Park last evening and spent a delightful hour at dancing and tobogganing. They returned to town at an early hour this morning.

The work of building the scow for the Dickson Co., at Riverside park, is nearly completed. The caulking is now being done by Mr. J. W. Hickey, of Port Hope, and his gang of men. They will start next week at building another scow for the Dickson Co., at Burleigh Falls.

—At a largely attended meeting of Peterborough Lodge, No. 135, A.O.U.W. held last night the officers for the ensuing term were duly installed by Bro. Jos. McClelland, D.D.G.M. One candidate was also initiated. Bro. Geo. Hutchinson was elected representative to the Grand Lodge.

PERSONAL.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Dunn left for Cobourg to-day where Mr. Dunn will sing in a concert to be given in that town this evening.

Mr. Wm. T. Shannon, of Campbellford, has entered the Peterborough Business College for a course in shorthand and typewriting.

Mr. A. T. Smith, at one time manager of the Peterborough telephone exchange and now manager of the Kingston branch of the Bell Telephone Company, passed through town yesterday on his way to the electrical convention at Toronto.

Mr. W. F. Chapman, secretary Y. M. C. A., left last night in company with Messrs. Thompson, of Brantford, Pratt, of Hamilton and Colville and Moore, of Toronto, all well-known Y.M.C.A. workers, to attend the convention at Montreal to-morrow. Mr. A. J. Hamilton leaves this evening as a delegate from the local association.

There is a distinguished tenant of Dr. King's kennels this morning. Last night he received by express from the Silver Hill Kennels, Hamilton, A. D. Stewart, a thoroughbred pedigreed fox terrier bitch—out of "Ruby Domino," ex May Queen. This beauty's number is in the Canadian Kennel Club register 2303.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

A thirteen point game was played between F. J. Lewis and G. W. Hatton at the rink a day or two ago in which the latter defeated the former by a score of 13 points to 8.

Yesterday afternoon in the second draw of 13 point games of the Granites, Mr. Dennistoun played Mr. Leonard, defeating him by a score of 14 points to 8.

An interesting rink match between two rinks of new members resulted as follows:

W Heathcote,	S Belcher,
C J Leonard,	Ross,
W G Morrow,	T R Billett,
W D Parker, skip...14.	E H D Hall, skip 3

Peterborough has won the Dryden cup for 1893. She defeated Oshawa this morning at Lindsay by 11 shots. At Lindsay yesterday the home rinks won the bye. Port Perry beat Oshawa by 10 points and Lindsay beat Whitby by 5 shots. Then Peterborough played Lindsay within the second draw with this result:

Skip Ray, 34 ..... vs.... Skip Knowlson, 11
Skip Attrill, 22..... vs.. Skip J D Flavelle, 15
Majority for Peterborough, 30 shots.

Then this morning the Peterborough quartettes dowued Oshawa by 11 shots, winning the Dryden cup for the first time. The curlers will return home to-night with "their blushing honours thick upon them." Lindsay won the Dryden Cup at Whitby last year.

SMITH.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

OBITUARY—We record with regret the death of a life-long resident and native of Smith township, Miss Sarah Livick, who departed this life on Sunday at the age of 58 years. The funeral, which took place from the family residence on Wednesday afternoon, was largely attended in token of the high esteem in which she was held.

Campbellford Speaks.

No one has better reason to be grateful for Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure than I have. I was ill for a long time under the doctor's care; I was tortured with muscular rheumatism, disordered kidneys and general debility. I was losing flesh rapidly—had gone down from 180 to 130 pounds—and was bedfast for months. If you have been there before, you know how little there was in life for me, and when I was asked to try Membray's Cure, how hopeless I was. I used two bottled only, ($2) and at the end of that time had risen from a sick bed, regained my appetite, was relieved from all pain, put on new flesh, and am now attending to business as well as ever. D. WATERS, merchant, Campbellford, Ont. Write me if you want further particulars about Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

Yes. Pain in Back, Constipation, Sick Headache, etc., are cured by using Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure sold by all dealers. Try it.

If any doubt exists in the mind of any suffer as to the curative properties of Dr. Butler's Golden Pills, let him or her try them and if not cured money will be refunded.

MR. WARDEN ANDERSON.

At noon to-day a most obstinate and protracted struggle for the election of Warden of the county, resulted in the selection of Mr. William Anderson, reeve of Otonabee. Mr. Anderson was not a candidate for the position and his selection as a compromise candidate was the result of a failure of the ballot to elicit a decisive vote of confidence in any other member; and a better selection could not have been made. Mr. Anderson is well qualified by natural talents as well as municipal experience for the position. He has had seventeen consecutive years of municipal experience. He served his township as councillor for 10 years, as deputy-reeve four years, as reeve for three years. Mr. Anderson is a native of Otonabee, where he was born about fifty years ago. He is of Scotch extraction, the original home of his "forbears" being in the vicinity of Glasgow. His present residance is in the 6th concession of Otonabee, not far from the village of Keene. He is a Liberal in politics, and a few years ago his father contested the East Riding of Peterborough for the Commons in the Liberal interest. His father was also reeve of Otonabee for some time. Mr. Anderson is well qualified by experience for the position he now occupies, and THE EXAMINER cordially congratulates both him and the county on his selection to fill the highest office in municipal affairs.

PITHY PUCK PARAGRAPHS.

Lakefield and P. C. I. Teams Played a Short but Brisk Game Last Night.

Last night the Lakefield Hockey Club was defeated by the Peterborough Collegiate Institute team by 2 goals to 1. The teams were:

Lakefield.		Peterborough C. I.
S Ridpath	goal	— Hamilton
J Ridpath	point	Chas Halliday
J Northcott.....	cover	Sam Adams
F Morin.....	forwards	Lionel King
T Ridpath		F. Heap, (Cap)
W Reynolds		Roger Davidson
G D Clark, (Capt)..		Eustace Grubbe
W B Carmichael.....		Referee

A delay in starting the game left only 45 minutes for playing, which was a disappointment to the fair crowd of spectators. At 7.25 o'clock the referee blew his whistle and the game started. It was at once seen that a hard struggle would take place for the supremacy, with the odds very little in favor of the P. C. I. After 13 minutes play King scored a point for the P. C. I., the only goal scored in the first half.

In the second half Lakefield started out to win, but only once did the puck pass Hamilton, while Grubbe scored again for the P. C. I., and at the call of time the latter were victors. Neither team played much combination, Lakefield doing the most, but the P. C. I. forwards are good skaters and were quicker than their opponents. Grubbe and King repeatedly ran up the side, and Halliday and Adams at defence were sure checkers. Reynolds and J. Ridpath played a strong game for Lakefield.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

A sad death occurred here on Monday forenoon last when a respected and well known resident of our village in the person of Mr. Thomas Campbell died after a week's illness. Deceased has been ailing for some time but his early demise was not expected. The late Mr. Campbell was 56 years of age and one of the most widely and highly esteemed residents in this district. He was a business man of many years experience, clerk of the Keene Division Court, and a prominent Mason. A wife and four children survive a kind and loving father. They have the sympathy of the whole community.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Inspection Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the talboress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

Long and Terrible Illness from Blood Poisoning

Completely Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. She weighed but 73 lbs., and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says: "I became perfectly cured by

Make sad havoc when it gets into a large stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods. It also makes a great difference in prices. Our whole stock must be cleaned out and the building renovated and papered before our Spring Importations from Europe arrive. In order to do this, the goods are being sold at what they will bring. The rush has been so great thus far we find it impossible, with all the help we had room for, to wait on all our customers. Those who were unable to get in before, will find just as good bargains still as our stock was so large and varied. Below we enumerate a few prices:

Grey Cotton, 22 yards for $1.00. (Nice weight.)

White Cotton, 12 yards for $1.00.

Towelling at 10c. a yard, wide widths and heavy.

Anconia Cloth at 10c. a yard, heavy weight, suitable for ladies' wrappers.

Cottonade, heavy weight, burned on one edge only, at 50 per cent. off regular prices.

Shirtings in quantities, smoked only on edges, 30 per cent. off regular prices.

Dress Goods—The damage on these goods was slight, only the outside folds being smoked. We are selling them at Sweeping Reductions.

THE FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE

Dealt with by the Board of Trade — The Proposal Endorsed if the Expense was Reasonable.

A meeting of the Board of Trade was held on Tuesday evening to consider the proposed fast Atlantic service. There was a fair attendance. Mr. Robt. Fair, president, occupied the chair.

THE FAST ATLANTIC SERVICE.

The secretary introduced the subject by reading the resolution in relation to the matter, passed by the Toronto Board of Trade, setting forth that the route proposed was much shorter; that the present service was utterly inadequate; that it was necessary to obtain full advantage of the vast expenditure already made, and that the proposed line would make for Canada an independent source of transportation; and that it would facilitate imports and exports, and confer other numerous advantages.

Mr. R. J. Winch, from the knowledge he had of the subject, thought a service like that proposed would be of great benefit to Canada, and he moved, seconded by Mr. Manson, that the Government be urged to inaugurate a fast Atlantic servic if it can be secured at a reasonable expenditure.

The motion was adopted. The president pointed out that the service would be particularly valuable in view of the danger of the destruction by the action of the United States of bonding privileges.

The communication from the Ottawa Board of Trade in reference to the abolition of market fees and tolls was brought up.

Mr. E. Green said that in Ottawa the market fees amounted to $9,075. He did not think it wise to abolish the market fees here. We had the best market building as far as he knew in Canada.

Mr. Dawson was opposed to the abolition of local market tolls.

Mr. Winch thought farmers had no fault to find with the Peterborough market. They should be willing to pay the small fee exacted for the advantages they enjoyed. He believed the Peterborough market was the best in Canada—there were farmers visiting it from as far east as Colborne and as far north as within two miles of Lindsay.

Mr. Geo. McWilliams believed the communication should be received and laid over till another meeting, and he moved, seconded by Mr. McWhinnie, a resolution to that effect, which was carried, and the board adjourned.

It is probably not the coldest weather you ever knew in your life; but that is how you feel just now, because past sufferings are soon forgotten, and because your blood needs the enriching, invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the superior medicine.

NORWOOD.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

The annual Sunday school meeting of the Methodist church was held on Tuesday, and was well attended by the officers and teachers. The following officers and teachers were elected:—Superintendent, W. H. Stephenson; assistant superintendent, W. H. Dafoe; secretary, Frank Purdy; assistant secretary, David A. D. Fraser; treasurer, Lewis H. Kirkpatrick; librarian, Edwin Squire; assistant librarian, Miss Sarah Paget. Teachers, Messrs. Callendar, Hampton; Mesdames Beavis, Howson, McLaughlin and Misses Scott, Ford, Susie Paget, Waters, Lewis, Carter, Allie Sherin and Morrison. It was decided to spend $20 in addition books for library.

Rev. Wm. Buchanan is conducting special services at South Dummer. The services are being largely attended.

We understand that J. C. McConkey intends moving into one of the stores in the Metcalf Block.

Rev. Jas. Potter, of Seamans Mission, in connection with the Upper Canada Tract Society, was in town last week.

Mr. George Barry, of Dummer, met with a very painful accident last week. While falling trees on his farm one of them happened to fall on him which caused a fracture of his leg.

Rev. C. Parker, of Campbellford, was in town on Wednesday last.

Mr. T. Blezard, M.P.P., was in town last week.

The following officers of Norwood Lodge I.O.O.F., were installed on Tuesday last by P.G.M. Bell of Peterborough, assisted by the district committee:

T J Drain	N G
Fred Fry	V G
Wm Lanlay	P S
Dr G A Pettigrew	R S
I N Ackerman	Treas
Rev J Carmichael, M A	Chap

Bro. J. McGill, N. G. of Peterborough, was present as a visitor. D.D.G.M. Bro. R. J. Stewart, Bro. E. Gear, Norwood; Bro. G. J. Early, W. Green, Hill, Wartman and McFarlane of Peterborough, composed the district committee.

A very pleasing event took place on Wednesday evening last. It was the occasion of presenting Mr. P. W. Reynolds with a gold headed ebony cane, by the members of the A.O.U.W., of which Mr. Reynolds is a prominent member. The address was read by Bro. A. R. Anderson and the presentation by P. M. W. Jno. Walker. The officers were also installed the same evening by D.D.G.M. Bro. McClelland, of Peterborough.

Rev. Mr. Buchanan attended the funeral of the late Nicholas Doidge, of Alnwick, on Monday last.

A very pleasant event took place in St. Paul's church here last week. It was the occasion of the marriage of Mr. J. Fitzpatrick, to Miss M. E. English, two of Asphodel's most promising young people. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Conway.

On Wednesday evening last the ladies of the Methodist church, gave a social at the residence of Mr. W. Thistlewaite, Asphodel. Considering the weather it was fairly successful. The ladies intend giving a number of these socials during the winter months.

We understand from members of the band that they intend giving a concert some time in February. The programme will be furnished mainly by local talent.

We understand that our local Orangemen are pressing the claims of Norwood for the next session of the Provincial Grand Lodge of Ontario East. We hope they will be successful in their efforts.

While a son of Mr. H. Boyd, of Belmont, was leaving the Queens Hotel, Havelock, on Saturday morning, his horses became frightened at a passing train and ran away. They took a very lengthy course, starting from Havelock they went to Trent Bridge, and from there through Norwood to Mr. J. Isle's barn, where they were captured. The total length of the run was over 10 miles.

On Thursday night last some thieve relieved the barn of Mr. W. Burgess, of Belmont, of about 30 bushels of oats and a calf skin. No clue has been found to the guilty parties.

While a daughter of Mr. Thomas Shea, of Asphodel, was in the act of emptying some water she fell and broke her leg above the ankle. The young lady is only 18 years of age.

A former resident of Norwood, while in a quarrel with his son-in-law, was hit in the face with a pitchfork. His injuries are said to be very serious. It is expected he will pull through.

The annual business meeting of the Baptist church was held on Thursday evening last. The financial and spiritual state of the church is on a good basis, which is mainly due to the efforts of the popular pastor, Rev. W. H. Stevens.

Rev. Arthur Browning, of Colborne, is to conduct evangelistic services in the Methodist church during the month of February.

The annual meeting of the East Peterborough Agricultural Society was held on Monday last and was well attended. The report showed the society to be in a very favourable state.

The receipts amounted to $1,981.00, and the expenditure to $1,618.27, leaving a balance of $362.73 which is to be applied to the debt on the buildings and the enlargement of the race course. The assets were given as $1,112.73 and the liabilities at $637.25. At the last fall fair the number of entries amounted to 1,703. The prizes offered amounted $1,006.00 but only $720:35 was awarded. The grants given to the various township societies amounted to $420. The grants given to the society consisted of the legislative grant of $300 and the municipal grant of $150. The following officers were elected:—President, F. Birdsall, Esq., Birdsall, P.O.; first vice-president, T. Blezard, M.P.P., Villers; second vice-president, W. G. Patterson, Norwood; secretary-treasurer, W. E. Roxborough, Norwood; directors, Hugh Nelson, Jermyn; J. Robb, Stony Lake; Chas. Nicoll, Norwood; Jas. Moore, Hastings; Wm. Burgess, Havelock; J. M. Walsh, Westwood; John Knox, Norwood; John Breckenridge, Westwood; and C. O'Reilly, Norwood; auditors, W. H. Stephenson, Norwood and J. B. Pearce, Norwood; delegates to Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibition, C. O'Reilly and F. Birdsall.

COUNTY COUNCIL NOTES.

Mr. M. Sanderson, the Nestor of the council, though he retired last December, cannot apparently resist the attraction the council chamber presented. He was present and was invited by the council to take a seat within the bar, which he did amidst hearty applause.

There will be a vacancy in the representation of Burleigh, Anstruther and Chandos towards the end of this year. Mr. Frank Elmhirst intends removing to Manitoba. His family and belongings will go to the Northwest about the beginning of April. Mr. Elmhirst will remain till the harvest is over to settle up his affairs and will then rejoin his family at Carberry, Manitoba, which will be their future home and where his sons will put in 420 acres of grain next spring. In Mr. Elmhirst's departure the township loses one of its most solid and progressive citizens. He has been a resident of the township for 22 years, for four of which he was a member of the council, and for eleven years in succession he was a member of the county council of which he was elected Warden in 1891.

The Twentieth Ballot—Finlay 7, McAuley 8, Moloney 3, Anderson 1, Burnham 3.

The Twenty-first Ballot—Finlay 5, McAuley 8, Moloney 5, Anderson 4.

The Twenty-second Ballot — Finlay 8, McAuley 6, Moloney 5, Anderson 3.

The Twenty-third Ballot — Finlay 9, McAuley 8, Moloney 5.

The Twenty-fourth Ballot—McAuley 10, Moloney 4, Finlay 8.

At this juncture Mr. Burnham suggested that the lowest candidate of the three—Messrs. Finlay, McAuley and Moloney—at the next ballot drop out. To this Messrs. Finlay and McAuley assented, but Mr. Moloney dissenting, no definite arrangement was made and the ballotting went on.

The Twenty-fifth Ballot — Finlay 7, McAuley 9, Moloney 6.

An informal consultation took place between several members of the council and it was apparent that the old ticket was dropped and that the vote was united on a new man, Mr. William Anderson, reeve of Otonabee, who received the majority of votes as shown by

The Twenty-Sixth Ballot—Anderson 13, Moloney 5, Finlay 3, Brown 1.

The clerk accordingly declared Mr. Anderson duly elected warden, and after taking the oath of office, he took his seat and thanked the council for the honour done in electing him to the position of Warden; all the more so because he had not sought the position. He hoped that by the assistance of council, he would be enabled to do justice to the position in which he had been placed, and the interests of the county.

AUDITORS APPOINTED.

On motion of Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Casement, Mr. Frank Adams was appointed one of the county auditors.

The Warden appointed Mr. F. J. Bell as his auditor.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

On motion of Mr. Casement, seconded by Mr. Burnham, the following gentlemen were appointed a committee to strike the standing committees:—Messrs. Garbutt, Moloney, Brown, McCarthy, and the mover and seconder.

On motion of Mr. McCarthy, seconded by Mr. Shaw, Mr. W. A. Stration was appointed sessional clerk.

Mr. Burnham moved, seconded by Mr. Casement, That this council regrets that Michael Sanderson, Esq., has retired from municipal life and has thereby ceased to be a member of this council, and that they will lose his long and matured experience in municipal matters, and that the Warden name a committee to prepare an address expressing the feeling of this council. The Warden named Messrs. Moloney, Finlay, Burnham, Casement and McAuley as the committee.

The council adjourned after the most protracted struggle for the Wardenship in the history of the county.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

Barboux Says That Purchasing Approval of Newspapers Is Not Swindling.

PARIS, Jan. 23.—The Panama trial was continued yesterday. Interest still increases as the end approaches. Maitre Barboux resumed his argument in behalf of his clients.

He indicated no new line of defence, but proceeded to justify the assurance which the directors of Panama Canal Company had given to the shareholders and the public in relation to the Panama enterprise.

He declared the payments made to the press to obtain the approval of the newspapers for the Panama enterprise could not be held to constitute swindling.

The figures as to the amount of shipping that would pass through the canal and the consequent profit of 6 or 7 per cent. on the investment of 1,200,000,000 francs, M. Barboux continued, were the estimates of competent men. Ferdinand de Lesseps had never played the double part attributed to him. He had not concealed the mistake made in the original estimates of the cost of the canal.

In 1884 he had told a general meeting of shareholders that 600,000,000 francs more would be required to finish the canal. His statement had been so explicit that those who persisted in misunderstanding him had only themselves to blame.

Chairman Brisson informed the Parliamentary Commission of Enquiry to-day that Arthur Meyer, director of the Royalist daily, The Gaulois, had refused to appear before them to testify as to the charges made against him by Charles de Lesseps. Meyer's excuse for refusing to testify was that the commission has no authority over journalists, and he has sent an open letter to the press syndicate arguing in support of this unique contention.

The case of Clemenceau occupied most of the commission's attention to-day. M. Franqueville has finished his examination of 18 persons connected with the Panama scandal. He has decided that Ferdinand de Lesseps, Charles de Lesseps, Henry Cotla, Marius Fontane, Ex-Deputy Sans-Leroy, Ex-Deputy Gobron, M. Arton and M. Blondin are culpable. His decision as to the other 10 is not yet known.

Ex-Deputy Gobron is supposed to have received a Thierree check for 20,000 francs. The specific charge against Arton is that he bribed M. Sans-Leroy. M. Blondin, as M. Baihaut's private secretary, handled the money that passed between the Panama people and the Minister of Public Works, besides having other compromising dealings with the Canal Company.

DIRECT IMPORTER, GEORGE STREET.

SUNSHINE comes, no matter how dark the clouds are, when the woman who is borne down by woman's troubles turns to Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If her life is made gloomy by the chronic weaknesses, delicate derangements, and painful disorders that afflict her sex, they are completely cured. If she's overworked, nervous, or "run-down," she has new life and strength.

"Favorite Prescription" is a powerful, invigorating tonic and a soothing and strengthening nervine, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions of womanhood, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and vigor. For every "female complaint" and disturbance, it is the only remedy so sure and unfailing that it can be guaranteed.

If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

Can be counted on to cure Catarrh—Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. It's nothing new. For 25 years it has been doing that very thing. It gives prompt and complete relief. The proprietors offer $500 for an incurable case of Catarrh.

A STRANGE STORY.

Are These Things Within the Possibilities?

BY NANCY NUGENT.

would come and ask what she wanted, and why she screamed. She would answer in her sad sweet tones, 'I cannot, I dare not tell.' Then she would turn and go to sleep like a child, and sleep for hours. When she wakened she was quite sensible, but she never asked to go home. All she asked was to see Jack. Lately, however, she has noticed her surroundings, and asked for Paul, her husband, and asked to go home. But, for a year, she does not recognize her brother, but as she has not had one of those bad turns for the same length of time, I hope she is improving. When her brother comes she says, 'That man is not my brother. I never had one.' Sometimes I am hopeless as to her recovery. I feel for her more than any of my patients. We will go and see her."

As we passed along, some were singing, some laughing, others talking. We stopped before a door at the end of the passage. I heard a woman sobbing bitterly. When we entered she turned, and I was surprised to see the exact counterpart of Paul Pentland's wife, eyes, hair, expression, all alike. When she saw me she uttered a cry of delight.

"Jack, Jack, you have come to take me home to Paul; I am not sick, take me home now."

She was clinging to my arm by this time, looking into my eyes, pleading to be taken to Paul.

"O, you will not, you cannot leave me here!"

"We seem to be exciting her. We will go."

She clung frantically to my arm. "Don't leave me Jack, don't leave me here alone."

The doctor gently loosed her hands, and I hastened from the ward back to the reception room.

I was so preoccupied with the events just witnessed that I did not notice another visitor was waiting Dr. Denham, until I heard my old college name called in the pleasant voice of my room-mate, Jack Leland. I had always been called Dr. Jack, and he, Quack Jack, and we were very much alike.

"Why, Quack Jack, are you studying insanity!"

His face assumed a sorrowful look.

"No, my sister, my only sister, is a patient here."

I expressed my sympathy, and told him of the lovely woman I had just met, and the great resemblance she bore to my friend's wife.

Dr. Denham now came into the room looking very much worried.

"Ah! you have come, Leland. Allow me to"—

"We are old chums, Doctor," I interrupted.

"Then you did know his poor sister."

I said I had never met her but had often heard Jack speak of her as beautiful.

"My patient you have just seen is his sister."

Dr. Denham asked us if we would not like to go up together to see her. I, dreading the recurrence of my recent painful experience, declined; but at Jack's earnest request I accompanied them. We found her pacing the room, excitedly begging to be taken home. Her pale face was flushed and she spoke rapidly. When she saw me she again begged to be taken to Paul. Catching my hands she said, "Why do they keep me here and say that man is my brother? You know I have none. I shall die if I am left here."

"Dr. Denham, what have you done with my sister? That woman is not she; see there is no mark, not the least, on her face," said Leland.

"What do you mean? What marks are you talking of?"

"Did I not tell you? When my sister is excited there comes on her face a mark as if she had been bitten by human teeth. It stays while the excitement lasts, but dies out as quickly as whatever troubles her passes. She has no such mark. Has Letty died and have I been kept in ignorance of it? Tell me, tell me, I say," grasping Dr. Denham's arm.

"That is your sister. She has had special care as you requested and every comfort, as you see."

I glanced around the room and noticed there was lacking nothing a refined woman required. The nurse, even, was above the ordinary, very pretty and intelligent, graceful and gentle. I had not looked at her during my first visit. She was not a nurse, I judged, from love of it or from necessity, but she was very much interested in her charge. She watched the trio closely, listening attentively to every word with, I thought an undue amount of anxiety.

"I am not your sister, neither is my name Letty Lyle. I am Letty Pentland. Doctor, will you listen to me? Listen all of you, and I will tell you how I came here. I will talk, Doctor. You always have said it would make me worse and have not permitted me to talk; now you will listen. I ask those young doctors to insist on it."

The nurse started up, "No! no, Doctor, you must not allow her to talk; she will surely bring on one of her nervous attacks, and that always leads to the other trying event. I advise, I demand it. You have always left her unreservedly in my care and I have been most attentive, and now you will encourage her to undo years of treatment to give those young students an insight into her peculiar form of insanity."

"Jack, Jack, surely you do not think me a maniac; listen: A year ago she, the nurse, came to me one morning and said there was a poor afflicted woman in the asylum laboring under the trying impression that her husband ill-treated her, but that at times she was apparently quite sane. At such times she craved the companionship of some sympathetic woman other than her nurse. She told me she had asked for and obtained a list of names of women in the various churches who were interested in all charitable work. My name being first she had come to take me, if I would be kind enough to go with her. Of course I consented, and hastened to prepare for the drive. A landau waited us, the same she had come in. We soon arrived at the asylum, which is only a mile from my home. She brought me to this room, where I met a woman very like myself in appearance. I was drawn to her from the first. I sat and talked to her two or three hours; then the nurse left us to fetch some refreshments. I could not but enjoy talking with Mrs. Lyle, as she called herself; she conversed most instructively on a number of subjects. The nurse returned with a lunch, of which I ate heartily, enjoying the coffee particularly. After we had finished our repast Mrs. Lyle went to the conch and asked me to sit by her until the carriage was ready. I soon felt a stupid, drowsy sensation steal over me. Resting my head on the cushioned arm I knew no more until midnight. When I awakened I was alone with the nurse. I asked where Mrs. Lyle was. She told me I was Mrs. Lyle, and that I must not talk more and go to sleep, or I would be tired in the morning. I protested and said I was Mrs. Pentland, and must go home immediately, as Paul would be anxious. She only smiled and stroked my hair, saying, 'poor thing, poor thing.' I never slept all night. When the doctor called in the morning I tried to tell him, but the nurse signed to him he was not to let me talk. I begged all day to be let go home, but they have kept me here locked in ever since.

LINKING THE AMERICAS.

Work on the Railway System from Maine to the Argentine Republic.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 24.—One of the great features of the Pan-American Congress in Washington three years ago was the discussion of a proposed international railway system. Immediately after the international convention of 1890 the work of proving the feasibility of such a tremendous enterprise was began.

The various Latin-American nations that met with the United States in the congress severally agreed that they would bear their proportionate share of the expenses of a survey of the proposed railway. The congress decided that a proper assessment would be $1000 for each 1,000,000 inhabitants. This placed the largest burden upon the United States, as her assessment was made on the basis of 65,000,000 population.

She, with all the other countries interested, has promptly paid the assessment, and the work of survey has been in progress for some two years.

The scheme is to connect existing railway systems, to form a continuous line reaching from Buenos Ayres, in Southern Argentine, up through the principal countries of South America, Panama, Central America and Mexico and the United States, as far as the northernmost part of Maine.

A great deal of difficult work was required, as many different lines had to be surveyed, in order to arrive at the most feasible. The first corps has the survey from the line between Mexico and Guatemala, down to Panama; from Panama to Quito is assigned to the second corps. The third has the remainder of the work, reaching from Quito to the plains of Titicaca. In all there are probably about 3000 miles required to fill in the gaps between the present railroad systems. That from Quito south to connect with the Argentine system is about 2000 miles long.

A surveyor says: The Indians we met on the plains and along the rivers of Brazil and Ecuador are a lazy, thriftless and besotted set. They will not work, for the banana groves and fruit trees of the tropics furnish them with the only needed food. As you ascend the mountains and get into colder climates, the character of the Aborigine changes until you meet with a hardy, industrious people, of whom were our guides and servants

They do a little farming, raise sheep and work in the mines. These Aborigines still retain the old Inca language, that used by the sun worshippers. The language, however is now divided into thousands of dialects, and the people on one side of the mountain cannot understand the language spoken by people of the same race on the other side.

It seemed rather strange to find that in the interior of the southern continent we had absolutely no use for money. I had with me about $8000 in cash, but not a cent of it could I spend among the Indians. It was of no use to them.

I could not buy provisions with it. In fact, when we desired to trade, it was found that an old tomato can or one which had contained condensed milk, was of more value in their eyes than a handful of silver. The refuse of our camp was thus turned into account. The accommodations in that far-off country, even in the larger cities, are very inferior. Down through Peru and Ecuador, in towns of even 30,000 inhabitants, you will not be able to find a single hotel.

This road will be no harder to construct than lines already built in that country. Of course there are tremendous difficulties to overcome, a great deal of tunneling, and the uncertainties of a volcanic country. It has been estimated that the line over the route we have surveyed will cost about $48,000 a mile.

One great difficulty to be met in the construction of railroads in South America is that of getting material along the line. The rails and everything necessary in the way of iron and steel would have to be brought to the coast and thence to the proposed line by rail. This would make necessary several lines, intersecting that along the Andes, running down to the coast.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1.

Speedy Relief for Croup.

Gentlemen,—I can truly recommend Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for all coughs and colds. Less than one bottle cured my brother of a severe cold. MISS MAGGIE THOMPSON, Vasey, Ont.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

YOUR CONTOUR.

The One Point All Women Should Consider.

Don't make the mistake of letting your "coil" project too far. Remember that the symetrical beauty in profile view must be included in a circle, the chin and the edge of the coil being at the circumference of the circle. That is the philosophy of the bang, for if the forehead is not full enough to fill out the upper edge of the circle, the hair to be waved and curled will supply the need. But remember that the coil, or the rest of the headdress must be planned according. In this idea of a circle is the secret of the coil's correct arrangement. It should come at that point of the head that requires balancing, a little too high or a little too low and the effect is ruined. The coil itself may be pretty, the hair may be lovely, the face charming, but somehow the whole effect is not satisfactory. It is because the circle is violated somewhere. Understand that in many cases the coil comes distinctly outside the circle, but in such cases it must be so distinctly outside that the circle of the head's own contour is but emphasized thereby. That is why only the very symetrical head can stand the pronounced "psyche," or the exaggerated Greek effects. The head whose own contour is faulty must have the help of a coil in just the right place to make the whole becoming. The really symetrical head can wear the hair any where provided it is well outside of the circle. Such a head is only spoiled by a spread-about style that blurs the head's own outline. Some heads are prettily curved from the chin over the forehead and half way down the head. Such heads should always wear a low coil. Deficiency just below that line is then supplied. A head whose better curve is the lower one takes the hair high or just above central line. For instance, the head given should have the coil quite a little higher to secure the needed symetry.

THE KHEDIVE'S AFFAIR.

HE IS NOT IN A POSITION TO DEFY ENGLAND.

The Fidelity of the Entire Native Egyptian Soldiery is Assured to Britain—British Troops on the Way to India Detained at Port Said.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Some surprise was experienced yesterday at the news from Cairo that Lord Cromer had expressed himself so confidently in regard to the prompt suppression of any outbreak that might occur. To-day's advices give the grounds for Lord Cromer's confidence. His Lordship is assured of the entire fidelity of the native Egyptian army to the British cause, and with the British army of occupation co-operating with the native troops it is believed any attempt at insurrection would be promptly crushed.

A Cairo despatch says that Lord Cromer called upon the Khedive yesterday to inform him that the British Cabinet had ordered an increase of the British garrison in Egypt. The despatch does not say how the Khedive received the news, but no doubt it had a profound impression in dissipating any idea that Gladstone intended to abandon Egypt.

Major-General Sir Francis Wallace Grenfell of the Egyptian army, who is now in London, was at the War Office yestreday in consultation with the Right Honorable Campbell Bannerman, Secretary of State for War. It is officially stated at the War Office that both Sir Francis Grenfell and General Kitchener, the sirdar of Egypt, who has complete authority over the Egyptian troops, unite in guaranteeing the loyalty of the native troops to their English officers. For this reason chiefly the Government, acting largely upon the advice and opinion of Sir Francis Wallace Grenfell, will for the present limit the number of British reinforcements to 1000 men, but arrangements have been completed to draft 10,000 men on three days' notice from the British garrisons in Malta, Cyprus and India to Egypt.

British troops on their way to India to relieve British regiments about to depart from India are to be detained at Port Said until advised to proceed. The British could, therefore, in a short time bring about 15,000 troops to bear against any army insurrection in Egypt, and assuming that the native army would remain loyal, a total force of about 30,000 would be under British direction.

PARIS, Jan. 25.—The sensation in France over the action of the British in Egypt is increasing. The course taken by England is looked on as proving the determination of Great Britain to persist in the occupation of Egypt. The newspapers unanimously call upon the Government to vindicate the rights of France.

ANOMALOUS CONDITIONS.

The People of Egypt Are Certainly Not to Be Envied.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—Mr. Alfred Milner, late British Under Secretary for Finance in Egypt, is a strong advocate of English occupation and has recently published a very interesting book in which he supports his views. He resided for several years in the Delta of the Nile and during his sojourn enjoyed exceptional opportunities of getting at "the root of the matter" in relation to the difficulties against which successive Egyptian Governments have been more or less successfully struggling throughout the eventful period of the British occupation. In his opening chapter, headed "The Land of Paradox," Mr. Milner graphically describes some of the anomalous conditions under which the government of Egypt has to be carried on at the present day:

"Imagine a people the most docile and good-tempered in the world in the grip of a religion the most intolerant and fanatical. Imagine this people and this faith, congenial in nothing but their conservatism, flung into the maelstrom of European restlessness and innovation. Imagine a country full of turbulent foreigners, whom its police cannot arrest except flagrante delicto, and whom its courts cannot try except for the most insignificant offences. Imagine the government of this country unable to legislate for these foreigners without the consent of a dozen distant Powers, most of them indifferent and some ill disposed. Imagine it carrying on its principal business in a foreign tongue, which yet is not the tongue of the predominant foreign race.

"Imagine it struggling to meet the clamorous, growing needs of to-day with a budget rigorously fixed according to the minimum requirements of the day before yesterday. Imagine the decrees of this government liable to be set at naught by courts of its own creation. Imagine its policy really inspired and directed by the envoy of a foreign state, who in theory is only one—and not even the doyen—of a large number of such envoys, and the chief administrative power really wielded by a man who in theory is a mere adviser without executive functions. Yes, imagine all these things and then realize that they are no Mikado-like invention of comic opera, no nightmare of some constitutional theorist with a disordered brain, but prosaic, solid fact—an unvarnished picture of the political Egypt of to-day."

With regard to what he aptly terms "the veiled protectorate," Mr. Milner observes that there are three points to be considered—the British troops, the British Consul-General and the British officials in the Egyptian service

"The position of each of these presents anomalies which would be impossible anywhere except in paradoxical Egypt. The presence of a single British regiment lends a weight they would not otherwise possess to the counsels of the British Consul-General. Take the troops away and you must either run the risk of a decline of British influence, which would imperil the work of reform, or devise, for the time at least, some new and equivalent support for that influence—a problem not perhaps impossible, but certainly difficult of solution."

He is no less energetically opposed to the "internationalization" project:

"In the boundless mercy of Providence let us hope that Egypt may at least be saved from this settlement of the difficulty. Here we have the worst of the whole list of proposed solutions. On that point all Egyptians would be unanimous. Much as some of them may dislike any foreign control, there is not one who would not agree that, whether such control be desirable or simply inevitable, it is far better that it should be exercised by one power than by half a dozen or a dozen. Some might prefer France and some England, and some, perhaps, another nation, but they would all prefer a single master."

The British force in Egypt numbered at the beginning of this year 3400 men. Major-General Forestier Walker is in command. The whole Egyptian army, however, is indirectly under British control, about 60 English officers holding commands among the 19,000 native troops, and General F. W. Kitchener having control as sirdar of the army organization. The native troops have reached a high degree of efficiency under their English drillmasters.

HE SCARED THE MAGISTRATE.

But He Only Wished to Shake Hands With Him.

WINDSOR, Ont., Jan. 25.—Levi Cowell was tried by Magistrate Bartlett yesterday on the charge of placing a railroad tie on the Michigan Central track near Essex on Dec. 11. The magistrate, in passing sentence, said he had it in his power to send him up for life, but on account of his weak mental condition would only give him a sentence of 23 months in the Central Prison at Toronto. As soon as the last word was pronounced the prisoner made a rush towards Mr. Bartlett, who, thinking his life in danger, tried to take refuge in his office, but before he could do so Cowell caught hold of his hand and heartily shook it.

BETWEEN TWO STOOLS.

D'ALTON McCARTHY TO SIT ON THE CROSS BENCHES.

At a Meeting of His North Simcoe Constituents He Declares for Tariff Reform and Preferential Trade With Great Britain.

STAYNER, Ont., Jan. 25.—The political eye of the Dominion was yesterday turned towards this prosperous little town. D'Alton McCarthy, Q.C., M.P. for North Simcoe, was to meet his constituents and his constituents regarding the tenets of our political faith, and Grit and Tory alike were anxiously awaiting his communication and the effect it would have upon his constituents.

Mr. McCarthy arrived from Toronto by the 12.45 train, and he was met at the station by a large delegation of citizens, who gave him a cordial reception.

The meeting was held at 1.30 o'clock in the town hall, and was composed almost wholly of delegates from the different municipalities.

When the meeting opened the hall was crowded almost to suffocation. Hundreds were unable to gain admittance. The entrance of Mr. McCarthy was the signal for a storm of applause.

Mr. Thomas Long, president of the North Simcoe Liberal-Conservative Association, occupied the chair.

Messrs. Thomas Long and Charles Gamon and Mayor Telfer, all of Collingwood, were nominated for president of the association. A good deal of difficulty was experienced in taking a satisfactory vote, but eventually all the candidates withdrew except Mayor Telfer, and he was declared elected by acclamation. Mr. H. H. Strathy of Barrie was elected vice-chairman, Mr. F. E. P. Taylor secretary and Mr. Charles Cameron treasurer.

Mr. McCarthy on rising to address the meeting was received with applause again and again renewed.

Gentlemen, he began, I have attended many meetings in connection with the Liberal-Conservative party of North Simcoe, now extending back to Confederation, but this is certainly the largest meeting of this kind. [Applause.] The first time I differed with Sir John Macdonald was on the Jesuit Estates Act. This was the beginning of the rift which has since been widening between myself and my political friends. The next was in regard to separate schools in Manitoba. Continuing he dwelt with the attempt to secure remedial legislation, and he questioned the right of the Government to call itself a judicial tribunal.

"I am opposed," said Mr. McCarthy, "to their taking any steps by which, in any way or under any circumstances whatever, the decision of the Manitoba Legislature respecting separate schools may be affected." [Loud applause.]

Proceeding, he said he would not have consulted his constituents regarding these matters, but since the last election matters have arisen which make it necessary that he should consult them. It was on the question of trade and on the tariff policy of the country. Previous to 1878 the tariff was one for revenue only. In that year Sir John Macdonald was returned to power, and in 1879 the National Policy was introduced, the object of which was to foster the manufacturing industries of the country and to protect the Canadian farmer against his hostile American brethren. In 1882 the election was fought out along the same line, and again the Canadians affirmed their belief in the principle of protection. We have had other elections since that, but they have all turned upon other issues; in 1887 it was upon the question as to whether Sir John was right in hanging Riel; then at the last election the question was not so much regarding the National Policy as commercial union and discrimination against England.

I took the ground then, and I take the ground still, that I will support no policy that would discriminate against the Mother Country. [Applause.] I stand in opposition to that policy as firmly as ever. That policy may be considered as dead and buried. [Renewed cheers.] It will be no longer supported by any considerable portion of the country. [Hear, hear.] The leaders of both parties have dismissed annexation, and the question is not now within the scope of practical politics.

Continuing, he said that when the National Policy was adopted he had never supposed that we were for all time to cling to it, or that there should be no difference of opinion regarding it. [Hear, hear.] The question they should consider was how long they should cling to it. The Ministers had said that the new Government was going to travel exactly along the same lines as the old Government, it is to be the Old Flag and the Old Policy. The Old Flag I have no objection to, but I have to a continuance of the old policy if it is to be continued as such. [Applause.]

He was daily getting out of favor with his political friends in the House of Commons. He had time and again privately remonstrated with members of the Government to grapple with and settle the questions which were agitating the country, but without avail. I have told them that if I chose the matter it will be taken up by some one else. The questions are there and they have got to be settled. I have not come to you asking forgiveness, but merely to receive the punishment you may mete out to me. [Laughter.] No such step would have been taken at this time but for the action of The Empire newspaper. I was accused of wobbling. My political course had been so uncertain, so varied, for the last few years, that I had become a man that was doing a good deal of harm. Well, gentlemen, as far as I have wobbled it has been with your authority. [Tremendous applause.] The first wobbling I did was with regard to the Jesuit Estate Act. [Voice: "Wobble away."]

Mr. McCarthy attacked the Redistribution Act, and claimed that no honest Conservative wanted to see the Government kept in power by taking unfair advantage of their opponents. Justice is what is right, and justice is what will in the long run prevail. [Hear, hear.] If you want a representative who will jump up at every call of the whip you must get another representative. [Cries of "No, no."] In fact, I don't know that you require a representative at all. [Laughter.]

The articles that were in The Empire were not written with an honest desire to try and bring me back to the allegiance of the party. They were written in a spirit of insult and indignity. Now, what is The Empire newspaper? [Voice: "It is no good; put it in the stove"—laughter.] The attacks of The Empire would not have disturbed me but that it is the recognized organ of the Administration, and therefore I could not afford to ignore them. I cannot afford to attend the same caucus at Ottawa and recognize the man who has inspired these attacks. Much might be forgiven gentlemen, but an attack of that kind is a public matter. If I have not the respect of my party leaders I have at least the respect of my constituents, and I ask if there is a man here who will allow me to return to Ottawa like a whipped spaniel? [Voice: "Never."] What is the proper thing for those responsible for these articles to do? If the Government had not inspired those articles, as men of principle they would come forward and repudiate or disavow them. This they have not done. I don't stand here to accuse anyone behind his back, but the object or purpose was known to the ministers.

Mr. McCarthy again referred to the trade policy of the country inaugurated by Sir John Macdonald and lasted until the carrying out of that policy it had discriminated against Great Britain.

It would possess no infant industries, but gentlemen it was never, in my judgment, intended to be perpetual. I never proposed that the great consuming people should be burdened by the enormous tax which it was necessary to impose to protect these infant industries. They ought not to be always infant industries. They ought to grow up. We cannot always afford to keep mollycoddling. The time has come when the little toddling thing should get out and [illegible] (hear, hear.) It is not now a tariff for revenue purposes. It is a tariff to prevent importations.

In order to make himself clear and to obviate any mistakes, Mr. McCarthy produced a written statement, in which he said:

On the trade question it is necessary that under the circumstances I should make the view which I hold clear to this association.

I have reviewed the history of the trade policy, which is generally known as the National Policy, which was adopted as the result of the success of the Liberal-Conservative party at the general elections of 1878, fought upon the question of the revenue tariff which the Mackenzie Government persisted in as against a policy which would protect the various industries, agricultural, mining and manufacturing, of this country against the unfair competition they were exposed to from our American neighbors.

The time that has elapsed since 1879, now 14 years, the great change in fiscal opinion which has come over the people of the United States, who have emphatically pronounced against the high tariff system embodied in the McKinley Act and in favor of free trade, or, at all events, freer trade, the practical results which have followed the increases of the tariff from 1879 onwards, and which culminated in the enormous duties upon iron in the year 1887, and which can now be fairly estimated, all, in my opinion, call for a reconsideration of the whole question of the tariff policy of Canada at the present moment.

There appears as one result of the policy which has prevailed with more or less success in building up our manufacturing industries to be an antagonism created between the interests of the mercantile and agricultural pursuits—to which, perhaps, I might add lumbering and fishing—as against the manufacturing, or against a portion of the manufacturing, industries, and the impression prevails that the present tariff favors the manufacturers, as admittedly to some extent it does, at the expense of the other industries, and more especially the agricultural interest, in which you are specially interested.

I do not propose to question or to investigate with any minuteness the question whether the tariff has been successful or not in protecting and establishing manufacturing industries. Undoubtedly to some extent, and regarded from some aspects, it has achieved that result, but it is perhaps a little mortifying to find that the increase in the number of hands that are employed in manufacturing pursuits, and which you will remember was to give to you, the farmers of the Dominion, large and better home markets, has not been much, if anything, greater in the four provinces of the Dominion during the last decennial period than it was from 1871 to 1881 when the system of the revenue tariff was in vogue.

I have from the census bulletin ascertained that the increase in the number of employes in manufacturing industries, in the sense in which that term is used by Mr. Johnson, the Government Statistician, during the last period has been 41 per cent.; while during the former period, confining these observations to the old provinces, because it is only as to the old provinces that any such comparison is possible, the increase was 49 per cent.

It is, however, only fair to observe that during the earlier part of the former decennial period, we were not suffering from the severe competition by the American manufacturer which towards the latter period undoubtedly was interfering to a very great extent with the prosperity, and threatening the very existence of the manufacturing industries of Canada, and that but for the change of policy in 1879 the manufacturers of Canada might perhaps have gone to the wall. However that may be, the result is that the increase has not been very striking, nor the enlargement of the home market very great.

But I am concerned at present more with the effect of the trade policy which now prevails upon the other industries of the country, excepting in that consideration the manufacturers themselves. In other words, it is the farmer, the lumberer, the fisherman and the other consumers, forming the great bulk of the community, whose welfare requires consideration at this time. It is undeniable that the tariff is exceedingly burdensome, unnecessarily so if it be considered merely from the standpoint of a revenue-producing tariff. When it is considered that the taxes range all the way from 20 to 100 per cent. it is idle to pretend that such a scale of taxation is necessary for revenue purposes. But is it not also true and capable of demonstration that the indirect tax, or to put it in other words, the increased price of the articles which are manufactured owing to the high tariff add very considerably to the burdens of the consumers, and bring up in the plainest possible manner the question whether the time has not now come for the consumers to say to the manufacturers: "You must either carry on your business on more equal terms or you must cease to carry it on at all. You have been supported in your infancy, you have been permitted an opportunity of establishing your industries that has been at the expense more or less of the vast bulk of the people, and you ought now to be prepared to stand alone and be withstand the ordinary competition to which your business, like that of all other occupations, may be exposed."

It must be remembered, too, that some of these manufacturing industries have formed combinations, and that the competition which it was hoped would regulate the price of the home market does not prevail, and further, that the tendency towards combinations amongst manufacturers is becoming more evident every day. We have all the cotton industries of the country under one management. The same may be said in connection with the manufacture of agricultural implements. Other examples might be given.

These considerations have led me to the conclusion that the time has arrived for a complete revision of our Custom laws. They should be simplified, equalized, and what perhaps is more important, or certainly not less important, the duties should be materially reduced.

This, I may say, is the keynote of the policy which, if I continue to be your representative, I shall advocate on the floor of Parliament. [Hear, hear.] I differ from the leader of the Opposition, who desires, as I understand his statement, to uproot the National Policy tree. I have no such ambition. On the contrary, if our manufacturing industries can live in a freer atmosphere, incidentally protected by the tariff which the revenue necessities require shall be imposed, I shall be only too well pleased. And I shall be bitterly disappointed, and shall look upon the experiment of the National Policy if not as an absolute failure, as having failed to accomplish what its promoters anticipated, if the industries which have cost us so much to build up, are to wither at the first blast to which they may be exposed in a freer market.

As to the statement made by Sir John Thompson at the Auditorium in Toronto, which of course is to be treated as an expression of the policy of the administration, I am not satisfied that "lopping off the mouldering branches" will accomplish the end at which I aim. But this metaphorical expression is indefinite, and it may be that under cover of it the very amendments which I think might be made on our tariff system. While I hope for it, while I earnestly desire that in the interests of the Conservative party it may be as I suggest, I confess I hardly expect it. I rather dread that the Government have adopted in all its essentials the present tariff policy and programme should it with all the power and might which they can bring to bear.

Pursuing the illustration, if I might be permitted to do so of the National Policy tree, nothing as I do whether the mere "lopping off of the mouldering branches" will answer the expectation, and just expectations of the people of this country, I think that the time has come when the National Policy tree should be moved out of the forcing house into the open, there to take its chances in the cooler atmosphere to which it would be exposed, a the hope that having now passed the tender years of infancy it may be enabled to stand the vicissitudes of a climate to which, if it is ever to attain to vigor, it must sooner or later be inured.

Practically then what I do suggest is this, that the tariff having been simplified and equalized, it should be amended by containing a clause that goods imported from Great Britain, or instead from any part of the Empire, should be admitted on a minimum tariff, say of 10 per cent. less than the existing rate. This you will perhaps remember is the suggestion that I threw out in the few words which I gave utterance to at Mr. Perkyn's meeting in Toronto, and I find on examination that the average duty which we now impose upon that portion of goods which are import from Great Britain is about 29 per cent. A reduction therefore of that duty would still leave us with a Customs tariff on the minimum scale of about 20 per cent., enough protection surely, when to that is added freight, insurance and charges of that kind, for any industry that the people of Canada can afford to support.

But I am not absolutely tied down to that mode of arriving at the result which I aim at. It might be obtained, though not perhaps so satisfactorily, by a reduction all round of the duties upon that class of articles, viz., clothing and iron, which we mainly import from England. There are difficulties in either course, I admit, but not insurmountable, no matter which course may be adopted. Perhaps the greatest objection that can be made to the enactment of the minimum-tariff in favor of the Empire would be the irritation that might thereby be caused at Washington.

Now, I am not one of those who desire to create unnatural barriers against freedom of trade or the widest possible trade relations between Canada and the United States.

I was, and I am, utterly and absolutely against any trade arrangement, whether by treaty or legislation, between the Dominion and the American Republic, which would discriminate directly or indirectly against our own people. But I realize the vast importance of the freest possible trade consistent with our independence, with our honor, as part of the British Empire, between this country and the United States, and if the minimum system of tariff was adopted it should be on the understanding, to be made clear to the Cleveland Administration, that we are prepared to deal with the American people on any reasonable terms that they were prepared to accord to us.

It is said, as another objection, that certain nations are entitled under treaty with Great Britain to all the advantages in the markets of any part of the Empire to which Great Britain herself would have the benefit, but I confess I am not much alarmed at that suggestion. I do not see that this is a difficulty which should weigh very greatly when it is considered that the great bulk of the imports are either from the United States or from Great Britain, and comparatively a very small portion from the countries that are referred to.

However, these are more or less matters of detail, my general view I endeavor to make clear to you. At the same time, I think, for the present at all events and until the action of the Cleveland administration is seen, that it would not be fair to remove the duties, so far as the United States are concerned, and to leave our manufacturers and our farmers and others exposed to the same unfair system of competition that induced us in 1878 to adopt the protective system and to establish a National Policy tariff. But if our manufacturers and our farmers have the benefit on the same terms of the American markets, I think they ought not to complain, and I recur to reaffirm the terms of the argument used in 1878, so far as the American people are concerned, reciprocity of trade or reciprocity of tariff.

Discarding his manuscript he said: I have now to tell you that I can no longer remain on the Ministerial benches. I shall henceforth take my place on the cross benches of the House. [Applause.] But you may say that you will stand by the Government and that you want your representative to be a supporter of the Government. If you say so my resignation will be placed in the hands of the Speaker of the House of Commons ("No, no," went up in unison from the audience.) Proceeding, he said he could no longer, as a man of honor, support the Government. I have been asked to explain what is meant by the cross benches. It means that I do not belong to the Government, that I do not belong to the Opposition, for I cannot have any part with the men who have adopted commercial union as their platform or that have in their ranks those annexationists. [Applause.] It is not so much a question of trade policy that has driven me out of the ranks of the party as from the fact that I have not been consulted in the formation of the Government. For the first time since I have been in public life a Conservative Government has been formed without my being consulted. If I am not worthy to be allowed into the councils of the party it is time that I took an independent stand.

Mr. McCarthy was loudly applauded as he took his seat.

Mr. H. H. Strathy of Barrie, vice-president of the association, submitted this resolution:

This association having heard the explanations of Mr. D'Alton McCarthy, M.P., respecting the attack made on him in The Empire newspaper, emphatically states its conviction that the attack of that paper does not meet with the approval of any portion of the Liberal-Conservative party of this north riding, but, on the contrary, was in the opinion of this convention, uncalled for, wholly unjustifiable, and was calculated to breed dissension and to cause discord in the ranks of the party not only in this province but throughout the Dominion.

Mr. Charles Gamon, treasurer of the association, in seconding the resolution, said Mr. McCarthy has no warmer friend than I am, but the only thing I regret is that he wobbled too far. We want to keep him in the ranks. [Hear, hear.]

Up to this point everything had been in harmony with Mr. McCarthy, but as the last speaker took his seat Mr. Porter, Ex-M.P. for West Huron, jumped to the platform and vigorously attacked Mr. McCarthy's position. His vote on the Jesuit Estate Act he characterised as a lawyer's trick and was only done to embarrass the Government.

This altercation the audience resented warmly, and for some minutes Mr. Porter could not get a hearing, and then it was after Mr. McCarthy had interfered, but he was again greeted with interruptions when he said that Mr. McCarthy had tried in his speech to steer north by south.

Mr. Porter ended a 20 minutes' speech with an attempt to move a resolution, but the uproar was so great that its purport could not be gleaned by even those at his elbow, and failing to obtain a seconder he grabbed his hat and jumped to the floor amid laughter.

Mr. Thomas Long said that he wished to deny the statements made in The Mail of Jan. 11 regarding the attack made upon Mr. McCarthy by The Empire. "I knew nothing of the article until I read it," he said, amid applause, "although it is true I am a stockholder and director of that paper."

Mr. George Moberly, President of the Barrie Liberal-Conservative Association, introduced a resolution expressive of regret at the resignation of Premier Abbott, appreciation of the services of Sir John Thompson to the Premiership, and promising the Government the support of the Conservatives of North Simcoe so long as it continued to discharge its duties with the same ability, impartiality and readiness characteristic of it in the past.

Reeve Nettleton of Collingwood followed with a resolution in which was expressed the opinion that the guild of the country should not be sacrificed to party interests, and members of Parliament should be allowed to exercise their judgment of questions before the House.

All the resolutions were adopted amid much enthusiasm.

"Let us now pass a motion endorsing Laurier and Mowat," said a delegate in the front of the hall amid much laughter.

Mr. McCarthy, in rising to reply, was again greeted with demonstrations of approval. I thank you, he began, for a renewal of your expressions of confidence in me, and I trust that when I go down to Ottawa I shall try to represent the great interests which you have committed to my charge. [Loud applause.] I accept in the fullest sense the disclaimer of Mr. Long to the effect that he had nothing to do with the article in The Empire. [Cheers].

A unanimous vote of thanks was passed to the chairman and the meeting broke up about 5.30 p.m. with cheers for McCarthy and the Queen.

The Banquet.

BARRIE, Jan. 26.—A banquet was given to D'Alton McCarthy here last night in the town hall. A large crowd was present, among whom were many ladies.

COAL DEAL.

Reported Combination With Reading to Control Nova Scotia's Output.

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 26.—It is stated that the coal magnates of Pennsylvania, acting with the Canadian Pacific Railway, have about concluded a deal by which almost the entire coal fields of Nova Scotia are to pass under their control. The combination, it is said, has over $17,000,000 to invest in the project. The Nova Scotia Legislature has been called to meet next week to ratify the bargains.

President McLeod of the Reading system is said to have been very active in the matter. The New York and New England is also in the deal, and Mr. McLeod has pooled his interests with Frank Jones of the Boston and Maine road. It is believed that through Mr. Jones the Canadian Pacific comes into the project. The Finance Company of Philadelphia, with George H. Earle as president, will control the coal production, and the coal carriers have reached a thorough understanding as to rates to the lakes and Atlantic seaboard.

DIVORCES ASKED.

Men and Women Who Refuse to Travel Well in Double Harness.

OTTAWA, Jan. 26.—There are in all 73 applications received so far for public and private bills. Of these nine are for acts asking incorporation for railways, and 28 for amendments to railway acts or incorporations.

There are 21 applications for miscellaneous bills and eight for amendments to acts of incorporation on miscellaneous subjects. There are 11 applications for divorce, which will come before the Senate.

They are Martha Ballantyne of Scarboro, from her husband, William Ballantyne, laborer, for adultery and desertion; James Balfour, Hamilton, from his wife, Georgina Catharine, adultery and desertion; James Frederick Doran, Lachine, from his wife, Augusta Wood, Winnipeg, adultery and desertion; Jane Caroline Downey, Toronto, from Donald Chadeboye Downey, Whitby, adultery and desertion; N. Joshua Fillman, Flamboro, from Emma Matilda Fillman, adultery and desertion; Annette O'Mara Goff, Montreal, from Edward Robert Tache Rowand, Winnipeg, adultery and desertion; Edmund H. Heward, St. John's, Iberville, Que., from Marie Louise Elwes of Chicago, adultery; Robert Young Hebden, New York, from Edith Montague, formerly of Montreal; John James Harding, London, from Janet Harding, Grand Rapids, Mich., adultery and desertion; Robert Oliver King, Brantford, from Jennie Gowling, adultery and desertion; John Francis Schwaller, Thorold, from Florence Schwaller, adultery and desertion.

TIRED OF LIFE.

R. T. Haun of Orangeville Suicided With Prussic Acid.

ORANGEVILLE, Ont., Jan. 26.—R. T. Haun, treasurer of Dufferin County, manager of the branch of the Bank of Hamilton here until 1891, and a general agent, died in Buffalo last night from the effects of a personally administered dose of prussic acid.

He started for Utica, N.Y., last Monday to give evidence in a case against the Bank of Hamilton by George F. Hawkins, who was at one time an extensive egg-packer here and failed. Haun evidently laid over at Buffalo, for he was there since Monday.

The Dufferin County Council is now in session. An audit of the accounts is ordered, but as yet no shortage has been discovered. Judge McCarthy and W. H. Hunter are Haun's securities for $50,000.

Mrs. Haun and family reside here. She is known in literary circles under the pseudonym of Marie Stuart. Haun carried a life insurance of $20,000.

The cause of his suicide is yet a suspicion of financial troubles and intemperance. His domestic affairs are also said to have been in an unsettled condition.

UNDER SUSPICION.

The Janitor of the Merchants' Bank in Windsor Arrested.

DETROIT, Jan. 26.—On December 16th last $2500 mysteriously disappeared from the Merchants' Bank at Windsor. Yesterday Z. Leplant was arrested in Woodward-avenue, charged with stealing the money.

The arrest was made at request of Detective Carpenter of Montreal, an officer of the Canadian secret service.

Leplant lives in Windsor and has a wife and two children. He was a messenger in the Merchants' Bank at the time of the robbery. Some time ago he resigned the position, but was still employed about the building as janitor. Detective Carpenter had him under surveillance ever since the robbery. He found Leplant had deposited $385 in the Detroit Savings Bank and that he was spending money freely.

Leplant consented to accompany the officers across the river.

Teller Waddell, who was suspended at the time of the robbery pending investigation, is still at his home in Quebec and will probably be reinstated at once.

First Day at Port Hope.

PORT HOPE, Jan. 26.—2.35 race—A. Brown's Sunday 1, W. B. Cooper's Daisy B. 2, J. Dixon's Mayflower 3. Time 2.40½.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 26, 1893.

A FORMER CITIZEN OF PETERBOROUGH.

Mr. John C. Hughson, a Successful and Prominent Business Man, Passes Away Near Albany, N. Y.

The Daily Argus of Albany, N. Y., under date of January 16th, 1893, contains the following account of the death of the late Mr. John C. Hughson. Mr. Hughson was well known in Peterborough, having been engaged in immense lumbering operations at Nassau some years ago. He was a member of the firm or Campbell & Hughson and removed to Albany some 20 years ago. His many friends in this town will be pained to learn of his demise. The Argus says:—

The death of Mr. John C. Hughson, which occurred at his home in Loudonville yesterday, was a shock to his many friends and admirers. He was a man who will be missed, generous of impulse and widely respected. He was a business man, keen and successful, and possessed of strong qualifications. He came to Albany over half a century ago, and had been identified with the lumber interests here ever since. He had been senior partner of the firm of Hughson & Co. for the past twenty years. He was also interested in the old firm of Salisbury & Co. Outside of the lumber interest Mr. Hughson had an interest in milling operations at Ottawa. By his death the Fourth Presbyterian church loses an officer and a faithful member and worker in its interests. He has left a vacancy which will be hard to fill, and his wise counsel will be greatly missed. He was one of the oldest members of the church, and had served it in various official capacities. Mr. Hughson was also managing director of the Albany City Bank, and well capable of holding that position. It was in the year 1865 that he formed a notable partnership with D. and N. H. Salisbury in the lumber district. His figure was a familiar one in this scene of the city's chief industries.

Mr. Hughson was attacked by the dreaded pneumonia about three weeks since. At first he rallied from its effects but afterwards began to weaken, and finally succumbed to the ravages of the complaint.

He leaves a widow and six children, Mrs. Jonathan Henderson, Toronto, Canada; Ward C. Hughson, Ottawa, Canada; Mrs. Thos. T. Reid, Montclair, N. J.; Frank C. Hughson, John C. Hughson, jr., and Mrs. John C. Patton, of this city.

A POPULAR PREPARATION.

The Sales of Membray's Celebrated Kidney and Liver Cure Increasing all Over the Province.

The Peterborough Medicine Company, although only organized a few short months ago, are pushing the sales of their excellent and well known patent medicine, Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure, all over the Province. This company, with an enterprise characteristic has now four travellers on the road in the interest of their popular preparation. They are Messrs. Gus. L. Hay, W. R. Greatrex, John R. Wright and Thos. Clitheroe. Mr. Jno. M. Armstrong was this week admitted as a shareholder in the concern and everything for the future bears an exceptionally promising appearance. This week the company sold no less than 5½ dozen of Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure to the local druggists, and now every drug store in Peterborough handles this great medicine whose beneficial effects are being felt by all the sick and suffering. The company will put a large waggon and fine team of horses on the road at once and use this means to still further advertise their medicine. Circulars will be distributed all over the town and country, which the public would do well to read and digest.

DOURO.

From Our Own Correspondence.

St. Joseph's church, Douro, was the scene of a happy event on Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, when Mr. Patrick Haley, farmer, of the second concession of Douro, was wedded to Miss Mary Ellen Regan, only daughter of the late Mr. Regan, of the 8th concession of Douro. Rev. Father Keilty performed the impressive ceremony in the presence of a large number of guests. The bride who was becomingly apparelled in a pretty gray serge costume was supported by Miss Minnie Burke who was clad in a neat dress of fawn serge. Mr. Michael Regan, brother of the bride, supported the groom. At the conclusion of the marrige ceremony the happy couple repaired to the residence of the bride's mother, where a splendid wedding breakfast was served. The presents were valuable and beautiful, testifying in an unmistakable manner the popularity of the bride. Among the guests present were Mr. Jas. Regan, Burke's Falls, Cornelius Regan, Kinmount, brothers of the bride, and Mr. Patrick Regan, Morris, Minn., a relative of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Haley will take up their residence in Douro, with the best wishes of their many friends.

Rev. Sylvanus Lane

Of the Cincinnati M. E. Conference, makes a good point when he says: "We have for years used Hood's Sarsaparilla in our family of five, and find it fully equal to all that is claimed for it. Some people are greatly prejudiced against patent medicines, but how the patent can hurt a medicine and not a machine is a mystery of mysteries to me."

RETURN OF THE HON. G. W. ROSS.

Hon. G. W. Ross, who spent the past four months in Europe, partly for the benefit of his health, but also for the purpose of making a careful study of the educational systems of Great Britian and Germany, returned on Tuesday, greatly benefitted by his trip. He will be gladly welcomed back to his office as the head of the educational system of the province, where he has accomplished so much toward maintaining the pre-eminence of Ontario in this respect. The result of his observation of the educational systems of Great Britian and Germany, and of his conferences with eminent educationists, will undoubtedly be of great value to this country. The schools of Ontario have already won a high reputation for conscientious and thorough teaching, but the march of improvement in educational methods is so rapid that we cannot afford to neglect any opportunity to learn a lesson from those who are engaged in the same work in other lands. We congratulate the province as well as Mr. Ross upon the health and added experience he has gained.

Campbellford Speaks.

No one has better reason to be grateful for Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure than I have. I was ill for a long time under the doctor's care; I was tortured with muscular rheumatism, disordered kidneys and general debility. I was losing flesh rapidly—had gone down from 180 to 130 pounds—and was bedfast for months. If you have been there before, you knew how little there was in life for me, and when I was asked to try Membray's Cure, how hopeless I was. I used two bottled only, ($2) and at the end of that time had risen from a sick bed, regained my appetite, was relieved from all pain, put on new flesh, and am now attending to business as well as ever.—D. WATERS, merchant, Campbellford, Ont. Write me if you want further particulars about Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

THE BIGGEST DAY IN 7 YEARS!

Saturday, December 3rd was the biggest day MR. J. J. SHEEHY has had in seven years. Why is this? Surely not because there is less competition. Certainly not because inducements are not being held out by others. Most assuredly not because prices of farm products are showing an upward tendency. Then why??

Simply because the purchasing public of the town and surrounding country have read Mr. Sheehy's advertisements, have inwardly digested them and have conclude that cheap sale or no cheap sale Mr. Sheehy is bound not to be undersold

We want every day in December to be a big day. How are we to accomplish this? Simply by offering to the public better value for the money than can be had elsewhere. Just cast your eye over the following quotations:—

All Wool Flannels, 26 in. wide, - -	17½	Good Linen Towels each - - -	5¼
9 lb. Wool Blankets, - - - - - -	$3.75	Grey Wool Blankets, - - -	31c. a lb.
14 yds. Heavy Grey Canton Flannel,	$1.00	25 yards Factory Cotton, - -	$1.00

These few quotations will probably give an idea of what we are doing and a glance at our BARGAIN TABLE in the centre of our store will convince the most skeptical that when it comes to general bargains we certainly are very decidedly "in it."

GRAHAM BROS.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

Reeve Casement, village, and Deputy-Reeve Garbutt, of Smith, left this morning to attend the county council.

Two rinks of the Lakefield Club go down to Keene on Thursday to try conclusions with their brother curlers there.

A grand carnival will be held at the rink on Friday evening. From the preparations we hear are being made it should be a grand success.

The Board of Health will meet in the clerk's office next Monday evening to elect their officers and organise for the season's work.

The village auditors have got through with their work and have their report ready to hand to the council at its next meeting.

A large number left for town this morning to attend the sale of the Lakefield Lumber Co's limits on Deer Bay.

Some of the ladies of the W.C.T.S. have been circulating petitions addressed to the council which reflect very strongly on two of the village hotel-keepers, the object being to have them closed up. They excited so much comment that wiser counsels prevailed and we understand that they are being withdrawn and petitions in more moderate language substituted. However, one of the landlords mentioned has laid a copy of the one first circulated before his solicitor, and from what I can learn, writs will be plentiful around Lakefield shortly.

SCHOOL BOARD

The Lakefield school board met in the town hall last Wednesday evening for organization, Messrs. Dench, Graham, Dr. Fraser, Galvin, Payne, and Brown being present.

The chairman having resigned, the secretary took the chair and called the meeting to order.

Tenders were received from J. L. Simpson and J. Bullock for the year's supply of wood at $3.00 per cord. Simpson's tender was on motion accepted.

The finance committee were instructed to pay the Douro treasurer a visit and look after the school money in his hands.

The secretary was instructed to purchase a globe, map and other articles for use in the school.

W. M. Graham was elected chairman for 1892; W. Sharin, secretary; Messrs. Galvin and Fraser, a finance committee; Messrs. Dench and Brown, property; and Messrs. Payne and Dench, supervision committee.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:—G. M. Bellasis, $1.78; W. H. Casement, $1.35; Dr. J. A. Burgess, $24.54; interest, $10.70; school election, $0.86.

After the appointment of the visiting committee for the year the board adjourned.

The following is a verbatim copy of a "notis" posted in Reeve Casement's store by a country man:

COUNCIL MEETING.—The council-elect for the current year met in the town hall on Jan. 16th at 11 o'clock a.m., and after having subscribed to the declarations of qualification and office, the following took their seats, viz., Jno. Moloney, Reeve, and councillors McCligott, Garbutt, Walsh and Bullock. The Reeve called the council to order. On motion of Mr. Garbutt and Mr. McCligott, Maurice Condon was appointed auditor for 1892. The Reve appointed R. H. Reid as the other auditor, salary to be $8 each. Wm. Condon was appointed assessor at a salary of $45, and Patrick Ryan collector for 1893 at a salary of $50. The Reeve, Clerk, P. M. Leahy, David Forsyth and Jas. Jory were appointed members of the local Board of Health, J. R. Fraser, M.D., Medical Health officer, and John Quinn, Sanitary Inspector. The following orders were drawn on the Treasurer: Hugh O'Connor and Uriah Payne, $1 each dog tax charged in error; Mr. Crough, $10 charity; John P. Leahy was instructed to employ some parson to cut and split two cords of wood for widow John Leahy, cost not to exceed $1.00. On motion of Mr. Bullock and Mr. Walsh, John M. Walsh was appointed Deputy-Reeve for the year 1893. On motion of Mr. Walsh and Mr. Bullock, the council adjourned to the 27th day of February next, then to meet at 10 o'clock a.m.

GALWAY.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A pleasant event took place at Galway on Monday morning last 23rd inst, when Mr. William Clark, of Galway, was married to Miss Catherine Reid, youngest daughter of Daniel Reid, Esq., of same place. The ceremony wos performed in the church by Rev. Father O'Connell. Mr. Thos. Whibbs, of Douro, was also united in marriage to Miss Foley, daughter of Mr. Matthew Foley, of Galway, during the past week. Both couples have the best wishes of their numerous friends for a happy and prosperous future.

The Norland grist mill has been burned to the ground—a defective chimney being the cause. The mill was owned by a joint stock company. The plant was insured, but the miller had no insurance.

The grist and saw mills at Gooderham have also been consumed by fire—they were insured.

Mr. Chas. Coben is in Peterborough attending the county council meeting.

A dispute has arisen between Swamp Lake trustees, the teacher and the inspector, owing to the refusal of the inspector to grant a permit to the teacher Mr. McGann, for the balance of this year. The matter will come before the county council this week, and Mr. McGann has gone to Peterborough to press his case before the county council.

During the past week Mr. Joseph Clements dwelling on the Bobcaygeon Road was totally destroyed by fire. Nothing being saved and no insurance. Mr. Clements was away from home at the time. He has the sympathy of the community in his severe loss.

Like a Thief in the Night.

Consumption comes. A slight cold, with your system in the scrofulous condition that's caused by impure blood, is enough to fasten it upon you. That is the time when neglect and delay are full of danger.

Consumption is Lung-scrofula. You can prevent it, and you can cure it, if you haven't waited too long, with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the most potent blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. For every disease that has to be reached through the blood, for Scrofula in all its forms, Consumption, Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all severe, lingering Coughs, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

National Pills are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

The well known strengthening properties of Iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

COLD SPRINGS—OTONABEE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

On Monday evening, Jan. 23rd, the Cold Springs Y.P.S.C.E. held their semi-annual business meeting. Reports were given from the secretary, treasurer, and the convenors of the different committees, after which the officers for the coming six months were elected:

President—H. P. Kennedy.
Vice-president—M. A. Owens.
Recording secretary—Miss L. Bennett.
Corresponding secretary—Miss L. Kennedy.
Treasurer—Miss C. Robertson.

The different committees were then appointed, after which the society had their regular consecration meeting.

The prayer meeting committee will meet on Saturday evening and arrange the topics which will be distributed among the members at an early date.

The society extend a cordial invitation to all the young people of the neighbourhood to attend the regular prayer meetings which are held every second Monday evening at 7 30.

HALL'S BRIDGE.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

A special meeting of the ratepayers of S.S. No. 5, Harvey and Smith was held in the school house on Saturday the 21st of Jan. for the purpose of consulting the ratepayers concerning the new school house to be erected and also the period of payment. Mr. R. Hill was appointed chairman. It was agreed to build a baloon frame veneered building 20x30 the payments to extend over ten equal annual instalments. The specifications have been completed, copies of which may be seen at the News office, Lakefield, or the EXAMINER office, Peterborough. Those interested may look out for "tenders" which will be received until the 1st of March.

Hall's Bridge has been augmented by the addition of a new weighing scale. The scale was put in by Mr. L. Switzer for Mrs. Purser. This will be a great convenience for the farmers of this district.

Rev. Mr. Bartlett, of Lakefield, will preach a missionary sermon here next Sunday. All are invited.

As a preventive of the grip, Hood's Sarsaparilla has grown into great favor. It fortifies the system and purifies the blood.

Bordering on Consumption.

—When a cold is neglected it frequently develops a condition bordering on consumption. No other remedy will so quickly relieve and cure cases of this dangerous kind as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, because no other remedy possesses such perfect curative powers as does this prince of pectoral remedies.

If your druggist says he does not know anything about the cures Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure have effected, write to Peterborough Medicine Company, Limited, Peterborough, Ont.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

Has no equal for the prompt relief and speedy cure of Colds, Coughs, Croup, Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Preacher's Sore Throat, Asthma, Bronchitis, La Grippe, and other derangements of the throat and lungs. The best-known cough-cure in the world, it is recommended by eminent physicians, and is the favorite preparation with singers, actors, preachers and teachers. It soothes the inflamed membrane, loosens the phlegm, stops coughing, and induces repose.

AYER'S Cherry Pectoral

taken for consumption, in its early stages, checks further progress of the disease, and even in the later stages, it eases the distressing cough and promotes refreshing sleep. It is agreeable to the taste, needs but small doses, and does not interfere with digestion or any of the regular organic functions. As an emergency medicine, every household should be provided with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

"Having used Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in my family for many years, I can confidently recommend it for all the complaints it is claimed to cure, Its sale is increasing yearly with me, and my customers think this preparation has no equal as a cough cure."—S. W. Parent, Queensbury, N.B.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's [illegible]
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and [illegible] his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and [illegible]
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trifle,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently assertedby Companies whose business is nearly all tontines, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Government Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the Prof. James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, for the province of Ontario, will be present and deliver an address. The Ontario Bank Quartette club will also be present.

Timber Lands Sold at a High Figure.

A great sale of timber lands situated in the township of Harvey, took place at the Morgan House yesterday afternoon. The lands which belonged to the Lakefield Lumber Company were sold by Mr. Auctioneer Stapleton. The bidding was very lively and the higher figure of $5,050 was realised for the property which was disposed of en bloc to the Rathbun Company.

The Sparrows Must Go.

The Belleville Ontario says that a club of young sports has been formed in Amelias-burg for the extermination of the sparrow. Last week visits were made to many barns throughout the township and the pests shaken out. We understand sides have been chosen and the side that shoots the least number of birds buys the supper for both sides. Complaints are daily made of the growing nuisance of these birds. Farmers say unless their barns are perfectly bird-tight these sparrows will get in and destroy more grain than a flock of geese or hens.

January Nuptials.

A pretty wedding was celebrated at the residence of Mr. R. Webb, Simcoe street, last night when his youngest daughter Ada, was wedded to Mr. Jos. Cassels, the popular foreman of the Peterborough Carbon Works. The ceremony was performed in the presence of a small company of near relatives and immediate friends by Rev. Geo. Edwards, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church. The bride was ably assisted by her niece, Miss Sabine, while the position of groom was filled by Mr. John Raby. After the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal couple, together with their friends sat down to a neat wedding dinner and were heartily congratulated by their friends. The presents were many and nice. Among them might be mentioned a valuable Mexican onyx clock supplied by Messrs. Clarke & Gibson and which bore the following inscription :—Presented to Mr. Jos. Cassels by the employees of the Peterborough Carbon Works on the occasion of his marriage. Peterborough, January 25th, 1893." The happy couple after spending a couple of hour's felicitation over the gladsome event, left to take up their residence on the corner of Stewart and Dalhousie streets. Mr. and Mrs. Cassels' many friends will wish them a marred life, long, happy and prosperous.

—Mrs. Booth, of Toronto, and Staff-Capt. Fry, late of England, will conduct services at the barracks here Thursday night, Feb. 2nd.

—The Sons of Scotland will hold their regular meeting Friday, Jan. 27th, at 8 o'clock. All members are requested to be present.

—Gilmour's English Company will produce "Dartmore" at the opera house here on February 10th. The play is highly spoken of.

—The annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society is being held this afternoon in the council chamber.

—Barry & Fay, in McKenna's Flirtation, appeared at Port Hope last night to a crowded house. The company show in Belleville this evening.

—J. E. McIntyre's "Clan Alpine," Martin Connors' "Sleepy Emma" and J. J. Daly's "Blackstone," are among the horses registered at Port Hope.

—Most of the manufacturers along the race are now able to use their water power again and re-commence operations. The flumes are now fairly clear from anchor ca.

—The C. P. R. have completed the immense supply of ice to fulfil their contract at Havelock. The company has about ten more carloads to ship to finish their Toronto contract.

—Mr. Wm. Brick, principal of the Separate School, has handed the truant officer a long list of offenders against the compulsory attendance under the provisions of the Ontario School Law.

—Mr. R. M. Roy, the well known lime light artist will give a fine stereopticon entertainment before the Masons of Lindsay on Feb. 3rd, illustrating the degrees and work of the ancient craft.

—The Peterborough hockey club will go to Lindsay this afternoon to play a return match with that town. They will return to-morrow morning. A few admirers intend going up with the boys.

—Matthew Hawken, an old and respected resident of Seymour west, died on the 17th instant at the advanced age of 85 years. Mr. Hawken was a member of the Methodist church for fully 50 years.

—A prominent member of the Peterborough Gun Club would like to know the reason why the club never shot the return match with Port Hope. It will be remembered the visitors shot here on Good Friday of last year.

—The Harry Lindley Co. will open out in Woodstock's handsome new opera house on Monday next. Harry seems to be especially favoured in opening new houses he having played a week's engagement at Lindsay of late.

—A deputation from the town council waited upon the county council this afternoon in reference to the placing of electric lights on Court House hill and the proposed building of an iron bridge over the Otonabee at Smith street.

—The annual conversazione of Victoria University, Toronto, will be held on Feb. 17th in the University buildings. Elaborate preparations are being made for the affair. Mr. Geo. H. Locke, son of Rev. J. H. Locke, is the hustling chairman of the committee.

—The Sons of Canada met in regular meeting last night in their new lodge room. Four propositions for membership were received. It was decided to hold weekly meeting in the future, instead of semi-monthly as in the past. The lodge will meet every Wednesday night.

—The market Wednesday morning was rather small. Several loads of hay were offered and sold at $3 per load with easy demand. The prices in the wood market remained unchanged. Dressed hogs sold slowly at $8 per cwt., while hogs, live weight, brought $5.45 and $6. per cwt.

—The Grand Trunk people are erecting a new bridge on the Grand Junction over the River Moira at Foxboro. The structure will be about 300 feet long, divided into three spans. The material, apart from the abutments, will be Georgia pine. This bridge replaces a wooden bridge that spanned the stream at this point. A large gang of men are employed on the work.

—The waterworks company have a small boiler and rubber hose which they carry around on a conveyance. The boiler is used for thawing out hydrants by steam when the water in them become frozen. The same apparatus is used for thawing the water in houses when the domestic service pipes become frozen. For the first time this winter the boiler was used to thaw out a hydrant on George street yesterday.

—An EXAMINER representative was favoured with a few minutes pleasant stay in the band hall during practice. The new instruments were in use upon new music, and the public will be pleased to know that the splendid new instruments fully answer expectation and the way the members used them was worthy of their excellence. The public may expect to enjoy a rare musical treat at the forthcoming concert which the "boys" contemplate giving in a short time.

Masonry Exposed.

Last night at the regular meeting of Corinthian Lodge, No. 101, A. F. & A. M., Bro. R. M. Roy, the ingenious and enthusiastic lime light artist, made an expose of Masonry which caused a sensation among the craft. The expose, however, was not of a character likely to lead the uninitiated into any of the mysteries of the ancient order, but, on the contrary, was well calculated to stimulate additional interest and research among the brethern. At a very great expense and trouble, Mr. Roy has, it is understood, become the possessor of a large number of valuable Masonic views, depicting the work in the various degrees in an elaborate manner, and illustrating the impressive ceremonies which members of the craft have to pass through during their mystical experience. The effect at last night's meeting was such as to call for an unanimous vote of thanks to Mr. Roy for contributing so largely to the interest and instruction of the brethren.

More Improvements Still.

The C. P. R. station and freight sheds to-morrow evening will be lighted throughout by numerous dazzling electric lights. Two large arc lamps will be placed in front of the station over the platform, four incandescents will be erected in the gentlemen's commodious waiting room and two in the ladies' fine apartments. Two more lights will be placed in the baggage room, while the freight shed and offices will also be brilliantly lit up.

Perry Davis' Pain Killer TAKEN INTERNALLY, it relieves instantly the most acute pain, USED EXTERNALLY, it is the best Liniment in the world. Its effect is almost instantaneous, affording relief from the most intense pain. It soothes the irritated or inflamed part, and gives quiet and rest to the sufferer. It is eminently the people's friend, and every one should have it with them, or where they can put their hands on it in the dark if need be. Put up in large Bottles.

A Visual Affliction.

A few weeks ago, says the Campbellford Herald, while a litttle son of Mr. Sol. Bayes, who resides on Victoria street, in the southern part of the village, was going down the cellar steps carrying a spinning wheel, he fell and received a cut on the back of the head, resulting also in his becoming cross-eyed. The sight afterwards became affected, and the little fellow is now partially blind, requiring at certain times to be led about.

Lawrence Hayes.

FREMONT, O., Jan. 25.—The last will of the late ex Pres. Hayes, probated yesterday, provides for an equal distribution of the estate after the payment of the just debts among the five children. The interest of his daughter Fanny is to be held in trust by his eldest son, Richard, and his three oldest sons are appointed executors.

It gives the home place, known as Spiegel Grove, and all the personal property connected therewith to the five children, to be held by them in common without sale or division until all parties agree to a sale.

By a former will, made in 1874, Gen. Hayes made bequests intended to carry out the intentions of his uncle Richard, but Gen. Hayes subsequently carried these out himself.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Exposition Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the tailoress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

Worst Case of Scrofula the Doctors Ever Saw

Completely Cured by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

"When I was 4 or 5 years old I had a scrofulous sore on the middle finger of my left hand, which got so bad that the doctors cut the finger off, and later took off more than half my hand. Then the sore broke out on my arm, came out on my neck and face on both sides, nearly destroying the sight of one eye, also on my right arm. Doctors said it was the Worst Case of Scrofula

they ever saw. It was simply awful! Five years ago I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Gradually I found that the sores were beginning to heal. I kept on till I had taken ten bottles, ten dollars! Just think of what a return I got for that investment! A thousand per cent? Yes, many thousand. For the past 4 years I have had no sores. I Work all the Time.

Before, I could do no work. I know not what to say strong enough to express gratitude to Hood's Sarsaparilla for my perfect cure." GEORGE W. TURNER, Farmer, Lyons-way, Saratoga county, N. Y.

KEEN BUYERS

Have not been slow to take advantage of the many extraordinary inducements which we have offered during our great

REDUCTION SALE OF HARDWARE!

Owing to changes in premises, we have been literally compelled to clear out stock, and instead of packing thousands of dollars' worth away, we have marked it down to prices that made it sell; but the Bargains are not all done yet!

We must clear out all our remaining line of SKATES; also, some valuable shades of MIXED PAINTS, ALABASTINE and Enamel Paints, and a large line of CARPENTERS WOODEN PLANES—all first-class goods.

Alarm Clocks!

There are a great many small Alarm Clocks which have been running for a few years and are now out of order, which the owners are allowing to remain idle, because they think it will cost too much to repair them. If you bring them to us you will find that we will make them run as well as they ever did, at a very small charge. We have already changed hundreds of them from being merely rubbish into good timepieces. If you want to buy a new one, we will sell you an Alarm Clock at a lower price than any one else in the trade. We sell only the very best make and warrant every one.

Would You Buy,

If the Prices Were Low?

Most men who do not own houses would become owners if they could do so at a moderate cost.

It is my business to build houses, the cost of which is within the reach of people in fair circumstances.

I have one house, well built, good location, Aylmer street, between Townsend and Rink streets—$2,600. Look it up. Will have two on Dalhousie street, work now going on.

FIRE! SMOKE! WATER!

Make sad havoc when it gets into a large stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods. It also makes a great difference in prices. Our whole stock must be cleaned out and the building renovated and papered before our Spring Importations from Europe arrive. In order to do this, the goods are being sold at what they will bring. The rush has been so great thus far we find it impossible, with all the help we had room for, to wait on all our customers. Those who were unable to get in before, will find just as good bargains still as our stock was so large and varied. Below we enumerate a few prices:

Grey Cotton, 22 yards for $1.00. (Nice weight.)

White Cotton, 12 yards for $1.00.

Towelling at 10c. a yard, wide widths and heavy.

Anconia Cloth at 10c. a yard, heavy weight, suitable for ladies' wrappers.

Cottonade, heavy weight, burned on one edge only, at 50 per cent. off regular prices.

Shirtings in quantities, smoked only on edges, 30 per cent. off regular prices.

Dress Goods—The damage on these goods was slight, only the outside folds being smoked. We are selling them at Sweeping Reductions.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

Prepared for Work—The Standing Committee Appointed and Organised—Now Steadily at Work.

SECOND DAY—WEDNESDAY.

At 2.30 o'clock the council resumed, the warden in the chair.

After routine the committee appointed at the morning session to strike the standing committees, reported as follows:—

STANDING COMMITTEES FOR 1893.

County Property—Messrs. Burnham, Middleton, Finlay, Moore, J. M. Walsh, McCarthy, Forster, McAuley, Lancaster, and Aunger. Mr. Middleton, chairman.

Roads and Bridges—Messrs. Moloney, McCarthy, Fitzpatrick, Garbutt, McAuley, Walsh, Brown, Forster, Coben, Johnston, Finlay, Shaw, Aunger, Elmhirst and Hawthorne. Mr. Moloney, chairman.

Schools—Messrs. Lancaster, Shaw, Finlay, J. M. Walsh, Garbutt, McAuley, Casement, McCarthy, Fitzpatrick and Hawthorne. Mr. McAuley, chairman.

Finance and Assessment—Messrs. Hawthorne, Brown, Forster, Moloney, Johnston, Finlay, J. M. Walsh, J. Walsh, Burnham, McAuley, Coben, Casement, McCarthy, Elmhirst, Garbutt and Middleton. Mr. Casement, chairman.

Petitions—Messrs. Coben, Lancaster, Shaw, McAuley, Fitzpatrick, Moloney, Casement, Aunger, and Moore. Mr. Coben, chairman.

Printing—Messrs. Middleton, Hawthorne, Fitzpatrick, McAuley, Forster, Johnston, Casement, Moloney, Coben, Garbutt, and Moore. Mr. Hawthorne, chairman.

Appointments to Office—Messrs. Middleton, Forster, Garbutt, Burnham, Finlay, J. M. Walsh, Brown, Elmhirst, McAuley, Aunger, Casement, Shaw, Fitzpatrick, McCarthy and Johnston. Mr. Forster, chairman.

Equalization and Assessment—Messrs. Finlay, Moloney, Elmhirst, Casement, Fitzpatrick, Johnston, McAuley, Forster, Brown, Aunger, Burnham, Coben, J. Walsh, Middleton, McCarthy and Moore. Mr. Burnham, chairman.

The report was adopted and the council adjourned.

Immediately after adjournment the several committees met and elected chairmen as indicated at the close of each paragraph of the foregoing report, and the committees went to work to recover the time consumed in the election of Warden, which they are continuing this morning.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

The Peterboroughs are anxious to go to Toronto next week to play the Granites and Toronto clubs. An effort is being made to play them eight rinks strong if possible. All those curlers desirous of going to Toronto and joining the rinks will please hand in their names at once to Messrs. Sam Ray and C. McGill.

On Wednesday and Thursday next the rink here will be alive with curlers and some great sport will be in for the lovers of the roarin' game. The clubs of district group No. 2 will play in the primary competition for the Ontario Tankard at Peterborough. The follow places will be represented:—Bobcaygeon, Lakefield, Millbrook, Campbellford, Keene and Port Perry.

The following match was played last night and created much interest. Among the Ontario bank clerks who played it were:—

W. D. Parker, W. Montgomery, 2 ..... vs. ..... J. Crane, Geo. Beers, 12

Following is the score made by Peterborough rinks in the final game with Oshawa at Lindsay yesterday. The match was very close and exciting, and gave Peterborough the Dryden Tankard:—

Majority for Peterborough, 11 shots.

The two Tankard rinks returned home last night from Lindsay, bringing with them the Dryden cup which they won yesterday. This morning the handsome trophy was on exhibition in the shop of P. Connal & Co. and viewed by many citizens. The cup is valued at $30. On one side of it is engraved the following:

"Won by Whitby club 1891.
Won by Lindsay club 1892.
Won by Peterborough club 1893."

On the other side of the silver stand, which rests on a pedestal of four brooms, are inscribed in pretty lettering the words: "Presented by Hon. John Dryden to the curlers of Ontario and adjoining counties." The cup is a worthy souvenir and an emblem of victory worth holding. A handsome circular base supports four brooms, which are standing in diagonal position. On the top of this base the various circles are clearly outlined and a neat little stone rests over the pot lid. The brooms support a very large silver stone, gold lined. The cup should be seen, its model, workmanship and beauty being worth an inspection.

Two rinks of Port Hope curlers are playing a friendly match at the rink this afternoon, the game beginning at five o'clock. Skips J. H. Connal and R. M. Dennistoun will do battle on behalf of the Granite division in the match with the visitors.

Scratch matches took place at the rink last night between Geo. Brown and S. Clegg. The former defeated the latter's rink by 14 shots to 6. Geo. Edmison's quartette downed skip E. Rutherford's by a large majority.

The Peterboroughs are comtemplating matches with several clubs in the vicinity. Skips Boucher and Edmison will play Campbellford in a two rink match at an early date, while Skips Attrill and Budden will play Keene. Judge Weller and E. B. Edwards will be the skips against Millbrook, while Skips Dennistoun, J. H. Connal and Attrill will do battle against Lakefield in a three rink contest.

PORT HOPE RACES.

A Full Field and Exciting Contests—Large Crowd Present.

The annual winter races of Port Hope begun yesterday afternoon and were attended by a crowd of sportsmen from Central Ontario, including a large number from Peterborough. The speeding event took place on Dr. Corbett's pond where a splendid kite shaped track, a mile round, had been laid out. The races were all hotly contested and aroused much enthusiasm. The three minute race for a purse of $100 was the signal event of the day. In this contest there were no less than 9 entries and 9 starters. The judges were Messrs. Jas. Ketchison, Belleville; J. Bickle, Cobourg, and Matthew Williams, Port Perry. Four heats trotted, "Bebe," owned by Mr. Curtis, of Lindsay, taking first money by taking first place in the first heat, second in the next and first in the last two. She was closely pursued for first money by Alvy, owned by Mr. Jones, of Cobourg, who took second place and captured second heat. Dolly C. took third money. The other speeders were Lady Watson, owned by Mr. Watson, Toronto, who took fourth place; Chestnut Dan, fifth; Lady Ryslick, owned by Mr. Bennett, of Port Hope, sixth, Golden Bow seventh.

In the 2.32 race for a purse of $125, there were four entries, viz.: Sunday, of Dundas, Mayflower, owned by Mr. Dixon, of Toronto, Daisy S. of Bloomfield, and Matty B. owned by Wm. Morris, of Peterborough. Sunday took first place in three straight heats, Mayflower second and Daisy S. third. The race created no very great interest the animals holding the respective places quite easily.

The green race for a purse of $65 was not finished yesterday and the remaining heats will be trotted to-day. "Sleepy Emma," entered by Connor Bros. holds third place so far. The other Peterborough flyers entered will take part in to-day's programme of events, the 2.40 class for a purse of $100 and the free for all for a purse of $125.

LOOK AT THE SIZE of the ordinary pill. Think of all the trouble and disturbance it causes you. Wouldn't you welcome something easier to take, and easier in its ways, if at the same time it did you more good? That is the case with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They're the smallest in size, the mildest in action, but the most thorough and far-reaching in results. They follow nature's methods, and they give help that lasts. Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick and Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

"If we can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing, we'll pay you $500 in cash." That is what is promised by the proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. Doesn't it prove, better than any words could, that this is a remedy that cures Catarrh? Costs only 50 cents.

A STRANGE STORY.

Are These Things Within the Possibilities?

BY NANCY NUGENT.

"When I saw Jack I thought he had found where I was and had come for me, but he turned from me. What will I do? Paul, Paul, why do you have me here?"

She sank on a chair sobbing in a most pitiable way.

Dr. Denham looked excited; his face had flushed and paled during the recital of this strange story.

"Nurse, what does this mean? Have I trusted a wicked, false woman, or is this only the ravings of a disordered mind?"

"Surely, Dr. Denham, you have ever found me a true, faithful woman and nurse. What could I gain by such an act? I am a stranger in the city, and you know since my entrance to your asylum, five years ago, I have never asked for a substitute for one hour. I have never left my patient; you know I occupy the same room."

Her calm grey eyes looked steadily into Dr. Denham's as she asked:

"Do you believe me?"

The doctor wavered, looked at the beautiful, pleading eyes of Letty, then at the calm ones of the nurse, "I cannot decide just now. We will come back in two hours, then I will give my decision. In the meantime you will have to give me your keys and submit to being locked in, nurse. At present I trust you both."

Contrary to what I expected, the patient let us go without a murmur.

"Come to my private room," he said, as he locked and carefully tried the door. "I will give orders that I am not to be disturbed."

We talked some time before coming to a conclusion. The doctor suggested sending for Paul. We acquiesced. He had the carriage sent to the office for him. I wrote him, asking him to come without delay, saying I would explain on his arrival. We waited in silence for the whole hour it took to drive to and from the office. Soon as he saw me he asked what all this meant. I introduced Dr. Denham and Leland, and told him what has already been told.

"It is most extraordinary. Of course I will see her, but I think you will find it only a new freak of the disease."

When we re-entered the room, Paul advanced toward where the two were sitting behind a screen. They arose hastily to hear the verdict. The nurse was the first to break the silence. With a cry of fear she covered her face with her hands.

"Why Madge! is this where you have hidden yourself all those years? No wonder we could not find you. Why did you do it?"

"Paul, Paul, you have come to take me home. Why did she bring me here, and why did you not come before?"

"Jack, what does this mean?"

"I cannot say, I am sure, Paul."

"Madge, what is it? Tell me!" He strode to her and grasping both her wrists forced both her hands from her face. "Tell me, I say. Is this my wife? and who is that at home? Speak, quick!"

She wrenched her hands from his, threw back her head and answered, "Yes! yes! it is your wife, how I hate her!"

Paul soon had Letty in his arms. "Poor little one; how you must have suffered, locked here among the mad for a year. What a devilish trick. Why did you do it, Madge?"

"Why did I do it? Because I hate her. She won your love from me. I would have been your wife but for her gipsy beauty and languid movements. I prayed she would die or go mad, but she grew more lovely every day. When I first thought of bringing her here, I intended keeping her, but had not thought of taking the other patient to your home. When I saw how much they were alike, and your Letty looked at her and said, 'I must hasten home, my husband will be waiting me,' all my jealousy stored spoke and prompted the double punishment. It is as she said, I have failed and I have failed. I pray that I may be punished, not for what you would call my sin, but for the failure of my revenge. To fail in vengeance, to a woman, is a greater loss than if she failed to gain eternal life. I would that I had been thrust into everlasting destruction than lost the exquisite pleasure of hearing her cry day after day for her husband, her Paul. My heart had moaned and almost called aloud in its hunger for Paul, but she locked him to her side with her winning ways and love. I suffered in silence. Then the time came that I locked her to my side with a key of iron. O! how sweet the thought was that she would go mad. Tut! she is not capable of going mad, not even for Paul. Her gipsy beauty, her limpid pool-like eyes, are not backed by blood so charged with the electricity of love that it burns the veins, as it runs, like fire to their extremities, where it pauses, quivering, waiting a small part of a second, but to her who is cursed with such blood an eternity; then rushes back to the heart forcing one to believe that hell, like the kingdom of heaven, is within you. No, her blood crawls, crawls like a wounded snake through her veins, cold, green and slimy; it could not throb into madness, it only crawls!"

She finished with a groan of most pitiable agony. I shall never forget the scene. Sinking on the floor she covered face with her hands, and repeated her over and over again, "It could not throb into madness, into madness like mine. Ah! I am mad! mad!"

Dr. Denham had a new patient.

Paul was still holding Letty in his arms. Her head rested on his arm, and she was sobbing peacefully. Take her home, Paul, this is too much for her."

While Letty was preparing for her return, and the nurse was being conveyed to a place of safety, Paul told us that Madge, the nurse, was a cousin of his, who had always lived with his mother. He had not the least suspicion of her great love for him. He had not been home more than a few days at a time for years. She had left suddenly, and all search had been void of success.

Responding to Paul's earnest request, Leland and myself went home with them. We drove rapidly, Dr. Leland being anxious to see his sister.

When we entered the avenue the greatest excitement prevailed. Men shouted, bells rang, and soon the snorting, plunging horses of the firemen bounded past us. We watched the scene with a wierd sort of pleasure. Letty was the first to speak.

"Paul, Jack, see it is our own house that is burning."

The flames had just then burst with a roar through the windows of the second story.

"Are they all out?" shouted Paul, as our carriage stopped as near the burning building as we dare go.

"All but Mrs. Pentland and her maid," came the answer.

"Great heavens, Leland, your sister will be burned!"

Perfect Satisfaction.

Gentlemen,—I have found B.B.B. an excellent remedy, both as a blood purifier and general family medicine. I was for a long time troubled with sick headache and heartburn, and tried a bottle, which gave me such perfect satisfaction that I have since then used it as our family medicine.

BANKERS,

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE, THE UNION BANK OF HALIFAX.

SOLICITORS.

MACMASTER & McGIBBON, Montreal.

The Directors, who are now the owners of the entire Capital stock, have decided, at the request of numerous friends of the Company throughout Canada, to enlarge the proprietorship of its stock, and to offer for sale, at par, ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, fully paid and non-assessable.

Payments are to be made as follows:—Five per cent. on application; fifteen per cent. on allotment; twenty per cent. each in one, two, three and four months from the date of allotment. Applicants have the right to pay in full on allotment.

Applications for shares will be received until February 15th, 1892, at any of the offices of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the offices of the Union Bank of Halifax, and at the head office of the company, N. Y. Life Building, Montreal.

Forms of application for shares may be obtained at any of the above places, or they will be sent by mail on request.

Should no allotment of stock be made to any applicant for shares, the amount paid will be returned in full, and in the event of the Directors finding it impossible to allot the full number of shares applied for, the surplus of the deposit will be credited toward the amount payable on allotment.

The right is reserved of withdrawing the offer in whole or part at any time before allotment, and of allotting to any applicant any less number of shares than the number applied for.

As the dividends of the Company are payable quarterly, beginning with the first day of March next, allottees of stock will be entitled to receive a proportion of the quarterly dividend as declared, corresponding to the amount paid upon their subscription.

It is proposed to apply to the Stock Exchanges of Montreal and Toronto for official quotations of the shares of the Company.

The Consumers Cordage Company was organized in June, 1890, with a Capital of one million dollars, to operate several of the largest Cordage and Binder Twine Factories in Canada. It, at first, operated these under leases, but its operations having been successful, the Capital Stock was subsequently increased to Three Million Dollars, and the leased properties were purchased.

The Company has no mortgage indebtedness; and, according to the law under which it was incorporated, none can be created without the consent of two-thirds of the shares holders, represented at a meeting called for the purpose.

The Company has placed in the hands of its Bankers:—

(a) Full statements of its affairs, certified to by Messrs. Caldwell, Tait & Wilks, Chartered Accountants.

(b) The following letter from Messrs. Abbott, Campbell & Meredith, advocates, Montreal, upon the legality of its incorporation, and the issue of its stock:—

MONTREAL, January 8, 1892.

Consumers Cordage Co., Ltd., Montreal:—

GENTLEMEN,—We have examined the books and documents connected with the organization of the Consumers Cordage Company, Limited, and are of opinion that it has been properly incorporated, and that its capital stock of $3,000,000, as issued, is fully paid up and non-assessable, according to the provisions of the "Companies Act."

We are, yours truly,

(signed), ABBOTTS, CAMPBELL & MEREDITH.

(c) A report from Messrs. Macmaster and McGibbon, Solicitors of the Company, that the titles to its Mills have been duly examined, and that no encumbrances exist.

Applicants for shares may examine these documents, copies of which may be seen at the Company's offices, and at the various offices of the Banks mentioned above.

The Consumers Cordage Company is probably the second largest Manufacturer of Cordage and Binder Twine in the world, and claims the following very material advantages over its competitors:—

1st. Ample capital to conduct its business which enables it:—

(a) To buy its raw material in larger quantities, and at lower prices.

(b) To use only the Most and most improved machinery, thus keeping its mills in the highest state of efficiency.

2nd. Economy in selling and distributing its manufactured product.

3rd. The business covers so wide a territory (its manufactured goods go to almost every civilized country in the world) that it cannot be seriously injured by local troubles; and its Manufacturing establishments are so scattered that the danger of severe loss by fire is very slight.

4th. Lower cost of production.

(a). By maintaining the sharpest competition between its several mills, it is enabled to introduce in all the best methods found in each.

(b). By spreading its commercial expenses over a larger output.

(c) By placing in one hand the purchasing of the Raw Materials and Manufacturing supplies for the several Mills, thus securing lowest prices.

(d). By manufacturing for themselves many of their supplies.

The Company has always found it in its interest to divide the economies effected in production and distribution with the Consumer, and since its existence the Consumer has, upon the average, had a better article at a lower price than previously.

The Company does not claim to have any monopoly, or to earn monopoly profits; in fact, it has not done so. Since its organization it has been able, owing to the advantages above referred to, to earn a net return on its present capital of not less than 10 per cent. per annum (as statements in their Bankers' hands will show), and the Directors believe that these profits will be maintained in the future, as the cost of production and distribution shows each year a marked decrease.

The Dividend for the year ending 31st October, 1892, was at the rate of 8½ per cent. per annum. The past record of the Company and its present position justify the Directors in believing that quarterly dividends of three and three-quarters per cent. may be paid, and should the present year be as favorable to the Company's premises, the final eighth dividend might be declared.

Any further information may be had at the head office of the Company at Montreal.

The Plum.

The early history of the plum like that of the apple is remote and complicated. Strictly speaking Europe has three wild forms but undoubtedly most of our cultivated varieties are derived from that known as P. Domestica. When and where the improvement began it is impossible to determine. References to the Damson are found in Greek literature. In Roman literature it is often referred to under the name of Prunus. The identification of the name of the damson or damsan, properly damascene with the famous Syrian city of Damascus we owe to Pliny.

The development of the plum in England has corresponded with that of the apple, though the varieties are less numerous. France also has distinguished itself in plum culture. The Orleans Plum was brought to England from the neighborhood which witnessed the heroism and death of Jeanne d' Arc, when the Englishwere masters there in the time of Henry V.

To the French we are also indebted for the oldest and still the best of plums, the Green Gage. It was brought to England by the Rev. John Gage about the middle of the 18th century, received his name, was soon diffused over England. The date of its introduction into America is obscure, but must be very early as evidenced by the great number of seedlings of which it is the parent. None, however, surpasses it in quality. It is a matter of regret that this variety does not succeed in our vicinity. The varieties of prune plums are derived from a well marked family of plums grown largely in the Valley of the Loire, France, known as Juliana, or Prunier de St. Julien. The prunes of commerce are prepared by simple drying chiefly in the sunshine, assisted by mildly heated ovens, and are then packed for market.

The Damson represents a large family being difficult to propagate it has been extensively grown from seed introduced into Canada by the early French settlers. It has given rise to many varities and has in a measure become acclimatized. At the village Des Aulnaier 60 or 70 miles north of Quebec, it has been reproduced from seed for more than a hundred years, and by reason of the rich latitude plums are shipped west annually from that point long after the season is over in this district. About 75 per cent. of all varieties of the plum now grown in Canada and the United States are of American origin, though little has been done in the line of systematic cross-fertilization.

There are few lines of investigation in fruit culture more promising than that of developing our native plums. We have four species indigenous to the continent, American, the plum of Canada and the Northwestern States; the Chickasaw of the Southwest; the Beach plum of the coast; and Prunus Nortulana, a species lately defined. Within the last fifteen years owing to the failure of the West European plums and their descendents there have arisen a number of varieties of the Chickasau and Americana types notably De Sota, Wolf, Rollingston, and Wyant. — John Craig, Ottawa.

LORD ABERDEEN.

He Will Succeed Lord Stanley as Governor-General of Canada.

LONDON, Jan. 25.—To set at rest all conjectures about the successor of Lord Stanley of Preston as Governor-General of the Dominion of Canada I have the authority to state that the Right Honorable John Campbell Hamilton Gordon, the seventh Earl of Aberdeen, will succeed His Excellency.

Lord Wolseley's name, which was mentioned in connecti n with the position, was brought forward because of his continued association with the leading Canadians here, and by the belief that he himself would gladly go to Canada. But, in the face of this, it has been quite understood in official circles that Lord Aberdeen had been the nominee of the Cabinet, and especially the choice of Mr. Gladstone, who is his intimate friend.

I am informed that Lord Aberdeen and his Countess look forward to another term of residence in Canada with much interest, and it is the general opinion here that Canadians are to be congratulated upon the choice of their next Governor-General.

The official announcement of the appointment will be made shortly. In the meantime, however, the matter may be regarded as settled.

Lord Aberdeen told a friend not long since that he hoped to visit Canada at an early day, discreetly adding, however, "whether I go officially or not remains to be seen."

A DEPRESSING LIFE.

The Radicals Do Not Join in Rejoicing Over the Reconciliation.

BELGRADE, Jan. 25.—The announcement of the reconciliation between ex-King Milan and ex-Queen Natalie is not received here with universal acclamations of pleasure. The young Liberals are strongly opposed to the settlement of the differences of the royal couple. They declare that the whole affair was prompted by politics and that Milan has arranged a scheme with officers of the Servian army through the medium of General Tsholekontics, who is now in Paris, having for its object the return of Milan to Servia. According to the young Radicals the purpose of ex-King Milan is to establish a dictatorship, with himself at its head, during the minority of his son, King Alexander. In the overturning of the constitution the young Radicals say Milan will have the assistance of the army.

Why go about hawking and spitting when Nasal Balm will remove every vestige of your catarrh, and thus relieve you of this disagreeable habit? A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1.

Speedy Relief for Croup.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

NEURALGIA.—Mrs. JOHN McLEAN, Harris Island, Ont., March 4, 1889, says: "I suffered severely with neuralgia for nine years and have been greatly benefited by the use of St. Jacobs Oil."

SCIATICA.—Grenada, Kans., U. S. A., Aug. 8, 1888. "I suffered eight years with sciatica; used five bottles of St. Jacobs Oil and was permanently cured." JACOB L. SMITH.

STRAIN.—Mr. M. PRICE, 14 Tabernacle Square, E. C., London, Eng., says: "I strained my wrist and the severe pain yielded like magic to St. Jacobs Oil."

LAMEBACK.—Mrs. J. RINGLAND, Kincaid St., Brockville, Ont., writes: "I was confined to bed by severe lumbago. A part of a bottle of St. Jacobs Oil enabled me to go about in a day."

The ice scenery about Niagara now is said to be the grandest in a decade. All the visitors are gone over the falls.—Boston Globe.

"Did you make any calls last New Year's?" "Yes," replied Billy Bliffkins, "I called several times. That's why I swore off playing poker."—Washington Star.

"There's a timepiece I have had in the family a long while," said Crimsonbeak, exhibiting a ninety-day note which had never been met.—Yonkers Statesman.

Miss Plane—I think I would have made a successful politician. I never forget a face. Miss Bute—Wouldn't you be happier, dear, if you could forget your own?—Indianapolis Journal.

There is a man in England whose special hobby is liquor. His way of entertaining guests would have done credit to the mad King of Bavaria. On one occasion he had a huge basin constructed in his garden and covered with a canopy to keep out the rain. This basin was intended for a punch bowl, and it was the largest the world ever saw. In it were mingled four hogsheads of brandy, eight barrels of water, 25,000 lemons, twenty gallons of lime juice, 1,300 pounds of sugar, 300 toasted biscuits, five pounds of grated nutmeg and a pipe of old Malaga wine. There were many guests present—it was a stag party, by the way—and all are said to have gone home gloriously drunk.

Four years ago Joseph Mativin, who has a farm near Stanwood, Wash., discovered a peculiar head of grain in a field of barley. Since then he has been propagating it, until now he has considerable land sown to this strange grain, which yields about 100 bushels to the acre. The grain is of a deep brown color, resembling scorched wheat grain, and is similar to wheat in form. The bran or shell is thin and tough. The grain is not fit for milling purposes, and a brewer who examined it said that it was useless for brewing purposes. It makes, however, excellent food for chickens and hogs.

The always admirable family column in the Philadelphia Times throws out these suggestions: People are very prone to say, "What a little coward that child is," forgetting entirely that it is such as they who have made the little one what it is. No baby is born afraid of the dark, the big policeman or any of the one hundred and one bugaboos that nurses and parents conjure up to terrorize the small wrongdoers, but it is made cowardly by the frightful fiction concocted for its benefit. Tell a child always the truth about everything, no matter how trivial or unimportant it may be, and it will soon come to have perfect confidence in everything you say. A little one declines to go into a dark room to bring out its doll that was left there because someone has told it of a great bogie-man that lurks in dark apartments, ready to spring upon little children. There is a great deal in early association. We know one man who can never drink gin because when a child his mother used always to give him castor oil disguised with that liquor. The poor woman has often wished that she had used different stimulants in the same way.

No One Need Pity You.

If you die of consumption without having tried that celebrated cure, now being talked about by every one, and known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," you are not entitled to any pity. If you want to stay with your friends in the flesh, do not let an hour pass by without sending to the nearest drug store for "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Read about the wonderful cures it has wrought. This is the electrical age of wonders, and this emulsion is the product of the latest researches in science. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all drug stores.

Prisoners Liberated.

Many who have been confined to their beds for years by rheumatism, lame back and kidney complaints, have been liberated from their sad prison by the wonderful regulating and purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters, which drives out the acrid poison from the blood and restores health to the afflicted.

FRANCE WANTS TO KNOW

WHY ENGLAND INCREASED HER ARMY IN EGYPT.

And Wants a Relation of the Incidents That Caused Britain's Extraordinary Action—The Marquis of Dufferin Assures France.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—A despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Co. says France has asked the British Government for an explanation as to the increase of the British army of occupation in Egypt.

A despatch from Paris says that the Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador, has delivered to the French Government a note as to the increase of the British garrison in Egypt. He assures the Government that the increase does not imply any modification of previous assurances in regard to the conditions of the British occupation, or any change in the policy heretofore pursued by Great Britain.

M. Waddington, French ambassador in London, has been instructed to ask the Earl of Rosebery, British Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, to specify the incidents in Egypt which have caused Great Britain to take the recent extraordinary steps.

The Panama Affair.

PARIS, Jan. 26.—Maitre Barboux resumed his argument for the defence in the Panama Canal affair. He created a sensation by declaring that the Chamber of Deputies had authorized the issue of lottery bonds, had given the public confidence, and the directors could not, therefore, be accused of swindling even if, at that time, they were in deep water financially.

A ROYAL WEDDING

Thirty-six Salvos Fired When the Couple Exchanged Rings.

BERLIN, Jan. 26.—The city was gay to-day over the marriage of the Princess Margaret, youngest sister of the Emperor, and Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse.

The bride wore a gown of white silk and crepe de chene, ornamented with sprays of white daisies and caught at the waist with a gold girdle. Her only jewelry was a diamond necklace.

The ceremony took place in a bower of palms and chrysanthemums. As the couple exchanged rings the artillery in the Lustgarten fired 36 salvos.

Labor Reforms in England.

LONDON, Jan. 26.—The labor program of the Gladstonian Government includes the appointment of two female factory inspectors, whose business it will be to inquire into the sanitary needs of women employed in factories, and of 15 sub-inspectors; the establishment of central offices for inspectors in the three largest cities of England, these offices to be accessible to employers and employed; a large extension of the existing work of the Labor Department of the Board of Trade and the publication of a monthly workingmen's gazette, which will be sent gratuitously to trades unions and workingmen's clubs.

RANKIN'S MURDERERS.

Have Been Arrested and the Noose Will Do the Rest.

CHATHAM, Ont., Jan. 26.—The expedition sent out last night to Raleigh Township to recover the corpse of Policeman Rankin and do arrest his murderers returned to town early this morning, bringing in the body of the dead man and six of his assailants, namely, W. T. Freeman, Henry Freeman, Jesse Freeman, Alexander Freeman, Jerry Freeman, Milton Freeman, old man Freeman and his wife.

These were at once lodged in jail. William and Henry Freeman are both in the doctor's hands suffering from bullet wounds inflicted by P. C. Dezelia while trying to protect P.C. Rankin.

These two are identified by the other constables as the men who struck Rankin with axes, and George, who is still at large, as the man who gave the last and finishing blow on the head with a fence rail.

On the arrival of the posse from Chatham at the Freeman homestead no resistance was offered, all the prisoners giving themselves up quietly.

STEAMERS LEASED.

The Alaska and Arizona to Run in the Service of the Northern Pacific.

SEATTLE, Wash., Jan. 26.—The steamers Alaska and Arizona of the Guion Line are to be brought around Cape Horn and placed on the Puget Sound and Oriental route. The steamers have been leased by Dowdell, Carlell & Co., and will run for the Northern Pacific Railroad. The lease of the steamships is confirmed by the officials of the Guion Line.

METROPOLITAN OF CANADA.

The Election is Given Rev. J. Travers Lewis, Bishop of Ontario.

MONTREAL, Jan. 26.—The bishops of the Church of England in Canada concluded their session for the election of a metropolitan to-night. Right Rev. J. Travers Lewis, Bishop of Ontario, was elected Metropolitan of Canada.

FROM CANADA.

And Was Outraged and Murdered in Fort Worth, Texas.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 26.—Maggie Twomy, aged 40, a music teacher, who came here from Canada five months ago, has been outraged and murdered. Her body was found in a vacant house.

The St. Paul Bonspiel.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Jan. 26.—The bonspiel of the Northwestern Curling Association is over. There was almost a complete rout of the rinks of the United States by those of Winnipeg.

In the contest for the St. Paul trophy, it was the general opinion that the rink of G. O. Nettleton would win, but with the score 14 to 13 on the last head both Nettleton and McMillan fell down on easy ends, and the rink of R. L. Dunbar of Winnipeg won by the score of 16 to 13. The second goes to Winnipeg, but two rinks must play for it, those of Dunbar and Fraser, and will settle the matter between them at Winnipeg next week.

The final contest for the George Hall medal also resulted in favor of Winnipeg. This draw was played between Wells of Portage, Wis., and Kelly of Winnipeg, resulting in favor of the latter, 23 to 9.

In the point contest Alexander McCulloch of St. Paul won, his score being 36, while G. O. Nettleton of St. Paul took second prize with 35. Some of the scores made by the Illinois and Wisconsin men were: S. Nelson, Chicago 24; W. Nelson, Chicago, 18; John Armour, Chicago, 25; H. J. Hawthorne, Milwaukee, 21; J. H. Wells, Portage, Wis., 34.

SKIPPED OUT.

This Israelite Will be as Famous as the Jew That Shakespeare Drew.

TORONTO, Jan. 26.—The Toronto police have been notified that Goodman, the Jew who was supposed to have been mysteriously shot in Montreal a short time ago by a stranger dressed in a fur coat, and who also escaped from the Notre Dame Hospital unknown to the hospital authorities, has once more distinguished himself. Goodman, since his escape from the Montreal hospital, has been residing with the Saxes in his old boarding house in Notre Dame de Lourdes-street in that city, and has been rapidly recovering from his wound. On Monday evening about 7 o'clock he informed Miss Saxe that he was going to the Queen's Theatre and accordingly left, presumably with the intention of going there, but instead of doing so he left for Toronto via Canadian Pacific Railway. When he did not return home at midnight Miss Saxe became alarmed, but glancing at her trunk, she found it had been tampered with and about $150 extracted therefrom. A visit to the C.P.R. station revealed the fact that he had taken a ticket on the Toronto train.

Man Feels Happier Now

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Jan. 26.—Alexander McLean of Toronto was robbed of $800 in money and a gold watch at the Grand Hotel in this city last night. Joe Conley, a hotel employe, was arrested, and most of the money was recovered.

A Gay Deceiver.

HAMILTON, Jan. 26.—The wife of Joshua Filman, a well-known farmer on Burlington Plains, has won a suit against her husband for alimony. Judge Armour would not hear the defence. Mr. Filman now wants a divorce.

Day by Day

The surprising bargains brought about by our Annual Inventory Sale are picked up eagerly, and shoppers who patronize our sale are all anxious to get the best.

Business with us is quite remarkable for this season of the year. Shoppers manifest increased satisfaction with the way we do business, the values we give and the service we control.

Our present great values, in which the public interest is still centered, consist of—

Damaged Table Linens
Damaged Table Napkins
Bankrupt Lines of Towels, &c

"Sweep them out" is the word, and we have no doubt that by the end of another week, with such sales as we have had, and with such reductions in price, many of these tempting bargains will be conspicuous by their absence. It will pay you to purchase some of your spring supplies at the GOLDEN LION'S inventory sale now going on.

PARLIAMENT NOW OPENED.

GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

A Great Crowd Present — An Unusual Number of Ladies in Evening Dress—The Opening Was a Most Unqualified Success.

OTTAWA, Jan. 27.—The third session of the seventh Parliament of the Dominion of Canada was opened yesterday by His Excellency the Governor-General under more than ordinary favorable circumstances. The weather was perfect—clear, bright and not too cold, so that standing in the open air was a pleasure instead of a torment, as it has frequently been at other openings, and as a consequence the crowd which thronged Parliament Hill was the largest which has gathered there for several years.

Inside the buildings the crowd was equally large. The galleries of the Senate were literally packed, and the floor of the chamber was almost uncomfortably crowded with an assembly of "fair women and brave men."

There were far more ladies present in evening dress than usual, and their handsome costumes, added to the glitter of the uniforms of the ministers, the red coats and gold lace of the A.D.C.'s and staff, and the gorgeous apparel of Archbishop Duhamel and his attendant prelates, all tended to light up and brighten the red chamber in a manner it does not too often get illuminated.

Taken as a whole the opening was a most unqualified success, and His Excellency will be enabled to take away with him when his term of office expires next summer a pleasant recollection of the brilliant assemblage which marked his last opening of Parliament.

In the Commons Mr. Speaker took the chair shortly before 3 o'clock, and immediately after the booming of the guns on Nepean Point announced the advent of His Excellency, who arrived at 3 o'clock with his usual punctuality.

On his taking his seat on the throne in the Senate, Black Rod was sent to summons "the faithful Commons," and on Mr. Speaker and his followers having arrived, His Excellency read the following speech:

Hon. Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

In meeting you at the commencement of another session of Parliament, it affords me pleasure to congratulate you on the continued progress which the history of the past year unfolds with regard to Canada. The increase in trade, as illustrated by the exports and imports during the period for which the official returns have been prepared, has been most gratifying, and that increase has continued down to the present time, with promise that the volume of trade during the current year will exceed that of any year in the history of the Dominion. The revenues of the country have likewise provided for all the services for which Parliament has made appropriation and the operation of the Government railways has been less burdensome, as regards the difference between income and expenditure, than has been the case for a long term of years previously. In Manitoba and the Northwest Territories the increase in immigration has been decidedly encouraging, both as regards the number of persons who have come from other countries, and as regards the number of homestead entries made by settlers of all nationalities.

Measures have been taken to carry into effect the agreements arrived at with the United States on the subjects of the boundary of Alaska, the boundary line in Passamaquoddy Bay, and prevention of destructive methods of fishing, and the preservation and increase of fish life.

With regard to reciprocity in wrecking and towing, a correspondence has taken place which indicates that privileges are demanded for United States vessels in Canadian canals which were not anticipated, but it is not impossible that a satisfactory conclusion of the discussion may yet be reached.

During the recess a friendly conference took place between delegates from my Government and from the Government of Newfundland on the questions which were pending between the two countries. It is hoped and expected that the interchange of views which then took place will be productive of beneficial results, and lead to an amicable adjustment of those questions.

The statutes of 1887 relative to a Department of Trade and Commerce and to the office of Solicitor-General having been brought into force, the appointments were made which were contemplated by these Acts.

It is to be regretted that the Government of the United States was unable to accept the suggestions made by my Government on the subject of canal tolls, and that the President should have thought it necessary to impose exceptional tolls on Canadians using the Sault Ste. Marie Canal, which has so long been free to the people of both countries. My Government, while ready to consider in a friendly spirit any proposals which may be made by the Government of the United States, has caused efforts to be made to hasten the completion of the Canadian canal works, which will soon afford to the commerce of the Dominion a highway within our own country.

Measures will be laid before you for the improvement of the Franchise Act, for the improvement of the laws relating to the civil service and the superannuation of civil servants, for regulating the admission of evidence in causes and matters under control of the Parliament of Canada; for extending the system of voting by ballot to the Northwest Territories and for simplifying the laws relating to lands and land transfers in the Territories.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

The public accounts of the past year and the estimates for the ensuing year will be laid before you without delay, and I trust it will be seen that ample provision may be made for the public service without increasing taxation.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I have every confidence that all the matters will receive your attention and that your deliberations will keep in view, above all other considerations, the welfare and stability of the country.

On the return of the Commons to their chamber Mr. Speaker read the usual announcements of the vacancies which had occurred since last session, and of the returns he had received from the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery of the members elected to fill the vacancies.

The members introduced and their introducers were:

Hon. T. M. Daly, by Sir John Thompson and Hon. G. E. Foster; Hon. M. Clarke Wallace, by Hon. J. G. Haggart and Hon. J. C. Patterson; Hon. J. F. Wood, by Sir John Thompson and Mr. George Taylor; Hon. J. J. Curran, by Sir John Thompson and Hon. J. A. Ouimet; L. G. Belley, by Sir Adolphe Caron and Sir John Thompson; J. W. Bain, by Sir John Thompson and Hon. J. A. Ouimet; J. A. Chesley, by Hon. G. E. Foster and Mr. G. F. Baird; G. V. McInnerney, by Hon. John Costigan and Hon. G. E. Foster; W. W. McDonald, by Sir John Thompson and Hon. T. M. Daly; S. Lachapelle, by Hon. J. A. Ouimet and Sir John Thompson; P. Leclaire, by Hon. J. A. Ouimet and Sir John Thompson; A. W. Carscallen, by Mr. H. Corby and Mr. W. B. Northrup.

Sir John Thompson then said that on account of the illness of the leader of the Opposition, which he was glad to learn was not serious, he would move, seconded by Sir Adolphe Caron, that the Address to His Excellency in reply to the Speech from the Throne be taken into consideration on Monday instead of on Friday as usual. Carried.

Sir John Thompson moved, seconded by Sir Adolphe Caron, that the usual standing committees on standing orders, private bills, etc., be appointed. Carried.

Hon. J. F. Wood, Controller of Inland Revenue, laid on the table the annual report of his department.

Mr. Speaker presented the annual report of the joint librarians of Parliament.

On motion of Sir John Thompson the House adjourned at 3.55 p.m.

Mr. Lariviere appears determined to lose no time in bringing the Manitoba school case to the attention of the House, as he has given notice that he will on Monday move for an address to His Excellency for a copy of all petitions, memorials, appeals and any other documents addressed to His Excellency since March 15, 1892, relating to the Manitoba School Act and section 22 of the Manitoba Act, and section 93 of the British North America Act, also copy of all reports and of all orders in council in reference to the same and also of all correspondence in connection therewith.

He will also ask for a copy of the judgment of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council and of the factums, reports and all other documents connected therewith.

Mr. Charlton gives notice that he will again introduce his bill for the better observance of the Lord's day. He also proposes to have a whack at the Dominion franchise bill and gives notice of a bill to repeal it and make provision for something in place of it.

The following notices of motions are given:

Mr. Mulock—That it is expedient to place binder twine on the free list.

Mr. Cleveland—That it is expedient to place coal oil on the free list.

Mr. Pope—That it is expedient to place corn on the free list.

Mr. Weldon—Bill to disfranchise voters who have taken bribes.

Sir Hector Langevin—For all papers not already brought down relating to the northwestern, northern and eastern boundaries of Quebec.

In the Senate after the usual formal opening the following new Senators were introduced and took their seats:

Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, by Hon. Frank Smith and Hon. F. Clemow; Hon. A. R. Angers, by Hon. Frank Smith and Hon. L. R. Masson; Hon. John Ferguson, by Hon. Frank Smith and Hon. L. R. Masson; Hon. A. Desjardins, by Hon. A. P. Angers and Hon. L. R. Masson; Hon. T. A. Bernier, by Hon. Frank Smith and Hon. A. R. Angers; Hon. J. N. Kirchhoffer, by Hon. Frank Smith and Hon. A. R. Angers; Hon. C. Primrose, by Hon. Frank Smith and Hon. Mackenzie Bowell.

The annual report of the Auditor-General was distributed to the press yesterday. It is bulkier than ever.

Mr. C. E. Whitney, news editor of The Free Press, who has been ill for a few days with an attack of inflammation, has been given up by his physicians and is not expected to live.

Mr. J. Israel Tarte has arrived for the session, but whether he will take his seat on the floor of the House or look down from the press gallery can't be determined until the returning officer for L'Islet declare whether Mr. Tarte was elected or not.

Sir John Thompson wore his official uniform with the star of the Order of St. Michael and St. George.

The report of the joint librarians of Parliament refers to the introduction of the electric light into the library which will afford better light, especially in the galleries at night. A considerable number of old Canadian newspapers and works out of print have been added to the library since last session, as well as a number of valuable works on the discovery and early history of America. Among the noticeable donations to the library is the valuable medal presented by the city of London in commemoration of the eleventh visit of His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Germany.

Hon. Frank Smith, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. C. E. Angers, Hon. W. B. Ives, and Sir John Thompson were the Windsor uniform. Frank Smith looks immense in his. But people looked at him more than once when, after the ceremony, they saw him seated in his favorite spot in the Russell House with a plug hat, black frock coat and gold-striped trousers. He had to wear the uniform again in the evening at the state dinner, and he did not see his way to pulling off and on the Windsor trousers for a space of two hours. Mackenzie Bowell was also going about the Russell House in a similar mixture.

The usual state dinner was given at Rideau Hall last night.

Refreshments were served in the apartments of both the Speakers.

Lieutenant-Governor Kirkpatrick of Ontario was the only Lieutenant-Governor present at the opening.

Mrs. White had a great many callers on the Commons side.

Lady Stanley and Lady Thompson were both present in evening dress.

The French-Canadian ladies were present in force and handsomely dressed.

Lady Thompson filled her new place as a social leader with ease and graciousness and was ably supported by Lady Caron.

Lady Stanley held a short reception in the rooms of the Speaker of the Senate, assisted by Lady Thompson and Lady Caron.

Mrs. Kirkpatrick sat next to Lady Stanley and received a big amount of attention from her old friends and admirers in both Houses.

WHAT PRESS WORKS DID.

PREVENTED A FRANCO-RUSSIAN ALLIANCE.

Made the Czar Madder Than a Wet Hen.—The Press of the Triple Alliance the Chief Offenders—Secret Service Fund Voted.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The discussion of the budget was continued in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday. When the subject of appropriations for the Ministry of the Interior was broached, Lucien Millevoye, Nationalist member for the Somme, made a bitter attack upon foreigners in France in general and foreign newspaper correspondents in Paris in particular.

In reply M. Ribot reviewed in detail the steps taken by the Government against offending newspaper correspondents and the probable effects of the new press law amendments.

Leopold Fleurens, Republican deputy for the Hautes-Alpes, described forcibly the indignation of the French people when they learned the slanderous reflections upon the representatives of France's friend, the Czar. The animus of the attack upon Baron Mohrenheim, he said, was evident from the fact that the press of the triple alliance had reproduced at once all the slanderous articles against the Russian ambassadors. Its purpose had been to alter the friendly relations existing between Russia and France. These tactics were familiar. They had precipitated the war of 1870, and to-day they might have fully as serious consequences.

Several other deputies spoke in support of the views expressed by M. Millevoie and M. Flourens.

M. Ribot earnestly exhorted the deputies to trust the Government, vote the secret service fund and save the French people from an agitation which would shake the republic.

The fund was voted by 303 deputies against 182 and the entire budget of the Ministry of the Interior was then approved.

THE DE LESSEPS.

M. Barboux Tries to Place Them Above Their Enemies.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The assurance that M. Barboux would deliver his peroration attracted a greater throng than ever to the courtroom. M. Barboux argued Charles De Lesseps was justified in the payment which he made to newspapers and financial companies possessing influence which could be exercised in favor of the canal. If Charles de Lesseps yielded to numerous extortions by intermediaries, it was because he was profoundly convinced the lottery bond scheme would secure success of the entire enterprise.

Nearing his peroration, M. Barboux became impassioned in his tone. In eloquent and scathing language he denounced the blackmail and corruption which had been so terribly and palpably rife in connection with the Panama enterprise. He caused a great sensation in court by an unexpected and withering attack on ex-Minister Fiquet.

"Why," exclaimed M. Barboux, vehemently, "is not the former minister, who directed distribution of the press subsidies, not sitting alongside the prisoners?"

M. Barboux spoke of the conscientiousness and probity of both Ferdinand and Charles de Lesseps, which had come forth unimpaired and unblemished from the fire of investigation.

Speaking of the high reputation of Ferdinand de Lesseps M. Barboux recalled the fact that when Ferdinand de Lesseps visited Berlin the Kaiser hastened to salute him as a representative of French genius. This position he still occupied at home and abroad and would continue to occupy, notwithstanding the vein attempt to connect him with the guilty conduct of others.

M. Barboux closed with an eloquent and touching appeal for his clients. When he resumed his seat members of the French bar crowded around him and heartily congratulated him on his brilliant oratory.

AT LUNCHEON.

Emperor William Toasts the Health of the Czar.

BERLIN, Jan. 27.—A luncheon in honor of the Czarewitch was given yesterday by the officers of the Alexander Grenadiers, of which regiment the Czar is honorary colonel. It was attended by Emperor William, Prince Henry of Prussia and Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador.

Emperor William, in proposing a toast to the Czar, said: "The presence of the Czarewitch at the marriage of Princess Margaret is a crowning proof of the friendly interest the Czar has always taken in happy events of my house. We all recognize the Czar not only as an exalted comrade but as representative of long-preserved monarchish traditions. Repeated proofs have been given by Russia of friendship and close intimacy with my august predecessors, and formerly this friendship was ratified by Russian and Prussian regiments with their blood on the battlefields. Raise your glasses and cry with me with your whole heart, 'His Majesty the Czar. Hurrah!'"

The toast was drunk amid loud cheering.

The Czarewitch then toasted Emperor William.

THE KHEDIVE AFFAIR.

France is Badgering England and Consulting Turkey.

PARIS, Jan. 27.—The Temps states that the note which M. Waddington, French ambassador to England, presented to Lord Rosebery in regard to the Egyptian question, declares that the attitude of France on the question would depend upon the explanations made by Great Britain, and upon an interchange of views between France and Turkey.

The note further declared that besides the protection of French interests other treaty arrangements must be considered.

Thinks It Dangerous.

MADRID, Jan. 27.—The British envoy expressed a desire to arrange with Spain for joint action in Morocco. The Spanish Foreign Minister replied that any disarrangement of the status quo would be dangerous.

The Cotton Strike.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Another attempt to bring to an end the long strike or lockout in the Lancashire cotton mills has ended fruitlessly.

Discount Tumbles.

LONDON, Jan. 27.—The Bank of England has reduced its rate of discount from 3 per cent. to 2½ per cent.

Hundreds of Men Will Be Thrown Out of Employment.

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Jan. 26.—Another result of the complaint of the English stockholders of the Grand Trunk against expenses has manifested itself. Hereafter no train of seven or less passenger coaches shall have more than one trainman besides the conductor, passenger trains of eight to 11 cars two trainmen, and all over 11 three trainmen. This order will throw hundreds of men out of employment.

THE WHY AND THE WHEREFORE.

THE Montreal Witness thus accounts for the presence of "the milk in the cocoa-nut."—"During the Mackenzie regime under a tariff for revenue only when no protection was given manufacturers and the taxes went to the government alone, the customs duties exacted from the people $3.12 to $3.95 per head of the population. Under the Macdonald-Thompson regime, when the manufacturers receive the largest part of the taxes as "protection pap," the exaction from each person for government purposes alone ranges from $4.23 in 1885, $4.24 in 1886, and $4.25 in 1892. The Government exacts from the taxpayer $1.12 to $1.28 more for revenue purposes than was exacted under Mr. Mackenzie's Revenue Tariff regime. Add to the above from $4 to $5 per head as a very low estimate of the amount of the "protective" duties that go to the manufacturers as a result of the protective tariff and we find that the taxpayer pays now from $8 to $10 per head of his family against $3.12 to $3.95 under the Mackenzie tariff. The Mackenzie tariff ranged from free goods to 17½ except for wines, candies, tobaccos, spices and such goods, while the the Foster tariff ranges from 20 to 60 per cent. and even very much higher. It is easy seeing why and where the money goes and why the farmer is impoverished and the manufacturer flourishes like a green bay tree, if we are to believe Sir John Thompson and his organs."

SIR JOHN THOMPSON does not believe in even-handed justice. He declares his intention of perpetuating a fiscal policy that was conceived and is carried out in the interest, the whole interest, and (practically) nothing but the interest of the manufacturers, at the expense of the consuming community, of which fully seven-tenths are farmers. After standing this sort of thing for over a dozen years, the farmers are naturally anxious to put a handle on the other side of the jug also, so that they may be relieved of, at least, a part of the burden they are now carrying. But Sir John Thompson will have none of it. At Sherbrooke Sir John felt it his duty to cheer the hearts of the monopolists and strengthen the strong box from which the election funds come. He said he did not propose "to help the farmers at the expense of the other industries." Then, Sir John, the farmers will have to help themselves.

THE HORTICULTURAL ASSOCIATION

Holds Its Annual Meeting and Elects Officers—A Good Balance on Hand—The Prize List to be Revised—New Attractions to be Added.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society was held in the town council chamber on Thursday afternoon. There was but a small attendance of members and directors. Owing to the absence of the president, Mr. J. H. Roper, in Toronto, the chair was taken by Mr. D. W. Dumble, second vice-president. Present were Messrs. Peter H. Henry, secretary, Robt. Pope, T. E. Bradburn, H. C. Rogers, Dr. Burnham, F. J. Lewis, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., John R. Cobb and others.

The reading of the minutes of the previous meeting were dispensed with.

THE DIRECTORS' REPORT

showed that last year's membership was considerably in advance of the preceding year, and that the exhibition was a fairly good one, although it was not what it should be for a town the size and importance of Peterborough. The directors deplore the fact that so little interest is being taken in the society's welfare and progress by the citizens generally, and especially those who possess a fondness for floriculture. It seemed impossible to awaken any enthusiasm or general spirit of legitimate rivalry and therefore the burden of carrying on the society fell upon a few of the directors making the work to some extent disheartening and onerous, if however every person who should be interested had borne their share of responsibility, the work would be lighter for all and greater success achieved.

BALANCE ON HAND.

The secretary then read the annual financial statement stating it was the first year that the association ever had so large a balance on hand, viz, $113.07. The report was as follows:—

F. J. Lewis in account with the Peterborough and Ashburnham Horticultural Society.

DEBTOR.

On motion, the report was audited and certified to by Messrs. Rogers and Bradburn and adopted.

THE PRIZE LIST TO BE REVISED.

Mr. Dumble said he would like to see a committee appointed to revise the prize list. The secret of the show's success would be in arranging special prizes for special things. The matter was referred to the directors.

On motion of Dr. Burnham and Mr. Lewis, the same committee which waited on the town council last year was appointed to dodo so again this year.—Carried.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers for the ensuing year was then proceeded with, as follows: President — Dr. George Burnham; Vice-President — Jas. Stevenson, M. P., (re-elected); 2nd Vice-President—D. W. Dumble, (re-elected); Secretary, Peter. H. Henry, (re-elected); Treasurer, F. J. Lewis, (re-elected). Directors—J. H. Roper, John R. Cobb, Rev. V. Clementi, J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., T. E. Bradburn, H. C. Rogers, W. H. Hill, W. H. Manning, Adam Hall, John Burnham, M. P., and T. A. Hay.

It was announced that the society intend to make this year's exhibition of special interest by the offering of special prizes which will be announced hereafter.

SPECIAL PRIZES OFFERED.

Moved by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, seconded by Col. Rogers, that the directors be requested to offer several special large prizes to induce exhibitors to grow for exhibition certain lines of flowers and vegetables, and that such prizes be fixed and published at once to enable competitors to procure seed, etc.—Carried.

Mr. Dumble thought suggestions should be published for exhibitors, instructing them how to cut different varieties of flowers for exhibition.

Moved by Mr. Bradburn that Messrs. Cobb, Manning, Dr. Burnham, Dumble, Roper and the mover be a committee to revise and prepare the prize list for 1893, and to see that the same is published at once.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

A WONDERFUL STORY

A Woodstock Lady
ESCAPES DEATH!

Though Advanced in Years she is Now Strong and Well!

A Lady Tells of Her Deliverance!

An Agent Mighty to Save!

A wonderful story! A mighty deliverance! Comforting and assuring words for every sickly and disease-burdened man and woman! Every word of the wonderful letter is full of hope and joy. Paine's Celery Compound is held up as the true and only life-giver for suffering humanity. Try it, poor, weary sufferer; it will make you glad, and give you a new happy life.

Mrs. Mary E. Lapman, of Woodstock, Ont., writes as follows:

MARY E. LAMPMAN.

WELLS & RICHARDSON:

Gentlemen,—After serious consideration I think it my duty to acknowledge the great good that I have derived from Paine's Celery Compound. No living mortal can imagine the sufferings that I endured for four months. That demon "La Grippe" got a fast hold of me; I became nervous, and was so prostrated that I could not sleep night or day.

Life became a burden, and I was reduced to a mere skeleton. My appetite was very poor, and I was so extremely nervous that I could not bear to have any person in the room with me.

One Sabbath afternoon I read one of your papers, "Our Album," and found that Paine's Celery Compound had cured many people. I thought I would try a bottle, and bought one that afternoon and commenced to take it according to directions. The relief was almost instant. I continued the use of the Compound with the result that I can now sleep well all night and feel rested when morning comes. My appetite is good, I am gaining in flesh and I feel like a new person.

I cannot find words to express my gratitude for your great Paine's Celery Compound, and for the wonderful cure it has brought about. I am 73 years of age, and can now walk five miles without feeling very tired. I am now telling my friends and neighbours who are sleepless and nervous and suffering as I was. Wishing you unbounded success, and hoping this may be read by some one who is afflicted and anxious for relief.

I remain, yours truly,
MARY E. LAMPMAN.

We, the undersigned residents of Woodstock, in the Province of Ontario, hereby certify that we are acquainted with Mrs. Lampman, who has signed the above testimonial, and can vouch for the truth of every statement therein made.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT"

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and let him have his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank tiff,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the Foresters on a Jaunt.

Several members of the Canadian order of Foresters from the town lodges paid a fraternal visit to Court Lakefield last night. One candidate was initiated and after the transaction of other business a fine lunch was served the visitors by their Lakefield friends. Brief speeches were made by the Peterborough brethren, after which songs and recitations filled in an enjoyable evening. Bro. Jackman is the energetic Chief Ranger of Court Lakefield, and together with the other officers did everything in their power to make the visit of the Peterborough gentlemen one that will be long remembered.

The Christian Endeavour Movement

was organised twelve years ago on Feb. 2nd in Portland. The local Union intend observing the event with a union meeting to be held in St. Paul's next Thursday evening. There will be a song service from 8 to 8.30, composed of quartettes, duets, etc., after which Rev. Dr. McTavish, of Toronto, will give an address. Those who know him expect something good. All who go will receive good. Not only are all Endeavourers expected to be present, but it is hoped there will be a large turnout of Christian people. A collection will be taken up to defray expenses.

A Joyous Gathering at St. Luke's.

St. Luke's school house was comfortably filled last night on the occasion of a concert got up in aid of the debt on the piano, by Miss Tivey. The programme was executed in a most creditable manner, and was heartily enjoyed by the audience. Miss Long and Miss Tivey sang several duets in excellent voice. The instrumental part of the programme was capably performed by Mrs. E. A. Peck. Miss Bysh secured an encore for her rendering of "How Rubenstein Played the Piano." It is, however, doing no injustice to others to say, that the recitations of Miss Minnie Hamilton and the songs of Miss Barker, accompanied on the auto-harp, were the features of the evening, and were loudly encored. The second part of the programme consisted of a most amusing, and realistic series of Shadow Pantomines, at the close of which Mr. R. B. Rogers moved a vote of thanks to the performers, especially our visitors, Misses Barker and Hamilton, and Rev. W. B. Loucks. This was seconded by Mr. F. E. Bell, and unanimously carried. After singing God Save the Queen, the audieece dispersed.

Travels Narrated at St. Andrew's Church.

There was a regrettably small audience assembled in St. Andrew's church last evening to hear Dr. R. W. Bell describe in a most graphic and interesting manner his recent trip of fifty days duration taken among the numerous islands of the famous West Indies. The address was an admirable and educative one, as for two hours the doctor described the various islands, the classes of people, the tropical products, the habit, customs and characteristics of the negroes, the public buildings, the attractive savannahs and many other things of note, and held the closest attention of his auditors. A fuller report of the places visited and scenes described, will appear in to-morrow's EXAMINER. The chair was occupied by Mr. Garron in a creditable manner. The numerous views, thrown upon a large canvas by Mr. R. M. Roy, were a magnificent feature of the evening's entertainment. Mr. Roy, at no little trouble and labour on his part, had the views which were taken by Dr. Bell, transferred for steropticon purposes and that they were well developed all will admit. They were all clear and distinctly outlined. Mr. Roy deserves the thanks of all for the fine exhibition produced. The address and entertainment were given under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionery Society and should have been more largely attended.

Entertained at the Bishop's Palace.

The members of the choir of St. Peter's cathedral, the ushers and the collectors, were heartily entertained last evening to a splendid supper at the parsonage of St. Peter's. A very pleasant time was spent by all present. His Lordship and the Cathedral clergy doing all in their power to make the guests welcome. After supper had been partaken of a few hours of social intercourse and excellent music, furnished by the members of the choir, were passed. At the close a cordial vote of thanks was moved by Mr. Thos. Cahill in a neat speech and seconded by Mr. Thos. Kelly, thanking the Bishop for his kindness and the enjoyable manner in which they had all been entertained. Mr. Hiller on behalf of the choir acknowledged the vote of thanks, when the happy company dispersed to their respective homes after spending one of the most pleasant evenings that could be desired.

A Prosperous Company.

We would call attention to the sixth annual report of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance company, which appears in this issue. It will be noticed that the company increased in assets during the year to the amount of $111,000, and income $35,000, making the total assets January 1st, 1893, $542,794; total insurance in force $8,136,939, and total income $242,000. For the security of policy holders it has assets per balance sheet of $542,794, which with uncalled capital of $493,680 gives the large amount of $1,036,474. From this amount deduct liabilities of $395,941, and we have the surplus for security of policy-holders of $640,533. These figures show that the company is on the high road to prosperity under the present officers, and that anyone thinking of insuring cannot do better than patronize the Manufacturers' Life Insurance company. The company is now established in every corner of the Dominion, and on account of its especial merit in paying death claims promptly and having as directors and officers the leading financial pillars of Canada, it has been able to compete successfully with its older rivals, and in many districts surpass them in amount of new insurance written. Coming generations will doubtless see this company one of the largest institutions in a large and populous country. The Peterborough agency, under the management of W. A. Hopkins, still continues one of the largest agencies of the company. 1d-1w

CRISP CURLING CHRONICLINGS.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

In the second draw of the 13-point games of the Granites, J. H. Connell yesterday afternoon defeated E. H. D. Hall by a score of 13 points to 3. Mr. Hall was allowed a handicap of 3.

Twelve rinks from the Peterborough curling club will go to Toronto early next week to play the Granites and Torontos a friendly match. The struggle is looked forward to with great pleasure and interest. All curlers desirous of going please hand in their names to Mr. C. McGill, secretary, as soon as possible in order that the draft of the rinks may be made.

Messrs. Attrill and Billett are playing off a 13 point game in the second draw of the Granites at the rink this afternoon.

Following is the second draw of 13-point games of the Thistle division, which must be finished by Feb. 1st:

The Peterborough two rinks of curlers had a comparatively easy victory over the Port Hopers yesterday afternoon and evening at the rink. In a nineteen end game Skip J. H. Connal's rink, composed of W. G. Morrow, lead, R. Rutherford, 2nd stone, and Geo. Matthews, vice, downed Skip Ross' rink of Port Hope, by 27 shots to 4.

The rink composed of C. N. Brown, D. W. Dumble, W. Salisbury and R. M. Dennistoun skip, in a 16-end match defeated Skip Thos. Ward's rink from Port Hope by a score of 14 to 13. The match was an interesting and exciting one. On the whole the two home rinks were victorious by 20 shots.

A SOCIETY WEDDING.

Union of Lansdowne and Peterborough Lodges Sons of England.

At a joint meeting of Peterborough and Lansdowne Lodges S.O.E. held last night, Supreme Grand President Stroud performed the concluding ceremonies of amalgamating the two lodges. In reply to a vote of thanks Bro. Stroud referred to the great progress the order was making, in Ontario especially. He also referred to the wide field the Northwest presented for the spread of the order. At the conclusion of the amalgamation ceremonies, a banquet prepared by Bro. Hooper was enjoyed in the refreshment room and a very pleasant evening was spent, the usual loyal and patriotic toasts being proposed and responded to, Bro. Cochrane contributing a side-splitting recitation. The National Anthem concluded the evening's enjoyment.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Inspection Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the tailoress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

TRAINMEN EXCITED.

ALLANDALE, Jan. 25.—There is a good deal of excitement among the members of the local lodge of Railway Trainmen over a peculiar case that happened at Gravenhurst. It appears that a member of the lodge named Samuel Murray was disabled while engaged as a brakesman, and for several years lay helpless at his home in Gravenhurst. He had lost all the power of his lower limbs and had all the symptoms of kidney complaint coupled with a complete collapse of his nervous system. His case was given up by seven or eight prominent doctors, and the Grand Trunk Railway paid him his total disability claim. His total disability claim was passed by the local lodge here, and sent on to the Grand Division. The strange part of the thing comes now, Murray has been completely restored to health and states that he does not want the money, while the lodge members here claim he is entitled to it and should have it. Murray was cured by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

For the Good of Others

Rev. Mr. Williams Heartily Endorses Hood's Sarsaparilla.

We are pleased to present this from Rev. A. A. Williams, of the Sillsbee street Christian Church, Lynn, Mass.:

"I see no reason why a clergyman, more than a layman, who knows whereof he speaks, should hesitate to approve an

Article of Merit

and worth, from which he or his family have been signally benefited, and whose commendation may serve to extend those benefits to others by increasing their confidence. My wife has for many years been a sufferer from severe

Nervous Headache

for which she found little help. She has tried many things that promised well but performed little. Last fall a friend gave her a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. It seems surprising what simply one bottle could and did do for her. The attacks of headache decreased in number and were less violent in their intensity, while her general health has been improved. Her appetite has also been better. From our experience with

Hood's Sarsaparilla

I have no hesitation in endorsing its merits."

The Peterborough Hockeyists Have a Complete Walk-over at Lindsay.

The members of the Peterborough Hockey Club, accompanied by a few friends and admirers, left here for Lindsay yesterday afternoon at 5.20 o'clock, and reached Scugog City, their destination, about six o'clock. From the station they rode to the Benson House, Mr. F. J. Daly, proprietor, where a fine supper was devoured, Mr. Daly using the boys in a very hospitable manner. At 8 o'clock the teams faced each other for the struggle on the roaring skating rink of Lindsay. The number of spectators was small and the game, rather too one-sided to be interesting or exciting. The following is the personnel of the combatting hosts:—

Lindsay.		Peterborough.
Hamilton	goal	Dumble
Knowlson	point	Sawers
Ritchie	cover point	Carmichael
McBurnie	forwards	Parsons
Walters		Phelan
Kennan		Wonham
Elliott		Montgomery
Smith	goal umpire	G L Hay

Mr Ross, referee.

Lindsay scored the first goal in a few minutes after the game started, Walters doing the necessary.

Then Peterborough's turn came and Wonham, Phelan and Parsons each scored a goal. Lindsay then scored another goal and so did Peterborough, the first half closing with four goals to two in favour of the home team. In the second half the Peterborough stick handlers got down to more even work and did far better team playing than in the first half when they appeared to be somewhat perturbed. As a result four more goals were added to their score, making nine in all. The Lindsay players scored only one in this half. The scoring of so many goals for Peterborough was done by the four forwards, each sharing alike in the honours. For Lindsay, who played a rather rough game, their forwards were far superior to their backs, while Walters, Kennan and McBirnie did the most telling work. For the Peterboroughs it would be unfair to particularize, as all the home boys did remarkably well, Wonham especially. The ice was in a fine condition, and the most pleasant feeling existed throughout; the score stood 9 to 3 in favour of Peterborough. After the affray, an adjournment was made to the Royal hotel, where the Lindsay boys entertained in a creditable manner their visitors. After the keen appetites of all had been satiated the toast of the Lindsay Hockey Club was proposed by Captain Montgomery and enthusiastically drunk. Captain Knowlson responded in a diverting manner. Then the toast of Peterborough was proposed and responded to by the popular captain, Mr. Montgomery, who delivered a neat speech. During the festivities, songs were contributed by Messrs. Walters and Robinson, of Lindsay, and Messrs. Phelan, Wonham and Sawers, town. The Peterboroughs arrived home about 2.30 o'clock this morning, coming down by special freight in the conductor's van. This accommodation was afforded them through the forethought of Mr. J. P. Hurley, G. T. R. agent, town, whom the boys desire to thank for his kindness.

MANUFACTURERS' LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

SIXTH ANNUAL MEETING.

The sixth annual meeting of the Manufacturers' Life Insurance Company was held at the head office, corner Yonge and Colborne streets, Toronto, on Thursday, the 19th inst. Among the stockholders and policy-holders present were Messrs. George Gooderham, Dr. James Mills, Guelph; R. L. Patterson, T. G. Blackstock, Samuel May, C. D. Warren, Dr. Ross, Robert Crean, John A. Wood, Fred Nicholls, John Flett, H. Lowndes, James Barber, Georgetown; W. H. Storey, Acton; John Akers and others.

The vice-presidents were both unavoidably absent, Mr. Bell, Guelph, owing to sickness in his family and Mrs. S. F. McKinnon on business in Europe. Mr. Robert Archer, President of the Board of Trade, Montreal, in a letter to the secretary, regretted being unable to be present, owing to a pressure of other business matters.

Mr. George Gooderham was elected chairman and the managing director, Mr. John F. Ellis, secretary of the meeting. On motion it was declared that the minutes of the last meeting be taken as read. At the request of the chairman the secretary read the report as follows:

The directors have much pleasure in presenting this, the sixth annual report of the business of the company for the year ending 1st December, 1892, and congratulate policy-holders and stockholders upon the favourable results obtained and the continued progress of the company.

During the year, 1350 policies were issued insuring $2,069,250, of a class of business which is calculated to give the company a large earning power, which means an ever-increasing surplus and an abundant security in the future to every policy-holder.

The amount of business in force at the 1st of January, 1893, was $8,136,989, which your board consider a very satisfactory showing; the premium income for the year amounted to $228,811.99 and interest from investments to $18,038.89, substantial increases over 1892, and denoting a healthy, steady and vigorous growth.

The assets during the year have increased, as will be seen by referring to the Financial Statement, over $100,000, and now amount to $542,794.98.

The directors have been most careful in the selection of investments, having regard both to the security offered, and the interest to be earned, as will be understood from the fact that during the year the Company received applications for loans to the amount of $650,850, of which amount $141,027.98 only was accepted.

The Executive have carefully examined the class of business offered to and accepted by the Company, and have great pleasure in expressing their utmost confidence in their agents throughout the Dominion, whom they have found at all times most assiduous in their efforts to secure not only the most desirable class of business, but in many instances have considered the welfare of the Company of more importance than any personal benefit.

The expenses of the Company have been very carefully watched, with the result that the increase in business has not been followed by a corresponding increase in expenses.

The death-losses for the past year have been heavier than was anticipated, which we believe to have been the experience of many other companies, and for this reason the increase in surplus has not been as large as was expected, but the primary object of life insurance has been obtained in the payment of the death losses, which have all been met without impairing the assets of the Company or in any way affecting its stability.

In all acturial matters the Board has had the benefit of the ability and long experience of Mr. D. Parks Fackler, of New York, President of the Acturial Society of America, as consulting actuary, who has given much of his time and services for the benefit of the Company, and whose certificate will be found with the Annual Statement attached to this report.

The books of the Company have been audited monthly, and at the close of the year all the assets have been carefully examined, not only by the Auditors, but by the Auditing Committee of the Board, whose report is also shown hereon.

The Directors all retire, but are eligible for re-election.

GEO. GOODERHAM,
President.

WILLIAM BELL, S. F. MCKINNON, } Vice-Presidents.

THE CHAIRMAN,—Gentlemen, you have all heard the report of the Directors, which is so complete that it leaves little for me to say. There are, however, one or two points which may be noted.

It is gratifying to observe that our business is, notwithstanding the keen competition among insurance companies, steadily increasing. At the end of the previous year we had $7,416,761 in force, and on the 31st day of December last $8,136,989, showing an increase of about $750,000. Our premium income is also showing a gratifying increase from year to year. This year it is about $230,000, an increase of over $3,000. Our income from investments is now $18,038, an increase of over $6,000, while our assets in the same time have increased about $111,000.

As you have been told our investments have been carefully selected, and the interest, I am glad to tell you, promptly paid. Although our business and income has been steadily increasing our expenses are less now than they were four years ago. Last year our death rate was considerably under the expectation; this year, owing to several larger policies having become claims, our rate has been much higher. Upon the whole, the average for the past two years is fair, and we have reason to believe that in accordance with the laws of averages, the death rate for the coming year will be favourable to the company.

It is also gratifying to know that the surplus assets, exclusive of unpaid calls on stock available for policy holders, is over 30 per cent. above the liability. I am pleased to say that the active officers of the Company have our entire confidence, and are working heart and soul for the Company's welfare.

In conclusion I can only say to the patrons of the Company that every contract entered into will be carried out in the future as in the past, and the Company will maintain it reputation for fair and liberal dealing.

On motion of the chairman, seconded by Dr. Mills, the report as read was adopted. A vote of thanks to the medical directors was moved by Mr. C. D. Warren, seconded by Mr. Robert Crean, and a similar compliment was paid to the agents of the company by Mr. R. L. Patterson, seconded by Mr. Robert Crean. It was moved by Mr. John A. Wood, seconded by Mr. May, that the chairman cast one vote for the election of directors for the ensuing year, and that the following names be balloted: George Gooderham, S. F. McKinnon, Alexander Manning, E. J. Lennox, T. G. Blackstock, R. R. McLennan, A. F. Gault, R. L. Patterson, A. G. McBean, F. Nicholls, Robert Archer, D. D. Mann, the Hon. Theodore Davie, William Bell, John F. Ellis, W. H. Storey, James Mills, Robert Crean, James Barber, C. D. Warren, Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Samuel May, Henry Lowndes, John Youngs, J. D. Rolland.

The chairman having cast the ballot announced that the gentlemen named in the resolution had been duly elected directors for the year 1893.

At the close of the shareholders' meeting the directors of the company re-assembled, when on motion of Mr. R. L. Patterson, seconded by Mr. C. D. Warren, Mr. George Gooderham was re-elected president, and Messrs. William Bell and S. F. McKinnon vice-presidents for the year.

The Hon. J. A. Ouimet, Minister of Public Works; R. R. McLennan, M.P.; Robert Archer, Montreal; A. F. Gault, of Gault Bros. & Co., Montreal; A. G. McBean, grain merchant, Montreal; and Ald. J. D. Rolland, Montreal, were appointed a local board for the Province of Quebec. The meeting then adjourned.

THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE QUESTION.

A Joint Conference on the Subject—The Question Threshed out in Committee—The County's Decimal Proposal—Court House Hill to be Lighted With Electricity.

SECOND DAY—THURSDAY.

The joint committee of the town council, consisting of Messrs. Cahill, Dennistoun, Dawson, Bradburn, Stevenson and Kelly, waited on the Road and Bridge Committee at the Court House this afternoon, with reference to the Smith street bridge and the lighting of the Court House.

Mr. Cahill introduced the subject. After expressing pleasure at meeting the council he said they had met to talk over matters that were of mutual interest—the Smith street bridge and the lighting of the Court House. As they were doubtless aware the Smith street bridge was about ready to drop into the river, and would do so unless it were promptly re-built. Something must be done, or the bridge abandoned. As they knew, the town paid for almost everything; which could not be considered right or equitable, and he hoped the county would deal fairly with the town in connection with this matter, which was of equal importance to both.

Mr. Dennistoun said the Smith street bridge matter was one that particularly affected the town and county, as it was from Douro and Dummer through the north ward of Peterborough. Since conferring with the county council last year the records of the town had been searched, and there could be found no trace of the acceptance on behalf of the town of the "old iron" resolution, which appeared upon the minutes of the county council over a dozen years back. The bridge last year being condemned by the street inspector as unsafe, the town expended $250 in strengthening it to make it temporarily safe, preferring to make this expenditure rather than close it, while waiting the decision of the county council in reference to the matter. The question of the town building a new bridge was an awkward matter, inasmuch as it would cost in the neighbourhood of $6,000, and would require to be built by debentures, and it was not likely the town, as a whole, would regard with favour a debenture bylaw—which was largely in the interests of one ward only. He felt that the county was equally responsible with the town in regard to the bridge, and he hoped that a fair arrangement would be arrived at. With reference to the light, Mr. Dennistoun said that at the last session of the court the interior was insufficiently lighted while the approaches were in total darkness. He suggested that joint arrangements should be made so that a division of the expense of properly lighting the Court House would be made.

Mr. Dawson was anxious to see the Smith street bridge kept up

ON THE HALF AND HALF BASIS.

If it was not kept up in this way he would not be in favour of the town spending a large sum for the maintenance of a bridge which was generally regarded as of equal benefit to town and country.

Mr. Stevenson said so far as he had heard there was a strong feeling in favour of the joint maintenance of the bridge. There was no doubt of the Court House being poorly lighted, as at the last meeting of the court the night session could hardly be conducted from lack of light. He was confident the county would meet the town in a fair spirit in dealing with the matters in question.

Mr. Kelly said it was impossible to deny that the bridge was a great advantage to the general public. It would be a great inconvenience to the people of the western part of Douro, as well as of others in the habit of using the bridge, to have it permanently closed. In view of the common advantages to town and county of this bridge he submitted that a joint maintenance was only fair, and just.

Mr. Bradburn said there could be no doubt that the bridge was a benefit to the town, but no more than to the county. In the absence of a joint arrangement between town and county, the bridge would have to go down, as it would do in the spring, unless repaired and this the town could not do for the benefit of the county. He could not think that the town could have agreed to relieve the county of its share of the expense of this bridge for a lot of old iron.

Mr. Belcher said the bridge had been built seventeen years and that for the past ten years large sums had been spent upon repairs. It was perfectly rotten and must come down, unless repaired at once.

On motion of Mr. Elmhirst the matter was referred to a special committee consisting of Messrs Moloney, Forster, Burnham, Middleton, Garbutt, Walsh (Asphodel) and the Warden to confer with the joint committee of the town at 9.30 to-morrow morning.

This morning the committees met and held a lengthy conference on the subject, and the matter was again discussed mainly on the lines of yesterday's arguments. Mr. Moloney, who occupied the chair, read the resolution of the county council of Sept. 16th, 1872, moved by Mr. Sanderson, seconded by Mr. Collins, to give the removal of old iron bridge to the town on condition that the town will construct a bridge across the Otonabee, and also the amendment at that sitting, moved by Mr. Millar, seconded by Mr. Hazard, to give any company the iron on condition that the said company build a bridge across the Otonabee where the old Monaghan bridge stood. He also read an extract from the report of the Road and Bridge Committee, Jan. 28th, 1873, to the effect that, in respect of the application of the town council of Peterborough for a grant of $500 to make the eastern approach to the Smith street bridge, the council not only do not give such grant but would remind the town that the latter undertook the construction and maintenance of the bridge on condition of receiving the old iron of the old bridge.

Mr. Burnham said the scrap iron contention was not to be considered — it had been placed at the disposal of anybody who chose to take it. The question was, was the maintenance of the bridge in the interests of the county?

Mr. Moloney admitted that the bridge was a convenience to certain parts of Douro, and Mr. Burnham pointed out that the bridge was of benefit to all parties using the Dummer road to reach town. Various other opinions were expressed and finally Mr. Walsh, Asphodel, moved that no action be taken in the matter, and Mr. Middleton moved an amendment that if the bridge would stand for four or five years that the special committee recommend to the road and bridge committee, to contribute to its repair in a certain proportion. The informal discussion continued and at length Mr. Burnham moved two resolutions for which he could get no seconder—one that the county pay one-fourth of the cost of rebuilding the bridge, and another that the amount be one fifth.

Finally Mr. Middleton moved, seconded by Mr. Forster, that the amount of the county's share towards the rebuilding of the bridge be one-tenth, and this was carried.

In the matter of electric lights for Court House hill, Mr. Walsh moved, seconded by Mr. Burnham that the county pay for the cost of one electric light (at the registry office) of the two to be placed on Court House hill. This was agreed to and after Mr. Cahill had thanked the councillors for their courtesy the conference broke up.

Parents Must Have Rest.

A president of one of our colleges says:—"We spent many sleepless nights in consequence of our children suffering from colds, but this never occurs now: we use Scott's Emulsion and it quickly relieves pulmonary troubles."

DIRECT IMPORTER, GEORGE STREET.

ROOT AND BRANCH, the poison in your blood, howeves it may have come or whatever shape it may be taking, is cleared away by Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It's a remedy that rouses every organ into healthful action, purifies and enriches the blood, and through it cleanses and invigorates the whole system. Salt-rheum, Tetter, Eczema, Erysipelas, Boils, Carbuncles, Enlarged Glands, and the worst Scrofulous Sores and Swellings, are perfectly and permanently cured by it.

Unlike the ordinary Spring medicines or sarsaparillas, the "Discovery" works equally well at all seasons. All the year round and in all cases, it is guaranteed, as no other blood medicine is. If it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. You pay only for the good you get.

Isn't it safe to say that no other blood-purifier can be "just as good?"

If it were, wouldn't it be sold so?

By its mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties, Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh in the Head.

A STRANGE STORY.

Are These Things Within the Possibilities?

BY NANCY NUGENT.

At the far end of the building remained one window the licking, lapping flames had not reached. Soon there appeared a woman. It was the maid, and in her arms she held her struggling frantic mistress. Raising her, she forced her through the window. As she was about to lower her by the rope she had fastened around her, we saw the seething flames rise up behind them. The vast crowd stood breathless. Down, down she came, swinging around and around, almost within safety. A terrific crash! The whole upper floor had fallen, carrying with it the brave little maid. Into the air arose flames, sparks, ashes, and a glorious shout of farewell to the spirit that had risen above all, even into heaven.

When the sustaining hands had been forced away, the body suspended in mid-air dropped, the head striking heavily on the ground. She lay white and unconscious.

Leland rushed forward. Lifting her in his arms he sped back to the carriage. "To the asylum again, as quick as you can?"

"With the help of Letty and a nurse, the other Letty, so strangely met, was soon cared for. Dr. Denham joined the watch. We four sat by her all night waiting to see the result of the combat between life, reason, and death. A faint sigh caused us all to look at the still face of Mrs. Lyle. No other hope was given us for an hour. Then those lovely dark eyes opened, like a child's who has just awakened from a sound sleep.

"I am so glad you stayed all night, Jack, with your little sister. I have had such a nice sleep. Where am I? Who are those men? Jack, what is it? Where is Paul?"

She had noticed her surroundings, and seemed surprised.

Dr. Denham clapped his hands in joy. "She is cured. She is saved. Thank God, she is all right. She remembers nothing. She thinks she has slept those five years."

I took her hand to count the pulse, and the thrill I thought pity for my friend's wife again came over me. I drew back ashamed. Leland then told her I was his old college friend. She looked at me and I was glad to see a slight flush steal over her face as she met my gaze. "I am pleased to meet you; you were always Jack's favorite. Jack, tell me where I am and why here, and has Paul seen you?"

We both looked at Dr. Denham. I will tell her all; she is quite strong—her insanity was not hereditary. Seating himself beside her, while Letty, Leland and I stood around, he told her all.

When he told her of the death of her husband my heart fluttered like a woman's, for she lifted those dark eyes and looked at me, then they drooped, and I knew—well, no matter what.

Paul Pentland was now announced. He asked permission to make the asylum his home for a day or two to enable him to select another house.

We were a merry party at the end of that time. The two Lettys had become fast friends, and of course the two Jacks had always been great friends. Leland was general favorite, and Dr. Denham looked gleefully on and called himself the father of us all.

Some far Western and Southwestern papers are discussing the desirability of introducing the kangaroo in those regions. They say the kangaroo is valuable because of its economic value in "flesh, fur and foot wear," and also because of the novel sport it would afford, taking in this particular the place of the defunct buffalo. It is said the kangaroo would do well in regions altogether unfit for other stock. Some say it would be more profitable to raise kangaroos than steers.

Why go about hawking and spitting when Nasal Balm will remove every vestige of your catarrh, and thus relieve you of this disagreeable habit? In cases of cold in the head, Nasal Balm gives instant relief and effects a permanent cure. From dealers or by mail, post paid, 50c. small, or $1 large size bottle. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Typical Holstein-Friesian.

The cut shows the capital Holstein Friesian cow that carried off first prize in the three-year ring against strong competition, both at Albany and Syracuse, last September. Her name is Aaggie Constance

A TYPICAL HOLSTEIN FRIESIAN COW.

Netherland 16623, and she comes of distinguished ancestry, being got by Netherland Prince 716 H.H.B.; out of Aaggie Constance 2639 H. H. B. She was bred by Smiths, Powell & Lamb of Syracuse; was born March 15, 1889, and is one of the gems of the Crumhorn Herd, property of Mr. D.F. Wilber, Oneonta, Otsego Co., N. Y. She combines in her appearance to an unusual degree the two great desiderata of vigor and fineness, and her milk apparatus, her skin and her secretions give every indication of a yield both large and rich.—Country Gentleman.

The correct heat for scalding hogs is 180 degrees.

Feed your coarsest fodder in the coldest weather.

Begin your sheep experience with a small flock.

The Norway spruce is preferable as a windbreak.

It will pay as a business to raise good cows to sell.

Cattle feeding on dry stalks need a good deal of water.

Fashion Dots.

Plaids of all sorts are to be fashionable for late winter and early spring wear.

A great deal of lace in ecru is called for, for trimming handsome evening dresses.

Very large buckles are shown for millinery use. These are placed on the front of the hat in the middle of a large bow.

White and very light-colored passe menterie are in great demand. Some of them are very wide and correspondingly expensive.

The newest Russian blouse is made of silk in very light collors, and some rather startling effects are shown in velvet of the Royal Stuart plaid.

Special attention is given to dressy neckwear. Lace and fluffy colars, collarettes, plastrons, fichus and the like are worn with plainer dresses.

A popular millinery material is of felt on one side and velvet on the other. These are made together and have the appearance of a single fabric.

Some new trimmings are made with drops made of strands finished with small disks of metal, also with sequins and fancy-shaped drops of various sorts.

How They Clean Silk in Paris.

The Parisian way of cleaning silk is as follows: Brush thoroughly, wipe with a cloth and then lay flat on a board or table. Sponge well with hot coffee thoroughly freed from sediment by being strained through muslin. The silk is sponged on the right side. Allow it to become partially dry and iron on the wrong side. The coffee removes all grease, restores the brilliancy of the silk and does not give it a papery stiffness.

All who are troubled with constipation will find a safe, sure and speedy relief in Ayer's Pills. Unlike most other cathartics, these pills strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, and restore the organs to normal and regular action.

National Pills are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

Perfect Satisfaction.

Gentlemen,—I have found B.B.B. an excellent remedy, both as a blood purifier and general family medicine. I was for a long time troubled with sick headache and heartburn, and tried a bottle, which gave me such perfect satisfaction that I have since then used it as our family medicine.

MILLINERY.

Something About the Prevailing Modes.

A stylish round hat of black velvet is shown in the illustration. It is made over a stiff form, and is trimmed with black rolls of the velvet. A rich bow of gold and black ribbon is placed in front with a large aigrette.

It is rarely reserved for mid-winter to develop surprises in the mode of any department of the wardrobe. But this season brings forward not only a novelty, but considering the style which dominates the gown, an incongruity in the head dress. The latest caprice in the bonnet for the reception toilet, and what, indeed, may be regarded as no more than an apology for a bonnet, is a mere little skeleton, being a wire band which describes the brim, covered with a band of velvet or jet, with a bow, a ribbon chou, or a close cluster of flowers, supporting a wisp of aigrette, a whip or other arrangement of feathers, mounted at the front, and a bow or chouz at the back, from which depend strings of narrow velvet ribbon. A model of this type is a wire band, covered with a row of cut-jet beads trimmed at the front with a bouquet of violets, supporting a pale, moss-green bunch of aigrette, some of the flues of which are tipped with feathers of the cophitura breast, and a chou and strings at the back of black velvet ribbon an inch in width. A second model consists of a band of black velvet with a wide loop on each side of the back of black piece velvet, clasped by a chou, from which depend strings of narrow velvet ribbon, and on the front an Alsatian bow formed of scales of gelatinized jet, mounted with a jetted aigrette, and a whip of humming bird plumage. The band, in some models, is objectively a close garland of shaded velvet roses, an airy monture of feathers rising at the front, with a chou and strings of narrow velvet ribbon at the back.

We think that we are a large slice of the earth here on this continent. But over one half of the people of the world live in Asia, and nearly one-fourth of them in China, which slightly exceeds the whole of Europe in population.

After the marriage of a strange couple in Boston the other day the groom placed a sealed envelope in the minister's hands, which the latter supposed contained the usual fee. When opened the following note appeared: "If she turns out as well as I think she will I will come back and pay you for your services."

Campbellford Speaks.

No one has better reason to be grateful for Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure than I have. I was ill for a long time under the doctor's care; I was tortured with muscular rheumatism, disordered kidneys and general debility. I was losing flesh rapidly—had gone down from 180 to 130 pounds—and was bedfast for months. If you have been there before, you know how little there was in life for me, and when I was asked to try Membray's Cure, how hopeless I was. I used two bottled only, ($2) and at the end of that time had risen from a sick bed, regained my appetite, was relieved from all pain, put on new flesh, and am now attending to business as well as ever.—D. WATERS, merchant, Campbellford, Ont. Write me if you want further particulars about Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

ORANGEVILLE, April 4th, 1892.

DR. L. A. SMITH & CO.:

DEAR SIRS,—Anti-Dandruff is evidently giving satisfaction. I have sold about half of the gross I bought from you on the 23rd of January last. I use it in my own family and like it well. Can recommend it to all who are troubled with dandruff.

Yours truly, THOS. STEVENSON.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

Every Lady Uses It.

Dyer's Jelly of Cucumber and Roses for chapped hands or lips, as it effectually cures in every instance. Try it. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

PERSONALS.

Paderewski has cut his hair!

It is rumored that James Whitcomb Riley is going to write a novel.

Mrs. Robert G. Ingersoll receives almost as many letters as her husband, and most of the letters inclose religious tracts.

Mr. Cleveland evidently intends to spend a good portion of the coming summer at Gray Gables, for his cottage on Buzzard Bay is undergoing additions and repairs.

Milton was a temperate man, but he evidently was familiar with the julep. "Behold this cordial julep here, that flames and dances in his crystal bounds, with spirits of balm and fragrant syrups mix'd." Thus wrote Milton.

It is related of the late Prince Albert Edward, the eldest son of the Prince of Wales, that he was a good, thoughtful boy, while his brother George was inclined to make things lively. At one time when George tried in vain to persuade his brother to join in some prank, he got out of patience and said, tartly: "Oh, you're too good. Go and sing God save your grandmother!"

JOKERS' DIARY.

The statement that the coal trust is making it hot for the community is without foundation.—Binghamton Leader.

"Hard astern," as the tugboat captain remarked when he sat down suddenly on the slippery pavement.—Philadelphia Record.

One could stand some men "going off in a flight of eloquence" if it would only take them out of hearing.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The icy scenery about Niagara now is said to be the grandest in a decade. All the visitors are gone over the falls.—Boston Globe.

"Did you make any calls last New Year's?" "Yes," replied Billy Bliffkins, "I called several times. That's why I swore off playing poker."—Washington Star.

"There's a timepiece I have had in the family a long while," said Crimsonbeak, exhibiting a ninety-day note which had never been met.—Yonkers Statesman.

Miss Plane—I think I would have made a successful politician. I never forget a face. Miss Bute—Wouldn't you be happier, dear, if you could forget your own?—Indianapolis Journal.

There is a man in England whose special hobby is liquor. His way of entertaining guests would have done credit to the mad King of Bavaria. On one occasion he had a huge basin constructed in his garden and covered with a canopy to keep out the rain. This basin was intended for a punch bowl, and it was the largest the world ever saw. In it were mingled four hogsheads of brandy, eight barrels of water, 25,000 lemons, twenty gallons of lime juice, 1,800 pounds of sugar, 300 toasted biscuits, five pounds of grated nutmeg and a pipe of old Malaga wine. There were many guests present—it was a stag party, by the way—and all are said to have gone home gloriously drunk.

Four years ago Joseph Mativin, who has a farm near Stanwood, Wash., discovered a peculiar head of grain in a field of barley. Since then he has been propagating it, until now he has considerable land sown to this strange grain, which yields about 100 bushels to the acre. The grain is of a deep brown color, resembling scorched wheat grain, and is similar to wheat in form. The bran or shell is thin and tough. The grain is not fit for milling purposes, and a brewer who examined it said that it was useless for brewing purposes. It makes, however, excellent food for chickens and hogs.

The always admirable family column in the Philadelphia Times throws out these suggestions: People are very prone to say, "What a little coward that child is," forgetting entirely that it is such as they who have made the little one what it is. No baby is born afraid of the dark, the big policeman or any of the one hundred and one bugaboos that nurses and parents conjure up to terrorize the small wrongdoers, but it is made cowardly by the frightful fiction concocted for its benefit. Tell a child always the truth about everything, no matter how trivial or unimportant it may be, and it will soon come to have perfect confidence in everything you say. A little one declines to go into a dark room to bring out its doll that was left there because someone has told it of a great bogie-man that lurks in dark apartments, ready to spring upon little children. There is a great deal in early association. We know one man who can never drink gin because when a child his mother used always to give him castor oil disguised with that liquor. The poor woman has often wished that she had used different stimulants in the same way.

No One Need Pity You.

If you die of consumption without having tried that celebrated cure, now being talked about by every one, and known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," you are not entitled to any pity. If you want to stay with your friends in the flesh, do not let an hour pass by without sending to the nearest drug store for "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Read about the wonderful cures it has wrought. This is the electrical age of wonders, and this emulsion is the product of the latest researches in science. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all drug stores.

Prisoners Liberated.

Many who have been confined to their beds for years by rheumatism, lame back and kidney complaints, have been liberated from their sad prison by the wonderful regulating and purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters, which drives out the acrid poison from the blood and restores health to the afflicted.

News About Town.

It is the current report about town that Kemp's Balsam for the throat and lungs is making some remarkable cures with people who are troubled with coughs, sore throat, asthma, bronchitis and consumption. Any druggist will give you a trial bottle FREE OF COST. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The large bottles are 50c. and $1.

War Well Waged.

What greater enemy of mankind than disease, and what nobler work than to fight against this death-dealing enemy of humanity. The most successful war against disease is being steadily carried on by Burdock Blood Bitters for dyspepsia constipation, bad blood, biliousness, etc., cannot resist its powers.

Truly Recommended.

Gentlemen,—I can truly recommend Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for all coughs and colds. Less than one bottle cured my brother of a severe cold. MISS MAGGIE THOMPSON, Vasey, Ont.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it, is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle FREE, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c. and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

THE BANQUET IN BARRIE.

McCARTHY SAYS IT WAS AN IDIOTIC ATTACK,

Meaning the Effort of The Empire to Read Him Out of the Party—But He Gained, He Asserted, a Position of Greater Service to People.

BARRIE, Jan. 27.—Long will be remembered the banquet Wednesday tendered by the citizens of Barrie to D'Alton McCarthy, M.P. It was held in the town hall, and it was a magnificent affair. Covers were laid for 350 guests and there was not a vacant chair. A curious coincidence was the fact that every municipality in the three Simcoes was represented either by its reeve or deputy-reeve and in some instances by both.

The menu was excellent, and the decorations, while not profuse, were artistic. Festoons of colored electric lights were suspended in all directions, flags were gracefully grouped along the wall, and plants were liberally distributed along the tables. The mottoes were: "Our Queen," "Our Country," "Our Flag," "Our Worthy Representative," "He Has Done Nobly," "McCarthy and British Connection Forever," "Simcoe is Still Proud of Her Favorite."

Looking down upon the scene was a large portrait of the departed chieftain, Sir John Macdonald. On the platform, ranged behind a fringe of palms, begonias, lilies, etc., were a hundred or so of the stately matrons and pretty maidens of the town. They demonstrated that they were just as quick as their male friends to appreciate the good points of a speech, and they were not backward in showing it.

When the guest of the evening arose to speak he was greeted with "He's a Daisy," "He's a Jolly Good Fellow," and cheers loud and long. During these demonstrations Mr. McCarthy, from an elevated position on a chair, bowed his acknowledgments, rubbed his hands satisfactorily and smiled graciously.

"I have sometimes thought," he began, "that a man who went into public life and had to endure the vilification, though he attended well to his duty, had made a wrong choice in the path of life which he had mapped out. [Applause.]

"I don't know that a public man ever does much during the period of excitement—and during the period of his life I was almost going to say—that is not put down by his opponents, and sometimes even by his friends in the worst possible books. And men who have struggled and done their best to serve their country—and sometimes in so doing to serve their party—have received, at the hands of some portion of the country at least, nothing but praise, nothing but appreciation. I am getting rather to be a veteran in this business." [Laughter and cheers.]

It was in 1867 that he first gave public utterance to his political principles, and since then he had never been actuated by any ignoble ambition. He had fought long before he carried the riding he now represented and he was now pleased to know that, while others may attribute evil motives to him, his constituents were wont to speak even more kindly of him than he deserved. [Cheers.]

He would be hard indeed to satisfy if he was not gratified by the great ovation that had that day been accorded him. "I have not been an office-seeker. I have by my political course made office impossible for me. I put aside position, place and power, but if I am able to draw from the people the conviction that I am doing what is right and just the reward is greater than if Her Majesty had called me to accept one of the highest positions in this Dominion." [Tremendous applause.]

Then he turned the arrows of his rhetoric upon The Empire, seemingly much to the enjoyment of his auditors. "The paper which denounced me is part of my own property, was founded largely by my exertion, and the man who manages it is the man whom I put there. [Cries: Put him out.] Therefore, if there was anyone from whom I should naturally expect decent treatment it was from the man I had placed in the management of that paper. [Hear, hear.]

"But, gentlemen, I have my reward. If he had intended to put me in a position where I would be of greater service to the people, nothing has contributed to do so more than the idiotic attack of The Empire newspaper." [Tremendous applause.]

Speeches were also delivered by Col. O'Brien, M.P.; Col. Tyrwhitt, M.P.; Dr. Wylie, M.L.A.; Mr. E. Douglas Armour and others.

Col O'Brien intimated that his opinions regarding school matters, the dual language and the fiscal policy of the country ran in the same direction as those of Mr. McCarthy, while Col. Tyrwhitt said he was with the member for North Simcoe in all things except in regard to trade matters.

A MYSTERY YET.

The Walpole Island Murder—Coroner's Jury Fail To Reach a Verdict.

PORT LAMBTON, Jan. 20.—The inquest on the body of the murdered Indian, Frank Roy, was conducted at Peter Forbes' hotel by Coroner Frazier and Julius C. Backe of Sarnia. All the facts already stated were given in evidence without throwing any further light on the mystery, yet closely connecting the accused men with the death of Roy.

At 2.30 the jury returned, and it was with the greatest astonishment that at 6 o'clock those waiting around for the result of the combined think of 12 good men and true were discharged that the coroner had given orders for the prisoners release, the jury not having come to any agreement, three of them standing out in favor of the prisoners. Much to their own surprise the prisoners were then released.

It is reported that the Government will rearrest the accused men and send them up for trial at the Spring Assizes in Sarnia. A person not an eye-witness of the proceedings would never realize the difficulty of conducting an investigation of such a character as this proved to be. The natural and characteristic reticence of the Indians, their evident fear, too, of attracting to themselves any enmity by evidence of a damaging character, added to a necessity for interpretation into the Chippewa tongue of every question put to them, were all of them stumbling blocks in the way of a complete comprehension by the jury of the evidence adduced.

HOPKINS' MILLIONS.

To Be Used to Give the Best Institution For Studying the Sciences.

BOSTON, Jan. 27.—At the annual meeting of the Bowdoin College alumni yesterday Prof. Robinson of the chemical department of Bowdoin announced that Edward F. Searles, to whom the Mark Hopkins' millions were left, had promised to erect the finest and best-equipped building for the study of the sciences that could be had in this country. He said that Mr. Searles had placed no limit on the cost, but wanted the best appointed building that money could procure.

THE FUEL COMBINE.

Coal Sharks in Rochester Are Indicted by the Grand Jury.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Jan. 27.—The grand jury indicted 18 local coal dealers for conspiracy on two counts. The indicted men are members of the Rochester Coal Exchange, and are charged with conspiracy in illegally combining to advance the price of coal.

The second count charged them with preventing other coal dealers, not members of the exchange, from securing a supply of coal, and preventing others from joining the Exchange.

The grand jury also returned a presentment against the members of the Western Anthracite Coal Committee, reciting the fact that its members are representatives of coal and railroad organizations controlling the anthracite coal mines of Pennsylvania and that the said companies and their representatives have conspired to control the shipment of coal to prevent free competition for the purpose of controlling prices and injuring trade and commerce.

Day by Day

The surprising bargains brought about by our Annual Inventory Sale are picked up eagerly, and shoppers who patronize our sale are all anxious to get the best.

Business with us is quite remarkable for this season of the year. Shoppers manifest increased satisfaction with the way we do business, the values we give and the service we control.

Our present great values, in which the public interest is still centered, consist of—

Damaged Table Linens
Damaged Table Napkins
Bankrupt Lines of Towels, &c

"Sweep them out" is the word, and we have no doubt that by the end of another week, with such sales as we have had, and with such reductions in price, many of these tempting bargains will be conspicuous by their absence. It will pay you to purchase some of your spring supplies at the GOLDEN LION'S inventory sale now going on.

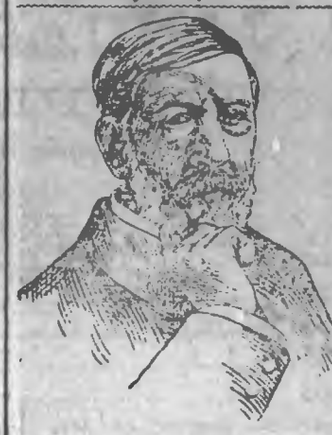
BLAINE IS DEAD.

The Record of His Career Shows a Busy Life.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—James G. Blaine died at 11 a.m. yesterday.



JAMES G. BLAINE.

Mr. Blaine's busy life has been thus epitomized:

1830—James G. Blaine was born in West Brownsville, Washington County, Pa., Jan. 31.
1847—Graduated from Washington College in his native county, with honors.
1854—Instructor in literature and science in the Pennsylvania Institute for the Blind in Philadelphia.
1854—Removed to Augusta, Me., and became editor and half proprietor of The Kennebec Journal.
1856—Elected a delegate to the first Republican National Convention, which nominated General Freemont for the Presidency.
1858—Elected to the State Legislature, serving four successive terms in that body, two of which as its Speaker.
1862—Elected to Congress, where in one branch or the other he served for 18 years.
1865—Began to take a prominent part in the work of reconstructing the Confederate States.
1867—Opposed the action of the Reconstruction Bill placing the South under military government, and was finally successful in defeating the obnoxious clause. He also delivered a powerful speech against the doctrine of paying off the public debt in greenbacks.
1869—Chosen Speaker of the House of Representatives, and was re-elected Speaker by the next two Congresses.
1874—The Democrats having gained control of the House Mr. Blaine became the leader of the minority.
1876—The most prominent candidate for the Presidential nomination. On June 11, the Sunday before the convention, was prostrated by the heat when entering his church. At the convention he only lacked 28 votes of a majority necessary to nominate him, but was defeated by the consolidation of his opponents. Was appointed to the United States Senate to fill unexpired term caused by resignation of Senator Morrill.
1878—Advocated the establishment of a steamship line to Brazil and urged a subsidy to be given to ensure its success.
1879—Defeated for the Presidential nomination by Garfield.
1880—Again a prominent candidate for the Presidential nomination. When Garfield was elected he was offered and accepted the State portfolio.
1881—Retired from the Cabinet Dec. 19, after inaugurating several measures which were calculated to accrue to the benefit of the United States.
1882—Began to write his historical work, entitled "Twenty Years of Congress," on which he labored four years.
1884—Nominated for the Presidency, but was defeated at the polls and retired to his home in Augusta and continued writing his book.
1886—Took an active part in the Maine campaign, delivering a series of speeches upon the fisheries question.
1888—Went to Europe in poor health and had an attack of illness while in Florence. Sent two letters from Europe saying he would not be a candidate under any circumstances. He returned in the autumn and delivered several speeches in favor of Gen. Harrison's candidacy.
1889—Appointed Secretary of State and began to interest himself immediately in the Behring Sea and fisheries question with Great Britain and other international affairs.
1890—Formulated his reciprocity treaties, which were incorporated in the tariff Act this year and which led to commercial treaties with several countries.
1892—Resigned as Secretary of State in June and spent the summer at Bar Harbor. Lost the nomination for the Presidency of the United States.

TO PRESERVE THE FISH.

An International Commission to Meet At Washington Soon.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Under the terms of an agreement made by the Canadian Commissioners with the late Secretary Blaine and Mr. J. W. Foster in Washington last February, and since ratified by the Governments of the United States, Great Britain and Canada, Secretary of State Foster has appointed Mr. Richard Rathbun commissioner on the part of the United States.

He will meet within the next few weeks at Washington a commission to be appointed by England for Canada, and the two will investigate and report the best and most expedient method for preserving the fishes of the waters contiguous to the United States and Canada, and also joint relations for preservation and protection of the fishes of the Atlantic Ocean within the jurisdiction of the two countries.

Coal Mine Horror.

BUDA PESTH, Jan. 28.—In a coal mine explosion at Tokod, near Gran, yesterday, 150 men were entombed. Nineteen bodies were recovered before the fire shut off further rescue.

Satolli to Stay.

ROME, Jan. 28.—There is no truth in the report that Mgr. Satolli is to be recalled and replaced by Archbishop Ireland. On the contrary, it is the intention of the Pope to establish his position in America more firmly.

An Avalanche In Austria.

VIENNA, Jan. 28.—An avalanche buried a gamekeeper's hut at Semmering, in Lower Austria, yesterday, killing six persons and severely injuring two.

Caprivi Scared Him.

ST. PETERSBURG, Jan. 28.—The Czar gave a dinner in honor of Emperor William last evening.

TORONTO'S THIRD RAID.

DESPERADOES FAIL TO ROB A BANK.

Four Men Enter the Premises in Broad Daylight, Present Pistols at the Heads of the Clerks and Command the Funds —A Lively Fight.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—It is evident that one of the most successful "mobs" of thieves, as they are term ed in professional parlance, that has operated in this city for a long time, is now at work, and although their operations are all conducted in broad daylight the mists of mystery surround them like the mufflers with which they wrap their faces when they are at work. Three of the most daring robberies which have happened in this city in a decade have taken place within a month. The first was on Dec. 27 last, when the jewelry store of Ammon Davis of 184 Queen-street east was entered and Davis and his assistant tied and gagged and the place looted; the second occurred on Jan. 17, when Fred Roberts, jeweler, 186 Queen-street west, his assistant and a customer were tied and gagged and $700 worth of jewelry taken, and the third occurred yesterday afternoon at the offices of the Home Savings & Loan Company, 78 Church-street. All three burglaries were committed in broad daylight in the most populous portions of the city and in full view of pedestrians had any chanced to look inside.

Yesterday's raid was, however, by all odds the most daring of the three, as the rear door of the Loan Company's office is directly opposite the police station, and plate glass windows afford a full view of the interior from Church-street.

At 4.10 yesterday afternoon Major James Mason, the manager of the Home Savings and Loan Co., left his office with the intention of keeping an appointment with the vice-president of the company, Mr. Eugene O'Keefe. As he went out he closed the outer swing doors of the office behind him. Fifteen minutes later three young men, wearing scarfs over the lower portion of their faces, walked quickly in, and lining up in front of the counter in a trice had each whipped a brace of revolvers out of his overcoat pockets and Teller Wellington Wallace, Accountant R. B. Street and Assistant James Mason stood covered, with the stern order of "Hands up!" ringing in their ears.

Teller Wallace was securely ensconced in his cage with a front of gilted iron work between himself and the man who menaced him. The rest of the cage, including the top, was composed of firm iron network, the door being locked from the inside.

Finding that threats would not induce the teller to hand over the cash, of which there was about $5000 in the cage at the time, the man leaped nimbly on top of the structure, intending, presumably, to leap in, but finding it securely roofed with iron netting he attempted to raise the entire top. Being baffled in this by the strength of the fastenings he clambered over the top and jumped to the floor behind the counter. Throwing his entire weight against the frail network, he tried vainly to force an entrance that way.

Fearing that the door might give way Teller Wallace barricaded it with his stool and the light cage shook again as the sturdy ruffian assailed it at various points.

While this scene was being enacted in the front part of the office in plain view of anyone who chose to glance in through the plate glass windows Accountant Street and Assistant Clerk Mason were engaged in a desperate encounter in the rear. Mr. Street, while looking down the barrels of the brace of revolvers so ominously pointed at his head, did not evince the least trepidation, but turned round and started for the telephone to alarm the police.

On becoming cognizant of this move the man who was guarding Mason further down the counter, anticipating the result, rushed to intercept Street.

Just as the accountant rang the telephone his opponent had reached the end of the counter, and rounding it was upon him, and throwing him up against the wall rained a perfect hail of blows on his head and upraised hands with the barrels of the two revolvers.

Perceiving the peril his companion was in young Mason gallantly dashed to the rescue, and remembering on his way of a brick which laid just beside the rear door he thought if he could once lay his hands on it, he would have something substantial with which to oppose the robbers. But while he was making his way to the assistance of Street the third of the invaders was not idle, but nimbly slipping through the accountant's window attacked young Mason unexpectedly in the rear, and striking him a couple of blows on the head with the butt end of a revolver laid him unconscious on the floor.

While all this was going on inside the fourth member of the gang was keeping guard at the door, and he, at this moment, either sounded the alarm, or else becoming aware of the fact that it was next to impossible to obtain any booty the crowd with one accord made for the door.

The messenger boy, who was also in the office at the time, crawled hastily into the vault on the first appearance of the robbers and did not materialize again until just as they were departing, when he followed them to the door and saw that the gang separated at Adelaide-street, two walking hastily east and the other two vanishing just as quickly in the opposite direction.

Another member of the clerical staff, who was out in the lavatory while this scene so strongly reminiscent of the days of the Jesse James gang was being enacted inside, became aware of what was going on just as the interlopers were starting for the door. He speedily ascended a staircase in the rear and telephoned to the police from the office of Foy & Kelly.

No alarm was raised in the street, and even the policeman on the beat had no knowledge of the affair until the men from the police station arrived.

Young Mason has two bad cuts on his head and there is a lump on the right side of his cranium as big as a duck egg.

Detective Alf Caddy was sitting in the office at headquarters when a young man with a dark mustache hastily entered the door and began to relate the story of the attempted robbery. Before he had said half-a-dozen words he was talking to the air, as Caddy had snatched his hat and bolting down the stairs half-a-dozen at a time was on the scene in a "three of shakes," but the birds had flown and had taken with them so much of the nerve of the bank men that with the appearance of the detective came the reaction and they were unable to furnish any clue as to the personal appearance of their late visitors.

In response to the telephone message Detectives Duncan and Sleeman followed in the footsteps of [illegible] but they were too late.

Had the gang delayed their exit another five minutes they would have been taken red-handed in the act, as a band of detectives for the board-room had arrived in only a few minutes after their departure.

NICKERSON'S DESIRE.

He Is Out of Domestic Infelicity and Wants His Old Place.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Senator Squire has filed in the Senate the petition of A. H. Nickerson for restoration to his former status as a major on the retired list of the army. He says that he resigned Nov. 15, 1883, "in consequence of a domestic difficulty that had since been settled to the satisfaction of all parties."

These domestic troubles caused a big sensation in social circles here when they occurred. In 1883 Major Nickerson, then one of the best known and most highly respected officers in Washington society, sent his wife abroad to educate her children. While she was away he removed for a brief period to Philadelphia and there secured a divorce from his wife on the ground of desertion. On the same day he married another woman.

It was subsequently developed by evidence produced before the Philadelphia courts that Mrs. Nickerson No. 1 had gone abroad at her husband's solicitation, and that there was not the slightest reason for their separation except the desire of Major Nickerson to marry the other woman. The court at once set aside the divorce proceedings and an indictment was brought against Major Nickerson for perjury.

To escape trial for this offence and also trial by court-martial Major Nickerson fled to Toronto, Canada, where he remained until a few years ago, when the original Mrs. Nickerson applied for and secured a divorce. Then his friends intervened and had the indictment for perjury set aside. While in Canada he forwarded his resignation.

AN OPEN LETTER.

From D'Alton McCarthy as a Sequel to His Stayner Speech.

Mr. D'Alton McCarthy has written this open letter to Mr. Thomas Long, chairman of the Stayner meeting:

DEAR MR. LONG,—I notice that in the reports of my speech to the association at the meeting in Stayner, over which you presided the other day, that an error, of perhaps comparatively minor importance, seems to have been made which may be due to inaccuracy in reporting or may possibly be owing to my failure to have sufficiently explained what I desired to say on the point.

I think I made it plain, at least I tried to do so, that my reason for severing my connection with the Ministerial party was due to the fact that I had been attacked in the Government organ, which attack, I thought, must have been inspired by the administration, or if not so inspired had not been disavowed or repudiated, and, therefore, that I had no alternative than that of holding the Government responsible for it.

That, and that alone, was the reason why, after due reflection, I deliberately determined on the action which I took.

But it might appear from the latter part of my speech, as reported, that the course of Sir John Thompson in ignoring me and thus treating me as not being entitled to any rank or consideration in the party had some weight in leading me to the conclusion I arrived at.

I desire to say that the Prime Minister's course in that matter had nothing whatever to do with my action in asking that the convention should be summoned, or in my determination announced to the association. I referred to it, though evidently not with sufficient fulness to make my meaning plain, for the purpose of showing how impossible it was for me to offer my advice to the present Cabinet upon the trade or any other question, and consequently as a reason why, if I was to be of any use to my constituency, I should announce publicly what, under happier conditions, I would have been able to offer as counsel to my political leaders and associates.

In the evening at the banquet I think I made this clear.

You will, I hope, pardon me for writing an open letter, but my desire that there should be no misunderstanding possible as to my motives must be my excuse. I remain, yours very truly,

D'ALTON MCCARTHY.

A SCOTCH GIRL.

Became Violent When Told Not to Make a Noise Or Else She'd Wake the Baby.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—A 17-year-old Scotch girl named Mary Caran, an inmate of the Haven, was arrested last night on a charge of assaulting another inmate named Lotty Cole.

The complainant was yesterday afternoon nursing her 3-months-old babe, which is thought to be sick unto death. The girl Caran, it is alleged, was making a good deal of noise. The mother naturally pleaded with her to keep quiet. This, instead of having the desired effect, raised Mary's ire, and she is alleged to have viciously attacked the woman Cole, tearing her hair, scratching her face and otherwise inflicting bodily harm.

The police at the Wilton-avenue station were notified, and P. C. Tretter was detained to arrest the obdurate girl with the wild name.

A WOMAN'S STAB.

Michael Fleming in the Hospital Suffering From Two Knife Thrusts.

TORONTO, Jan. 28.—Michael Fleming, who lives in the rear of 60 Sydenham-street, was brought to the General Hospital yesterday afternoon with a deep knife wound in the middle of the forearm and a nasty cut in the hand.

Michael was very reticent about the matter, but explained that the wounds were received during a scuffle with a woman whose name he would not divulge.

Some of the arteries were severed and a good deal of difficulty was experienced in stopping the flow of Michael's vital fluid.

The Morley Case.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—A verdict was rendered in the Morley-Longhman case Friday awarding the plaintiff £140,000. The defendants were ordered to pay the costs.

The judge before whom the case was tried declared that the amount of money sued for had been obtained by the Longhmans from Henry Morley by undue influence, which had been exercised under the cloak of religion.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 28, 1893.

UNDER A TROPICAL SUN.

The Beauty, Climate, Produce and People of the Far Famed West India Islands Recounted by a Peterborughonian—Fifty Days Voyage Amid an Oceanic Archipelago.

In St. Andrews' church on Thursday evening and under the auspices of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society of the church, Dr. R. W. Bell, as mentioned in last night's EXAMINER gave a most interesting and instructive account of a pleasant trip taken by him to the West India Islands during the winter of 1891-2. After a few, short, introductory remarks the speaker said he left Peterborough in the early part of December for St. John's, N.B., where he spent two days "seeing the sights" in that the largest city in the province. Embarked on the staunch steamer "Duart Castle" after a few hours enjoyable sale Halifax, where in a fit of disgust we often tell our associates to go to, was reached. Here the Government houses, the parks, the fortifications and British fleet were all visited and briefly described by the lecturer. By sea the voyage was continued directly south and after a four days' travel on the "briny wave" the great summer resort for all Americans—the Bermuda Islands, was reached. One thing worthy of note was the complete transplantation, so to speak, from a frigid temperature to an atmosphere of perrenial summer, within the short time of 48 hours. Dr. Bell pleasurably described the good roads, fine parks, beautiful drives, numerous public buildings, broad streets, etc., of the islands. The Bermudas are

SITUATED IN A VERY SALUBRIOUS CLIMATE

and thousands of people visit the islands essaying to regain their lost health and vigor, and scores upon scores of weak constitutions are re-invigorated by the fine health and life-giving properties of their excellent temperature and remedial atmosphere. The North Atlantic squadron of the British Navy has its station here. Journeying further south in the belt of the torrid zone on a never-to-be-forgotten beautiful Christmas morning in 1891 after four days' voyaging the Island of St. Thomas, under Danish sway, and the first the Leeward group was reached. The towns and contour of the island were vividly described. One remarkable feature of the school system there is that the English language was taught and Danish was only an optional subject. The next island visited was that of St. Christopher, more familiarly known as "St. Kitts." The narrow streets, poor houses, the fish markets, etc., were all described by the speaker. Nevis and Antigua both under French dominition were next explored. St. John's, the capital of the Leeward islands is situtuated upon the last named. The party next paid a visit to Monserrat, an English island, and the healthiest of all the West Indies. Our famous "Monserrat Lime Juice" takes its name and exportation from this isle. Gaudaloupe, under French regime, was called at. It possesses charming scenery, and Port au Prince is the capital, inhabited by hosts of French negroes. On New Year's morning the

INHABITANTS WERE MASQUERADING

in noisy gangs. The people have no regard for the Sabbath, which to them is a great day for business, and they are addicted to the pernicious vice of intoxication. Dominica is a British island of a mountainous character, and the topography of it was described at some length by the doctor. Two days were spent at Martinique, where the Empress Josephine was born. The island St. Lucia was next on the list. Here for the first time in the whole voyage, the boat landed at a wharf, at other islands she remaining out about half a mile or more from the coast, "lighters" being used to transfer passengers and cargoes ashore, Here the novel spectacle of negro women carrying huge baskets on their heads filled with coal, on board ship was witnessed, the populace obstinately refusing to use hoists or mechanism of any kind. Castries, the capital, has a negro population of 40,000. St. Lucia island is the headquarters of the British troops in the West Indies. There are immense water spouts near the capital. Barbadoes is the most important island of all and has a population of 180,000 with about only 18,000 white. The number of people to the square mile is 1000—greater than any country on earth except China. The land is

ALL CULTIVATED TO THE EXTENT of its productiveness. All the islands of the West Indies, excepting only Bermuda and Barbadoes, which are coral isles, are of volcanic origin, and even at many of the highest mountain peaks volcanic eruptions are still going on. Barbadoes is a large sugar producing island. Bridgetown, the capital, has a population of 25,000 people. The white or English people are the ones in authority and power, while the blacks are mostly their servants. The island is distinctly English in its character, mode of life and habits. No stranger can get acquainted with the nobility but by the very best letters of introduction. The public buildings, streets, houses, are all of English style and shape. Roadsteads are in the harbour. The island has first class educational institutions, the capital is provided with a free circulating library and three semi-weekly newspapers. The island is the health resort of the West Indies, and all the aristocrats from neighboring lands pay it a visit. There are four seasons of the year in all the West India Islands—a wet season of four months followed by dry season of the same length; then came a two months' wet spell and an alternating season of aridity. On all the islands large quantities of oranges, bananas, pine-apples, sapadillas, sour sops, guvas limes, mangoes, cocoanuts and other fruits are raised. The savannahs, so peculiar to this region, are large open pleasure resorts much the same as our public parks. Trinidad is the largest island of all and contiguous to Venezuela in South America. The physical feature of the Dragon's Mouth, in the big gulf of Paria, was told about. The inhabitants are mostly what is known as "coolies" or Hindoos who dress rather scantily and slovenly. Port au Spain, the capital, is undoubtedly the most magnificent city of the West India Islands and possesses all marks of advanced civilization in the shape of street railways, asphaltic pavements, telegraph and telephone services, electric light and other conveniences. The city has large hospitals, some capable of accommodating 600 and 700 patients. Dr. Bell visited a hospitals of lepers and recounted the terrible suffering and sickening scenes exhibited by that most fatal of all tropical diseases. The famous botanical gardens where in the shape of floriculture, arborculture or horticultural. The orchid tree, whose flowers take on all the semblance of animal life, was portrayed. The famous pitch lake, 150 acres in extent, and upon whose surface a person can walk was an interesting sight. The cities are governed by a semi military police system. The Presbyterian missions were paid a flying visit and good work is done. Beautiful wide streets, imposing public buildings, and substantial business blocks with the first story built of stone and the second of wood, are met with on every side. Two days further sail ends a joyous journey at Georgetown, British Guiana, and at Demerara. The mosquitoes—little pesky things—almost devour the traveller here. Georgetown has 60,000 inhabitants, with four white people to every thousand. A national election was in progress on the day of the advent and excitement ran high. Grotesque methods of electioneering and processions headed by bands were the order of the day. The temperature here was between 70 and 80°, except on very rare occasions, and while a foreigner will be holding an umbrella over his head to protect himself from the boiling rays of a tropical sun, if the temperature happens to fall to 67° the inhabitants shiver with chill. The mode of government in the islands is much the same as in Canada, each island has its governor who possesses vice-regal power, its legislative assembly and executive council. The jaunt is now at its terminus.

GROW ALL SPECIE OF VEGETATION

ANOTHER LONDON MIRACLE.

AN ODDFELLOWS' LODGE PASSES A RESOLUTION OF THANKS.

The Extraordinary Case of Mr. E. F. Carrothers — Utterly Helpless for Three Years — Pronounced Permanently Disabled by his Lodge Doctor—Restored to Health and Strength and again Working at his Trade — A Story Fraught with Hope for Others.

London Advertiser.

Canadian Order of Oddfellows.
Manchester Unity.
Loyal Perseverance Lodge, No. 118.

LONDON, Nov. 22, 1892.

To the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company:

GENTLEMEN,—I have much pleasure in forwarding you a vote of thanks passed by a resolution of the above lodge, thanking you for the good your valuable medicine, Pink Pills, has done for our brother, E. F. Carrothers, who for three years and a half was almost helpless from locomotor ataxia, and given up by our doctor as incurable, but who is now, we are happy to say, by the use of your Pink Pills, able to follow his employment.

Trusting that your valuable medicine may be the means of curing many sufferers, and be a blessing to them as it was to our brother, I am yours truly, on behalf of the Lodge.

ED. GILLET, Secretary.
521 Phillip street, London, Ont.

This is to certify that the above facts are a true statement.

E. F. CARROTHERS.

The above is self-explanatory, but in order to lay the facts of this extraordinary case more fully before the public an Advertiser reporter proceeded to investigate it. It was his pleasure and duty some time since to record the remarkable cure of Mr. E. J. Powell, of South London, wrought by the medicine known as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. It was a striking story of release from life-long affliction, but it was even surpassed by the miraculous experience of Mr. E. F. Carrothers of 103 William street. Mr. Carrothers is an uncle of Alderman R. A. Carrothers, and by virtue of long residence and personal qualities is well and favourably known throughout the city. He is a carpenter and joiner by trade, and a good workman. His friends and acquaintances are aware that a healthier and more robust man never walked the streets of London until a few years ago, when he was suddenly stricken with what is generally supposed to be paralysis. They heard with regret that he had been pronounced incurable, and as he was unable to leave the house, only occasional callers saw him again during his long spell of total disability. Within the last few months they have been agreeably surprised to see him around again plying his vocation and apparently as vigorous as of yore. Inquiry and explanation naturally followed, and it is now widely known in the city to what agency Mr. Carrothers owes his magical restoration to health and strength.

A TALK WITH MR. CARROTHERS.

The other evening the reporter called upon Mr. Carrothers and found him seated by the fireside in the bosom of his family, looking hale, hearty and happy. Upon learning his visitor's errand he said he was only two happy out of the depths of his gratitude, to relate the circumstances of his affliction and his wonderful cure.

"I had always been a strong, healthy man," he said, "until this stroke laid me low. I hardly knew what sickness. It was three years ago last April when the attack came. I went to bed apparently in my usual health one night and awoke about 5 o'clock in the morning as my watch at the head of the bed told me. I dozed off again, and on waking the second time attempted to rise. I could not move. Every nerve and muscle of my body seemed to me paralyzed. I lay like a log. At first I was speechless, but managed after a time to articulate feebly, and not very audibly, my wish that a physician be sent for. Dr. Moorehouse came and placed a mustard plaster across my bowels telling me to like quiet for a few days. I did so because I could not do anything else.

"As I was entitled to the services of the lodge physician, Dr. Pingel, I sent for him. He gave me some medicine that relieved the excruciating pain in my head. He brought another doctor with him (I don't know his name) and they subjected me to a regular course of treatment, by which I was suspended from a support around my neck. I asked the doctor what the matter was, but he evidently wished to spare my feelings he did not tell me directly, nor did Mr. Gillett, the secretary of the lodge, whom I also asked. I inferred that there was something they did not wish me to know.

"I had now been about a year in the same condition: Sometimes I was able to get out of bed, but never out of doors. At other times I was unable to feed myself. I had absolutely no control over my muscles. If I attempted to touch or pick up anything my arm would usually stray, apparently of its own volition, in an entirely different direction. I was more helpless than an infant, and I suffered a great deal. The doctor commenced the injection of some compound into my arm and leg, but a kind of abscess gathered in each and it had to be lanced. This was very painful. A quart of matter of a greenish colour came out. I seemed to get stronger in general health, but my paralysis remained the same. In December, 1891, after two years and eight months of this helplessness I was given up by the doctors as hopeless. The grand master of the order, who had come to London to look into my case, and the secretary of Perseverance Lodge, called to see me and informed me of this. I had given up all hope myself, so the blow fell lighter. The lodge had all this time been paying my weekly sick dues, and I understood that after the doctor's certificate of my hopelessness had been handed in they made arrangements to continue giving me permanent aid.

"And now to the remedy which proved my earthly salvation: A next door neighbour one day sent me in a label off a Dr. Williams' Pink Pills box. I read it, and acting on a whim, and not with any real expectation of benefit, gave my little girl 50 cents to buy a box. The very first box made me more cheerful; it seemed to brace me up and I began to feel a glimmer of hope. With the second and third box the improvement continued, and I felt more than delighted to find that I was commencing to recover the use of my limbs. Through a friend I got a dozen boxes and the lodge added half a dozen more. I kept on taking the Pink Pills, and I gained steadily; so that I am now what you see me to-day. Yes, I am capable of earning my living as before. I am working at my trade in London West at present and walk over there (a distance of nearly two miles from the house) and return every day."

"You are naturally thankful for Dr. Williams. Pink Pills then?" interpolated the reporter.

"Thankful!" echoed Mr. Carrothers. "I can't find words to express my gratitude. You can imagine a man in my position, always strong and healthy before stricken down that way, with a family dependent upon him; and after giving up all hope of being anything but a useless burden, to be restored this way to strength and happiness—haven't I reason to be thankful and my family too?" And there was no mistaking the sincerity of the utterance. "I believe Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can cure anything that any medicine on earth can," he continued. "I know of other cases in this city where they have succeeded when doctors have failed. Well, good night." And the reporter left to call on Mr. Ed. Gillett, the secretary of Perseverance Lodge, who lives a couple of blocks further south at 521 Philip street.

MR. GILLET'S STATEMENT.

"There is nothing that can give me greater pleasure," said Bro. Gillet, "than to say a good word for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I tell you they saved the lodge a good deal of money in Bro. Carrother's case, and there is not a member of Perseverance who won't say the same thing. We had paid out over $400 to our sick brother, and of course it was a big drain on our finances. We asked the lodge physician, Dr. Pingel, to examine him so that we would know whether he was going to get better or not. The doctor informed us that he was incurable, and gave us a certificate to that effect."

Mr. Gillett opened his secretaire and extracted the document referred to from the lodge records. It read as follows:

Dr. Pingel, Office, 354 Dundas street,
LONDON, Dec. 2, 1891.

Bro. Gillett:

DEAR SIR,—At your request I carefully examined Bro. Carrothers of Perseverance C.O.O.F., M.U., who has been unable to perform any labour for two years, and find him suffering from the results of cerebral hemorrhage (extravasation of blood into the brain). As no improvement has taken place for some eighteen months I have no hesitation in pronouncing him permanently disabled.

Yours fraternally,
A. R. PINGEL.

"After that," said Mr. Gillett, "we sent for Grand Master Collins, to consider what we should do. We then learned that Bro. Carrothers had commenced taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and they were doing him good. So we decided to furnish him with a supply and await developments. You know the result. He's better now and at work again. The lodge unanimously moved a vote of thanks to the proprietors of Pink Pills, and it was forwarded to them.

"I have known Bro. Carrothers for years. He was always, until his last illness, a strong, healthy man, and it seemed strange that he should be stricken down so. He had a terrible siege of it. You see the knife (pointing to one on the table); well, if he tried to pick it up he couldn't do it to save his life. He was completely paralyzed."

Turning to the lodge records again, Mr. Gillet produced a book and showed the reporter the entries made week after week for three years and over of the payments made to Bro. Carrothers as sick benefits. The worthy secretary intimated that any other information desired, he would cheerfully furnish, but the reporter had enough to convince him and left.

DR. PINGLE.

Dr. Pingle was next visited at his office. He remembered the case of Mr. Carrothers well, and had heard that he was better.

"You considered him beyond help, doctor?"

"Yes; any physician, under the circumstances, would have pronounced the same opinion. His recovery is certainly remarkable."

"Dou you attribute it to the Pink Pills?"

"I do not doubt that they were the means of his cure, since Mr. Carrothers says it was by using them he became well again. Yes; there seems to be virtue in the medicine, judging by this case.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a perfect blood builder and nerve restorer, curing such diseases as rheumatism, neuralgia, partial paralysis, locomotor ataxia, St. Vitus dance, nervous headache, nervous prostration and the tired feeling therefrom, the after effects of la grippe, influenza and severe colds, diseases depending on humors in the blood, such as scrofula, chronic erysipelas, etc., Pink Pills give a healthy glow to pale and sallow complexions, and are a specific for the troubles peculiar to the female system, and in the case of men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, over-work or excesses of any nature.

These Pills are manufactured by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., and Schnectady, N.Y., and are sold only in boxes bearing the firms' trade mark and wrapper, at 50 cts. a box or six boxes for $2.50. Bear in mind that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are never sold in bulk or by the dozen or hundred, and any dealer who offers substitutes in this form is trying to defraud you and should be avoided. The public are also cautioned against all other so-called blood builders and nerve tonics, no matter what name may be given them. They are all imitations whose makers hope to reap a pecuniary advantage from the wonderful reputation achieved by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Ask your dealer for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, and refuse all imitations and substitutes.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company from either address. The price at which these pills are sold make a course of treatment comparatively inexpensive as compared with other remedies or medical treatment.

Will be found an excellent remedy for sick headache. Carter's Little Liver Pills. Thousands of letters from people who have used them prove this fact. Try them.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the boss" coming and "let them" say
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still MORE of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.
HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion
On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the

W. F. M. S.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Presbyterial W. F. M. S., will be held in St. Paul's church, on Wed., Feb. 8th. A morning session will be held commencing at 10 o'clock for the transaction of business and the election of officers. At 2.30 a public meeting will be held, at which reports will be presented, followed by an address from Mrs. Wilson, of Neemuch, Central India. All women interested in mission work are invited to be present. At 8 p.m. a meeting open to all will be held when addresses will be given by the Rev. Thos. Goldsmith and the Rev. J. R. Smith, D.D., late of California.

Peterborough Talent Abroad.

At the orchestra concert in Cobourg opera house held on Wednesday last a fine musical programme was executed in a most artistic and pleasing manner, Mr. J. Churchill Arlidge, flautist, and Mr. Thos. Dunn, baritone, both of Peterborough, took part and were the great attraction. The Cobourg Star has the following complimentary notice of their respective splendid renditions:

Mr. Arlidge, the flautist, is a star, and of course did what was expected of him—charmed the audience with his selections. Mr. T. Dunn, Peterborough's famed baritone, sang several solos in masterly style. His concluding selection, "Torreador," was an inspiriting piece, and was admirably sung.

The orchestras numerous selections were superbly rendered and tumultuously applauded.

Minor Military Matters.

The last edition of the Militia General Orders, Ottawa, says that II class certificates, grade B, have been granted the following members of the 57th Battalion: Corp. W. Crossley, 68 marks; Sergt. C. Rabey, 62 marks; Pte. J. Thompson, 57 marks.

The non-commissioned officers class will start at the orderly room of the drill shed on Tuesday night next. All those desirous of joining should attend promptly.

Mr. F. White, Government military engineer, of Ottawa, will it is understood, at once report to the militia department regarding the conversion of the old 57th Battalion drill shed in Ashburnham into suitable quarters for the local troop of cavalry. The work of remodelling and renovation will begin early in the spring.

It is probably not the coldest weather you ever knew in your life; but that is how you feel just now, because past sufferings are soon forgotten, and because your blood needs the enriching, invigorating influence of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the superior medicine.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Closing Session—A Busy Morning's Work—Adoption of Reports.

FIFTH DAY—SATURDAY.

At 9.30 the council went into session, the warden in the chair.

After routine

Mr. Middleton, chairman, presented the report of the committee on

COUNTY PROPERTY

as follows:—

The committee on county property beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the County Engineer cause the corridors and walls of the county gaol to be reflocred and wainscotted and painted, and that he be instructed to procure such material for the purpose that he deem necessary.
2. That the County Engineer cause the floor of the office of the clerk of the county court to be reflocred.
3. That the County Gaoler be instructed to
4. That the county engineer procure necessary traps for the water closets of the court house and gaol.
5. That the gaoler obtain two pair of hand cuffs for use in the county gaol.
6. That the county pay for an electric light to light the county buildings.

procure a new stove for the gaol laundry.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JAMES MIDDLETON, Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough, Jan. 28th, 1893.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Cobea, chairman, presented the report of the committee on

PETITIONS

as below:—

The committee on petitions beg leave to report as follows:

1. That in reply to the communication from the county clerk of the united counties of Northumberland and Durham asking the council for an expression of opinion as to changing the number of county councillors, your committee recommend that no action be taken.
2. That in reply to the communication from the Dominion Alliance asking the council to memoralise the Ontario Legislature to take a plebiscite on the question of total prohibition of the liquor traffic, your committee recommend that a memorial of this council be forwarded to the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario praying for the immediate taking of a direct vote of the electors of the province on the question provided that the province defray all expenses in connection with the taking of the ponular vote.
3. That the County Clerk be instructed to forward a memorial to the Lieutenant-Governor in Council praying that an enactment be passed abolishing all unions existing between the High and Public school boards in this Province.
4. That the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Ontario be memorialized to pass an act aboli-hing the right of any city, town or incorporated village to collect market fees from farmers offering produce for sale.
5. Your committee recommend that the Dominion Government be memorialized to compel railways under Dominion jurisdiction to make provisions for culverts on natural watercourses whenever required.
6. That no action be taken upon the application of the county of Ontario asking for a repeal of section 583 of the consolidated municipal act.
7. That no action be taken with the communication from the Canada Hand Law Amendment Association asking this council to petition for the introduction of their Torrens registration system into this county.
8. Your committee disapprove of the intended legislation which would increase the names of persons entitled to vote at municipal election, to 750, before a deputy reeve could be elected, and that the Ontario Legislature be memoralised to that effect.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

CHARLES COBEN, Chairman.

County Council Chambers, Peterborough January, 1893.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Forster, chairman, presented the report of the committee on

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

A scratch match took place at the rink last night between skips Rutherford and McGill. The former's quartette were successful in a 14-end match by a score of 13 to 9.

The following rink went to Lindsay today to play a friendly match in that town: W. Heathcott, lead; W. D. Parker, second stone, C. J. Leonard, vice, and Geo. Boucher, skip.

At the rink yesterday in a thirteen point game of the Thistles. C. Wynn defeated D. Lackie by a score of 13 points to 11.

A telegram has been received from the Toronto's and Granites stating they are willing to play the home club 12 rinks strong. The Peterborough curlers will go to the Queen City on Thursday next.

Two law partners got into a racket at the rink last night and the barrister was successful in knocking out his rival, who in addition to being a member of the bar is a P.M. also—Mr. Leonard's quartette vanquished Mr. Dumble's by 3 shots.

The following is the third draw in the 13-point series of the Granites:—

Matthews, Connal, T.	vs.	E Rutherford
Judge Weller	vs.	Dennistoun
Montgomery	vs.	Stevenson
Connal, J H.	vs.	Hatton
Attrill		bye

This draw to be finished by Friday, 3rd February. No. 2 in above draw has already been played, resulting in a victory for E. M. Dennistoun. Yesterday Attrill defeated Billett in the 2nd draw.

NEWS NUGGETS.

—A social dance was given in the town hall, Ashburnham, last night, and was well attended.

—Hiawatha Encampment, No. 66, I.O.O.F., held a regular meeting last night in Otonabee lodge rooms.

—A meeting of the directors of the Peterborough Central Exhibition is being held this afternoon at the Morgan House.

—The regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. will be held on Monday afternoon at half past three in the Mission Hall, arcade.

—The inaugural meeting of the Board of Education will take place at the board room, on Wednesday, 1st. February, at 7 p.m.

—A chimney blaze occurred at the dwelling of police constable Adams, on Stewart street, about ten o'clock this morning, and caused considerable excitement among the neighbours. No alarm was sounded, however.

—The funeral of the late Mrs. Patrick Moher, of Douro, took place yesterday morning and was very largely attended by the numerous friends of the deceased. The remains were interred in the Douro R. C. cemetery. Deceased was 58 years of age.

—Mr. Hill, foreman, for the Peterborough Bridge Works, was in town Monday. His company have been given the contract for putting the iron roof on Parkin & Co.'s new mill. The iron is on the ground and Mr. Hill and his men will begin work in a few days, an unexpected delay having taken place in finishing bricklaying.—Lindsay Post.

—A knot of citizens witnessed a peculiar state of circumstances on Hunter street yesterday. A Douro farmer who had stopped in town over night wanted to return home, but in his opinion the weather was too frigid to encounter, so he bought a stove and lifting it in his sleigh, erected a pipe and with some wood built a fire and started home. He was bound to be warm notwithstanding the elements.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Inspection Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the tailoress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

Alarm Clocks!

There are a great many small Alarm Clocks which have been running for a few years and are now out of order, which the owners are allowing to remain idle, because they think it will cost too much to repair them. If you bring them to us you will find that we will make them run as well as they ever did, at a very small charge. We have already changed hundreds of them from being merely rubbish into good timepieces. If you want to buy a new one, we will sell you an Alarm Clock at a lower price than any one else in the trade. We sell only the very best make and warrant every one.

FIRE! SMOKE! WATER!

Make sad havoc when it gets into a large stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods. It also makes a great difference in prices. Our whole stock must be cleaned out and the building renovated and papered before our Spring Importations from Europe arrive. In order to do this, the goods are being sold at what they will bring. The rush has been so great thus far we find it impossible, with all the help we had room for, to wait on all our customers. Those who were unable to get in before, will find just as good bargains still as our stock was so large and varied. Below we enumerate a few prices:

Grey Cotton, 22 yards for $1.00. (Nice weight.)

White Cotton, 12 yards for $1.00.

Towelling at 10c. a yard, wide widths and heavy.

Anconia Cloth at 10c. a yard, heavy weight, suitable for ladies' wrappers.

Cottonade, heavy weight, burned on one edge only, at 50 per cent. off regular prices.

Shirtings in quantities, smoked only on edges, 30 per cent. off regular prices.

Dress Goods—The damage on these goods was slight, only the outside folds being smoked. We are selling them at Sweeping Reductions.

GLADSOME GLACIAL GAIETY.

A Successful Carnival Held at Lakefield Last Evening with a Tremendous Attendance.

The anxiously looked forward to carnival took place at the Lakefield skating rink last night, and was a brilliant affair. The attendance of spectators was almost suffocating, the rink being packed with a crowd not lumbering less perhaps than seven hundred persons. The number of masqueraders was not so large as in former years, but the costumes were all very pretty and attractive, and as the fifty characters impersonated floated around the icy square on the slippery steel, the scene was one of beauty and gaiety. The rink was also tastefully decorated. The prize for best dressed lady in fancy costume was won by Miss Jennie Armour, of Peterborough, who personated a Spanish lady. The prize for the best lady's costume, comic, was awarded to Miss Bowman, of Lakefield. Mr. W. Chamberlain, of Lakefield, secured the trophy for the best comically clad gentleman, while Mr. Wm. Hendron, town, was presented with the prize for best dressed gentlemen in fancy costume. He represented a Spaniard. The men's race caused considerable interest, about 16 contestants taking part. After an exciting race, first place was captured by Mr. T. Ridpath. The musical part of the evening found vent in cornet solos rendered by Mr. E. Griffin—a very small band indeed. The carnival then broke up, the large number who attended from Peterborough arriving home about midnight after passing a pleasant evening.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

Foresters' Entertainment.

Court Primrose No. 250, C. O. F., held their annual entertainment in their hall at Mount Pleasant on Monday evening. The evening being fine, there was a large attendance from the neighbourhood and surrounding villages. The chair was occupied by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M. P. P., West Peterborough, who gave an address on Forestry, pointing out the advantages it presented to persons in want of cheap and safe life insurance and the benefits members of the order enjoyed.

During the evening a fine and varied programme was presented consisting of readings, recitations, vocal and instrumental music etc., contributed by the Y.M.C.A. quartette Mr. McArthur, Mr. Miller and Mr. Nugent, Peterborough; Miss Cook, Cavanville; Mr. Preston, Manvers; Mr. McLean, Mount Pleasant; and banjo and violin duets by the McLean Bros. At the conclusion of the entertainment the members of the order entertained the ladies and gentlemen who had furnished the fine programme to an elaborate supper. The Foresters of Mount Pleasant are to be congratulated upon the success of their annual entertainment.

A LIVE LITERARY SOCIETY.

Last Night's Meeting Well Attended and a Capital Programme Presented.

The assembly room of the Catholic Association was crowded last night, the occasion being the weekly meeting of the Literary and Debating Society. Half of the audience was composed of ladies. A good programme was provided and an enjoyable evening spent. Next Friday evening the following subject will be debated, Resolved, "That the influence of the stage is not beneficial to mankind." Messrs. Carveth, Desautel and McPherson will support the proposition and Messrs. Cook, Ryan and Shannon oppose it. A musical and literary programme will be a supplemental feature of the evening. Last night's programme was as follows:—

Instrumental solo.....Mrs T Dolan
Vocal solo..Twelve Months Ago To-night..Mr [T Begley
Reading....Maria and the Mouse..Mr P Henry
Vocal solo.....Killarney.....Miss McCabe
Reading.....Betsy [illegible] are out....Mr W Brick
Instrumental duet.....Uhlan's Call..Misses [Kelly and Butler
Reading..Betsy [illegible]ade up..Mr W Brick
Vocal solo..Home Rule for Ireland..M. T. Begley

Debate—Resolved "That the Printing Press has been more beneficial to the human race than the Steam Engine." Affirmative, Messrs. J. Begley and D. McCabe; Negative, Messrs. Hickey and T. Begley. It was decided by the audience that the negative had won the debate. Short speeches were made by Messrs. Hopkins, Dolan, Henry, Sheehy and Corkery. The ladies whose names appear on the programme were given a vote of thanks for their kindness in contributing to the programme of the evening.

A BIG THING ON ICE.

The Forthcoming Curling Contest Between Peterborough and Toronto—One Hundred and Ninety-six "Stanes" in Play—The Names of the Local Skips—Probable Excursion to Toronto.

Never in the history of any curling club in the Dominion has there been so much genuine sporting spirit displayed as in the Peterborough club's decision to play with twelve rinks a friendly game with their Toronto brethren on ice. This means forty-eight curlers battling for friendly supremacy all at the one time against forty-eight Toronto curlers. A telegram received from Toronto this morning by the indefatigable secretary of the club, Mr. C. McGill, reads as follows:

"Granite club will play six rinks Thursday afternoon, the other rinks in the evening of same day. Toronto club takes three rinks Thursday afternoon and three in the evening. Prospect Park club ready to do the same, thus giving your twelve rinks two games each."

Mr. McGill immediately replied that this arrangement was perfectly satisfactory. The skips selected to do battle for the club are:

Judge Weller,	T Rutherford,
R M Dennistoun,	Sam Ray,
Dr Boucher,	Andrew McNeil,
W H Budden,	R S Davidson,
J H Connal,	W G Ferguson,
T P Attrill,	C McGill.

A meeting of the whole club will be held at the rink this evening at 7 p.m. to arrange the rinks. Arrangements are about perfected to run an excursion to Toronto on Thursday next on the C.P.R. at regular excursion rates, thereby giving the citizens an opportunity of witnessing the game or transacting business at a small cost. Full particulars will be given in Monday's issue.

HE STOLE A SILVER WATCH.

Michael Horan up Before the Police Court and Remanded for a Week.

A young man probably 21 or 22 years of age sat in the prisoner's box at the police court this morning. His name was Michael Horan and the charge against him was that on Thursday last he did feloniously steal a watch from a companion of his named Dan Shannahan. It appears the two have been working in the woods all winter and were returning to town on Thursday last when they became pretty well intoxicated at Lakefield. On Friday Shannahan missed his time-piece, and at once suspected his associate and notified the police. As a result Horan was arrested at the C.P.R. station at 5 o'clock last night by P.C. Adams just as he was boarding the train for Toronto. The prisoner elected to be tried summarily.

P. M.—Are you guilty of this charge.

Prisoner—I had his watch.

P. M.—That is not an answer to the question, are you guilty.

Prisoner—Yes, I took his watch but with the intention of giving it back to him again but I changed my mind.

P. M.—Where do you come from.

Prisoner—From the shanties. I had my foot hurt and four of us were going home when I got drunk. I was raised and have always lived in Peterborough. I might have given the watch back when I got sober.

The magistrate remanded the prisoner to gaol a week for sentence.

The prisoner on Friday last while passing up George street deliberately took a box of fish in front of the fruit store of Mr. F. Mercer and after carrying it up street dropped the stolen property on the sidewalk.

MARKET MEMORANDA.

A Sudden Rise in Grain—All Produce Sells High.

The market this morning while rather small was none the less exciting—especially in the grain department. Although not very many loads were offered still prices ranged high. A keen rivalry among buyers brought the prices of grain up with a jump to-day. Small peas have been selling at 52 to 55c, and large at 58 to 60c. This morning however, as high as 64 and 65c per bushel were paid. Spring wheat sold at 64 and 65c, while as high as 70c was paid for fall—3 or 4 cts above the usual quotations. Farmers see that the greater the competition the better prices they get and if this is the result on a local market similar competition on an restricted market would have a similar effect. Prices in other grains remain about the same. Barley, little offering, 35 to 40c, buckwheat 40 to 43c, rye 45c, oats 27 to 28c. Very little hay is being offered. Straw is selling at $2.50 to $3.50 per load. No change in prices of wood and rapid sales. Dressed pork is selling from $8.25 to $8.50 per cwt., beef in large quantities sold from 5 to 6½c, mutton 7 to 8c, lamb 8 to 9c, potatoes 60 to 65c, cabbage 40c per doz, apples, a scarcity, 50 to 75 and 80c a bag. A large number of turkeys were on sale and ranged at very high prices from $1.00 to $1.50, and even as $1.60. No ducks offered. Geese sold at 60 and 70c a piece, while chickens brought from 50 to 60 and 75c per pair. Butter was offered in large supplies, and for the first couple of hours sold at 25c per lb, but later on sold at 22, 23 and 24c. Eggs were a very great scarcity, and in brisk demand, selling at 22, 23 and even 25c per dozen. No other changes in price.

Growth and Prosperity.

The wonderful growth of Galveston, and especially that portion known as North Galveston, during the past few years, has been due not only to local improvements and the natural result of rapid settlement and capital liberally invested, but also to the rapid growth of manufacturing industries which here find an unusually profitable field. Thus we find a combination of conditions for continual growth that is unsurpassed in any other portion of the country, namely, a genial and healthful climate, an industrial growth capable of supporting a large population, and agricultural attractions that cannot be excelled. The opportunities are just as good at the present time for making money, either in city property or small fruit farms. The latter class of farming always results in large profits to those who have been fortunate enough to invest.

The property of the North Galveston Association cannot be otherwise regarded than as offering splendid inducements alike to home-seeker and investor. The fullest investigation of this property is cordially invited. The Association is represented by T. Hurley Peterborough, Ont. who will be happy to furnish all information desired. The address of the General Office is: The North Galveston Ass'n, Box 963, Minneapolis Minn.

BABY'S FRIEND.

The helpless and innocent babe cannot have too many friends. As far as baby's welfare is concerned, family friends often err; indeed, we often find the loving mother making sad mistakes in the matter of her child's dieting.

Distressing troubles follow, when poor and badly prepared artificial foods are used for the baby. Just now, indigestion, constipation, diarrhœa and dysentery are common ailments. These terrible and often fatal troubles result from careless feeding.

Babies, when nourished and fed on Lactated Food, never experience any of the troubles just mentioned. Their digestive organs are always in perfect condition; they are strong and grow fast, and are always good-natured and happy.

A mother very recently wrote about the effects of Lactated Food as follows:

"My twin babies weighed but four pounds each when born, and were very delicate; but now, thanks to Lactated Food, they are plump and healthy as can be. They are just as happy and good-natured as they look, and fond of the Food."

We part from the old stand with regret. But it is not our fault that the trade is going up town. We see that it is going, and who can control the movements of trade? For our part, we think the sensible thing is to follow.

Being now comfortably settled in the centre of trade, we are fully prepared for business, and hope to be able to serve all our old customers and many more new ones.

The ladies are especially invited to call and look through our handsome new premises, where they will find us surrounded with the latest modern store improvements, increased shelf room, better light, and other accessories for the more effective display of our large and well assorted stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods.

BARGAINS as BIG and as REAL as ever. Some lines of goods slightly damaged by smoke to be sold for whatever they will bring.

NEW YORK (SPECIAL.)

CAREFUL dressing is as evident in case of the children of the stage as it is in their elders of the profession, the opera and tragedy queens. The initial illustration portrays a young exquisite as attired for public display, and just as mothers take pattern after the costumes of stage adults for their own wear, so they take the dress of stage children as models for their own little ones' garb. Fashions for boys are now very handsome. Maybe the boys don't like their new styles as well as their mothers must, but that has nothing to do with their looking perfectly distracting.

The original of the second picture was a boy of eight or so, sturdy and well put together. He had on his well set curly head, a visor cap of the admiral kind. His knee breeches fitted well to his sturdy legs and a perfectly distracting "reefer" jacket finished the rig. The whole was in bright blue cloth, the buttons were brass, and shone like the smile on the boy's merry face. Just above the top button of the reefer, a scarlet neck tie showed.

From the pocket in the jacket the corner of a crisp handkerchief peeped, and his stockings were black and his shoes sturdy and boyish looking. I can't say he encouraged the admiration which his appearance created. He gave one young lady a reproving glance and then looked the other way with a smile, quite as if he were saying to himself, and meant her to know it, "You can't make any impression on me, my young person."

The little fellow just described was attired like, and looked, a little man, but mothers prefer to dress their boys more elaborately. Such welcomed the Little Lord Fauntleroy costumes and, now that they are out of style, they continue their rage for his sash and curls and a general notion of picturesqueness for their small boys' get ups. Several little fellows have confided to me that in consequence they wish they were dead, but they are a delight to any woman's eyes notwithstanding. The last boy who confided in me can be seen in the third picture. He wore black velvet knee breeches, a very short Zouave sort of jacket edged around with a jetted braid, and that was worn over a shirt of fine white muslin, very full and with a ruffle all down the front. The ruffled cuffs of the shirt turned back over the velvet sleeves. On his long wavy hair a Scotch cap was set, with a feather to delight any boy's heart sticking up in the front. A bright tie was at his throat, and his stockings were silk. Yet this ungrateful small boy stood thrashing his switch about over his head and said that if his "man" did not take such awful good care of his togs, "girl things, anyhow", he would have abstracted and buried them long ago. "And if he didn't take such good care of me, I'd drown myself, I would, the next time Ma had me put into the things. Why, there isn't a boy on my block who will speak to me. The fellows who are got up the same way by their mas are as ashamed as I am, and the other fellows, of course, won't know me. You can't blame them, now can you?"

Turning from the little ones, the next picture shows a dress of white India crepon suitable for a young or middle aged woman. It has a bertha of mousseline de soie, embroidered with a satin stripe, plastron of white mousseline de soie, and flounce, collar and belt of maize velvet. The skirt is lined with silk or alpaca and trimmed around the bottom with a gathered flounce of ribbon velvet to match the corselet. When skirts made of double-width material are lined with silk or alpaca, or any other lining of less width, the lining is usually wide enough to cut the side pieces, but not those of the front and back. A good way is to place a whole width of the alpaca or other lining in the middle of the front, and add a sufficiently broad piece each side. This plan uses less lining than the usual method. The flounce and balayeuse can be gathered by dividing them in quarters and then dividing the skirt in the same manner, when the fullness can be easily arranged. As the basque is covered by the skirt, it is sufficient for it to be two inches to two and a half long. The plastron starts at the point of the shoulder, touching the collar, and stops half way between the collar and the top of the darts; it is covered with pleated mousseline de soie. The crepon fronts usually finish at the plastron, but they may be continued underneath if it is wished to alter the dress at any time. A bertha of gathered mousseline de soie follows the outline of the plastron, and is continued around the back of the neck, and down the edges of the fastening to the corselet. The military collar is of the material, and is covered with a piece of surah on the cross. It fastens in front. The corselet is made of ribbon velvet wound twice around the waist; or a foundation may first be made of Victoria lawn, well boned and lined with sateen, on which the ribbon is placed to look as though wound around the figure; it can be fastened under the arm at the back. The trimming of this dress, viz., the collar, plastron, and bertha may be made separately in surah and lace, so that it may be used with any plainly made dress. The sleeves are puffed.

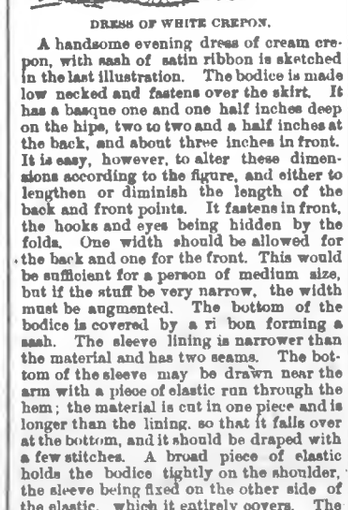
DRESS OF WHITE CREPON.

A handsome evening dress of cream crepon, with sash of satin ribbon is sketched in the last illustration. The bodice is made low necked and fastens over the skirt. It has a basque one and one half inches deep on the hips, two to two and a half inches at the back, and about three inches in front. It is easy, however, to alter these dimensions according to the figure, and either to lengthen or diminish the length of the back and front points. It fastens in front, the hooks and eyes being hidden by the folds. One width should be allowed for the back and one for the front. This would be sufficient for a person of medium size, but if the stuff be very narrow, the width must be augmented. The bottom of the bodice is covered by a ribbon forming a sash. The sleeve lining is narrower than the material and has two seams. The bottom of the sleeve may be drawn near the arm with a piece of elastic run through the hem; the material is cut in one piece and is longer than the lining, so that it falls over at the bottom, and it should be draped with a few stitches. A broad piece of elastic holds the bodice tightly on the shoulder, the sleeve being fixed on the other side of the elastic, which it entirely covers. The skirt is trimmed with a little gathered flounce, the material for which is used double, forming a pretty heading.

The newest skirts are having their ruffles lined with crinoline, and there is certainly a welcome crispness of effect. If only one was sure the fad will go no further than just crispness! But fashions never stop at their first pretty effect; they go on and on till the hideous exaggeration is upon us. Then we are slaves to the fashion and everyone forgets the start of the thing and groans under what seems an unreasonable tyranny. The exaggeration of the crispness is, of course, the awful hoop skirt and the yards and yards of stuff in skirts. Let us cling to the Empire, or, perhaps, it is better to say, let the Empire cling to us. Of course short waists are no guarantee against hoops, for, in fact, hoops are bound to come. They came as a reaction the last time fashion took to clinging gowns for a time. So, if your mother has given you any old dresses, pause in your mad career and don't cut up the wide skirts. Keep them a few months longer and you can wear them just as they are. At the sight of the first models you will have to admit a charm of graciousness in the fashion and a suggestion of band-boxiness that is very alluring after our close-clinging, damp looking notions of late.

A shabby silk petticoat can be made really swell again by running its ruffles with narrow ribbon in rainbow combinations. Not only will the rows of ribbon give fresh color, but they lend a crispness to the skirt and to the dress over it.



A HANDSOME EVENING DRESS.

Polishing With Newspaper.

Old newspapers will put the finishing touch to newly cleaned silver, knives, forks and tinware better than anything else. Stoves that have not been polished for some time take on a beautiful lustre when rubbed with slightly greased newspaper. Windows, mirrors and lamp chimneys are made brilliant when rubbed with a newspaper.

All who are troubled with constipation will find a safe, sure and speedy relief in Ayer's Pills. Unlike most other cathartics, these pills strengthen the stomach, liver and bowels, and restore the organs to normal and regular action.

National Pills are a mild purgative, acting on the stomach, liver and bowels, removing all obstructions.

Perfect Satisfaction.

Gentlemen,—I have found B.B.B. an excellent remedy, both as a blood purifier and general family medicine. I was for a long time troubled with sick headache and heartburn, and tried a bottle, which gave me such perfect satisfaction that I have since then used it as our family medicine.

The Directors, who are now the owners of the entire Capital stock, have decided, at the request of numerous friends of the Company throughout Canada, to enlarge the proprietorship of its stock, and to offer for sale, at par, ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, fully paid and non-assessable.

Payments are to be made as follows:—Five per cent. on application; fifteen per cent. on allotment; twenty per cent. each in one, two, three and four months from the date of allotment. Applicants have the right to pay in full on allotment.

Applications for shares will be received until February 15th, 1893, at any of the offices of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the offices of the Union Bank of Halifax, and at the head office of the company, N. Y. Life Building, Montreal.

Forms of application for shares may be obtained at any of the above places, or they will be sent by mail on request.

Should no allotment of stock be made to any applicant for shares, the amount paid will be returned in full, and in the event of the Directors finding it impossible to allot the full number of shares applied for, the surplus of the deposit will be credited toward the amount payable on allotment.

The right is reserved of withdrawing the offer in whole or part at any time before allotment, and of allotting to any applicant any less number of shares than the number applied for.

As the dividends of the Company are payable quarterly, beginning with the first day of March next, allottees of stock will be entitled to receive a proportion of the quarterly dividend as declared, corresponding to the amount paid upon their subscription.

It is proposed to apply to the Stock Exchanges of Montreal and Toronto for official quotations of the shares of the Company.

The Consumers Cordage Company was organized in June, 1890, with a Capital of one million dollars, to operate several of the largest Cordage and Binder Twine Factories in Canada. It, at first, operated these under leases, but its operations having been successful, the Capital Stock was subsequently increased to Three Million Dollars, and the leased properties were purchased.

The Company has no mortgage indebtedness; and, according to the law under which it was incorporated, none can be created without the consent of two-thirds of the shares holders, represented at a meeting called for the purpose.

The Company has placed in the hands of its Bankers:—

(a) Full statements of its affairs, certified to by Messrs. Caldwell, Tait & Wilks, Chartered Accountants.

(b) The following letter from Messrs. Abbotts, Campbell & Meredith, advocates, Montreal, upon the legality of its incorporation, and the issue of its stock:—

MONTREAL, January 9, 1893.

Consumers Cordage Co., Ltd., Montreal:—

GENTLEMEN,—We have examined the books and documents connected with the organization of the Consumers Cordage Company, Limited, and are of opinion that it has been properly incorporated, and that its capital stock of $2,000,000, as issued, is fully paid up and non-assessable, according to the provisions of the "Companies Act."

We are, yours truly,

(signed), ABBOTTS, CAMPBELL & MEREDITH.

(c). A report from Messrs. Macmaster and McGibbon, Solicitors of the Company, that the titles to its Mills have been duly examined, and that no encumbrances exist.

Applicants for shares may examine these documents, copies of which may be seen at the Company's offices, and at the various offices of the Banks mentioned above.

The Consumers Cordage Company is probably the second largest Manufacturer of Cordage and Binder Twine in the world, and claims the following very material advantages over its competitors:—

1st. Ample capital to conduct its business which enables it:—

(a) To buy its raw material in larger quantities, and at lower prices.

(b) To use only the latest and most improved machinery, thus keeping its mills in the highest state of efficiency.

2nd. Economy in cash agency and distributing its manufactured product.

3rd. The business covers so wide a territory (its manufactured goods go to almost every civilized country in the world) that it cannot be seriously injured by local troubles; and its Manufacturing establishments are so scattered that the danger of severe loss by fire is very slight.

4th. Lower cost of production.

(a). By maintaining the sharpest competition between its several mills, it is enabled to introduce in all the best methods found in each.

(b). By spreading its commercial expenses over a larger output.

(c) By placing in one hand the purchasing of the Raw Materials and Manufacturing supplies for the several Mills, thus securing lowest prices.

(d). By manufacturing for themselves many of their supplies.

The Company has always found it in its interest to divide the economies effected in production and distribution with the Consumer, and since its existence the Consumer has, upon the average, had a better article at a lower price than previously.

The Company does not claim to have any monopoly, or to earn monopoly profits; in fact, it has not done so. Since its organization it has been able, owing to the advantages above referred to, to earn a net return on its present capital of not less than 10 per cent. per annum (as statements in their Bankers' hands will show), and the Directors believe that these profits will be maintained in the future, as the cost of production and distribution shows each year a marked decrease.

The Dividend for the year ending 31st October, 1892, was at the rate of 6½ per cent. per annum. The past record of the Company and its present position justify the Directors in believing that quarterly dividends of one and three-quarters per cent. can be paid and should the profits for the present year be as large as the outlook promises, the final quarter's dividend might be increased.

Any further information may be had at the head office of the Company at Montreal.

NATURE'S PRINCE.

He Died a Decrepit Vagabond in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Among the victims of typhus fever at Riverside Hospital yesterday was Martin Schultze, 70 years old, a decrepit vagabond. Fifteen years ago he was known as "Baron" Schultze, the husband of the famous cantatrice, Lady Anna Bishop.

He was known here and throughout the world as the prince of good fellowship. The fortune Mrs. Bishop left him on her death eight years ago he squandered. He had relatives who gave him money to the last; a brother urged him to live with him on his farm, but he preferred the lodging houses and the life of a city tramp.

Schultze had been in the produce business in this city, but caught the gold fever in 1849 and went to California. Success came first, then failure, and in 1855 he sailed for Australia to retrieve his fortunes. On the ship he met Lady Anna Bishop. The singer was still young although six or seven years older than Schultze.

She was traveling with Signor Bischeca, a noted harpist, with whom she had eloped from Sir Henry Bishop, her first husband. It was a case of love at first sight between Lady Bishop and Schultze.

She invited him to call on her in Australia, and after the death of Signor Bischeca, a year later, Schultze became the singer's manager, and traveled with her in 1857 to South America.

They visited England, and, Sir Henry Bishop having died, Schultze and Lady Bishop were married. Schultze accompanied the great singer on all her tours through the United States and Mexico, riches being showered upon the gifted artist.

On their way to Hong Kong in 1866, on the ship Libelle, they were wrecked in the South Pacific Ocean, and lived for 22 days on a desert island. They then took boats, and after 10 days' hardship reached the Ladrone Islands, arriving two months later in Hong Kong.

A BAD MAN.

He Used His Shooting-Iron Too Freely and is Hunting a Hole.

FRUITA, Col., Jan. 27.—Bill Johnson, a desperado, from the Texas, Panhandle and Indian Territory, is flying down the Colorado-Utah for the San Juan River and Colorado Canon, pursued by a lynching party. Several days ago Johnson was amusing himself at West Water, Utah, making a couple of tenderfoot dance by shooting the heels off their boots. Bert Terwilliger, a merchant, came up and remonstrated. Johnson shot him dead, stood off the crowd and rode across the Colorado line to Fruita. Here he swung his gun around freely and at last ran foul of a lawyer named Brennan, whom he chased 20 miles on horseback. Brennan somehow got into a box canon, and Johnson, after shooting at him from the cliffs for a while, went away and left him there. Brennan was unable to find a way out and wandered around for three days, when he was found by a rescuing party nearly starved and frozen. The indignation at this outrage was so great that a party was organized in Fruita and West Water and it has gone after Johnson.

Burned in Their Beds.

ST. JOHN, N.B., Jan. 27.—The residence of T. A. Sullivan at Bonny River, Charlotte County, was burned at 1 o'clock this morning. Henry Sullivan, aged 14, eldest son of the owner of the house, and John Orr of St. Stephen, aged 21, who were sleeping together, were burned beyond recognition.

Given Up for Lost.

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—All hopes for the safety of the steamship Donati, which left this port Dec. 10 for Lisbon, have been abandoned, and it is more than probable the fate of the vessel and her crew will never be known. The Donati was engaged in the grain-carrying trade.

James Armstrong, M.P., Dead.

LONDON, Ont., Jan. 27.—James Armstrong, Liberal, M.P. for South Middlesex, died yesterday, aged 63 years. He was first elected in 1882 and re-elected at last general elections.

Campbellford Speaks.

No one has better reason to be grateful for Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure than I have. I was ill for a long time under the doctor's care; I was tortured with muscular rheumatism, disordered kidneys and general debility. I was losing flesh rapidly—had gone down from 180 to 130 pounds—and was bedfast for months. If you have been there before, you know how little there was in life for me, and when I was asked to try Membray's Cure, how hopeless I was. I used two bottles only, ($2) and at the end of that time had risen from a sick bed, regained my appetite, was relieved from all pain, put on new flesh, and am now attending to business as well as ever.—D. WATERS, merchant, Campbellford, Ont. Write me if you want further particulars about Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

ORANGEVILLE, April 4th, 1892.
DR. L. A. SMITH & CO.:
DEAR SIRS,—Anti-Dandruff is evidently giving satisfaction. I have sold about half of the gross I bought from you on the 23rd of January last. I use it in my own family and like it well. Can recommend it to all who are troubled with dandruff.
Yours truly, THOS. STEVENSON.

A Pleasant Herb Drink.

The best cure we know of for constipation and headache is the pleasant herb drink called Lane's Family Medicine. It is said to be Oregon grape root, combined with simple herbs, and is made for use by pouring boiling water onto the dried roots and herbs. It is remarkably efficacious in all blood disorders, and is now the sovereign remedy with ladies for clearing up the complexion. Druggists sell the packages at 50c. and $1.

Bordering on Consumption.

When a cold is neglected it frequently develops a condition bordering on consumption. No other remedy will so quickly relieve and cure cases of this dangerous kind as Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, because no other remedy possesses such perfect curative powers as does this prince of pectoral remedies.

Will positively cure sick headache and prevent its return. Carter's Little Liver Pills. This is not talk, but truth. One pill a dose. See advertisement. Small pill. Small dose. Small price.

Every Lady Uses It.

Dyer's Jelly of Cucumber and Roses for chapped hands or lips, as it effectually cures in every instance. Try it. Druggists keep it. W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

Expel the worms by using the safe and reliable anthelmintic, Freeman's Worm Powders.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

HANLAN AND GAUDAUR.

The Former Signs the Latter's Articles for a Race.

TORONTO, Jan. 27.—Hanlan affixed his signature yesterday to the articles sent from Orillia by Gaudaur with some very slight alterations which Jake can scarcely object to. The alterations are:

1. The race must be rowed July 4 instead of June 20. Decoration Day would interfere with Hanlan's prospective engagements with the winner of Rowdey's race on the Thames and Wallace Ross.

2. The St. John trophy must be worth $5000, otherwise the championship will be settled without the patronage of the St. Louis type founder.

3. The referee will be sole judge of the States of the water for rowing between 3 and 6 o'clock on Uncle Sam's national holiday. Gaudaur suggested that the course be perfectly smooth.

These conditions were added to the articles, below which Hanlan placed his autograph and handed over his $100 check as a forfeit to Mr. Goad, the temporary stakeholder.

HANGED HIM HIGH.

Because He Knifed a Woman and Stabbed a Man to Death.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Jan. 27.—A horrible crime was committed here yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Martin McMahon, an aged woman who keeps a grocery, some time ago hired a negro convict named Fisher. Last evening she sent the negro on an errand, and when he returned expressed displeasure at a trifling purchase he had made for her.

The negro without warning seized a large meat knife, and catching Mrs. McMahon by the hair cut her throat. The negro fled, jumping a back fence, and hid in an outhouse of another dwelling.

John Barrett, a fireman, caught the negro, but like a flash the latter turned and stabbed him three times, killing him instantly.

By this time the entire neighborhood had been aroused and men armed with every kind of weapon came upon the scene. After several shots had been fired at the negro the crowd quickly got a rope, and with cries of "hang him before he dies," dragged him into the yard and strung him up.

Mrs. McMahon is dangerously wounded. The excitement ran high, but the prompt action of the police put an end to further trouble.

CAUGHT SMUGGLING.

Two Torontonians Loaded Up With Sealskins and Diamonds—Said They Were Going to be Married.

SUSPENSION BRIDGE, Jan. 27.—Upon the arrival here last night of train No. 14 on the Grand Trunk custom house officers arrested John A. Miller and Miss R. Davis, both of Toronto, charged with smuggling.

Miller had secreted on his person five dressed sealskins valued at $1000, while the woman had over $1000 in diamonds.

The couple claimed to be en route to Buffalo, where they expected to be married to-morrow.

They will be taken to Lockport to appear before United States Commissioner Pound to-day.

Got a Black Eye.

DUBLIN, Jan. 26.—The hostility between Parnellites and anti-Parnellites is assuming an acute phase. Pierce Mahony, the former Parnellite M.P. for North Meath, who was defeated in the late election by Michael Davitt, since unseated, had an encounter yesterday in the Four Courts with Matthew Joseph Kenny, Nationalist M.P. for Middle Tyrone. Kenny received a black eye. Mahony was arrested and committed for trial, bail being accepted.

No One Need Pity You.

If you die of consumption without having tried that celebrated cure, now being talked about by every one, and known as "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil," you are not entitled to any pity. If you want to stay with your friends in the flesh, do not let an hour pass by without sending to the nearest drug store for "Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil." Read about the wonderful cures it has wrought. This is the electrical age of wonders, and this emulsion is the product of the latest researches in science. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all drug stores.

Prisoners Liberated.

Many who have been confined to their beds for years by rheumatism, lame back and kidney complaints, have been liberated from their sad prison by the wonderful regulating and purifying action of Burdock Blood Bitters, which drives out the acrid poison from the blood and restores health to the afflicted.

The well known strengthening properties of Iron, combined with other tonics and a most perfect nervine, are found in Carter's Iron Pills, which strengthen the nerves and body, and improve the blood and complexion.

Any druggist will give you a trial bottle FREE OF COST. It is guaranteed to relieve and cure. The large bottles are 50c. and $1.

War Well Waged.

What greater enemy of mankind than disease, and what nobler work than to fight against this death-dealing enemy of humanity. The most successful war against disease is being steadily carried on by Burdock Blood Bitters for dyspepsia constipation, bad blood, biliousness, etc., cannot resist its powers.

Truly Recommended.

Gentlemen,—I can truly recommend Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam for all coughs and colds. Less than one bottle cured my brother of a severe cold. MISS MAGGIE THOMPSON, Vasey, Ont.

Interested People.

Advertising a patent medicine in the peculiar way in which the proprietor of Kemp's Balsam for coughs and colds does it, is indeed wonderful. He authorizes all druggists to give those who call for it a sample bottle FREE, that they may try it before purchasing. The large bottles are 50c. and $1. We certainly would advise a trial. It may save you from consumption.

HONORING THE MEMORY

OF THE LATE MEMBER FOR SOUTH MIDDLESEX.

Notices of Motion That Look a Reduction of the Tariff on Several Articles—The Estimates Will Be Down Early—Hon. Mr. Laurier Has Recovered.

OTTAWA, Jan. 28.—Yesterday's proceedings in the House occupied 15 minutes and were of the most ordinary routine nature, except for the few minutes immediately preceding adjournment, when Sir Richard Cartwright and Sir John Thompson delivered brief but effective eulogiums on the late member for South Middlesex, expressing in fitting terms their appreciation in the House of Mr. Armstrong as an honest, upright and patriotic citizen, who had always done his duty fearlessly and conscientiously.

When the House met yesterday the desk occupied by the late Mr. Armstrong had on it a handsome wreath of white flowers placed there by his Liberal friends. The Liberal members of Parliament also held a meeting and passed the following resolution:

The Liberal members of the House of Commons have learned with profound regret of the death of their late colleague, Mr. James Armstrong, M.P. for South Middlesex. They desire to express their sense of the great loss sustained by the country and to extend to his widow and children their heartfelt sympathy.

(Signed) WILFRID LAURIER.
JAMES SUTHERLAND.

A deputation representing the Liberals was appointed to attend the funeral on Monday.

Mr. James Sutherland, chief Liberal whip, received a telegram from Hon. Mr. Laurier yesterday stating that he was much better and expected to be in Ottawa on Monday. It was, therefore, pretty certain that the debate on the address will go on Monday. Unless something very unforeseen happens the debate will be concluded before 6 o'clock, and the House will be then ready to go on with business.

It is expected that Hon. Mr. Foster will lay the estimates on the table immediately after the address is carried and that he will move the House into committee of supply very shortly, so that a few hours every day may be used in supply. The general impression is that the Government business is all ready and that, unless the Opposition should adopt obstructive tactics, the session will be short.

N. Clarke Wallace is suffering from a heavy cold, contracted on Sunday while driving in from Woodbridge to Toronto to catch the train for Ottawa. He was obliged to leave the House and go to his hotel, where he is being attended by Dr. Sproule, who expects that he will be out in a day or two.

Mr. Edgar is inquisitive about copyright, and on Monday will ask whether the Governor-General has issued his proclamation to bring into force the provisions of the copyright amendment act of 1889, whether the British Government has given notice of the withdrawal of Canada from the Berne copyright convention, as requested in the address passed by the Parliament of Canada in 1891. If such proclamation has not been issued, and if such notice of withdrawal has not been given, is the Government prepared at once to lay before this House papers and correspondence to explain the delay or neglect that has taken place in this matter?

Notices of Motion.

The following notices of motion are given to-night:

Mr. McMillan (Huron)—Resolution, that it is expedient and in the interests of Canada that corn be placed on the free list.

Mr. Davin—Resolution, that it is the opinion of this House that the duty on barbed wire, on agricultural implements, on coal oil and on cottons should be reduced so as to give no more than reasonable protection, and that the duty on binder twine should be abolished.

Mr. Brodeur—Resolution, that the interests of the country demand the placing of coal oil on the list of articles admitted free of duty.

Sir Hector Langevin—Address to His Excellency for copies of correspondence, etc., about a special committee to enquire into the most feasible means of completing the telegraph system of the empire.

Sir Hector Langevin—Order of the House for a list of the tenderers for section 8, Soulanges Canal, amount of tender and residence of tenderer.

Col. Tisdale—Resolution, that in view of the early completion of the canal around the St. Mary rapids upon the Canadian shore, and the enlargement and increased depth of our canal system to the Atlantic seaboard, and also of the ever-increasing volume of traffic trending in that direction, it is desirable that Canada should have a complete and uninterrupted waterway from the head of Lake Superior to the Atlantic Ocean through our own territory. That in furtherance of such object the Minister of Railways and Canals should with all reasonable despatch proceed to have made explorations and surveys to ascertain the most direct and feasible manner of connecting Lake Superior with the river by canal with Lake Erie through Canadian territory, and report the same with an approximate estimate of the cost thereof to this House.

Mr. Amyot—Bill entitled an act to make voting compulsory.

Mr. Taylor—Resolution, That in the opinion of this House it is expedient that legislation be enacted during the present session of Parliament to prohibit the importation into Canada of the manufacture of lard adulterated with cotton seed oil or other injurious ingredients.

Evidence that the Government is not only ready with its business but intends to push it through is given by notices that three Government measures will be introduced on Monday. The notices are given by Hon. John Costigan, acting Minister of Marine and Fisheries, and of bills to amend the Wrecks and Salvage Act, the act respecting certificates to masters and mates and to amend the steamboat inspection act.

Charles E. Whitney, news editor of The Free Press, died yesterday after a week's illness. He was a native of Montreal and represented The Herald in the press gallery a few years ago. He had been in The Free Press for about three years. He was 43 years of age and leaves a young wife and child.

Two Fires in Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28.—Winnipeg had two serious fires early yesterday, the Montgomery House and a small block of stores in Main-street, known as the Palmer block, being totally destroyed. Total loss was about $18,000, and insurance about $14,000.

Robbed a Drygoods Store.

WALLACEBURG, Ont. Jan. 28.—Burglars entered James Scott's drygoods store here last night and carried off about $300 worth of goods. They forced the shutters off a back window.

Gaudaur Challenges Teemer.

ORILLIA, Jan. 23.—Jake Gaudaur is bound to get on a race with somebody, and has issued the following challenge:

I hereby challenge John Teemer to row me a race for the championship of America and $1000 a side, race to take place at Pullman, Ill., or on any fair course in America, on May 30. J. G. GAUDAUR.

Gaudaur is also anxious to bind a race with Hanlan, and wants him to put up a first deposit of $300.

The Big Boat Race.

LONDON, Jan. 28.—The annual boat race between the crews of Oxford and Cambridge Universities will be rowed on March 22.

The Oxford Boat Club has decided not to accept the challenge from Cornell University to row a race in the United States.

Like a Thief in the Night.

Consumption comes. A slight cold, with your system in the scrofulous condition that's caused by impure blood, is enough to fasten it upon you. That is the time when neglect and delay are full of danger.

Consumption is Lung-scrofula. You can prevent it, and you can cure it, if you haven't waited too long, with Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the most potent blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. For every disease that has to be reached through the blood, for Scrofula in all its forms, Consumption, Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all severe, lingering Coughs, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

Coming Events Casting Their Shadows Before!

The coming event at the City Clothing Store is stock-taking day, Wednesday, February 1st.

The shadows which this coming event are casting before it are the splendid Bargains that customers are now receiving, previous to stock-taking, at our bona-fide January Clearing Sale now going on.

OVERCOATS, HEAVY SUITS, CLOTHS, and MEN'S FURNISHINGS are all reflecting bargains which never fail to attract sensible buyers and make business brisk at the City Clothing Store.

Our great stock-taking sale every January is always looked forward to with general expectations by the public, who never fail to appreciate our bona-fide bargains.

MEN'S and BOYS' OVERCOATS are being rattled off at a brisk rate, because of the big reductions in all our prices.

Startling reductions in SUITS of all kinds. Prices go down to figures that convince buyers we mean business.

Every piece of WINTER CLOTH in stock is thrown on the Bargain Counters to make room for spring importations. MEN'S FURNISHINGS at comparatively low prices. Remember it is a business principle with us to sacrifice profits during January in order to reduce our winter stock; therefore, this is your opportunity to purchase fresh, clean and sensible Clothing and first-class Cloths at prices unparalleled in the trade.

Day by Day

The surprising bargains brought about by our Annual Inventory Sale are picked up eagerly, and shoppers who patronize our sale are all anxious to get the best.

Business with us is quite remarkable for this season of the year. Shoppers manifest increased satisfaction with the way we do business, the values we give and the service we control.

Our present great values, in which the public interest is still centered, consist of—

Damaged Table Linens
Damaged Table Napkins
Bankrupt Lines of Towels, &c

"Sweep them out" is the word, and we have no doubt that by the end of another week, with such sales as we have had, and with such reductions in price, many of these tempting bargains will be conspicuous by their absence. It will pay you to purchase some of your spring supplies at the GOLDEN LION'S inventory sale now going on.

A QUEEN'S SHORT REIGN

THE UNITED STATES ASKED TO ANNEX HAWAII

A Bloodless Revolution Caused by an Attempt of the Queen to Abrogate the Constitution and Promulgate a New One.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cals, Jan. 30.—The Hawaiian steamer Claudine arrived at this port at 2 o'clock Saturday morning with the news of a revolution at Honolulu. The revolutionists have succeeded in overthrowing the Government of Hawaii, and the United States troops have been landed. A provisional Government has been established, and a commission headed by Mr. Thurston, came in on the Claudine en route to Washington with a petition to the American Government to annex the Hawaiian Islands to the United States.

Officially Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30.—Matt Smith, the Hawaiian Minister, has received an official despatch confirming the report that the Hawaiian Government has been overthrown and that commissioners from the new Government are on their way to Washington from San Francisco to ask that Hawaii be annexed to the United States.

Mr. Smith is now at the State Department waiting to apprise the Secretary of State of the information he has received. The State and Navy Departments have been officially informed of the revolution.

Recognized by All the Powers Except England.

BOSTON, Mass., Jan. 30.—A despatch received by Charles Brewer & Co. of this city gives the additional information that the revolution in Hawaii occurred on Jan. 14, and was caused by an attempt of the Queen to abrogate the constitution and promulgate a new one. The people then dethroned the Queen and placed S. B. Dale at the head of the provisional government. President Dale, the despatch says, has been recognized by all the powers except England.

The first intimation of trouble came on Jan. 15, when the Queen tried to get the cabinet to sign a new constitution that disfranchised all foreigners and put the whole Government in the hands of the native politicians.

The ministers refused and when threatened by the Queen fled for their lives. They returned later and induced the Queen to postpone the coup.

There was a public meeting in front of the palace. The Queen announced the failure of her plans and a native orator demanded the lives of the Ministers.

Early in the evening citizens met and formed a committee of public safety.

On January 16 a mass meeting was held in the armory. At about 5 o'clock p.m. the United States str. Boston landed 300 men fully armed.

They marched to the office of the Consul-General of the United States. The marines were sent to the American Legation, while the sailors marched out along Merchant-street with two Gatling guns and camped for a time on private grounds. They stayed on shore all night.

All day on Tuesday the 17th the community was in a state of expectancy, looking to the committee of public safety to do something to end the tension.

The committee was not idle, being incessantly occupied completing its organization and completing the final arrangements necessary to the proclamation of the Provisional Government and its protection by armed force.

At about 2.30 o'clock an attempt was made by three native policemen to arrest the progress of a wagon which was driven up North-street by Mr. Brenner and Mr. Good. Those in charge of the wagon resisted the attempt of the officers to arrest its course, one of the officers making a motion to draw a revolver. Mr. Good drew his own and fired, but did not inflict a dangerous wound.

In the meantime the committe on public safety, accompanied by members of the Government about to be formed, proceeded to the Government building.

There a proclamation was read, of which the chief points are as follows:

1. The Hawaiian monarchial system of Government hereby abrogated.

2. A provisional government for the control and management of public affairs and the protection of the public peace is hereby established, to exist until terms of union with the United States of America have been negotiated for and agreed upon.

3. Such provisional Government shall consist of an Executive Council of four members, who shall administer the executive departments of the Government with an Advisory Council of fourteen, who shall have general legislation for authority.

4. All officers of the Government are to exercise their functions except the Queen, Marshal Wilson and the Cabinet.

The Provisional Government and the Cabinet went to the palace and submitted their plan to the Queen. She refused at first to yield, but finally retired to her country residence, her troops surrendered, and the Government was in the hands of the foreigners.

The provisional government is composed of S. B. Dale, J. A. King, P. C. Jones and W. O. Smith. The members of the Advisory Council are S. M. Damon, L. A. Ehurston, J. Emmelmath, J. A. McCandless, F. W. McChesney, W. R. Castle, W. C. Wilder, A. Browd, J. F. Morgan, H. Waterhouse, E. D. Tenney, F. Wilhelm, W. G. Ashley and C. Bolte.

After the issuance of the proclamation the new Government called for the volunteers, who assembled fully armed to the number of 500.

The old Government surrendered without striking a blow, although it had about 400 men under arms and a battery of gatling guns.

The provisional Government promised peace.

The Government assumed formal control of the palace and barracks. The Ex-Queen retired to her private residence at Washington-place, and the Government has granted an honorary guard of 16 men. The household guards were paid off to Feb. 1 and disbanded.

Draws Canada In.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—The World, in an historical review of Hawaii and events which led to the recent revolution, says:

"The question of annexation has been widely discussed in Hawaii during the past year. England has pressed with menacing grace to the hold which the United States has upon the islands, but Canada has been coquetting with Hawaii. Mr. Ashford, a Canadian, and formerly Attorney-General, has been especially active in favor of annexation to Canada."

The United States flagship Mohican, Admiral Skerritt, sailed from San Francisco to-day for Honolulu. The Ranger is expected to leave at any moment, and the Adams will leave Tuesday. Not for several months past has there been so much bustle and activity at the Mare Island navy yard as at present.

THE LABOR WAR.

Another Strike Over the Border That Requires the Militia.

DUNKIRK, N.Y., Jan. 30.—At 4 o'clock yesterday Sheriff Jenner of Chautauqua County came to the conclusion that the strike at the Brooks Locomotive Works had become so serious as to warrant his calling on Brig.-General Doyle for troops. A telegram was accordingly sent to Gen. Doyle asking him for military assistance, and a reply was received stating that the 13th Separate Company of Jamestown had been ordered under arms, and would proceed to Dunkirk in the morning.

The message also stated that additional troops would be sent here from Buffalo.

There was intense excitement here last night and trouble of the most serious character is anticipated.

The Brooks people evidently intend to bring in a force of men sufficient to run the works, and in view of the fact that the strikers have threatened to prevent the operations the troops have been asked for.

The streets are filled with people anxiously awaiting the expected trouble. The depot swarms with men, while crossings in the suburbs are closely watched.

The call for State troops by Sheriff Jenner to protect the Brooks Co. makes the strike, which began one month ago to-day and which the Brooks officials then called an insignificant matter, now a very serious affair.

The strike was caused by the riveters in the boiler department refusing to work under two contractors named Kane and McNamara, alleging inhuman treatment on the part of the two contractors. They left the works without stating their grievances, which were presented afterward. The lack of boilers made it necessary to lay off the men in the other departments and now about 600 men are out of employment in consequence. The Brooks people engaged Philadelphia men to take the strikers' places and brought them here yesterday by special train.

The new men were hurried inside the gates at the works before the strikers could interfere. The new men are quartered inside the works and do not go outside the gates.

Yesterday President Hinman received private information that threats had been made against the works and against the employes, and the protection of Sheriff Jenners was asked.

President Hinman says that this was done as a precautionary measure to guard against an emergency, but hopes it may not arise.

Last night two of the new men ventured outside the enclosure of the works and were set upon and severely handled. The call for troops has caused much excitement, and the people fear that Dunkirk may be turned into a second Homestead.

Ready to Move.

BUFFALO, Jan. 30.—Col. Fox of this city is holding the 74th Regiment under orders from Brigadier-Gen. Doyle, ready to proceed to the scene of the strike at Dunkirk at an hour's notice.

Sergt.-Major Stuart returned from Dunkirk last night, where he had been sent by Col. Fox to investigate the situation. He reported that the strikers were quiet, and that there were no indications of violence against persons or property.

SOCIAL LIFE AT OTTAWA.

A Brilliant Drawing-Room in the Senate Chamber.

OTTAWA, Jan. 30.—The drawing-room held by His Excellency and Lady Stanley in the Senate Chambers Saturday is generally acknowledged to have been the most brilliant assembly seen in Ottawa for some years. Perhaps it was to be attributed to the fact that it was the last occasion on which members of Parliament at Ottawa and society generally would have an opportunity of paying their respects to Lord and Lady Stanley, who have for five years dispensed such generous hospitality at Rideau Hall and so ably represented Her Majesty there.

Perhaps it was for some other reason, but whatever was the cause the effect was the same, and the result was the most brilliant and largest gathering which has graced the red chamber for at least five years. The reception commenced promptly at 8.30 and lasted for an hour and a quarter, during which time 227 ladies and 240 gentlemen made their bows to Their Excellencies. After that there were receptions in the parlors of the Speakers of the Senate and Commons, at which light refreshments were served, and the whole entertainment was over by 10.30.

The Ministers present in official dress were: Sir John Thompson, Sir Adolphe Caron, Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, Hon. John Costigan, Hon. John Carling, Hon. A. R. Angers, Hon. Frank Smith, Hon. J. C. Patterson, Hon. W. B. Ives and Hon. T. M. Daly.

Hon. Mr. Laurier arrived to-day, quite recovered from his recent indisposition, and the debate on the address will therefore go on to-morrow in both Commons and Senate. In the Commons it is almost certain to be rushed through with only the usual speeches from the mover and seconder and the leaders of the Government and Opposition. But in the Senate things are done in a more dignified and stately way, and it is quite possible that the debate may be prolonged for two or three days.

IRISH AGITATORS.

An Amnesty Demonstration of 20,000 Men.

DUBLIN, Jan. 30.—The amnesty demonstration here has surpassed all expectations. More than 20,000 men, with bands and banners, marched in the torch-light procession this evening.

John Redmond, Dr. Kenny, Pierce Mahony and James Egan, the dynamiter recently released from Portland prison, addressed a great meeting at the Custom House. The attendance at the meeting was the only disappointing feature of the celebration, as it was considerably smaller than at several previous amnesty meetings.

Enthusiasm was intense, however, and all the speakers were cheered almost constantly. The speakers, without exception, emphasized the necessity of securing the release of the rest of the Irish politic prisoners.

WHAT A MANIAC GULPED

HIS EATING TOOLS POLISHED HIS DESERT.

William Tuckey Carried Knife, Fork and Spoon in His Stomach for Three Days Without Evil Effects — Death Came Suddenly After One Meal Hours.

Toronto, Jan. 30.—William Tucker, a young man 23 years old who [illegible] in the Asylum here on Oct. 27 last, died on Friday. The deceased felt not the slightest painful effects from his mad act until Thursday, when he was taken ill with inflammation of the bowels and death came in less than 24 hours.

At the post-mortem examination held on Saturday morning Coroner Lynd, Dr. Rutherford, Dr. Young and assistant, Dr. Cavan and Dr. Weir, who performed the post-mortem, were present. It was found that the knife and fork had been swallowed handles first, the spoon bowl first. Of the three articles the spoon was the only one that followed the regular course in digestion; that is out of the stomach through the small intestines into the rectum or large intestine. The spoon was found in the stomach with its bowl lying near the entrance to the small intestine and much corroded or partially digested. The knife and fork, however, caused death; they had taken the short course to the rectum and pierced through the lower wall of the stomach, making a large gap. The passage was made handles first, however. The action of the gastric juice had corroded the knife to a great extent, its blade was like a wafer and at the end the juices had eaten into it until it was in the shape of a hook. The fork was almost intact. The knife was 9½ inches long, the spoon 6½ inches, the fork 7½ inches.

The post-mortem also revealed a triangular piece of glass about ¾ of an inch in width in the trachea or breathing tube.

Local physicians look upon the case as one of the most remarkable in the history of the medical profession. The fact that Tucker should carry the articles for three months without inconvenience, and could even jump up and down to let the other patients hear the articles jingle inside him, is most extraordinary. Deceased was the son of Rev Mr. Tucker of the Methodist Book Room.

SUIT FOR ALIMONY.

The Plaintiff an Authoress; the Defendant Ex-Mayor of Cornwall.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—A writ in a suit for alimony has just been issued which will attract much attention. The plaintiff in the case is Mrs. James Clark Allen of Cornwall, formerly Mrs. P. D. Conger of Belleville, and the defendant is Dr. William Cox Allen, her husband, who is at present collector of customs at Fort McLeod, in Alberta. The plaintiff asks for $100 a month. Mrs. Allen is well-known in Toronto. Her former husband, the late P. D. Conger, for several years carried on a large coal business in this city. At his death he left his widow a considerable estate.

Some time in Nov. of 1890, while visiting friends in Cornwall, she met Dr. Allen, a well-to-do widower. Their courtship was brief, and in consequence of his residence at Fort McLeod he pressed a speedy wedding, which accordingly took place at Napanee on Dec. 11 of the same year.

After a protracted honeymoon, they journeyed westward to their future home. Their domestic relations do not seem to have been of the most pleasant nature, and after a short season of married life Mrs. Allen returned to her friends in Belleville. The plaintiff makes several claims, accusing her husband of infidelity.

The defendant in the suit is a graduate of Trinity College, Dublin, and has been a resident of Canada several years. He was mayor of Cornwall for 10 years and was police magistrate.

Some weeks ago he had Morgan & Co. of Montreal bring action against plaintiff on an account of $187.58 for goods bought during their honeymoon. He was defeated in the suit.

The plaintiff was formerly a Miss Bogart of Belleville and is a cousin of Ex-Judge Clark, solicitor for the C.P.R. She has attained considerable reputation as an authoress. Her book entitled "A Daughter of St. Peter's" received much favorable comment. She is now engaged in a work entitled "Corraled in the Northwest." She frequently contributed to the local press under the nom de plume of "Marian."

The plaintiff is 52 years of age, while the defendant is a man somewhat her senior, although still vigorous and well preserved.

AT QUEBEC.

C.P.R. Officials Are Talking Fast Atlantic Service.

QUEBEC, Jan. 30.—Mr. T. G. Shaughnessy, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Mr. Bruce Price, the company's architect, are in town on business connected with the new Canadian Pacific hotel in course of construction and also with the erection of the grain elevators.

Interviewed by a reporter in reference to the fast line of steamers, Mr. Shaughnessy said it would entirely depend on the subsidies granted by the Dominion Government and the acquiring by the company of the full control of the Intercolonial Railway, which was particularly essential, inasmuch as if a fast line of steamers were to be managed by the C.P.R. they would require to run the Intercolonial Railway in conjunction with the European steamers, especially in winter.

The express trains would leave the Louise embankment, where steamers would land their passengers, the company's object being to put the passenger in Chicago in as short a time as possible. The track laid at present along Dalhousie-street was only for freight service, and it was not their intention to extend the track to the Allan wharf.

If the fast line of steamers were inaugurated ferries would be put on between Quebec and Levis, and each boat would be build sufficiently large to carry across a whole passenger train.

The Granite Strike Over.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Jan. 30.—After a bitter fight that has lasted nine months and has kept 400 men out of work most of that time, the granite cutters of the big Stony Creek quarries will probably return to work Monday.

They have virtually been beaten, and a conservative estimate of the money lost in wages is $200,000. Besides this, the strike has greatly damaged the granite industry of the town.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

The Closing Session—A Busy Morning's Work—Adoption of Reports.

Mr. Burnham read the following

ADDRESS TO MR. SANDERSON,

as drafted by the special committee:

To Michael Sanderson, Esq., Ex-Reeve of the Township of Smith, and Ex-Warden of the County of Peterborough:

DEAR SIR,—The county council of Peterborough desire to express to you their sincere regret that advancing years have compelled you to retire from municipal life and from this council, of which for 22 years you have been one of the most honoured, useful and prominent members.

During that period many works of great importance have been undertaken by the county, which have been brought to successful completion, mainly owing to your advice and co-operation, and your wide experience of public matters.

To your wise counsel are due many of the amendments and many of the reforms which have been adopted in our municipal system, and we feel that you can look back with pride and gratification to your life and labours as a representative of your township and county.

The council wish that you may long live to enjoy the esteem and confidence of your fellow men and that you will long be able to watch the increasing advancement of this county and Dominion, both in material happiness and prosperity, and in municipal and legislative progressiveness.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough Jan. 28th, 1893.

Moved by Mr. Burnham, seconded by Mr. Casement, that the address to Michael Sanderson, Esq., now read, be adopted and engrossed and signed by the Warden and the corporate seal affixed and presented to Michael Sanderson, Esq., on behalf of the council by Messrs. Casement, Moloney, Forster and the Warden.—Carried.

ENTRANCE EXAMINATIONS.

Moved by Mr. Casement, seconded by Mr. Burnham, that the Council request Mr. Brown, P.S.I., to hold entrance examinations at Lakefield as heretofore and that the clerk forward to Mr. Brown a copy of this resolution.

Mr. Casement, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on

3. That the matter of the account of the Peterborough Water Co. and also the matter of the present contract be left to the warden and county clerk with power to settle the same and if necessary to make a new contract.

4. The accounts for holding the first election at the village of Havelock were referred to that corporation with instructions to pay the same.

5. That the salary of Mr. J. Flood, caretaker of the Pigeon Creek bridge, be $25 a year, provided that the county of Victoria pay their proportion of the same.

6. Your committee recommend that the memorandum hereto attached of accounts paid by your treasurer on the authority of the warden, etc., or under contract duly entered into be confirmed.

7. That the sum of $70 a year be granted for a short-hand reporter for the county court, (non-jury and jury) and general session, to date from December 1st, 1892, provided that such sum form part of the administration of justice accounts, and that the town of Peterborough will agree to pay their proportion of the same according to the above accounts.

8. The county treasurer was instructed to pay the warden's contingencies account for the year 1892.

9. That the accounts for advertising the Wigmore reward in the Norwood Register be left in the hands of the warden and county clerk.

10. That the sum of $10 be granted to the Prisoners' Aid Association.

11. That the county clerk was instructed to provide guides for the assessors.

12. That the village of Havelock be granted $50 towards the survey of the village of Havelock provided that the village supplies a copy of the survey to this county.

W. H. CASEMENT,
Chairman.

Jan. 28th, 1893.

The report was adopted.

Mr. McAuley, chairman, presented the report of the Committee on Schools as below:

The committee on schools beg leave to report as follows:

1. That this committee recommend that the county inspector grant to Mr. John McGann, of Galway, a certificate of qualification to teach the school for the current year for which he is at present engaged.

2. That the matter of imposing a fee upon county pupils attending the entrance examination at Norwood be referred to the June session of this council.

3. That the County Treasurer, having in compliance with instructions of the report of the committee on schools adopted by this council on the 18th June, 1892, paid to the Treasurer of the Norwood High School the sum of four hundred and eighty-six dollars and sixty-seven cents in settlement in full of this county's liability for the last half of the year 1891 under section 31 of the High School Act, 1891, and $6.31 for interest, your committee recommend that the said payment be confirmed.

4. That with reference to this county's liabilities to the Norwood High School, which have accrued and may accrue from and after the year 1891, this committee recommend that the County Treasurer pay from time to time to the treasurer of the Norwood High School the county's contribution for the maintenance of such school upon the following basis, viz., that he ascertain the amount paid by the Government for the last half of the year previous and the first half of the current year and that the aggregate amount of such payment shall be taken conclusively as the government's contribution to such school for the current year notwithstanding that such amount so paid shall be more or less than the amount which may be actually paid or to be paid by the government for the current year provided that the Norwood High School accept this basis as a final settlement and that the settlements of accounts for each year shall take place not later than the 15th January.

5. That the treasurer of the Norwood High School be instructed from time to time to furnish the treasurer of this county with a certificate showing the average number of all the pupils attending the High School and the average number of county pupils, also an abstract of the receipts and expenditures of the school for the previous year, specifying under expenditures the particulars required by sub-section 9 of section 2 of the High School Act not including any charge for interest except interest paid for advances for school salaries and specifying under receipts the amounts collected for fees, amounts received from votes, from grants and revenue from all sources.

6. That this committee recommend that the county inspector grant to Miss Young, of Belmont, a certificate of qualification to teach the school for which she is at present engaged, such permit to extend till the next regular meeting of the board of examiners.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. MCAULEY,
Chairman.

County Council Chamber, Peterborough, Jan. 28th, 1893.

On the motion to adopt the report, Inspector Brown suggested that the adoption of the report would be a bad precedent. It would be a source of annoyance to himself and the council besides. He thought that the council should have enough confidence in him to allow him to deal with the matter, and he suggested that the clauses in question be struck out.

Mr. Brown, of Belmont, said that the inspector had in the case of Miss Young referred to in the report, refused to grant a permit, and he further pointed out that in view of the inspector's past negligence that some understanding should be arrived at, so that trustees might not be placed in such an awkward position.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Moloney, chairman, presented the report of the committee on

ROADS AND BRIDGES

as below:

That the Committee on Roads and Bridges beg leave to report as follows:

1. That the report of the Engineer be received.

2. That the matter of the Gannon's Narrows Ferry be left in the hands of the special standing committee on roads and bridges with full power to them to do what is necessary to place this ferry in good working order and that the Reeve of Harvey be added as member of that committee for the above purposes.

3. That the matter of the alteration of the swing and repairs to the Mud Lake bridge referred to in the County Engineer's report be left in the hands of the special standing committee on roads and bridges with full power to do what is necessary to carry out the proposed changes.

4. That Messrs. Moloney, Burnham, Forster, J. Walsh, Middleton and Anderson be special committee to confer with a committee of the town of Peterborough and discuss the matter of the Smith street bridge, and that such committee report to this session of the council.

5. That the Warden of this county be instructed to have the O'Leary bridge over the Indian River in Otonabee repaired.

6. That a special grant of $100 be given towards the improvements of Round Lake road in the township of Belmont upon condition that the united townships of Belmont & Methuen grant $50 for the same purpose and the Ontario Government grant a like amount for the same purpose.

7. That a special grant of $100 be given for the building of Reid road in township of Galway upon condition that the united townships of Galway and Cavendish grant $50 and the Ontario Legislature grant $200 for a like purpose.

8. That a special grant of $100 be given for the repair of the Buckhorn road, between Buckhorn and Scott's mills in Harvey, upon condition that the township of Harvey grant $40 and the Ontario government grant $200 for a like purpose.

9. That the sum of $30 be granted to each of the municipalities of Harvey, Galway, Burleigh and Belmont for the expenditure on the roads and bridges therein and that the respective reeves of such municipalities be the commissioners for the expenditure of the same, each to furnish to the council a certified statement in detail of the manner in which moneys were expended.

10. That the sum of $100 be granted to the township of Ennismore for expenditure on Gannon's Narrows road south of the Narrows, provided the township of Ennismore grant $50 and the Ontario Government grant $200 for a like purpose.

11. That the county engineer and warden be instructed to examine all bridges in the township of Asphodel and report to the June session of this council what bridges come within the operation of bylaw 610.

12. That a special grant of $50 be given to the village of Norwood towards repairs of bridges.

13. That a bylaw be prepared bringing the Burnt Mill bridge in the township of Belmont within the operation of bylaw No. 610, and that bylaw 671 be repealed.

14. That Messrs. Burnham, Moloney, Middleton and Forster be a special standing committee on roads and bridges, and that the reeve of each township be added to the above committee as a consulting member thereof in all matters affecting the roads and bridges of such township.

15. That the action of the joint committee recommending this council to make a special grant of one-tenth of the cost of the re-erection of the Smith street bridge, be confirmed, and that the county make such grant upon the understanding that this county is not liable, and does not make itself liable, for the re-erection or maintenance of such bridge at present or in futures.

16. That the matter of the proposed special legislation re the Pigeon Creek floating bridge be left in the hands of the special standing road and bridge committee, with full power to act.

17. That Carroth's bridge in the township of Douro be assumed by this county as a county bridge, and that a bylaw be prepared taking over such bridge.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

JOHN MOLONEY,
Chairman.

Jan. 28th, 1893.

On motion to adopt the report

Mr, Walsh moved, seconded by Mr. Fitzpatrick, that the report be referred back to the committee with instructions to provide for a grant of $300 to the Westwood bridge, in case it is not adopted as a county bridge.

Mr. Walsh pointed out that an iron bridge should be built and the township being a small one and not very wealthy (smiles), the grant of $300 would be acceptable,

The amendment was negatived.

On the motion to adopt the report being again put,

Mr. Middleton moved that the report be amended by striking out clauses 13 and 17.

Mr. Brown, of Belmont, strongly objected. He pointed out that the Burnt Mill bridge should not be excluded. The county had jurisdiction over this as shown by the warden and clerk, advertising a notice that the bridge was unsafe. It was unjust to exclude it from the report and he moved in amendment seconded by Mr. Aunger, that the clause relating to the Burnt Mill Bridge be not struck out. Notwithstanding Mr. Brown's vigorous protests the amendment was negatived, Mr. Middleton's motion carried, and the report as amended was adopted.

By-laws confirming the several reports and appointments, and one for borrowing money for current expenses were duly passed.

Moved by Mr. Foster, seconded by Mr. Casement that the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council be requested to appoint a short-hand writer in and for the local courts of this county.

The council adjourned.

The joints and muscles are so lubricated by Hood's Sarsaparilla that all rheumatism and stiffness soon disappear. Try it.

They Must Not Die.

It is simply an outrage to let young people die who are attacked with pulmonary troubles and incipient consumption, when Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil will save them. It should be shouted from the house tops that supposed incurable consumptives can be cured by the use of this extraordinary preparation. The rebuilding process commences in the system the moment the Emulsion is taken. It is curious to watch the effects upon emaciated persons, who begin to fill out and make new blood as often as Miller's Emulsion is administered. In an incredibly short time cadaverous looking patients again look natural and healthy. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

There is no one article in the line of medicines that gives so large a return for the money as a good porous strengthening plaster, such as Carter's Smart Weed and Belladonna Backache plasters.

LIVER CURE

FOR EVENING.

A Pretty Dress Made Up in Orange and Blue.

Here is an evening dress of orange colored bengaline and light blue crepe, having a fringed girdle. The waist is perfectly smooth and goes under the waist band of the skirt and hooks the finely pleated silk front. This front is sewed fast half way down the waist, then drawn through the belt and hangs loosely over the skirt. The orange colored velvet belt fastens at the back with a silver buckle. The belt is arranged with passementerie, from which hangs clusters of silver beads. The upper part of the belt can also be trimmed with the passementerie. The sleeves have a tight lining with two puffs and are trimmed with lace, which falls over the deep cuff. The low neck is bordered by lace and at each side there is a small rosette of orange ribbon. The skirt is silk, lined, and has either a light blue or orange balayeuse. The back has a very full double box pleat. No seam must appear in the middle of the train.

For evening wear the fancy for velvet trimmings, is carried out entirely, from the satin or leather shoe with velvet bows to the opera cloak with collar or shoulder-pieces of plush or velvet. Cloth capes with shoulder yokes or frills edged with galon, or guipure are also fashionable but there is always some resemblance to a double or triple cape, even if only simulated by the trimming.

For young people gauze and spotted tulle or net is more popular than the Russian or coarse "fisher's" net, and all black dresses may be described as "lace dresses," although quite unlike the deep lace flouncing which became so atrociously common but a year or two ago. The lovely piece nets resembling guipure and point de Venise are used over colored silks and over black silks with a colored stripe or check, these having a picturesque effect when trimmed with either moire or velvet of the same color.

Six points, out of many, where Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest, and easiest to take—little sugarcoated granules that every child takes readily.
2. They're perfectly easy in their action—no griping, no disturbance.
3. Their effect LASTS. There's no reaction afterward. They regulate or cleanse the system, according to size of dose.
4. They're the cheapest, for they're GUARANTEED to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

CHEESE FACTORY FESTIVITIES.

The "Missing Link" Added to the Chain of Annual Entertainments—A Successful Gathering—Mr. N. Awrey, M. P. P., Delivers an Address—An Interesting Programme Presented.

The first annual entertainment under the auspices of the Missing Link cheese factory was held in the factory building Thursday night. There were between three and four hundred persons present and the entertainment was in every way a gratifying success. An excellent supper was served from seven to nine o'clock, and then the chair was taken by Mr. J. R. Stratton, M.P.P., who in a few timely opening remarks spoke of the good feeling that these entertainments were calculated to engender among the participants and the benefit arising from neighbours becoming better acquainted with each other. He introduced

Mr. N. Awrey, M.P.P., for South Wentworth, Ontario, World's Fair Commissioner, and President of the Central Farmers' Institute. He gave an able address upon agricultural topics, presenting the advantages of mixed farming in a very instructive and entertaining manner. He also dwelt upon the great importance of the dairying interests, and insisted upon the value of giving farmers' sons an education to fit them for farming pursuits.

Mr. James Middleton, reeve of Smith, referred to the prosperous year Missing Link factory had enjoyed, and dwelt upon the large amount of money distributed amongst the farmers through the cheese industry.

During the evening a very choice programme was presented. The Ontario Bank Glee Club gave both individual and club selections, which were heartily enjoyed. Mr. W. D. Parker, town, gave a happy reading; Miss. McGhee and Mrs. Reid, a vocal duet; Miss Tully, a vocal solo; Master Fred Tully, a song; Miss Middleton, a recitation; Miss Fitzgerald and Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, an organ an violin duet. The Missing Link people are to be congratulated upon the success of their first annual entertainment.

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Jan. 28.—A G.T.R. news agent named Letremoille, whose run was between Hamilton and Palmerston, was arrested here last night and confessed to having stolen $753 from the express car this month. The money was in a package sent by an insurance company to a branch in Waterloo.

Letremoille kept his box in the express car and thus had the opportunity to steal the money. He lives in Hamilton. He had spent all the money in dens on the American side from here.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the boro" coming and had from his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the Off for the Windy City.

Mr. G. M. Beers, for the past six months engaged on the staff of the Ontario Bank, left for Chicago on Saturday night where he has secured a position. Before departing on Saturday evening, Mr. Beers was entertained at an oyster supper at the Palace Restaurant by his fellow-employees of the Ontario Bank. A happy time was spent by all present in song, speech and sally. Before the festivities ended, however, Mr. W. D. Parker, accountant, on behalf of the Ontario Bank, presented the guest of the evening with a magnificent pipe on which were engraved the words "G. M. B. O.B. Staff, '83." Mr. Parker made the presentation in happy, appreciative terms, and Mr. Beers responded in a grateful manner, thanking his associates for their tangible mark of esteem and good fellowship. Mr. Beers' many friends will wish him success in the

NEWS NUGGETS.

—The council will meet in committee of the whole on Friday next.

—There was no police court this morning. All was quiet over Sunday.

—The committee on appointments will meet on Thursday night next.

The council of the Board of Trade will hold a meeting this evening at 8 o'clock.

—A lady fainted in St. Andrew's church last evening during the service and had to be removed.

—Mr. J. J. Turner buried his infant son Sidney Richard in the Union Cemetery at Port Hope, on Saturday afternoon.

—Mr. Saylor, a horse buyer from Pennsylvania, is at the Cavanaugh House buying up horses for the American market.

—The Port Hope Hockey club will probably play a match here with the Peterborough hockeyists next Saturday evening.

—The first meeting of the newly appointed Board of Health will be held in the town clerk's office this evening at 8 o'clock.

—Mr. J. J. Turner, the pushing tent and awning manufacturer of Peterborough, was in town on Tuesday looking up spring orders.—Lindsay Post.

—Court Stanley, No. 7690, A.O.F., meet this evening. The court is discussing the advisability of establishing a juvenile order in connection with it.

—The special committee appointed by the council will meet the trustees of the late Mrs. Nicholl's estate to-morrow afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, in reference to the bequest to the town for public parks.

—St. Peter's court, No. 225, Catholic Order of Foresters, will hold a social entertainment in their new hall on Hunter street, to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock. A pleasant time is assured all who will attend.

—Two races will come off at the driving park this week—on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons respectively. All local horses are invited to take part in the events. The track is being scraped and put in fine condition to-day.

—One of the eccentricities of our Canadian weather was exhibited yesterday. The morning was balmy and spring-like, but a sudden change occurred shortly after noon, and Jack Frost again held away helped by a strong and biting wind.

—The C.M.B.A. has received the first assessment under the Canadian Grand Council, calling only for three debts, two of which will be paid by surplus. This speaks volumes for the society and it possesses a record no other organization in mutual insurance can compare with.

—An electric light wire coming in contact with the galvanized piping on the cornice of the mansard roof of Mr. Lundy's brick block, corner of King and George streets, caused a few shingles to catch fire, and called out the fire brigade at five o'clock yesterday. No damage was done.

—There is some talk around town, says the Lindsay Watchman, about circulating a petition to the Minister of Justice in favour of the early liberation of Mark Lockington, of Peterborough, sentenced here for passing Confederate money. The project is regarded with favour.

—Mr. Frank L. Somerville, civil engineer and arhitect, has taken an office in the new opera house block, where he will be glad to see any one requiring anything done in his line. Mr. Somerville will make a very valuable citizen, as the town was very much in need of a good man in his profession. Mr. Somerville is a man with good ability and comes highly recommended.—Lindsay Post.

—A rather lively runaway occurred on Simcoe street Saturday afternoon when a horse attached to a one horse sleigh took fright at Mr. Stevenson's storehouse, corner of Simcoe and Bethune street, and dashed up the street at a maddening pace. The sleigh collided with a tree in front of the Peterborough Steam Laundry office, breaking the shafts. The horse ran a considerable distance on the sidewalk.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

A meeting of the Granite division is being held at the office of Edmison & Dixon this afternoon to select skips and form rinks to go to Toronto on Thursday next.

A rather interesting match between two rinks composed of the "green" players from the Granites took place at the rink Saturday evening. 12 ends were played. Following is the result:

W D Parker,	E H D Hall.
W Heathcott,	S Belcher,
C J Leonard,	M Hayes,
W G Morrow, sk... 16	T R Billett, sk 9

Group District, No. 3, will play in the bonspiel for the primary competition in the Ontario tankard series at Peterborough on Wednesday and Thursday next. The matches will begin at 1.30 on Wednesday afternoon. The following clubs are in the group: Millbrook, Campbellford, Lakefield, Keene, Bobcaygeon, and, Port Perry, umpire. Verily the coming week will be a great one in curling here.

In the first draw of the 13-point games among the new members of the Granites, Rev. H. Symonds last week defeated J. D. Collins by 15 points to 6.

At a meeting of the Granites this afternoon the following skips were appointed to go to Toronto, Messrs. Attrill, Boucher, Budden, Dennistoun, Judge Weller and Connal.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diruetic known.

Card of Thanks.

Mrs. John Doherty desires to tender her sincere thanks to the Canada Life Assurance Co., Hamilton, Cox & Davis agents, Peterborough, for the very prompt settlement of the sum of $1,000.00 the amount of the insurance policy on the life of her late husband.

A Sad Death.

This morning a telegram received from Denver conveyed the sad intelligence of the death of Miss Lily Barlee, who passed away on Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, about one hour before the arrival of her sister Miss Barlee, who with Miss Chamberlen was hastening to her bedside. The deceased young lady went to Denver last spring for the relief of that remorseless disease, consumption. Some months ago her sister, Miss Mabel, joined her, and on Thursday Miss Barlee and Miss Chamberlen started for Denver, arriving about an hour after death had done its work. Miss Barlee was a most estimable young lady, performing the duties of both home and in relation to the church, with a beautiful spirit of loving devotion and thoughtlessness of self. She was for years associated actively with St. John's South Ward Mission, filling the positions of teacher and organist with unfailing punctuality. Her early and sad death will cause deep grief in the wide circle of devoted friends her many amiable qualities created. She leaves to mourn her death four sisters—Misses Mabel and Jane, who are at present in Denver, and Misses Edith and Rose, who are at home.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Inspection Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the tailoress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

IT ENDS IN A DRAW.

Cobourg and Peterborough Play Hockey on Saturday Night Before a Large Number of Spectators.

The Cobourg Hockey Club played the return league hockey match at the rink here on Saturday night. The visitors arrived at 5.12 o'clock and registered at the Snowden House. Shortly after seven o'clock the game began. There was a very large crowd present which manifested considerable interest and did much cheering throughout the whole game. Following is the personnel of the teams:—

Cobourg		Peterborough.
W De Laney	goal	T H Dumble
Capt Fenwick	point	G Sawers
H Skill	cover point	W B Carmichael
H Macdougall	forwards	J Parsons
A Holland		W Phelan
F Kerr		H E C Wonham
A C Grierson		J Gemmell
F Gifford	goal umpire	Robt Hay

W J Montgomery, referee.

The game was a rather rough exhibition of hockey, and considerable bad temper was exhibited among the contestants at certain stages of the match; however, no one was seriously injured. The Cobourgs have improved greatly since their game with Peterborough a week ago, and played in a united and strong manner. The home team did not do any combination play at all worth speaking of, and put up the worst exhibition of hockey playing they have done this season. In a measure this may be accounted for by Saturday night's game following so closely on the Lindsay struggle, and the boys being "out of shape." Neither side made a lawful goal in the first half, although several times did the puck shoot through the uprights but always by means of a foul. After ten minutes rest the opposing sides went at it again, each bent on victory, Cobourg's forwards were doing some grand passing and rushing, which in a few minutes resulted effectively on goal, Macdougall, a sure player, doing the necessary. A few minutes more of earnest endeavour on the part of the Peterboroughs scored a goal, Wonham putting the rubber through. Cobourg again scored by Macdougall's good playing, and soon after Peterborough attained another goal by Parsons, evening up the score. The remaining ten minutes availed neither party anything and the game closed rather unsatisfactorily at 8.30, the Cobourg boys having to leave and dress in order to catch the 8.41 o'clock train. During the affray Sawers was struck between the eyes with a hockey stick, and although he stuck pluckily to his post throughout the game, still he was not playing in his usual fine form owing to the blow partly blinding him. It seemed to be an off day for Dumble in goal, also as he was not equal to his usual high average. The forwards also lacked in point of attack and dodging, lamentably so, and although the Peterborough's were not defeated, still there is no valid excuse why they did not come off the victors. Cobourg has been putting in some great practice work of late and with good purpose. W. J. Montgomery, one of the home team's strongest factors, injured his back at Lindsay and being unable to play, refereed the game in an impartial manner.

THE "QUEEN CITY" CURLING COMBINE.

The Charge of the Curling Four-Dozen—A Raid on the Provincial Capital—Mobilizing the Forces—A Railway Seized to Transport the Troops—The Expedition Organized—The Battle Hymn of the Besom Brigade—"They're All in It."

The chronicles of curling contain no record of a braver and more ambitious curling expedition than the raid which Peterborough's Four-Dozen will make on Thursday next, when twelve rinks of curlers selected from the Thistles and Granites go to Toronto to cross "stanes" with a like number selected from Toronto clubs. It will be a great day for curling, and no doubt the Peterborough contingent will, no matter what the thermometer reads, make it warm for their Toronto opponents—that is, if their play is equal to their pluck in attacking the curling chivalry of Toronto with three times their number.

The great bonspiel takes place on Thursday, and the local curlers have secured excursion rates on the C. P. R., the particulars of which may be seen in a local column advertisement elsewhere, and hundreds of citizens will take advantage of the midwinter railway excursion. The enthusiasm among the local curlers knows no bounds. Two members have put their heads—and the result shows they are great heads—together, and produced a poem which puts them in the final draw for competition for the position of poet-laureate. Here is the poem in cold blood:

A CURLING DAY

I.

What a fine curling day—
'Tis as pleasant as May—
And the stones to the city have gone,
Every curler'll be there
And all trouble and care
Will be left far behind them at home;
See skips and leads on their way,
And middlemen, who indifferently play;
Let us join the glad throng
That goes laughing along
And we'll all go a curling to-day.

CHORUS.

We'll all go a curling to-day,
All nature looks smiling and gay,
So we'll join the glad throng
That goes laughing along
And we'll all go a curling to-day.

II.

Says Peter to Bill
I've had grippe and I'm ill—
We're busy and shouldn't be away—
But I don't care a jot
If we lose money or not
We both will go curling to-day.
There's a stone on the pot lid, they say,
I will find it and get it away,
I'll be right with my guard
And for the shot try hard,
For we must go a curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

III.

Says Tom to Sam Ray,
We're going curling to-day;
You know we've won, before we've begun,
Now we want no chinning,
As long as we're winning,
Or you'll be beaten as sure as a gun.
If my first man is off in his play,
And my middleman don't know the way,
Just show me the hone,
And I'll clean out the stone,
For I'll do some tall curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

IV.

There's the Doctor driving fast,
For he don't want to be last,
At the dinner of greens and good beef,
And his patients in pain,
Say "We've come once again
To consult you in hope of relief."
To the poor he advice gave away,
For the rich he prescribed and took pay;
But to each one he said,
You will shortly be dead,
If you don't go a curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

V.

As the Judge sits in court,
He gets wind of the sport,
For the lawyers apply to adjourn;
As no witnesses come,
And there's none found at home—
They all to the city have gone—
Says His Honour, "Great fines they must pay
If they will not our summons obey"—
Yet it's very fine sport,
So we'll locak up the court,
And we'll all go a curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

VI.

Then the church bells chime,
There's a wedding at nine,
And the Parson unites the fond pair;
Then he hears the loud roar
Of the stones on the floor.
And he knows 'tis his time to be there.
Says he, For your welfare I'll pray,
And regret I no longer can stay,
Now you're safely made one
I must quickly be gone,
For I must go curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

VII.

And the limbs of the law,
Who are all in the draw,
Are as keen as on scent of a foe,
And now they will go,
And be honest, you know,
By way of achange, for one day.
And join in the hum round the tee;
Every business man,
Even furniture Dan,
Will shout with loud voice,
As his besom he hoists,
We'll all go curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

VIII.

Both Bob and McGill
Go in with a will,
Throwing hardware and ledgers to thunder,
And when they have got
The "lid" on the "pot"
Will open the sports' eyes with wonder.
With the style of their elegant play—
Though Geordie the sinner
May not "chip the winner,"
He'll corral the chips
And chime in with the skips,
We'll all go curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

IX.

There is only one cure
For all maladies sure,
That reaches the heart to its core,
'Tis the stone's loud roar
On a fine curling floor,
And where is the heart wishing more.
It turneth the grave into gay,
Maketh pain unto pleasure give way,
Makes the weak become strong,
And the old become young,
So we'll all go a curling to-day.
CHORUS—We'll all go, etc.

[Tenders for setting the above words to music will be received by the secretary up till Wednesday midnight.]

CHURCH CHIMES.

Miss Rose sang a solo in St. Paul's church last evening with charming taste.

Mrs. H. Jones sang a solo in fine voice at St. Andrew's church yesterday morning.

Rev. Mr. MacWilliams, pastor of St. Andrew's church is still visiting his sick father at Petrolea.

In St. John's church last evening Master Maitland Boswell took the solo in the offertory anthem in excellent voice.

The special services in connection with the Baptist church which have been conducted for the past three weeks very successfully, have closed.

At Evensong yesterday at St. John's the Rev. C. B. Kenrick referred in feeling terms to the sudden death of Dr. Phillips Brooks, the Bishop of Massachusetts.

The Provost of Trinity College, Ven. Archdeacon Body, conducted the services in St. Luke's church yesterday morning assisted by the rector, Rev. Mr. Symonds.

The annual business meeting of St. Paul's church congregation will be held on Wednesday night. Tea will be served by the ladies of the church from 6 to 8 o'clock.

Rev. Father Scollard at 8 and 10 o'clock masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday morning preached an eloquent and vigorous sermons to a large number of worshippers.

Mr. B. Matthews conducted the services at the Park street mission. Mr. Geo. Matthews presided at the organ in the Murray street Baptist church in an acceptable manner.

In St. Luke's church next Sunday, the rector, Rev. Mr. Symonds, will preach a memorial sermon in memoriam of the late Phillip Brooks, the venerable and stalwart Bishop of Massachussetts.

The local union of Christian Endeavour will hold a meeting in St. Paul's church on Thursday night, when Rev. Dr. McTavish, principal of the Central Presbyterian church, Toronto, will give an address.

Quarterly service will be held in the George street Methodist church on Sunday next. The sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be dispensed at the close of the morning service. Special quarterly contributions will be received.

Miss Lillie Jackson in George street church last evening during the contribution sang "Hour of Rest." Miss Jackson had a clear soprano voice and took the higher notes in a splendid style, to the appreciation of her auditors.

Mr. Hearn, a divinity student from Knox College, officiated in St. Andrew's Presbyterian church Sunday. He is a young man full of energy and power and delivered in a ringing voice two thoughtful and practical sermons, listened to with great attention by the large congregation present.

Rev. Christopher Thompson, pastor of the Methodist church, Omemee, preached in the Mark street church Ashburnham at both the morning and evening services on Sunday. The preacher in the morning discoursed in a forcible manner from James 1, 7th and 8th verse.

Rev. Mr. Fowler who is in charge of a flourishing Presbyterian Mission at Morris, Manitoba, addressed a few words to the congregation of St. Paul's church yesterday morning and at St. Andrew's in the evening. Mr. Fowler is making a tour of the eastern provinces collecting money and subscriptions towards erecting a new Presbyterian church at Morris, where a great and important work now being carried on is hampered by lack of convenience and accommodation. The reverend gentleman spoke hopefully of the work being done and asked the assistance of all Presbyterians. Morris was on the line of two important railways and more travellers stopped over at that place to spend Sunday than at any other point west of Winnipeg.

Ensign Dawson, superintendent of the Prison Gate Home, Kingston, conducted meetings at the Salvation Army barracks on Saturday night and all day Sunday. The ensign is an enthusiast in practical Christian work and a fluent and persuasive speaker. As a result of his masterly address on Saturday night four persons sought forgiveness from their sins and were converted. On Sunday four meetings were held and last night the barracks was crowded to the doors. Ensign Dawson spoke feelingly upon the need of all renouncing the ways and sins of the world, and all accepting so great a salvation as Christ has provided for us. The music and singing was hearty and cheery, the prayers fervent and brief, the testimonies sincere and pithy. The utmost interest was taken in the service throughout. To-night Ensign Dawson will re-commission the members of the band for the coming year and will deliver an address on prison gate work.

If any doubt exists in the mind of any suffer as to the curative properties of Dr. Butler's Golden Pills, let him or her try them and if not cured money will be refunded.

NOW FOR BUSINESS!

THOS. KELLY

Takes pleasure in announcing to his numerous customers and friends that he has now

COMPLETELY REMOVED

his Dry Goods Business from the old and antiquated store in Burnham's Block to his new and more central premises,

365 George Street,

ROWSE'S OLD STAND.

We part from the old stand with regret. But it is not our fault that the trade is going up town. We see that it is going, and who can control the movements of trade? For our part, we think the sensible thing is to follow.

Being now comfortably settled in the centre of trade, we are fully prepared for business, and hope to be able to serve all our old customers and many more new ones.

The ladies are especially invited to call and look through our handsome new premises, where they will find us surrounded with the latest modern store improvements, increased shelf room, better light, and other accessories for the more effective display of our large and well assorted stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods.

BARGAINS as BIG and as REAL as ever. Some lines of goods slightly damaged by smoke to be sold for whatever they will bring.

THOS. KELLY,
365 George Street, - - Rowse's Old Stand.

THIS

Is merely to remind the public that the Finest and Completest Stock of Fancy and Staple Stationery, Miscellaneous Books and allied goods is to be found at the PETERBOROUGH BOOK-STORE; and also to remind them that the prices are the lowest in town. SIX POINTS, out of many, where Dr. Pierce's Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest, and easiest to take — little, sugar-coated granules that every child takes readily.

2. They're perfectly easy in their action — no griping, no disturbance.

3. Their effects last. There's no reaction afterwards. They regulate or cleanse the system according to size of dose.

4. They're the cheapest, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get.

5. Put up in glass — are always fresh.

6. They cure Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

It cures Catarrh in the Head —perfectly and permanently— Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy.

VENTILATION OF ROOMS

THE GOOD HEALTH OF THE HOUSEHOLD DEPENDS THEREON.

How to Ascertain Definitely the Time Needed to Effect a Change of the Air of a Room and Also How Large an Amount of Air is Requisite.

The health of the inmates of dwellings depends in some measure on the amount of fresh air they receive through crevices, warm air registers, and through doors and windows. These are all more or less useful, but their value is much lessened by the great irregularity with which the supply is furnished. There is no regular estimate made of the amount of breathing air needed to fill a room, nor the time required to replace it with fresh air from without through these different orifices. If fresh air is wanted, a window or a door is thrown open for a little while indefinitely, and then closed at random. It may have been only half ventilated, or on the other hand the opening may have been kept open several times longer than was required and the inmates thoroughly chilled. It is well, therefore, to know definitely the time needed to effect a change in the air, and how large an amount of air is required to keep a constant and sufficient supply of fresh air for a definite number of occupants.

FIG. 1.

An estimate may be easily made. Take for example a room 15 by 20 feet, and with a ceiling 10 feet high. It will contain 3,000 cubic feet. A warm-air register a foot square, admitting a current only three feet in a second (which is a moderate supply), would replace the air of the room in 1,000 seconds, or in 16 minutes. A larger register would do it in a correspondingly less time, and a smaller one would require longer. The velocity of the warm air may be determined by placing a feather in the current, and observing its upward motion in a second. The question occurs, how long would it require to change all the air of the room with a window thrown open with 10 square feet? It would admit air just ten times as fast, or change the air in about a minute and a half; or even less if there were some wind outdoors, causing a more rapid current. Or, it would require several minutes in warm weather with no wind; but a fair average, however, would be a minute and a half or two minutes. A door three feet wide and seven feet high would effect the change in less than half the time; and in cold weather without and a warm room within, the current would be so rapid that the whole air would be changed in less than half a minute or in a few seconds.

The next question is, how often is such a change required for the occupants of the room to maintain health in breathing? This is a matter of great importance, and not well understood. The quantity of air breathed by healthy persons taking moderate exercise, is a cubic foot in 3½ minutes, or 400 cubic feet in 24 hours; or it would require 7 persons 24 hours to breathe all the contents of the room already mentioned, if this were all. But as all the air taken into the lungs in breathing throws out about 100 times as much carbonic acid as pure atmospheric air contains, a person needs about 50 times as much to keep up the pure air of the room, or about 20,000 cubic feet in 24 hours, to dilute sufficiently the breathed air thrown out. If we had to take in over and over again this breathed air, without any mixture of pure air, it would prove fatal in a very short time.

But in common living rooms, there is enough fresh air constantly streaming in through crevices, and entering through registers, and the frequent opening of doors in passing through, so that there is usually a good supply of breathing air, if it is occupied by only a few persons. But lodging rooms oftener have much foul air, because there is no passing through them for several hours while the lodgers are asleep. It is therefore of great importance for the health of the occupants to provide some constantly ventilating current. An opening three inches in diameter is about large enough to admit continually through the night enough fresh air for one person, and four inches for two persons. This may be effected by a narrow opening of an inch between the two sashes of the window. And frequently the cracks around the doors and windows are sufficient, except in warm and still weather when there is little current. Such crevices admit more air in winter by cold-air currents than in summer.

A warm-air register supplied through a wooden tube from out-doors, a foot in diameter, and with a 3-foot current, will give enough breathing air for 16 persons, or with a corresponding size for any other number. But it often happens that a large, closely-seated school-room has 100 or 200 persons, with an insufficient air supply; 100 requiring at least 2½ feet diameter.

A simple method may be used for ascertaining in the morning if the air in a bed-room before ventilating is impure and has been unwholesome for the occupants: Fill a transparent quart bottle with water, then empty the bottle in the bed-room and it will of course become at once filled with the bed-room air. Then pour a teaspoonful of clear lime water into the bottle and shake it well. If the spoonful of water remains clear and not milky in appearance the air has been pure enough to breathe safely. But if it becomes milky, there was too much carbonic acid, and the more opaque the water the more impure the air. Every well filled school room should be frequently tested in this way.

The accompanying cut (fig. 1) shows the course of the warm air current when admitted to warm a room, A being the entrance at the register, and B a small open fire-place or other place of exit for the escape of the air after sweeping upwards and through the room. Fig. 2 represents the mode which may be adopted for ventilating a bed-room through a window, a narrow opening being made between the sashes, and the entering current of fresh air thrown upwards and across the room by an inclined plate of metal or a board several inches wide. This entering air being colder is heavier than the air of the room and falls by its weight over all parts of the room. There are other modes of ventilating rooms, which may be varied according to circumstances. The amount of air admitted may be varied according to requirement, a room with only one occupant needing but little, and one crowded with people needing a corresponding increase of air. The solitary occupant may get enough fresh air by the feeding of a stove, while the larger number may demand a large blazing and open fire-place in addition to other means. —Country Gentlemen.

If, when crossing a railroad track, you see a train approaching at thirty miles an hour—get out of the way as soon as possible. When threatened with chronic rheumatism or catarrh, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla persistantly and patiently, and the danger will soon pass away.

Safe and Sure.

Not only safety from mineral poison (of which B. B. B. does not contain the slightest trace), but prompt and certain action in the cure of disease may be confidently relied on from the use of this unrivalled natural specific for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Bad Blood, Headache, Biliousness and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

FIGHTING JACK FROST.

Marching Soldiers With the Thermometer at 50 Below Zero.

BUDAPEST, Jan. 23.—The Government was questioned in the Unterhaus yesterday as to the exercising and marching of troops recently when the thermometer was 50 degrees below zero Centigrade.

The questioner said that the consequence of this drilling had been that 114 soldiers had their hands, feet or noses frozen. In the discussion that followed it transpired that the War Department had been testing the endurance of the Austrians, Hungarians and Poles in the service.

The department had wished to learn the ability of the troops to withstand the hardships of a winter campaign, as it is believed Russia will try to precipitate the next war in cold weather, in the belief that its army has been better trained to work to advantage in snow and ice than has any other army of Europe.

With few exceptions the Austro-Hungarian troops stood the tests bravely. The Government, however, evaded answering the interpellation.

HIS FAMILY PEDIGREE.

It Shows That His Mother Was Not a "cross-bred Hindoo."

DUBLIN, Jan. 23.—Pierce Mahony, formerly Parnellite M.P. for North Meath, is determined to prove that his mother was not a "cross-bred Hindoo" as alleged by Mr. Matthew J. Kenny, anti-Parnellite member for Middle Tyrone, in an address delivered on Sunday, which allegation led to Mr. Mahony giving Mr. Kenny a black eye yesterday.

Mr. Mahony is therefore publishing the pedigree of his family from the beginning of the last century in order to show that there is no Hindoo blood in the stock, and that therefore his mother could not have been a "cross-bred Hindoo." The public are greatly interested in the discussion, and Parnellites and anti-Parnellites are as much excited over the "cross-bred Hindoo" question as they were on the subject of the O'Shea divorce.

THE PANAMA SCANDAL.

True Bills of Accusation Found Against 15 Participants.

PARIS, Jan. 28.—M. Franqueville, the examining magistrate, has found true bills of accusation against Senator Albert Grevy, Ex-Minister Charles Baihaut, Ex-Deputy Gobron, Ex-Deputy Sans-Leroy, M. Blondin, Charles de Lesseps, Henry Cottu, Marius Fontaine, Ex-Minister Rouvier, Senator Beral, Senator Deves, Senator Renault, Deputy Dugue de la Faconnerie, Count Ferdinand de Lesseps and Deputy Amin Provost.

Magistrate Franqueville absolves from accusation Deputy and Ex-Minister Jules Roche, Senator Thevenet and Deputy Emmanuel Arene.

If the true bills be vetoed, further proceedings will be abandoned.

Shot as a Party.

ST. CATHARINES, Jan. 28.—Last night at the residence of John Long, Decew Falls, where a number of young people from Merritton and Thorold were spending a social evening, James Stevens of Thorold found an old revolver.

As he was handling the weapon it accidentally went off in his hand. The ball entered at the back of the head of John Walker of Walker Bros., Thorold. A doctor was immediately summoned, but has not succeeded in finding the ball.

Montreal's Muddle.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28.—Municipal affairs in Montreal are in a bad muddle. Nominations for aldermen have been made and the elections are supposed to take place Feb. 1, but until the amendments to the city charter are passed by the Quebec Legislature any elections will be illegal. If the Legislature does not pass these amendments before Feb 1, Montreal will have no city council and the city will be running itself.

Will Lose His Feet.

WINNIPEG Jan. 28.—Missionary Samuel D. Wood, who has been laboring among Indians, was brought into Winnipeg to-day with his feet so badly frozen that both will have to be amputated.

Fire in Oil City.

OIL CITY, Ont., Jan. 28.—A fire occurred here about 4.30 yesterday, completely destroying the building owned by James Keating, who occupied the second and third stories as a dwelling; the first story, occupied by W. T. Trott as a general store, also the postoffice building, owned by James Keating, and a vacant store owned by J. B. McGregor. Mr. Keating has $1250 insurance, loss $2000. Mr. Trott has $3500 insurance on stock; loss $7000. Mr. McGregor has no insurance; loss $3500.

The fire originated in Mr. Trott's store. Everything was a total loss.

Collision at Rochester.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Jan. 28.—A collision occurred at 5.30 o'clock on the Erie railroad at Wallace yesterday between passenger train No. 113 and a freight train, in which Matthew Reisenger, the fireman on the passenger train, was killed, and William West, fireman on the freight, both of this city, lost a leg.

Nova Scotia Coal.

MONTREAL, Jan. 28.—Canadian management of coal combination is to be directed from Montreal. They are already negotiating for the purchase of the Black Diamond line of steamships. They hope to save 50 cents per ton in cost of transportation to Montreal. From $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 will, it is said, be brought into the lower provinces.

With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, you have an effective remedy for all sudden attacks of throat and lung troubles. An hour's delay may lead to serious consequences. No household should be without this wonderful medicine.

Now is the Time.

In this the season of coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and other throat and lung complaints, it is well to be provided with a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup which effectually cures all such diseases, and that very promptly and pleasantly. Price 25 and 50c. Sold by all druggists.

Pain from indigestion, dyspepsia, and too hearty eating, is relieved at once by taking one of Carter's Little Liver Pills immediately after dinner. Don't forget this.

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

Make no Mistake.

Make no mistake when buying a remedy for dyspepsia, headache, constipation or bad blood, be sure to get the kind that cures, Burdock Blood Bitters "It is an excellent remedy for headache." —C. Blackett Robinson, Pub. Canada Presbyterian.

A NOVEL CUT.

These Words Apply to the Waist in the Picture.

A peculiarity of the waist pictured is that it shows no seams whatever, not even on the shoulders. It has no lining and should be fitted on the person. The stuff is gathered very full in the back and is slightly gathered in front. The armholes are cut in the gathered material. The front pieces cross and are draped as seen in the engraving. A somewhat pointed opening is formed at the neck, which can be filled by a lace front. At the sides the silk is draped here and there to make folds which form the belt. The waist is trimmed with a crochet border and the collar ornamented in the same way, is turned down, and ends in a bow knot. The sleeves have only one seam and are taken up by one little tuck at the seam.

Inexpensive tea-gowns are invaluable for evening wear, and have a much more dressy effect than an ordinary gown brightened by fichus or ribbon. Some graceful contrast in color should be chosen for the front, and a pretty passementerie or galon for the edge. Pongee silk or bright surahs are excellent for fronts; or there are many silky materials at low prices which are equally suitable. Those who wear tea-gowns and tea jackets can usually pick up odd lengths of pretty stuff for the fronts or jackets, and patterned designs or shaded or mixed colorings always make up well with plain colors.

Morning gowns are now so elaborate that they are not readily distinguished from tea-gowns; but for summer wear the morning gown is usually of light tint or fragile materials, and in winter of foulard or cashmere of medium color. The same style may be carried out in deeper shades or in heavier materials for a tea-gown, which in winter is most useful for home, dinners, and general evening wear.

PERSONALS.

Thoughtful printers at Reading, Pa., celebrated the 187th birthday of Ben Franklin on Sunday last.

It is stated that the Empress of Germany is a very skilful violinist, and often plays at the after-dinner concerts at the palace.

Chas. H. Hoyt, the playwright, is one of the new members of the New Hampshire Legislature. He is, no doubt, bent on collecting materials for a new farce.

The first five Presidents of the United States ended their terms of service in the 66th year of their age, and, had John Quincy Adams been elected for a second term, he also would have ended his term in his 66th year.

Mrs. Tel Sono, the Japanese reformer, who is now lecturing in this country to raise funds to establish in Tokio a non-sectarian training school for women and girls, had the honor of being the first woman lawyer in Japan. She has been a Christian for only five years.

The Empress of Austria has ordered her steam yacht to be prepared for a cruise to Madeira, the Canary Islands and the West Indies. When she leaves her palace at Corfu, on which she has spent half a million sterling, the people may hum, "Corfu shall not ring to-night."

Campbellford Speaks.

No one has better reason to be grateful for Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure than I have. I was ill for a long time under the doctor's care; I was tortured with muscular rheumatism, disordered kidneys and general debility. I was losing flesh rapidly—had gone down from 180 to 130 pounds—and was bedfast for months. If you have been there before, you know how little there was in life for me, and when I was asked to try Membray's Cure, how hopeless I was. I used two bottled only, ($2) and at the end of that time had risen from a sick bed, regained my appetite, was relieved from all pain, put on new flesh, and am now attending to business as well as ever.—D. WATERS, merchant, Campbellford, Ont. Write me if you want further particulars about Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

Biliousness Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for biliousness and find it the best remedy for this complaint. I used several other remedies but they all failed to do me any good. However, it required only two bottles of B. B. B. to cure me completely, and I can recommend it to all.

Yours truly,
WM. ROBINSON, Wallaceburg.

Bronchitis cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I suffered four or five years from bronchitis and a severe hacking cough, and could get nothing to do me any good. A friend told me to get Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and I did so with good results. Two bottles cured me and I hardly know what a cold is now.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache.

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50c. a package.

If sick headache is misery, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their work. They are small and easy to take.

WAR CLOUDS IN EUROPE.

THE GERMAN ARMY BILL PASSED WITH FIRMNESS.

Caprivi Again Talks About War — The Navy To Be Strengthened—Significance of the Czarewitch's Visit—Cordiality All on the Side of Emperor William.

BERLIN, Jan. 30.—Chancellor von Caprivi once more appeared before the committee and spoke in favor of the bill, urging that it be approved in its entirety. The measure, he said, was not intended to avert a momentary danger of an acute nature. It aimed to make suitable provision for a state of things which he must describe as presenting a permanent danger. The Federal governments, he added, were strongly of the opinion that the country was in a position to bear the burdens that the Ministers sought to lay upon it. The Chancellor declared that when the situation became clearly apparent the Government would not fail to receive the support of the people.

Dr. Lieber reaffirmed that it was impossible for his party to concede more than it had already done, whereupon the Chancellor curtly closed the discussion by expressing the hope that a consideration of the clauses of the bill would convince the Centrists of the necessity of supporting the measure.

The members of the committee in conversation in the lobbies, subsequent to the Chancellor's speech, concurred in the opinion that his words menaced an appeal to the country if the bill was not passed by the Reichstag.

The Budget Commission of the Reichstag is rapidly voting the new credits for the navy under the impulse of Chancellor von Caprivi's declaration that there is a danger of a coalition of the fleets of France, Russia and Denmark.

Herr Hahn, a member of the Reichstag, made a powerful impression upon the commission by his statement that, despite the declarations of the Danish Foreign Minister in the Folkesthing, the German Government had reason to believe that Denmark in the event of war would make common cause with Russia.

Though the reception of the Czarewitch here is not likely to modify the grouping of the powers or reverse the policy of Russia, it is decidedly a temporary check to the French party at the Czar's court. Despatches received from St. Petersburg testify to a marked change in the tone of the semi-official press toward Germany. The Government Messenger announces that on the occasion of the anniversary of the birth of Emperor William the Czar invited Gen. von Werder, the German Ambassador, and Major de Jeune, Military Attache of the German Embassy, to the Anitchkoff Palace. During the course of the interview the Czar made cordial reference to the good-will existing between the courts of St. Petersburg and Berlin. Furthermore the semi-official Journal de St. Petersbourg publishes a communication expressing the satisfaction of the highest court circles at the manner in which the Czarewitch was welcomed to Berlin. The paper adds that in yesterday's despatches from Berlin, Russians read the words of Emperor William in proposing the health of the Czar at the luncheon given by the Alexander regiment in honor of the Czarewitch, in which he referred in eloquent terms to the traditions of friendship uniting the two Imperial families, of which the reception to the Czarewitch was a fresh proof. Emperor William's words, the paper concludes, have been hailed with sincere rejoicing by all the friends of peace.

The significance of this semi-official language appears to be over-estimated by the official circle here, where to-night reports are current that the Czarewitch has given Emperor William and Chancellor von Caprivi his personal assurance that he would use his influence against an alliance between Russia and France. The impression that the Czarewitch created on diplomats and members of the Imperial Household who came in contact with him during his visit is the reverse of what is recorded by the semi-official press. The closest observers say that the cordiality was all on the side of the Emperor William, whose expansion towards his guest was met by formal politeness. The Czarewitch is known to detest Republican France, but his attitude here evinced no want of friendship for the high German personages around him.

The significance of the Czarewitch's visit is a mystery. Many persons attribute to the visit an international importance such as is attributable to no diplomatic event since the Kronstadt demonstration.

The majority, however, incline to the opinion that the relations between Germany and Russia will remain substantially unaltered and that beyond a slight clearing of the atmosphere in which the houses of Hohenzollern and Romanoff move, the exchange of courtesies in Berlin will prove resultless. Russian sovereigns have seldom allowed family matters to determine state tendencies, and Alexander III. is not the kind of man to make an exception to the rule.

If the Czarewitch's visit meant anything more than superficial signs indicate, it was probably intended to pave the way for a marriage between him and the Princess Fedora, the youngest sister of Empress Augusta Victoria. It also may have been planned for the purpose of making Austria-Hungary less offensive in her Balkan policy by threatening her with a Russo-German rapprochement.

The conduct of the Czarewitch in Berlin certainly warranted the conclusion that he was acting within the lines of a careful plan, whose pettish specifications he has held to rigidly.

The grand reception held after the marriage of Princess Margaret was the most brilliant of the past week's festivities. It was held in the White Hall of the Royal Castle. During the ceremony of filing past the throne an awkward mishap occurred. A lady in waiting to Princess Henry, in bowing, leaned over so far that she lost her balance and fell into the basin of the adjacent fountain. She was speedily helped to rise and was found to be uninjured.

The splendor of the wedding celebration has been the subject of general congratulations. The Radical editors, however, have found as usual something to criticise. The torchlight dance is regarded by them as not becoming the dignity of state ministers.

Persons who were present at the dance and have not been callousted to the ridiculous ceremony by a generation at court describe as highly ridiculous the spectacle of 11 elderly and dignified statesmen clad in short silk trousers parading with enormous wax tapers in their hands.

The royal personages were grouped under the canopy of the throne, the other guests were ranged along the sides, and the procession marched at a funeral pace round the room, Prince Frederick Charles of Hesse and his bride walking in the rear.

The ministers stopped before the throne, the bride invited the Emperor to dance and the march was repeated, when the bridegroom led the Empress through the same ceremony.

This dreary farce was continued until the bride had danced with all the princes and the bridegroom had danced with all the princesses. There was no pretence at merriment during these ridiculous performances and it was with expressions of relief that the dancing statesmen delivered their tapers to the pages, who escorted the bridal couple to their chamber.

The Ulk, a comic periodical, has made the dance the subject of a cartoon, which represents a deputation of the unemployed at the door of the Ministry of Commerce listening to the janitor's explanation that Herr Von Berlepsch cannot receive them because he is taking a lesson in torchlight dancing.

Day by Day

The surprising bargains brought about by our Annual Inventory Sale are picked up eagerly, and shoppers who patronize our sale are all anxious to get the best.

Business with us is quite remarkable for this season of the year. Shoppers manifest increased satisfaction with the way we do business, the values we give and the service we control.

Our present great values, in which the public interest is still centered, consist of—

Damaged Table Linens
Damaged Table Napkins
Bankrupt Lines of Towels, &c

"Sweep them out" is the word, and we have no doubt that by the end of another week, with such sales as we have had, and with such reductions in price, many of these tempting bargains will be conspicuous by their absence. It will pay you to purchase some of your spring supplies at the GOLDEN LION'S inventory sale now going on.

DOMINION GOVERNMENT.

FIRST DIVISION ON MR. LAURIER'S AMENDMENT.

The Government Majority Is Fifty.

OTTAWA, Jan. 31.— The newly-elected member for Kent, N.B., moved the adoption of the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne, and for the next half-hour he took up the speech, paragraph by paragraph, in excellent style, dealing with the different subjects in a manner which showed that he had made a careful study of them.

Mr. Malmarney is a pleasing and agreeable speaker, who makes his points well and who gives promise of proving a decided acquisition to the debating power of the House. In his opening remarks he referred to the fact that on six occasions he had endeavored to represent his constituency, but only succeeded on the seventh trial, and regretted that he had not got into the House earlier so that he might have had the pleasure of meeting that great leader, Sir John Macdonald, to whose memory he paid a touching tribute.

He also referred to the absence of Hon. Mr. Blake and expressed the hope that in his new sphere of usefulness he might assist in solving the great problem of Home Rule. He expressed the highest confidence in Sir John Thompson, the present leader of the Conservative party, and said that the leader's great ability and good qualities needed no words of commendation from him.

Neatly and briefly he referred to the progress of the country, as shown by the trade returns and statement of revenue and expenditure, and was greeted with hearty applause when he said he was informed that the exports of dairy produce from Canada with its 5,000,000 of population were a million and a quarter more than the exports of dairy produce from the United States with their 65,000,000 of population. After touching lightly on each subject in the debate, he wound up an excellent half-hour speech with a brilliant peroration on the inculcation of a national spirit in Canada.

Mr. Leclaire, Hon. Mr. Chapleau's successor in Terrebonne, seconded the resolution in French, and when he had straightened himself up and towred above his fellow members to the extent of six feet four inches he was greeted with considerable applause. He speaks well, has a good voice and kept the House interested for 15 minutes.

He paid a high tribute to his predecessor, Mr. Chapleau, and thoroughly and heartily endorsed the policy of the Government as outlined in the speech.

Hon. Mr. Laurier, who was not looking thoroughly recovered from his recent indisposition, was greeted with applause as he rose to continue the debate. He appeared a little weak at first, but warmed up as he went on and managed to crowd a very good speech into ten minutes' time. He commenced by referring to the change of administration since last session and in doing so paid a high compliment to Sir John Abbott, of whom he spoke in the highest terms as one of the ablest men in public life, and expressing regret that ill-health should have caused his retirement. He congratulated Sir John Thompson on his succession to the Premiership, referred to his rapid advance since his entering Parliament, and pleasantly welcomed his promotion. He then proceeded to twit Sir John on his speech at the Young Conservative meeting in Toronto, and charged him with indulging in flights of imagination in claiming that the National Policy had anything to do with the acquisition and development of the North-west Territories. With regard to the statement that the present Government was a strong one, he indulged in a little good-natured chaff about the increase in the number of ministers, and caused a laugh by saying that there were 15 ministerial advisers of the crown and three advisers of the advisers.

He thought that there was no necessity for bringing into force the acts relating to the Department of Trade and Commerce and the Solicitor-General, and believed that the real reason of these acts which had lain on the statute book for six years being called into existence was "in order to balance colors and shades and to enable the orange and green to mingle harmoniously together."

Of course he denied that the country was prosperous, referred to the lower rate of increase in population shown by the census of 1891 as compared with that of 1881, and read an extract from Sir John Macdonald's famous resolution of 1878, in which it was stated, amongst other things, that the National Policy would provide work for the unemployed and stop the exodus, claiming that it had manifestly failed in this respect, as the exodus was greater than ever.

He rather sneered at the development of manufacture shown by the census, and humorously alluded to the increase of manufacturing establishments in the Indian village of Caughnawaga from 8 in 1881 to 42 in 1891, which he said probably meant that so many more bead baskets and other Indian curios were now made there, which was probably caused by the fact that these articles were not protected and there was free trade in them.

With regard to reciprocity in wrecking he thought that the Americans ought to be allowed to do wrecking in Canadian canals, as the intention of Parliament was to give the freest possible use of our waters. He blamed the Government for its course with respect to canal tolls, and thought the present difficulty might have been avoided if a more generous policy had been pursued. He claimed that the Canadian Government had never been generous in its treatment of the American Government, and thought that a broad and generous course should be taken, and whenever there was a favor to be done it should be done with a good grace.

As to the legislative forecast of the speech, he was pleased to see that the Franchise Act was to be amended and thought that the best thing that could be done with it would be to amend it off the statute book altogether. For 21 years the provincial lists had been used and had been found to work well, but since 1867 there had been great complaints as to the unjust working of the act, and as an instance he referred to the case of Mr. Tarte, who had been elected for L'Islet, but was prevented from taking his seat by the working of the act.

The speech was more remarkable for what was not in it than for what was. There was no allusion to the prohibition resolution, there was no allusion to the Civil Service commission, and there was no reference to the Manitoba School question. As to the latter question he held that the report of the sub-committee of council should have been presented to the House before it was published, and ridiculed the idea that council could turn itself into a court of justice and hear the case in any other than a political argument.

The greatest omission from the speech, however, he claimed, was the absence of any reference to tariff changes. Reform, he said, was over the land, and the Minister had been running about from place to place holding out hopes that some of the "unoffending branches" of the National Policy would be lopped off, but there was no reference in the speech to any proposed change. The country expected legislation on this subject and he would, therefore, conclude by moving the following amendment to the motion for the adoption of the address:

That the following words be added to the address: "We feel bound to represent to Your Excellency that in the present condition of the people of Canada, substantial reductions should be made in the taxation which presses so heavily upon the great bulk of the community, and we regret that in the speech, graciously delivered from the Throne, Your Excellency was not advised to hold out promises of reductions to the oppressive duties now imposed."

Sir John Thompson answered, one by one, the objections raised by Mr. Laurier.

He commenced by complimenting the mover and seconder of the address, whom, he said, had not only done credit to themselves, but had added to the dignity of the House. He returned thanks to Mr. Laurier for his kindly remarks about Sir John Abbott, who had the most profound respect of the whole party, and whose loss would be deeply felt. [Applause.]

He was also grateful to the leader of the Opposition for his graceful but somewhat sarcastic remarks about himself. Referring to the charge that the Ministers had gone about preaching that the country was prosperous, he said that they were always able to support their statements by extracts from the public records, while the hon. gentleman did not consult the published records at all, but contented himself with saying it was all trash when the increase of trade, the development of railways, etc., were hurled as evidences of prosperity, but the hon. gentleman never contradicted the figures.

With regard to the census he said it was unfair to compare the results of the census of 1891 with that of ten years before, because they were not taken under the same conditions.

With reference to his Toronto speech he said that what he meant was that the whole policy of the Liberal-Conservative party had been national in the sense that it was intended to build up the country. He twitted the leader of the Opposition on abandoning his old friend, unrestricted reciprocity, and said the only allusion to it was found in the reference to the baskets of the Indian women of Caughnawaga being sold all over the continent.

With regard to the exodus, he claimed that the National Policy had found work for thousands who would otherwise have been forced to go out of the country. The leader of the Opposition had taken what figures he pleased from the census when he was talking about the exodus, but when the development of trade was referred to he professed to ignore the census figures.

Dealing with the question of wrecking, he said the Canadian Government was quite willing to allow American vessels all the facilities with regard to wrecking which were enjoyed by Canadian vessels, but no vessels could be allowed to block the canals for the purpose of undergoing repairs.

As to the rebate on canal tolls, they had existed for years and there had been no remonstrance until last year, when it was made in the middle of the season after all shipping engagements had been made, and it was possible to abolish the rebate then. When the correspondence was brought down it would not be found that the action of Canada had been harsh and unkind towards the United States.

The canal question was not a new one. The Opposition had to complain that the Americans got the use of the Canadian canals, while Canadians were refused the use of the American canals; but now the Opposition seems anxious that the Americans should do as they pleased with their canals.

With regard to the so-called omissions from the speech, he could not believe that the honorable gentleman came through Montreal and saw the prohibition commissioners at work there and still expected to find some allusion to its report in the speech.

As to the Caron Commission the report was made and would be laid on the table.

As to the Manitoba school question he declined to follow the leader of the Opposition with respect to it, but would reserve any decision until after the papers were brought down. There was no discourtesy whatever shown to the House by the publication of the report of the sub-committee before it was presented to the House.

As to the omission of any mention of tariff changes in the speech, Sir John pointed out that with the exception of 1879, when the National Policy was introduced, it was not usual to make any reference in the speech to the tariff changes which would not be made for months afterwards.

Sir Richard Cartwright followed, speaking up to recess.

After recess Sir Richard continued for an hour, dealing mostly with the exodus, as shown by the census returns, and deploring generally the unprosperous condition of the country, which he charged wholly to the National Policy.

The Hon. Mr. Foster said the hon. gentleman had not gone beyond blaming the Government for the exodus, but he had not pointed out a single cause for the effect.

After some remarks by Mr. Mills the members were called in and the House divided on Mr. Laurier's amendment, which was lost. Yeas 53; nays 103.

The usual formal motions were then made and carried with regard to presenting the address to His Excellency.

Hon. Mr. Foster presented the estimates for 1893-'94. The total amount to be voted is $22,701,345. As the total amount required, including amounts fixed by statute, is $42,919,614 there is a decrease of $657,225 from last year. But it must be remembered this does not include supplementary estimates yet to be brought down.

House adjourned at 11.25.

FROM ENGLAND.

The British Lion Growls a Warning Growl to Uncle Sam.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The British Government has instructed Sir Julian Pauncefote, its minister here, to protest against the action of the U.S. officials and forces in Hawaii.

LIKE A DOSE OF POISON.

INDULGED IN SPREES ONCE AND A WHILE.

Found Dying in a Closet in Rear of the Boarding House in Front-Street and Less Than Four Hours Later Dead—Suspicious Circumstances.

TORONTO, Jan. 31st.—A death under somewhat suspicious circumstances occurred last night at 171 Front-street east, a boarding house occupied by Mrs. Mitchell. Thomas Arch, aged 56, a pattern maker in the Massey-Harris Works, was found dead in the closet in the rear of the building at 11 p.m. According to the statement of a fellow-boarder Arch, who is an Englishman and single, has boarded for the last three years with Mrs. Mitchell, and has always been an apparently healthy man, making no complaint of sickness other than what followed the debauches he was wont to indulge in periodically.

Last night he came home in his usual health and bearing no evidence of intoxication. Shortly afterwards he went out to the closet, where he was found by Michael Mitchell, the husband of the landlady. He was vomiting heavily, and in response to Mitchell's enquiries said: "I am a little sick. Go away and don't bother me."

Fifteen minutes later Mitchell came back and found Arch huddled up in a sitting position and apparently dead. Dr. Gregg was called in and pronounced life extinct. The vomiting was deemed an indication of poisoning, and Coroner Aikins was notified. An inquest will be held to-day, when the post-mortem will reveal the cause of death. No suspicion of foul play attaches to the inmates of the house, and the poison, if any, was probably self-administered. The body was removed to the Morgue in the patrol wagon.

THE MILLER CASE.

He Married Miss Lucille Davis While Both Were Under Arrest at the Bridge.

TORONTO, Jan. 31st.—It now turns out that the arrest of Jacob Miller and Miss Lucille Davis at Suspension Bridge on Thursday night precipitated the marriage of the couple. When the girl learned that they would not be released she appealed to Miller to marry her.

Chief of Police Miller and O. E. Dunlap took the couple to Judge Sam Eastman, who married them. They passed the first night of their honeymoon in a hotel, under the surveillance of an officer. The couple are held at Lockport. Mr. Henry Davis, brother of the girl, refuses to speak of the matter.

Yesterday morning the case of Miller and an accomplice, Lace Stein, was called in the Police Court. They were charged with the larceny of a beaver overcoat from K. F. McNabb, but on receipt of a telegram from Miller at Lockport Mr. McNabb requested that the case be laid over for a week.

THE BLACK SHEEP.

His Family Has Been Left a Large Fortune.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—The motion for the final distribution of the estate of the late James French, "the friend of the widow and the orphan," will come up at Osgoode Hall to-day. Some of the events developed in arranging the distribution of the estate bear a complexion that resembles more the incidents of an English three-volume novel than sober everyday life.

Richard French, the only son of the late Mr. French, was the black sheep of his family and left Toronto many years ago, settling in Brooklyn in 1865.

In time he married a Brooklyn woman, and after many vicissitudes he died in the almshouse in Flatbush in 1886, leaving a widow and six children in destitute circumstances.

Since then the family has rubbed along as best it could. The eldest child is a girl now of age, and two boys are also old enough to earn their livelihood.

After the death of James French in May last the news that the family had fallen heir to a large fortune came like a godsend. The widow is now living at 566 Vanderbilt-avenue, Brooklyn.

The French estate amounts to nearly $500,000, to be divided among the widow of James French, the family of his son Richard French and the family of the late Mrs. Bates of New York, and of Mrs. McClellan, his two daughters. According to the terms of his will it was not quite clear as to what portion the widow and children of Richard French should receive, but after several references $115,000 was allotted.

All the heirs are now satisfied excepting the eldest daughter of Richard French, but it is hardly probable that she will make any trouble.

The Cholera Scare.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The cholera scare is now arousing genuine alarm throughout Europe. It is past midwinter, and the dread disease seems to have entrenched itself beyond the possibility of dislodgement.

It is now almost universally admitted by competent authorities that the danger for the coming summer is far greater than it was last year. Preparations are being made to fight the monster, but there is reason to fear that the measures adopted are altogether inadequate.

Doc, the Trotting Dog, is Still Alive.

BRIGHTON, Jan 31.—There is no truth whatever in the report that the famous trotting dog, Doc, was killed by a railway accident in New Jersey last week as has been published in many papers during the past few days. Doc has not been away from home since last November and is here now safe and well.

DIVIDENDS BY FAT SYSTEM.

A Matter of Interest to Cheese Men Exhaustively Dealt With.

For some years past men who were thinking about their business as dairymen have been confronted with the injustice of "pooling" milk at the cheese factory, or in other words, paying by quantity regardless of quality. If we were dealing in anything else this basis would be considered most absurd. It would be similar to taking a $1 note for a $2 one, or a lean ox for the same figure as a fat one, or paying the same for a bushel of wheat if it weighed 40 or 60 lbs. Nothing was said about the aforesaid injustice, because no remedy was at hand, and it would, of course, create much dissatisfaction among patrons of cheese factories; but now we need continue no longer with this state of affairs, as science has discovered a system by which we may divide, not alone by quantity, but by quality, combined together, making a much more just basis. It is a practicable basis, as any one of ordinary intelligence may use it, if they be only careful that the work be accurately done. A small mistake would mean money, and considerable, too, at certain points. For instance, in reading if one would read from the bottle 3.2 per cent instead of 3 per cent on a patron's milk who is sending 3,000 lbs per week, this would mean 6 lbs. of fat at 25c. per lb.—$1.50 of an error. The expense in connection is within the means of the business. The time to do the work means most but this is no just cause in dealing with other commodities nor should it in this. It can be done. Under the "pooling system" a premium was awarded the man whose morals allowed him to water or skim, and I candidly believe premiums were taken from many a one who neither skimmed nor watered but sent such milk as their cows gave. In our factory we never accused anyone for tampering, but simply rejected milk if not up to our standard of quality. There may be reason for suspicion if milk is found with less than 8 per cent solids without its fat or 10½ per cent solids with fat. Normal milk is about 12½ per cent solids, fat included, but Dr. Babcock has found that fat in milk may range from 2 to 10 per cent in an individual cow. Therefore, who can be sure milk is skimmed or watered with only one test, or even two. There is certainly need for caution at least, before accusing anyone. Of course a province or state may have a standard and prosecute any who has sold or delivered milk not up to that standard, even though the cow gave it. He must not keep such cows or else pay the penalty, if found out. Some persons may object to the "Fat System" because it only represents about one-third of the bulk of cheese, and therefore it may not be fair to pay one-third more for a four per cent. milk than a three per cent. milk. It may to some minds be sufficient to say that Prof. Jas. W. Robertson, Dairy Commissioner of Canada; Dr. S. M. Babcock, Dairy Chemist of the State of Wisconsin; Prof. Van Slyke, of New York, and in short all dairy authorities of Canada and the United States, say it is quite the fair way. To some minds this may not be sufficient, and they may ask, show us why, which I will endeavour to do briefly. In looking into the main markets for dairy produce, we can see that it is really the fat of milk that determines 9/10 of its selling value; any one who has eaten much cheese knows that a July cheese is quite behind a September or October cheese in quality, providing both are equally well made. No one would hesitate to give 1c. per pound more for the September or October than for July, and by so doing would give 1/9 more for such cheese which only contains about 6 per cent. more fat than a July or September and October cheese contains; still this 1/18 part has raised the selling price at least 1/9 and our markets oftener give 2c. more for said cheese. If you

SEND MILK TO THE FACTORY

you get about 86c. per cwt. for it, but if the fat is taken from it, sells for about 15c. per cwt. Now, milk sent to factories generally contains about 3½ per cent. fat, so you see the fat has reduced the selling price about 71c. or leaves the value of the fat at 20c. per lb. If you sell butter which contains about 85 per cent. pure butter fat and about 15 per cent. water, caseine, etc., you usually (in main markets) get about 24c. per lb. for it (if good article, which means 22c. per lb. for the butter-fat it contains. If you sell skim cheese it sells for about 1½ to 2c. per lb., and when full cream sells for about 9c., which says that the ¼ volume of fat which it contains is worth about 7c., or it is worth about 21c. per lb. Some persons may say the cheese contains about one-third fat, one-third caseine, one-third water, and you say, pay by the fat alone. Why not consider the water, and especially the caseine? Oh, yes! that would suit splendidly, and you by that plan pay about three-fourths as much for skim milk as you would for whole milk, as skim milk contains, when normal, about 9 to 9½ per cent. of solids, and whole milk contains about 12½ per cent. of solids. The skim milk solids sell for about 2c. per lb. and the whole milk solids for about 9c. per lb. It would not pay for one patron to send whole milk if his neighbour sent skim, and you see we are back to a worse condition even than now. I think any one fully considering the foregoing may see that the "fat system" is fair and just. We made a daily test of 10 of our patrons' milks, also a sample of the whole milk to find how theory applies in real practice and by this work, found the amount of fat in each of those 10 patrons' milk, also the amount of fat in all the milk delivered in the season. This enables us to give some data other than mere argument and theory (which may be understood and may not) to draw your conclusion from. We found the greatest range of difference in an individual milk from day to day, to be 7/10 of 1 per cent., but not usually more than about 2/10; the range of difference between individual milks to be about 7/10 of 1 per cent in one days's milk. The sample taken from the vat sometimes would continue for eight or eleven days at the same per cent. of fat and seldom varied more than 2/10 of 1 per cent. A sample of whey was also tested and found to usually contain 3/10 of per cent., sometimes 4/10 and sometimes only two. It needs careful work to get it under 3/10, but 1/10 more in whey would mean on 10,000 lbs. of milk 10 lbs. of cheese wasted per day or about $1 per day loss. I may well say that a good quality of milk may be handled with less loss than a poor quality and the man who sends poor milk (poorly kept) is cheating his co-partner every time and the cheesemaker who is kind enough to take it in is cheating himself and his best patrons, in more ways than one. I may say the best quality of milk among our ten was delivered by a farmer who feeds nothing extra, but only common pasturage. He apparently supplied quality at the expense of quantity as he had 6 cows and supplied only about 5 standards (30 cwt., std.) which was small compared with many others. No. 10 is the work of 20 cows, No. 5 of 15 cows, No. 6 of 6 cows. I have figured out the subjoined tables which explain themselves and show the actual deference between two systems.

TABLE NO. TWO.

Months.	Total am't of milk rec'd.	Total am't of cheese made.	Per cent of fat in month's milk.	Lbs. of cheese per 100 lbs. of milk.	Value of one lb. of fat.
May	183,426	15,712	3.03	8.57	25.03
June	255,476	22,346	3.19	8.7	27
July	244,855	21,696	3.37	8.8	25
August	217,283	19,342	3.46	8.9
Sept.	176,944	17,563	3.74	9.93	27.62
October	154,405	16,208	3.94	10.56	26.80

It may be noticed in table No. 2, which contains the total receipts of Warminster cheese factory for 1892, that as the per cent. of fat increases, the amount of cheese per cwt. of milk increases. It may be noticed that October milk contain 81/100 lbs. fat more than May and made about 2 lbs. of cheese more; the 81/100 lbs. fat was worth as prices given 22.84c., the 2 lbs. of cheese did actually bring 20.50c. To make it more clear we will put fat at a uniform price in May and October, say 20c. per lb.

100 lbs. of May milk would bring 60.60c.
" " " Oct " " " 76.20c.

or 15.60c. more than May, and we see that October milk produced about 2 lbs. more cheese per 100 lbs. of milk, which actually brought 20½c, than the same quantity of May milk, which is about 5c. more than the farmer would be paid for by the fat system. Now a per cent of fat will not increase the cheese 2 lbs. as would appear by this, but this is partially due to the solids increasing at this period of lactation, still the amount of increase produced by an extra per cent of fat and the increase of quality insures the fat system as a just one and best of all does way with all skimming and watering, etc., and thus with all prosecution of innocent persons. Warminster will pay by fat system in '93.

Six points, out of many, where Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest, and easiest to take—little sugarcoated granules that every child takes readily.
2. They're perfectly easy in their action—no griping, no disturbance.
3. Their effect LASTS. There's no reaction afterward. They regulate or cleanse the system, according to size of dose.
4. They're the cheapest, for they're GUARANTEED to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the GOOD you get.
5. Put up in glass—are always fresh.
6. They CURE Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

Now is the Time.

In this the season of coughs, colds, asthma, bronchitis and other throat and lung complaints, it is well to be provided with a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup which effectually cures all such diseases, and that very promptly and pleasantly. Price 25 and 50c. Sold by all druggists.

BY SPECIAL APPOINTMENT, SOAP MAKERS TO HER MAJESTY THE QUEEN

If you wish your Linen to be White as Snow, Sunlight Soap will do it.

Why,

Because SUNLIGHT SOAP is perfectly pure, and contains no injurious Chemicals to injure either your clothes or your hands. Greatest care is exercised in its manufacture, and its quality is so appreciated by the public that it has the Largest Sale of any Soap in the World.

How

Can you test this? If you have never tried SUNLIGHT SOAP, ask those who use it what they think of it, then try it for yourself. The result will please you, and your clothes will be washed in far less time, with Less Labour, Greater Comfort, and will be whiter than they have ever been before, when you used ordinary soap.

Is That

not the best way to decide the matter? First by enquiring what the experience is of those who already use it. Secondly, by a fair trial yourself. You are not committed in any way to use the soap; all we ask is: Don't Delay, try it the next washing day.

THE CANADA THISTLE.

Professor Shaw Tells of an Interesting Eradicating Experiment.

Prof. Thos. Shaw of the Ontario Agricultural College gives in the Breeder's Gazette the following account of effective work in this direction which we copy as of probable interest to several recent inquirers on this subject:

In the summer of 1889 we had two fields, Nos. 1 and 16, that were miserably smitten with the Canada thistle. In large portions of both fields the thistles were so numerous that it distributed over all the surface: I am quite sure they would have given one to every foot square. Field No. 1 was in pasture that summer. We plowed it deeply in the month of August with the single furrow plow, and sowed it thickly with rye early in September. The following season the rye was cut with the binder when in the blossoming stage and put into the silo. This was in the month of June. As soon as the rye had been removed, the ground was again deeply plowed with one furrow plow. The skimmer was used so that all vegetation should be completely buried. The ground was at once rolled and harrowed after the plow to keep in the moisture. It was then put into shallow drills by the use of the double-mould-board plow. These drills were made twenty-two inches apart. Two teams were kept constantly making drills. A third team mellowed the ground before the drillers and also rolled the drills at once or as soon as possible after the seed was sown. One horse with a turnip drill was kept sowing rape seed along the line of drills. The drill used put in two rows at a time and the driller of the seed kept close up to the teams forming the drills. In this way the germination of the seed was insured though the weather was dry. As soon as the rape was about an inch high horse cultivation commenced. This was kept up until the rape was so far grown that the tops had almost met in the space between the drills. The cultivator went over the whole field three or four times. The crop of rape was gone over twice with the hand hoe to remove any thistles which might be growing in the line of the row or indeed any other noxious weeds in the same. This hand labor cost $1 per acre, valuing the time thus spent at ten cents per hour. The next year the field was sown with spring grains, as peas, barley and spring wheat, in plats from one-half to two acres in size. These were of course experimental plats. In the month of June, 1891, this field was gone over with the spud, side to side, and all foul weeds removed with twelve hours' labor of one man.

The other field, which contained twenty six acres, was also sown with rye, but in this case the field was pastured. In June, 1890, it was plowed the same as field No. 1 and treated in every respect the same. The following year this field was also sown with experimental grain plats. It was gone over in the month of June with the spud and all foul weeds taken out of it with twenty-three hours' work of one man. We therefore in the one case got a crop of rye for the silo and a crops of rape which pastured twelve to fifteen head of lambs per acre for two and one-half months, and in the other case rye pasture until June and an equally good crop of rape; that is to say, we got two good crops in one year and left the land in good condition for the following crop. As to the number of weeds left, I could not give a more accurate statement without an actual count, which we did not make.

It is fair to mention here, also, that circumstances favored this experiment. The weather was dry when the autumn plowing was done and also subsequently. It was also dry when the rape was being cultivated. In a wet season equally good results would not follow without considerably more hand labor.

EXHIBITION INFORMATION.

Efforts to Re-lease the Grounds—A Vote of Thanks to the Retiring Secretary—The New Secretary—Date of Next Exhibition—The Debt Reduced $200 with Interest—Delegates to Canadian Association Fair.

The newly elected Board of Directors of the Peterborough Central Fair held their first meeting at the Morgan House on Saturday afternoon last. President Geo. E. Elliott was in the chair, and present were Messrs. Rutherford, Davidson, Hall, Kennedy, Morgan and Stothart. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved. A letter was read from the secretary of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Exhibitions, giving date of their next meeting, Sept. 13th, 1893, and asking the society to join and send delegates.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Morgan, that the following gentlemen be appointed delegates to attend the above meeting: President Elliott and Messrs. Stothart and Kennedy—Carried.

The delegates were instructed to notify the secretary of the Canadian Association of Fairs and Expositions of their names and tell him fees will be paid by the delegates attending.

The Board then discussed the question of renewing the lease with Mr. R. A. Morrow, who had been notified of the meeting and requested to attend, but he had not responded. It was then moved by Mr. Kennedy and seconded by Mr. Stothart, that the president and Messrs. Rutherford and Winch be a committee to wait on Mr. Morrow to see if they could re-lease on suitable terms the premises and report at the next meeting.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Hall, that the annual autumnal show of the association be held on Sept. 26th, 27th and 28th, 1893.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Davidson, seconded by Mr. Rutherford, that the president and secretary be instructed to pay the sum of $200 and one year's interest, $40.00 on note in Ontario Bank and get said note renewed for $500.—Carried.

Mr. Collins having tendered his resignation as secretary, it was moved by Mr. Kennedy, seconded by Mr. Morgan, that a hearty vote of thanks be tendered to Mr. Collins for his long and efficient services to this society.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Morgan, seconded by Mr. Stothart, that W. J. Green, be appointed secretary for 1893, at a salary of $70.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

They Must Not Die.

It is simply an outrage to let young people die who are attacked with pulmonary troubles and incipient consumption, when Miller's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil will save them. It should be shouted from the house tops that supposed incurable consumptives can be cured by the use of this extraordinary preparation. The rebuilding process commences in the system the moment the Emulsion is taken. It is curious to watch the effects upon emaciated persons, who begin to fill out and make new blood as often as Miller's Emulsion is administered. In an incredibly short time cadaverous looking patients again look natural and healthy. In big bottles, 50c. and $1, at all Drug Stores.

Biliousness Cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I have used Burdock Blood Bitters for biliousness and find it the best remedy for this complaint. I used several other remedies but they all failed to do me any good. However, it required only two bottles of B. B. B. to cure me completely, and I can recommend it to all.

Yours truly,
WM. ROBINSON, Wallaceburg.

Bronchitis cured.

GENTLEMEN,—I suffered four or five years from bronchitis and a severe hacking cough, and could get nothing to do me any good. A friend told me to get Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and I did so with good results. Two bottles cured me and I hardly know what a cold is now.

To Preserve

The richness, color, and beauty of the hair, the greatest care is necessary, much harm being done by the use of worthless dressings. To be sure of having a first-class article, ask your druggist or perfumer for Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is absolutely superior to any other preparation of the kind. It restores the original color and fullness to hair which has become thin, faded, or gray. It keeps the scalp cool, moist, and free from dandruff. It heals itching humors, prevents baldness, and imparts to

DAVID DOIG

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had seen "the bore" coming and had dodged his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently assertedby Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Goverment Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the Remembered Their Leader.

The members of the 57th Battalion Bugle and Drum corps, to the number of sixteen, waited upon their bugle sergeant, Mr. Wm. Sharpe, Simcoe street, last evening, and presented him with a fine silver butter cooler, as a memento of good will and esteem on the occasion of his recent marriage. Mr. Fred Roome read a nicely worded address and Mr. Fred Brown made the presentation. Mr. Sharpe replied in a few happy remarks thanking the members of the bugle band for their kindness and evidences of respect. Afterwards refreshments were served and a jovial time spent by the boys. The bugle and drum corps is now 20 strong and never was in a more effective condition, owing to the energy of its members and their "bandmaster," Mr. Sharpe.

The Urgent Claims of a Mission.

The Western Missionary of January, which is published in Winnipeg under the auspices of the Synod in the interests of Presbyterian Home and Indian Missions, says of Mr. A. Fowler, missionary at the town of Morris: "The town of Morris has had many mishaps. The congregation have met several disappointments. Their church is unsuitable for worship. Mr. A. Fowler, their energetic missionary, has been granted a few weeks leave of absence by Winnipeg Presbytery to appeal to friends in the east. He is succeeding well. He has already transmitted $670 as first fruits. We heartily commend him." Mr. Fowler is at present in Peterborough collecting ubscriptions in aid of Morris mission. As mentioned yesterday, he spoke at St. Paul's and St. Andrew's Presbyterian churhes on Sunday last. He has been fairly successful in his appeals to the citizens for assistance. Mr. Fowler will leave town to-morrow.

CANADIAN ORDER OF FORESTERS.

Its Solid, Financial Standing.

On Thursday last the High Court Canadian Order of Foresters, deposited with the Ontario Bank, Peterborough, the sum of $10,000 of the surplus for the payment of death claims. It is to be noticed from the published official statement that the total amount of the surplus reaches to nearly a quarter of a million dollars. Of this sum $50,000 is invested in Dominion Government bonds, and the balance is distributed in the shape of investments amongst the most solid monetary institutions of the Dominion. Heretofore the bulk of the funds has been invested in western institutions, but the executive committee have decided to include the branch of the Ontario Bank in this town and members of the order appreciate the success of the local representative on the executive committee, of the High Court, to bring this district in line and have its importance in Canadian Forestry substantially recognized. The Canadian order of Foresters is one of the most firmly established and reliable beneficiary orders on the continent. Its large and continually increasing surplus, safely invested and safe-guarded in so thorough a manner as to its expenditure, that it is impossible that a dollar can be diverted from its original purpose—the payment of death claims—gives it an element of stability that commends it in the strongest possible manner to those seeking reliable life insurance at reasonable rates.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Inspection Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the tailoress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

Cannot be beat.

Mr. D. Steinbach, Zurich, writes: I have used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil in my family for a number of years, and I can safely say that it cannot be beat for the cure of croup, fresh cuts and sprains. My little boy has had attacks of croup several times, and one dose of Dr. Thomas Eclectric Oil was sufficient for a perfect cure. I take great pleasure in recommending it as a family medicine, and I would not be without a bottle in my house.

A Complete Cure by HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA.

This is from Mr. D. M. Jordan, a retired farmer, and one of the most respected citizens of Otsego Co., N. Y.

"Fourteen years ago I had an attack of the gravel, and have since been troubled with my

Liver and Kidneys

gradually growing worse. Three years ago I got down so low that I could scarcely walk. I looked more like a corpse than a living being. I had no appetite and for five weeks I ate nothing but gruel. I was badly emaciated and had no more color than a marble statue. Hood's Sarsaparilla was recommended and I thought I would try it. Before I had finished the first bottle I noticed that I felt better, suffered less, the inflammation of the bladder had subsided, the color began to return to my face, and I began to feel hungry. After I had taken three bottles I could eat anything without hurting me. Why, I got so hungry that I had to eat 5 times a day. I have now fully recovered, thanks to Alarm Clocks!

There are a great many small Alarm Clocks which have been running for a few years and are now out of order, which the owners are allowing to remain idle, because they think it will cost too much to repair them. If you bring them to us you will find that we will make them run as well as they ever did, at a very small charge. We have already changed hundreds of them from being merely rubbish into good timepieces. If you want to buy a new one, we will sell you an Alarm Clock at a lower price than any one else in the trade. We sell only the very best make and warrant every one.

Would You Buy,

If the Prices Were Low?

Most men who do not own houses would become owners if they could do so at a moderate cost.

It is my business to build houses, the cost of which is within the reach of people in fair circumstances.

I have one house, well built, good location, Aylmer street, between Townsend and Rink streets—$2,500. Look it up. Will have two on Dalhousie street, work now going on.

FIRE! SMOKE! WATER!

Make sad havoc when it gets into a large stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods. It also makes a great difference in prices. Our whole stock must be cleaned out and the building renovated and papered before our Spring Importations from Europe arrive. In order to do this, the goods are being sold at what they will bring. The rush has been so great thus far we find it impossible, with all the help we had room for, to wait on all our customers. Those who were unable to get in before, will find just as good bargains still as our stock was so large and varied. Below we enumerate a few prices:

Grey Cotton, 22 yards for $1.00. (Nice weight.)

White Cotton, 12 yards for $1.00.

Towelling at 10c. a yard, wide widths and heavy.

Anconia Cloth at 10c. a yard, heavy weight, suitable for ladies' wrappers.

Cottonade, heavy weight, burned on one edge only, at 50 per cent. off regular prices.

Shirtings in quantities, smoked only on edges, 30 per cent. off regular prices.

Dress Goods—The damage on these goods was slight, only the outside folds being smoked. We are selling them at Sweeping Reductions.

OTONABEE.

The Late Mrs. Thomas Johnston.

In the death of Mrs. Thomas Johnston this township loses one of its oldest and most respected residents, who died Saturday, January 28th, at the age of 72 years. The deceased lady was a native of County Fermanagh, Ireland, from which she came to this country in 1825 and settled with the family of her father, the late Moses Dundas, in Cavan. In 1853 she was united in marriage to her now bereaved husband, and to this union were born two sons and one daughter, all of whom survive. At the time of her marriage Mrs. Johnston went to live with her husband in Otonabee which has since been her home. She was an active and consistent member of the Methodist church, being a member of the Salem congregation. She was very highly respected for her many kindly and amiable qualities in the community where she lived so long.

AN OFFICIAL BUSINESS SHEET DAILY.

Meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade.

There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Council of the Board of Trade held last evening. Mr. R. Fair, president, presided. It was decided to close the contract with Bradstreets, under which they will furnish to the Board every morning their business sheet, which contains notes on trade, business changes, official record of writs issued, chattel mortgages registered, judgments obtained, bills of sale given in all the provinces of the Dominion. This sheet will be fyled daily at Mr. H. S. Macdonald's drug store, corner of George and and Hunter streets, for the members of the Board of Trade. A committee was appointed to investigate insurance statistics so as to see what saving could be made to Peterborough by raising her class of insurance. Other less important matters were considered also. The arrangement with Bradstreet will be of great benefit to all business men.

Progress.

It is very important in this age of vast material progress that a remedy be pleasing to the taste and to the eye, easily taken, acceptable to the stomach and healthy in its nature and effects. Possessing these qualities, Syrup of Figs is the one perfect laxative and most gentle diuretic known.

TOWN'S SANITARY CONDITION.

ANNUAL REPORT OF MEDICAL HEALTH OFFICER CLARKE PRESENTED.

The Death Rate Low—Need of a Thorough Sewerage System—The Edison Sewer Outfall—What the Board has Accomplished—The Approach of Cholera—Peterborough in a Good Sanitary Condition—Other Matters Touched Upon.

The inaugural meeting of the newly appointed town Board of Health was to have been held in the town clerk's office last evening but at 8.30 o'clock there was not the necessary five members in attendance to constitute a quorum hence the meeting adjourned. The members present were Messrs. J. L. Hughes, J. J. Hartley and Dr. Brennan, Dr. Clarke, medical health officer; Chief Roszel, sanitary inspector; Councillor White, chairman of the health committe and John R. Cobb, secretary of the Board was also present. No business was transacted whatever, the annual report of the Medical Health officer alone being presented. It will be forwarded to the Provincial Board forthwith. Following is a copy of the report:—

To the Chairman and Members of the Peterborough Board of Health:

GENTLEMEN—In presenting my report for 1892 I have pleasure in stating that as we have now full monthly returns for the year, the result does not altogether justify the gloomy views expressed in the report adopted by the preceding Board before these statistics were obtainable. The death rate for the year was 14.3, considerably under that pointed to by sanitary authorities as a standard to be aimed at. This is peculiarly gratifying, as in 1889 we had another visitation of la grippe, a disease which always increases the death rate, both by its immediate effects and the diseases it brings on. The death rate from infectious diseases is also low, there being but one death from diphtheria and six from typhoid fever in all. While there are many points about the sanitary condition of the town that are far from perfect, and such as one would hope to see improved, still the above showing is creditable and will be found to compare favourably with that of any town in the Province.

SLAUGHTER HOUSES.

No complaints have been made as to slaughtering within the town limits nor as to pigs kept in connection with slaughter houses. Many complaints were made regarding a pork packing establishment in the centre of the town and the Board found it necessary to hold an investigation which resulted in the establishment being declared a nuisance. It was thereupon ordered to be closed, which was done soon after by the proprietor.

REMOVAL OF GARBAGE AND EXCRETA.

This was pretty thoroughly attended to during the year, and in consequence fewer notices had to be served than in late years. Several complaints were made in reference to the scavenger carts passing through the town at too early an hour and by the more thickly populated streets when unnecessary. This reprehensible practice was immediately stopped and it is to be hoped will never occur again.

EARTH CLOSETS.

With sewerage in the air, it is but natural that the introduction of earth closets should be checked to a great extent. But even if a trunk sewer were laid during the present year some time would elapse before the remote parts of the town would be connected with it and hence there is still a large field for the earth closet. If properly kept it is one of the most effective sanitary agents in use.

SEWERAGE.

The defeat of the by-law is to be regretted and the new council ought to lose no time in putting it again before the people in some more acceptable form. As a feeling exists that sewerage cannot be much longer delayed, houses are constructed with pipes all ready for connection with the system but for the present discharging into cesspools. Thus as the old privy vaults disappear their places are taken by an even worse form of nuisance. After the discussion of sewerage has reached a certain point delay is dangerous. A few words as to the Edison sewer. On general principles there is nothing more objectionable than the discharge of sewage into the lake or river. This is our only water for purposes of amusement and its purity should be above suspicion. But when we come down to figures and the principles of chemistry, it will be found that there is no cause for alarm. The mistake lies in supposing that sewage is unchangeable, that it circles around indefinitely polluting everything in the vicinity and carrying disease into the air and along the shores. As a matter of fact not long after being discharged into a sufficient body of water it undergoes a complete change and ceases to be sewage at all. Water contains oxygen in solution, and the lake water more than the average on account of having been churned up in passing over numerous dams. This oxygen unites with sewage and burns it up chemically just as surely, if more slowly, as in a furnace. It isall a question of proportion between the quantity of water and the quantity of sewage. Calculations made by sanitory authorities on a large scale and covering many years have shown that the sewage from 10,000 people may be discharged with impunity (exclusive of drinking purposes), into a volume of water flowing at the rate of 4,800 cubic feet per minute. The flow of water at the present outlet of the sewer as estimated by a competent engineer is 150,000 cubic ft. per minute, so that the margin is ample enough. I do not think there is any danger to the public health, but I hope not many months will elapse before the Edison pipe is connected with a main sewer discharging below the locks.

PURITY OF WATER.

A large number of samples have been sent in for analysis and found in general much purer than in former years. The water supplied by the Water Company continues to be good, there being no record of disease traceable to it. I have examined the water from the Public and Separate Schools occasionally and found it good. Even that from the West Ward School I found not worse than the average. However, to clear any doubt, the trustees have connected the school with the waterworks system.

CHOLERA PRECAUTIONS.

As there is a possibility that the country may be visited by Asiatic cholera during the present year, it will be the duty of the council and Board of Health to put the town in the best sanitary condition possible. Cholera usually attacks dirty towns and passes by the clean ones. An Order-in-Council was passed in September last by which certain regulations were imposed upon municipalities. The Provincial Board of Health also sent out an admirable little pamphlet, which ought to be freely distributed if necessary. Regarding precautions here, I hope that Councillor Cahill's proposal to employ two scavengers to clean out the town will be carried out. That should be done as soon as the ice is out of the yards. The advantage of town paid scavengers is that the people bring out all their refuse instead of concealing or intimizing it as is the case when its removal is to be paid for privately by the square foot of load. I would also advise that these scavengers be employed also at intervals throughout the summer, that they employ disinfectants where necessary, that there be no delay in burying dead animals, that the streets be scraped oftener than is at present the custom, that wells be cleaned more effectively than before, that disinfectants be freely used in such spots as the drain at the corner of George and Hunter streets and that house to house inspection be carried on throughout the season. Other measures will be found necessary as the season advances.

BOARD OF HEALTH.

I do not see any reason for despair as regards the usefulness of this body. In the last eight years much has been accomplished; slaughter houses and piggories have been abolished and an organized system of scavaggering is established, a greater purity of water has been secured; it is hard to say how much disease has been prevented by isolation and disinfection and the death rate has been reduced from 20 to 16. Public interest has been aroused and a vast amount of personal work with a sanitary object in view has been done by the people of the town. Your officials have tried to do their duty in the face of a good deal of abuse and misrepresentation, and they will continue to do it as long as nothing unreasonable is asked. I am, gentlemen,

Your obedient servant,
J. CLARKE.

REPORT FROM DUMPING GROUND.

The amount of night soil and other refuse deposited in the town's dumping ground during the year is as follows:—

Night soil	7,620 loads
Offal and bad meat	460 "
Rotten fish, eggs, canned goods, etc.	175 "
Horses buried	12
Dogs "	48

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUES.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

An interesting and close curling match occurred last night between two rinks of "green" curlers, one quartette from the Granites and the other from the Thistles. In a fourteen end match the Granites were successful by one shot, as follows:

G A Schofield,	J C Smith,
G M Roger,	F Bartlett,
T R Billett,	W H Robertson,
C J Leonard, skip..16.	Geo Howson, skip ..15.

The quartette which was to go to Lindsay on Saturday to play a friendly rink match did not hie themselves to Scugog City, as skip Knowlson telegraphed the Peterboroughs he could not give them a game.

There will be no skating at the rink this evening, so that skaters will have to deny themselves of the pleasure of this exhiliarating pastime for one night. The skating ice is being put into shape for curling to-night, and it is expected all the members of the whole 12 rinks going to Toronto will be on hand to-night for a great practice game. There will be plenty of room for all curlers, and each stone tower is expected to be on hand at 7.30 o'clock sharp. The rink will be open for skaters again to-morrow night.

An interesting make up match occurred last night between skips Ray and Rutherford. On the last end the former rink stood 2 shots ahead, but Skip Rutherford in throwing the last stone of the end made what is known as a "driving wick." a regular "boomerang" so to speak and scored no less than three shots by his remarkably brilliant throw—thus ending the contest 13 to 12 in his favour.

Mr. W. G. Ferguson is manufacturing unique and exceedingly handy tally boards which will be erected at the rink. The new score boards are made of oak with hooks on which rest numbers and easy facilities are afforded each side for counting up the number of ends played and the totals.

The Thistle's skips going to Toronto on Thursday will be Messrs. Ray, Rutherford, McGill, Davidson, A. McNeil and Ferguson.

TENDERS FOR MUSIC.

The following tender has been received for setting the curling song, published yesterday, to music:

Banker McGill, Poet of the Curling Club:

SIR,—I will set your song, "A Curling Day," to music and take up our brass band with you and sing your song and play at your matches with the Granites, Toronto, and Prospect Park rinks, for one side of beef and our tickets. Let me know at once.

PRISON GATE HOME.

Address Given By Ensign Dawson at the S. A. Barracks.

There was a large number present at the Salvation Army barracks last evening to hear Ensign Dawson, Superintendent of the Prison Gate Home, Kingston, give an address on "Prison Gate Work," and also re-commission the members of the army band. After the opening devotional exercises conducted by Ensign Dawson and Adjt. Michiel, the members of the band under Bandmaster Arnold, received their commissions. The ceremony was an impressive one. Afterwards the ensign gave a pointed and racy address on the "Prison Gate Work" at Kingston. The army have a building at Kingston for this work, which they have carried on successfully for the past two years. The convicts of the penitentiary as their terms of sentence expire are met at the penitentiary gate and conducted to the Prison Gate Home where he is given steady employment at cutting wood or other work and is paid a fair recompense for his labours, until the Army can secure him other employment or give him a good recommendation. Forty convicts have been sheltered and there are at present sixteen working in the home. The work is Christianity carried out practically. Often persons on being released are sent directly to their friends by members of the Army who pay their fare or passage. The Ensign's address was listened to with attention and the meeting closed shortly before 10 o'clock with the usual exercises.

If any doubt exists in the mind of any suffer as to the curative properties of Dr. Butler's Golden Pills, let him or her try them and if not cured money will be refunded.

ROWSE'S OLD STAND.

We part from the old stand with regret. But it is not our fault that the trade is going up town. We see that it is going, and who can control the movements of trade? For our part, we think the sensible thing is to follow.

Being now comfortably settled in the centre of trade, we are fully prepared for business, and hope to be able to serve all our old customers and many more new ones.

The ladies are especially invited to call and look through our handsome new premises, where they will find us surrounded with the latest modern store improvements, increased shelf room, better light, and other accessories for the more effective display of our large and well assorted stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods.

BARGAINS as BIG and as REAL as ever. Some lines of goods slightly damaged by smoke to be sold for whatever they will bring.

LIKE A THIEF IN THE NIGHT, Consumption comes. A slight cold, with your system in the scrofulous condition that's caused by impure blood, is enough to fasten it upon you. That is the time when neglect and delay are full of danger.

Consumption is Lung-Scrofula. You can prevent it, and you can cure it, if you haven't waited too long, with Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. That is the most potent blood-cleanser, strength-restorer, and flesh-builder that's known to medical science. For every disease that has to be reached through the blood, like Consumption, for Scrofula in all its forms, Weak Lungs, Bronchitis, Asthma, and all severe, lingering Coughs, it is the only guaranteed remedy. If it doesn't benefit or cure, you have your money back.

The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy know that their medicine perfectly and permanently cures Catarrh. To prove it to you, they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter what your case is, they'll pay you $500 in cash.

JOSEPH HARRIS.

The Man Who Has Advanced Rational and Profitable Agriculture.

On the morning of November 18th, Joseph Harris died at his home on Moreton Farm, near Rochester, N. Y. As one of the leading agricultural writers in this country, Mr. Harris has won for himself a fame that will long remain bright, for he did a work in a manner, and at a time in our nation's history, that cannot but endure. He was born on June 29, 1828, in the village of Shawbury, England, near the celebrated battlefield of Hastings. As a small boy, he exhibited a remarkable fondness for investigation, and this desire was greatly increased by his study of agricultural chemistry with Messrs. Lawes, and Gilbert, on the experiment farm at Rothamsted. It is safe to say that it was this instruction, received at the fountain head of well-grounded scientific agricultural thought in England, that laid the solid foundation for Mr. Harris's future life of usefulness. He saw, and was in close touch with, those celebrated experiments that have so effectively overturned error, and enthroned sound principle in rural operations. From Rothamsted, Mr. Harris came to America, and soon became a writer for our agricultural press, and, throughout his career, he never lost sight of the value and importance of field and laboratory experimentation. In all his scores of "Walks and Talks Upon the Farm," so well known and highly prized by the hundreds of thousands of readers of the American Agriculturist he cherished the idea that the intelligent farmer must put his questions to the soil, and not to his neighbor, in a clear forceful manner, and then have the patience to wait, and the insight to read, the answer when it comes. Since 1886, when the Genesee Farmer was purchased by the American Agriculturist, Joseph Harris, editor of the former, became a constant contributor to the American Agriculturist. Nearly every number contained some of his writings up to the time of his death and the last article written by him will appear in our next number. Mr. Harris's books—and he wrote several—are all of the same practical stamp. In his "Talks on Manures," he lets the deacon state his belief that farming is a poor business, and then patiently talks him out of it, showing that the only farming that pays is high farming. The last engraving in his swine book, "Harris on the Pig," is entitled "Jealousy an aid in fattening." A lean and half-starved pig is endeavoring to get his long snout into the trough by the side of the fat jowl of the future prize winner. This is but an illustration of the happy way Mr. Harris had of looking at the farmer's side of rural problems. Joseph Harris did not grow old, and this was due to the fact that his heart was right. One of his last books is "Gardening for Young and Old." He saw the need of more gardening in this country, and that meant more gardeners. This, to him, was equivalent to a lack of instruction among the youth, and he wrote a guide book for the boy and his grandfather in one.

JOSEPH HARRIS.

No one has done more in this country to dignify and advance a rational and profitable agriculture than Joseph Harris. He was sound in principle, and full of practical suggestion. He could see the weak point in a man's method of feeding his stock or his land, and have the courage to give the needed information in a way that it would be received with delight. While we regret that his books are numbered and his articles ended, his great work in the land of his adoption can only call for our unmeasured thanks.—American Agriculturist.

If, when crossing a railroad track, you see a train approaching at thirty miles an hour—get out of the way as soon as possible. When threatened with chronic rheumatism or catarrh, take Ayer's Sarsaparilla persistently and patiently, and the danger will soon pass away.

SOLICITORS.

MACMASTER & McGIBBON, Montreal.

The Directors, who are now the owners of the entire Capital stock, have decided, at the request of numerous friends of the Company throughout Canada, to enlarge the proprietorship of its stock, and to offer for sale, at par, ten thousand shares, of one hundred dollars each, fully paid and non-assessable.

Payments are to be made as follows:—Five per cent. on application; fifteen per cent. on allotment, twenty per cent. each in one, two, three and four months from the date of allotment. Applicants have the right to pay in full on allotment.

Applications for shares will be received until February 15th, 1893, at any of the offices of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, at the offices of the Union Bank of Halifax, and at the head office of the company, N. Y. Life Building, Montreal.

Forms of application for shares may be obtained at any of the above places, or they will be sent by mail on request.

Should no allotment of stock be made to any applicant for shares, the amount paid will be returned in full, and in the event of the Directors finding it impossible to allot the full number of shares applied for, the surplus of the deposit will be credited toward the amount payable on allotment.

The right is reserved of withdrawing the offer in whole or part at any time before allotment, and of allotting to any applicant any less number of shares than the number applied for.

As the dividends of the Company are payable quarterly, beginning with the first day of March next, allottees of stock will be entitled to receive a proportion of the quarterly dividend as declared, corresponding to the amount paid upon their subscription.

It is proposed to apply to the Stock Exchanges of Montreal and Toronto for official quotations of the shares of the Company.

The Consumers Cordage Company was organized in June, 1890, with a Capital of one million dollars, to operate several of the largest Cordage and Binder Twine Factories in Canada. It, at first, operated these under leases, but its operations having been successful, the Capital Stock was subsequently increased to Three Million Dollars, and the leased properties were purchased.

The Company has no mortgage indebtedness; and, according to the law under which it was incorporated, none can be created without the consent of two-thirds of the shares holders, represented at a meeting called for the purpose.

The Company has placed in the hands of its Bankers:—

(a) Full statements of its affairs, certified to by Messrs. Caldwell, Tait & Wilks, Chartered Accountants.

(b) The following letter from Messrs. Abbotts, Campbell & Meredith, advocates, Montreal, upon the legality of its incorporation, and the issue of its stock:—

MONTREAL, January 5, 1893.

Consumers Cordage Co., Ltd., Montreal:—

GENTLEMEN,—We have examined the books and documents connected with the organization of the Consumers Cordage Company, Limited, and are of opinion that it has been properly incorporated, and that its capital stock of $3,000,000, as issued, is fully paid up and non-assessable, according to the provisions of the "Companies Act."

We are, yours truly,

(signed), ABBOTTS, CAMPBELL & MEREDITH.

(c). A report from Messrs. Macmaster and McGibbon, Solicitors of the Company, that the titles to its Mills have been duly examined, and that no encumbrances exist.

Applicants for shares may examine these documents, copies of which may be seen at the Company's offices, and at the various offices of the Banks mentioned above.

The Consumers Cordage Company is probably the second largest Manufacturer of Cordage and Binder Twine in the world, and claims the following very material advantages over its competitors:—

1st. Ample capital to conduct its business which enables it:—

(a) To buy its raw material in larger quantities, and at lower prices.

(b) To use only the latest and most improved machinery, thus keeping its mills in the highest state of efficiency.

2nd. Economy in selling and distributing its manufactured product.

3rd. The business covers so wide a territory (its manufactured goods go to almost every civilized country in the world) that it cannot be seriously injured by local troubles; and its Manufacturing establishments are so scattered that the danger of severe loss by fire is very slight.

4th. Lower cost of production.

(a). By maintaining the sharpest competition between its several mills, it is enabled to introduce in all the best methods found in each.

(b). By spreading its commercial expenses over a larger output.

(c) By placing in one hand the purchasing of the Raw Materials and Manufacturing supplies for the several Mills, thus securing lowest prices.

(d). By manufacturing for themselves many of their supplies.

The Company has always found it in its interest to divide the economies effected in production and distribution with the Consumer, and since its existence the Consumer has, upon the average, had a better article at a lower price than previously.

The Company does not claim to have any monopoly, or to earn monopoly profits; in fact, it has not done so. Since its organization it has been able, owing to the advantages above referred to, to earn a net return on its present capital of not less than 10 per cent. per annum (as statements in their Bankers' hands will show), and the Directors believe that these profits will be maintained in the future, as the cost of production and distribution shows each year a marked decrease.

The Dividend for the year ending 31st October, 1892, was at the rate of 8½ per cent. per annum. The past record of the Company and its present position justify the Directors in believing that quarterly dividends of one and three-quarters per cent. can be paid [and] should the profits for the present year be as large as the outlook promises, the final quarter's dividend might be increased.

Any further information may be had at the head office of the Company at Montreal.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

They Had Been Watched in Toronto for Some Time.

TORONTO, Jan. 30.—The arrest of F. J. Henry, the negro porter on the West Shore sleeping car, and Hugh J. Fen, the negro porter of the buffet car, at Suspension Bridge last week and the seizure of $20,000 worth of opium turns out to be an important case, as the men are believed to have been engaged in smuggling goods to and fro between Toronto and New York for some time past. There are good grounds for the belief that there is a large amount of smuggling going on, and where there is one instance of the guilty persons being apprehended there are several where they escape. There is no reasonable doubt that a considerable quantity of opium is constantly entering into the United States, as it is known that much of it is prepared in the Northwest and that it must have a market somewhere. At Victoria, B.C., there are six factories running six days in the week, and they have a daily capacity of 40 pounds, making the total output for the week 1440 pounds. It is believed that the smuggling of opium is in the hands of a few men who furnish the money and direct the business, while the sleeping car porters and others simply act as their agents. One of the colored porters interrogated confessed that he received $5 for getting the opium through from Toronto to New York.

A LOTHARIO.

A Gay Old Naples Banker Who Lead a Double Life.

ROME, Jan. 30.—A fashionable milliner named Lafi has been arrested for complicity in the bank frauds. She has been the creature of Liquor Cucimiello, manager of the Bank of Naples, who, although 74 years old, of proverbial austerity, has led secretly a most depraved life.

Foreign Finances.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Discount was in fair demand during the past week at one for three months and three-quarters for short. Gold continues to be in strong demand in the open market for Paris and Vienna, but the Bank of England stock has not been touched materially.

Shipments from New York and South Africa are increasing, while there is no symptom of a coming scramble for the metal.

The silver market has been steady, although numerous remittances have been made to the east and eastern banks are taking India Council bills largely. The price has been kept firm by the small amount of metal offering in the market.

The stock exchange during the week was moderately active, prices generally tending upwards.

Honorably Acquitted.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—Frank St. Quinton Cockburn, a son of a former Speaker of the House of Commons at Ottawa, was tried at the London Sessions Saturday on a charge of illegally pawning some silverplate. He was honorably acquitted.

Imperial Commoners to Receive Emolument in future.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Chronicle expresses the belief that the next budget will provide for the payment of all members of the House of Commons.

The Miners' Fate.

BUDA PESTH, Jan. 30.—Fifty-seven of the entombed miners at Tokod, Garu, have been rescued through an abandoned opening. The other 73 men doubtless perished, as the mine is now a roaring furnace.

A Yorkshire Fire.

LONDON, Jan. 30.—The Linoleum factories at Northallerton, Yorkshire, have been burned. Loss $60,000.

THE MILLERS FREE.

The $2500 Worth of Sealskins and Diamonds Seized.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Jan. 30.—Mr. and Mrs. John A. Miller of Toronto, who were arrested at Niagara Falls on Thursday charged with smuggling about $2500 worth of sealskins and diamonds, were arraigned before United States Commissioner Pound Saturday. The pleaded not guilty, and bail was fixed at $400 in the case of Miller and $250 in the case of his wife. David Cline of Buffalo went on their bonds. Mr. and Mrs. Miller are Jews, who are very well connected in Toronto.

Sudden Death in Galt.

GALT, Ont., Jan. 30.—William Douglas, a retired farmer, aged 85 years, died very suddenly at his residence here last night. He was in his usual health, which was generally good. After having eaten a hearty supper and while sitting in a chair talking to his wife and daughter he suddenly collapsed and died without a struggle. Heart failure is supposed to have been the cause.

Railway Wreck.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 30.—A fast freight on the Newport-News and Mississippi Valley railway was wrecked at Asphalt yesterday. The engineer, the fireman and a colored brakeman were instantly killed. The engine and six cars were demolished. A misplaced switch was the cause.

"Handsome is that handsome does," and if Hood's Sarsaparilla doesn't do handsomely then nothing does. Have you ever tried it?

Back-Ache.

Back-ache is caused by sick kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills will remove it. By their peculiar action on the kidneys, they impart activity and benefit the system by purifying the blood. You cannot have pure blood with disordered kidneys; health's existence depends upon their natural condition; they are the governors of the system. Continual disorder results in kidney consumption, which is Bright's disease.

A Sensible Man.

Would use Kemp's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs. It is curing more cases of Coughs, Colds, Asthma, Bronchitis, Croup and all Throat and Lung Troubles, than any other medicine. The proprietor has authorized any druggist to give you a Sample Bottle FREE to convince you of the merit of this great remedy. Large bottles 50c. and $1.

A Suitable Gift.

A tube of Dyer's Jelly of Cucumber and Roses for making the skin soft and smooth will be acceptable to any lady. Druggists keep it; W. A. Dyer & Co., Montreal.

If sick headache is misery, what are Carter's Little Liver Pills if they will positively cure it? People who have used them speak frankly of their work. They are small and easy to take.

Worms cause serious sickness. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup destroys and expels all kinds of worms quickly and surely.

FURS!
Our Furs on inspection will be found to fulfill our reputation, of over 31 years' standing, of manufacturing Furs better than elsewhere, all of the members of the firm being practical furriers.
We carry the largest stock and can give the best value in Peterborough, as we buy our material with the same advantage as wholesale houses, the senior member of the firm making an annual trip to Europe to purchase our raw stock at the Leipsig Easter fur sales.
We manufacture to order any style or shape in Fur Goods that parties may require.

FUR POINTERS.

Suggestions by Florette in Buying Furs.

Seal and sable are the furs for this winter, but considering that seal is $10 an inch and sable is anything the dealer wants to charge you, a good many will get along with furs that are simply furs, and not goldmines in disguise. Indeed, the time has come when a charitably minded belle can stop to answer a beggar on the street, and with her soft eyes filling she can pull a few hairs out of her collar and say in her sweet voice:

"Here, poor person, take this and get yourself a dinner and some raiment."

The worst of it all is that seal no longer lasts a life time as we used in our childhood to hear it did. The sealskin of today is a very different matter from the fur our grandmothers called by that name. It is now so "finished" that there is very little of the real fur left. There is so much dye and polish that the fur itself is much hurt, and a season makes even the most elegant sealskin shabby. If you can make up your mind to have a long cloak or cape this year, a shorter one next, then a vest in an astrachan jacket, and just trimmings the following year, you may get your money out of the first expense. But one does get so tired of a thing that must be used year after year. As for fur capes, if you are buying a new one have it very big and generous, but if you are getting a cap out of the odds left at the remaking of last season's cloak, you may have a very little one that will set up on the top of your pretty head and look as pert and trim as you can make it. Don't fancy that a short cape and a small cap is going to betray the fact that you are getting along with a makeover. Such a get-up is very stylish, and many who cannot start with the big hat and cloak are getting the small ones at the very first. If yours is a make-over, just wear it with an air of confidence and you will be all right.

FLORETTE.

With a bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral in the house, you have an effective remedy for all sudden attacks of throat and lung troubles. An hour's delay may lead to serious consequences. No household should be without this wonderful medicine.

Campbellford Speaks.

No one has better reason to be grateful for Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure than I have. I was ill for a long time under the doctor's care; I was tortured with muscular rheumatism, disordered kidneys and general debility. I was losing flesh rapidly—had gone down from 180 to 130 pounds—and was bedfast for months. If you have been there before, you know how little there was in life for me, and when I was asked to try Membray's Cure, how hopeless I was. I used two bottled only, ($2) and at the end of that time had risen from a sick bed, regained my appetite, was relieved from all pain, put on new flesh, and am now attending to business as well as ever.—D. WATERS, merchant, Campbellford, Ont. Write me if you want further particulars about Membray's Kidney and Liver Cure.

A Cure for Constipation and Headache.

Dr. Silas Lane, while in the Rocky Mountains, discovered a root that when combined with other herbs, makes an easy and certain cure for constipation. It is in the form of dry roots leaves, and is known as Lane's Family Medicine. It will cure sick-headache in one night. For the blood, liver and kidneys, and for clearing up the complexion it does wonders. Druggists sell it at 50c. a package.

Safe and Sure.

Not only safety from mineral poison (of which B. B. B. does not contain the slightest trace), but prompt and certain action in the cure of disease may be confidently relied on from the use of this unrivalled natural specific for Dyspepsia, Constipation, Bad Blood, Headache, Billousness and all diseases of the stomach, liver, bowels and blood.

BUBEAR BEATS HOSMER.

WON THE CHAMPIONSHIP RACE BY FIVE LENGTHS.

The Englishman Steered a Perfect Course Over the Winding Thames — The American Rowed a Plucky Race, But the Turns Bothered Him.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The sculling race between George H. Hosmer of Boston, Mass., and G. Bubear of London took place yesterday over the Thames course and was won by the Englishman by five boat lengths. The race was for the championship of England, The Sportsman's Challenge Cup and $1000 a side. The course was from Putney to Mortlake, being 4 miles 440 yards straight away. The Englishman had the course studied carefully from decades of practice and steered a perfect course. The windings in the river somewhat handicapped the American, who, however, rowed a plucky race all through. Only a fair crowd witnessed the event.

IT IS IMPROBABLE.

Cleveland Said to Look Favorably Upon Hawaiian Annexation.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 31.—The Examiner prints the following interview: "I received yesterday," said Commissioner Castle, "a despatch that satisfies us that President-elect Cleveland looks favorably upon our proposal. Naturally that has given great encouragement to us."

"If you are unable to come to an understanding with the Government at Washington, will you go to England with your proposals?"

"Our Commissioner gives us no authority to go beyond the United States," replied Mr. Castle, "if we cannot arrange terms with the United States Government we will return home. Then if the island has to turn to England a commission will be sent, but we hope that will never be necessary."

A Serious Affair.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—A San Francisco special to The Herald says: Hawaii's revolution may prove a more serious affair to the United States than was expected. Lillinokalani insists that she yielded not to the revolutionists in Honolulu but to the superior force of the United States, and she charges in a proclamation issued after her abdication that the American Minister, John L. Stevens, "caused United States troops to be landed at Hogolulu, and declared he would support the said Government."

ENGLAND'S PRESS.

Comments On the Proposed Annexation of Hawaii.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—The Daily News says: "The overthrow of the Hawaiian Queen appears to be an American coup. Hawaii being the key to the whole group, the Americans, once they possess it, would not find any difficulty in making themselves masters of the others. Europe, however, has necessities in the same quarter, Honolulu being the only coaling station on the mail route between San Francisco and Auckland.

The Daily Telegraph says the affair wears the aspect of a successful attempt by American citizens to subvert the existing order of things in favor, first, of themselves and next, of what is impossible, annexation. We could not allow the United States to annex the islands, even if the established policy at Washington permitted the idea to be entertained. This policy, however, will not permit it. Obviously the native government ought to be restored, for the revolution is the work of discontented, selfish foreigners, chiefly Yankees.

The Chronicle says: Europe has not any great concern with Hawaii, nevertheless the Queen has rights which seem to have received scant respect from the leaders of the movement. Events had not given to a section of the foreign population the right to oust the lawful sovereign. Anxiety for the welfare of the natives seems to have been less of a motive with the American party than a desire to further their own interests.

The Standard says: It is not likely that the good sense of the American people will permit them to assume this responsibility, which would be found onerous and unprofitable, or to claim an extension of influence which would be opposed and resented by other powers having equal interests at stake. It is thought the United States could not allow any other power to annex the island, but none has such an ambition. Justice requires that the constitution be restored with such reforms as are necessary.

The Times says: It is difficult to see how compliance with Mr. Dole's request can be reconciled with existing American engagements and institutions. It seems plain, however, that the state of things that has existed lately cannot continue any longer. Something must be done. The question is: What, and by whom? The Samoan precedent is not altogether encouraging, nevertheless it seems possible that some such scheme may be executed ultimately.

Action in the Senate.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In the Senate a resolution was offered by Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire requesting the President to enter into negotiations with the provisional government of Hawaii for the admission of the islands as a territory, and to lay the convention before Congress for ratification by legislation.

Objection was made by Mr. White, Democratic member of Louisiana, to its immediate consideration, and it went over till to-day.

ℱ Minard's Liniment for sale everywhere.

Peace Vex Children.

LONDON, Jan. 31.—A remarkable row is being made over the heroless attempt by the London School Board to develop and encourage patriotic feeling in children's breasts by ornamenting every elementary school with the national flag and by talking to the youngsters occasionally about the great deeds of their fighting ancestors.

The International Peace and Arbitration Society first took alarm and protested vehemently against the proposal as an insidious attempt to gloss over the horrors of war and discredit peaceful methods of settling disputes. They actually organized public meetings of protest and, stranger still, obtained large audiences and induced them to pass resolutions denouncing the wicked school board.

The Wound Proved Fatal.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., Jan. 31.—John Walker, who was accidentally shot by James Stevens, at a social at the residence of John Long, at Drow Falls, on Thursday evening last, died at 6 o'clock last night. An inquest was held this afternoon and a verdict of accidental shooting found.

Expensive Pleasure.

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—A gentleman and his wife who came from Chicago to attend the big ball of the Mystic Shrine at the Madison Square Garden on Thursday night mourn the loss of two large diamond scarf pins they intended to wear on that occasion. They were guests at the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

Hanged Himself to a Fence.

ALBANY, N.Y., Jan. 30.—Balthasar Hauser, aged 57, suicided by hanging from a fence in the rear of his house, No. 14 Garden-street, in this city this morning. He had been melancholy. A wife and eight children survive him.

McMahon Released.

SARNIA, Jan. 30.—James McMahon, convicted last week in Sarnia of robbing the Canadian Express office in that town on Dec. 20 last, was released from custody Saturday. The judge, taking into consideration the promises made by the officials of the express company, suspended sentence.

Day by Day

The surprising bargains brought about by our Annual Inventory Sale are picked up eagerly, and shoppers who patronize our sale are all anxious to get the best.

Business with us is quite remarkable for this season of the year. Shoppers manifest increased satisfaction with the way we do business, the values we give and the service we control.

Our present great values, in which the public interest is still centered, consist of—

Damaged Table Linens
Damaged Table Napkins
Bankrupt Lines of Towels, &c

"Sweep them out" is the word, and we have no doubt that by the end of another week, with such sales as we have had, and with such reductions in price, many of these tempting bargains will be conspicuous by their absence. THE QUEEN'S SPEECH.

It Promises a Great Deal of Business For This Session.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Parliament re-assembled yesterday. The following is the Queen's speech opening the session:

My Lords and Gentlemen:

My friendly and harmonious relations with all the powers continue. Their declarations from every quarter are favorable to the continuance of European peace.

In connection with the approaching evacuation of Uganda by the British East Africa Company I have deemed it expedient to authorize a commissioner of experience and ability to examine on the spot, with adequate provisions for his safety, into the best means of dealing with the country, and to report to the Government.

In view of recent occurrences in Egypt I have decided on making a slight augmentation in the number of British troops stationed in that country. The measure does not indicate a change of policy or a modification of the assurances my Government has given from time to time respecting the British occupation of Egypt. The Khedive has declared in terms satisfactory to me to follow henceforward the established practice of previous consultation with my Government in political affairs and his desire to act in cordial co-operation with it.

In relation to both Egypt and Uganda, papers in continuation of those heretofore presented will at once be laid before you.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

Estimates of the charges necessary for the public service during the coming financial year have been framed and will be laid before you at an early date.

My Lords and Gentlemen:

I have observed with concern the wide prevalence of agricultural distress in many parts of the country. It is to be hoped that among the causes of the present depression some are of a temporary nature, but without doubt you will take this grave matter into your consideration and make it a subject of careful inquiry.

The proclamation recently in force which placed Ireland under exceptional provisions of law has been revoked, and I have satisfaction in informing you that the condition of that country with respect to agrarian crime continues to improve.

A bill will be submitted to you on the earliest available occasion to amend the provisions for the government of Ireland. This bill has been prepared with the desire to afford contentment to the Irish people, to afford important relief to parliament and to furnish additional securities for the strength and union of the empire.

Bills will be promptly laid before you for the amendment of the system of registration in Great Britain, for shortening the duration of Parliaments and for establishing equality in the franchise by the limitation of each elector to a single vote. There will also be proposed to you various bills bearing on the condition of labor, among which there will be measures in relation to the liability of employers, the hours of labor of railway servants and a bill to amend the law of conspiracy. Your attention will likewise be invited to measures for the further improvement of local government, including bills for the creation of parish councils, for an enlargement of the powers of the London County Council, for the prevention of the growth of new vested interests, in ecclesiastical establishments in Scotland and Wales, and to establish direct local control of the liquor traffic, together with other measures of public utility.

I humbly commend your labors on these and other subjects to the guidance of the Almighty.

The debate on the address will bristle with amendments. Mr. Chamberlain will raise at once the Home Rule question by an amendment denying the advisability of a separate Irish legislature. Mr. Labouchere threatens amendments on the retention of Uganda and the continued occupation of Egypt. Mr. John Redmond has his motion as to Irish prisoners, and Mr. James Lowther an amendment regarding destitute aliens.

Mr. Kier Hardie wants to condemn the Government as overlooking the claims of the labor party, and the publicans' friends in the House, still a powerful section, will prepare an amendment protesting against interference with their vested rights. Unless the House grows fierce with impatience, it will have some three weeks of oratory before Mr. Gladstone can get an opportunity of introducing his Home Rule bill.

Messrs. McCarthy, Sexton and Dillon have in a hesitant way approved the clause in the Home Rule bill reserving the control of the land question to the Imperial Parliament for a fixed number of years. But they differ from Mr. Gladstone as to the period during which the Irish Legislature has to wait.

Mr. Gladstone proposes 10 years. The Irish leaders think five too long, and demand three, with further advances from the Imperial exchequer under the land purchase act so as to reconcile their constituents to any delay whatever.

It is doubtful whether Mr. Gladstone will be able to get the bulk of his supporters in the House to assent to any further grant, and the Irish members will reject the clause without its financial appendix.

In the House of Lords several new peers, including Lord Playfair, took the oath prescribed for new peers.

The Prince of Wales and his son, the Duke of York, had seats on the cross-bench. They remained through part of the debate on the address in reply to the Queen's speech.

Lord Brassey moved the adoption of the address. His motion was seconded by Lord Thring. Both mover and seconder spoke in general terms in support of the Government.

Lord Salisbury, who to-day appeared in the Opposition, said he declined in the meantime to question the foreign policy of the Government. So far as known, in the absence of official papers, the policy of the new Ministry seemed to be founded on sound principles and to be executed with judgment and skill.

Events in Egypt rendered the difficulties surrounding the British occupation more numerous. The Government must postpone the withdrawal of British troops, but this is nowise modified the assurances that had been given to the foreign powers concerning Egypt.

Touching upon the question of Home Rule for Ireland, Lord Salisbury said that the one object of the Government during the past six months had been to get the support of a class of men whom hitherto no politicians in England had tried to conciliate. The keynote of the Irish policy of the Government was to get the support of the criminal classes. The provisions necessary to maintain the law had been repealed. Though agrarian crime was not prevalent generally, yet in districts where it did prevail the hands of the law were paralyzed. [Conservative cheers.]

The prerogative of the crown had been used to shield murderers and release dynamiters. All the acts of the Government caused the impression that they were much more in sympathy with criminals than desirous of vindicating the law. [Cries of "Hear, hear."]

The reference in the Queen's speech to Home Rule was the most peculiar sentence he had ever seen in a public document. It seemed to indicate that the Government opinion of the whole Irish question with which Parliament had to deal was that it was for one portion of the Irish to place their heel upon the neck of the Protestant population of Ireland.

With regard to the other measures indicated in the Queen's Speech, Lord Salisbury declared that nobody believed that they would ever be undertaken. They were simply a repetition of the program adopted by the Liberal conference at Newcastle.

Lord Salisbury alluded to the agricultural depression. He said that agriculture suffered most from want of confidence. The political partisans are now preached doctrines that were filling the minds of the owners of capital with apprehension.

There was no country in the world, Lord Salisbury added, where property was now so insecure as in Great Britain in consequence of erroneous legislative action. [Cries of "Hear, hear."]

The new Radical party met last night to decide upon a plan of action in Parliament. Eighty members were present. A resolution was passed that the party make every effort to secure the discussion in the House of Radical measures, and a sessional committee of eleven was appointed to see that this program be carried out. Samuel Storey, M.P. for Sunderland, presided.

A meeting of Liberal-Unionists, with the Duke of Devonshire in the chair, resolved that the party endeavor to compel the Government to introduce the subject of autonomy before any other question of the Home Rule program.

Mr. Goschen, formerly Chancellor of the Exchequer, was absent from the Liberal-Unionist meeting last night. This, with the fact that he is a candidate for election to the Carlton Club, gives color to the report that he intends to come out as a Conservative.

In commenting upon the difficulty arising from the determination of the Irish members always to sit with the Opposition of the House, The Daily News says: "The order and dignity of the House of Commons would certainly be promoted by recognizing in practical shape the alliance of British and Irish Home Rulers."

A VANCOUVER MAN.

Says That the Hawaiian Trouble May Lead To War.

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Thomas M. Davis of Vancouver, now here, will go to Washington and file with the British Minister protests in behalf of the British colonies against any attempt of the United States to seize Hawaii.

He says: Speaking from a colonial point of view I am convinced the solution of the Hawaiian question will cause serious international complications. Situated as we are in British Columbia, neither our province nor Australia can afford to surrender the key to the Pacific Ocean without a vigorous protest to the Home Government. The greatest hardship of the English colonies, from the naval phase of the question, would be the interruption and possible abandonment of the Vancouver and Australian cable, now ready for construction. It was intended to make Hawaii a landing station for the cable.

Aside from Esquimalt, on Vancouver Island, England has no naval station on this side of the Pacific, but has enjoyed the advantages of Hawaii with America. At Esquimalt we have the Warspite, a strong battle ship, and the Temeraire, one of the largest men-of-war in the British navy, is on the way from Halifax to Esquimalt.

At Japan we have two large ships. The other ships of the Pacific squadron are at Hong Kong, Melbourne and Tasmania. I have no doubt a majority of the ships will be ordered to Hawaii, and if a settlement of the question fails through arbitration, the world will see one of the greatest battles of modern times.

EXPEDITED HER FALL.

Kalakaua's Old Army Chief Says the Queen Was To Be Deposed Next Month.

TENNOLD, Ont., Feb. 1.—Col. Volney V. Ashford, commander-in-chief of the Hawaiian forces under King Kalakaua, is here visiting his mother and sister. He said yesterday:

"Revolution in Hawaii was expected, but it seems the Queen forced the hands of her opponents and obliged them to declare their opposition rather sooner than was expected."

Recent advices received by Col. Ashford from a leader of the revolutionary party fixed the date for the overthrow of the royalty to the last week of February, and Col. Ashford expected to leave San Francisco for his island home Feb. 15, but the uprising is likely to hasten his departure.

Col. Ashford, a Canadian by birth, was the bete noir of the Queen, who caused his arrest and imprisonment three years ago and made his stay in Hawaii most uncomfortable.

He thinks annexation to the United States would be advantageous to the island.

Would Be Piracy.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The Daily Chronicle says in a leader concerning the Hawaiian revolution:

"There are symptoms that the plot of American traders in Honolulu will fail. It is evident that the natives were awed into submission by American marines, therefore it would be less an act of protection than one of piracy for America to extend her sway over Hawaii."

Unanimous for Annexation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 1.—The discussion of the Hawaiian question at the Cabinet meeting yesterday was informal, and there being nothing before the body for its consideration no action was taken. There was practically a unanimous expression in favor of annexation.

OPIUM SMUGGLERS.

Plead Guilty to Smuggling the Stuff From Toronto to New York.

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Feb. 1.—S. J. Henry and C. J. Beam of New York, two Pullman palace car porters, pleaded guilty yesterday to the charge of smuggling opium from Toronto out to New York. They were held for the United States court.

The Raging Ohio.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 1.—The ice gorge has broken. One hundred barges were carried away, and $200,000 worth of lumber sunk in the Kanawha. At Marysville a shanty with three men and two women was swept into the middle of the Ohio. Their fate is unknown. The river is falling rapidly.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

BUSINESS BEING PUSHED THROUGH IN A HURRY.

Discussion on the Appointment of a Lieutenant-Governor for New Brunswick.

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The House was sitting on the night hour of [illegible] buildings last night, and the House in committee of supply passing [illegible] estimates.

It is wholly without precedent in the memory of the oldest parliamentarian for the House to buckle down to business so quickly and commence night sessions so early, and it looks as if Sir John Thompson really means to try to get the business of the House through inside of three months and have prorogation as soon as possible, so that he may be free to go to Paris and attend to the Behring Sea arbitration. The arbitrators meet on Feb. 23, and it is understood that they will then adjourn for a month, meeting again for business on March 23, when Sir John Thompson is expected to be present.

This would necessitate his leaving here about the first week in March, and it is said that he proposes to get as much of the business of the House as possible through by that time and leave Hon. Mr. Foster to finish the session.

Be this as it may, it is certain that the session has commenced with a whoop, and if yesterday and to-day are to be taken as criterions the session will be the shortest for many years.

The first hour and a half this afternoon was taken up with a discussion on the lieutenant-governorship of New Brunswick, which gradually veered round to the abstract question of the conduct of lieutenant-governors generally, with special application to Lieut.-Governor Angers and his dismissal of Mr. Mercier.

The trouble began by Hon. Mr. Davies wanting to know why the Government did not appoint a successor to Lieutenant-Governor Tilley, or give him a third term. While opposed to third terms, he thought it would be better than having the Lieutenant-Governorship held over for two years and a half at the pleasure of the Government.

Sir John Thompson said that when the member for Bothwell (Mills) asked about this matter on the last day of last session he had stated that the Government was obliged to make the appointment, and now he (Sir John) had promised that the matter would be looked into.

This had been done and it had been found that Mr. Mills' contention was not correct. Lieutenant-Governors were appointed to hold office during the pleasure of the Governor-General, but were immovable for five years except for cause. No decision had been come to about a third term. The office was filled very satisfactorily and there was no constitutional necessity for appointing a successor immediately.

Hon. Mr. Laurier objected to the principle that Lieutenant-Governors could be retained at pleasure, as that might mean appointment for life. The reappointment of Sir L. Tilley would not be objectionable if the Government was prepared to adopt a third term policy, which he did not think a good one, but he objected to his being kept on sufferance.

After this there was quite a general discussion, in which Messrs. Hagen, Cartwright, Ouimet, Fraser, Langevin, Carow, Brodeur, Landerkin, Henson and Devlin took a hand, the point of the discussion being on the Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick and part about Lieutenant-Governor Angers, in the course of which Mr. Fraser took occasion to have a tilt at Mr. Burns of Gloucester, who, he insinuated, had been hawking round a petition in his own favor for members to sign.

The House then got into supply and passed a number of votes up to 6 o'clock. On the first item for charges of management of the debt, Hon. Mr. Foster, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, explained the terms which he had made with the Bank of Montreal while he was in England and which were much more possible than those heretofore existing.

Mr. Weldon's bill to disfranchise voters who have taken bribes was introduced to-day by Mr. Dickey, who explained that it proposed that on the petition of 25 electors the Government should appoint a commission to go to the constituency and hold an investigation, and parties found guilty of taking bribes should be disfranchised for eight years.

The House remained in committee of supply all the evening, passing 21 items and adjourning at 10.25.

A conference, composed of the following representatives from the provinces, was held in the Department of Agriculture this afternoon. The representatives from British Columbia had not arrived:

Ontario—Hon. Mr. Bronson, Hon. Mr. Harcourt, Hon. Mr. Gibson, Dr. Cassidy and Dr. Bryce, Provincial Board of Health.

Quebec—Hon. L. P. Pelletier, Dr. E. P. Lachappelle, Dr. Montmambert and Dr. E. Pelletier, Provincial Board of Health.

New Brunswick — Hon. James Mitchell.

Prince Edward Island—Hon. Senator A. A. Macdonald, Mr. L. H. Davies, M.P., Mr. John Yeo, M.P., and Mr. J. McLean, M.P.

Manitoba—Dr. O'Donnell.

The question of relations between the quarantines of the Federal Government and the public health organizations of the provinces was discussed at some length.

Explanations were given to the conference of the action taken by the Dominion Government for improving and putting into first-class position, in relation to modern requirements, the several maritime stations of the Dominion.

DROPPED DEAD.

Postmaster Robert Crawford of Owen Sound a Victim of Apoplexy.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 1.—Postmaster Robert Crawford dropped dead of apoplexy while walking in Poulette-street about 6 p.m. yesterday.

Deceased was about 65 years of age and an influential and highly respected citizen, having been one of the early pioneers of the town.

He leaves a wife and four children, one son a practising physician here.

Probably Sandbagged.

BUFFALO, Feb. 1.—James Alexander of Brampton, Ont., was arrested here as a vagrant on Jan. 25 and died in the hospital yesterday. It is thought he was sandbagged previous to his arrest, as he had since acted very stupidly.

THE ONTARIO GAME LAWS.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

DEAR SIR,—The public mind seems to be considerably agitated over the game laws, and I think this agitation has not been brought on without cause. It has been said by Junius, that "the truly loyal subject to the chief magistrate will neither advise nor submit to arbitrary measures." This being the case, is it any surprise that the law respecting game receive so little respect from the majority of hunters and sportsmen? For a more arbitrary measure I never read or heard tell of. How is it arbitrary, do you say? Because it seems to me to be gotten up in the interest of feather-head sportsmen "and sich." I would not be afraid to wager one hundred dollars that there is not one man in this county to-day who has killed more deer in the last thirty years than I have, and I did it all by "still hunting," which I hold to be the only sportsmanlike way of taking a deer. Now the present game law shuts the still hunter entirely out of the race, because there never is any snow (and we cannot still hunt without it) until the close season begins. I think this obnoxious law should be changed, because it will never be respected or cannot be successfully enforced in its present shape. The law says that we shall not kill a fawn. Now I defy the makers of the game law or any one else to distinguish between a fawn or a full grown deer at two hundred yards; so we fire away, and, then, taking the Indian's advice, we go see, and lo we have killed a fawn. Well, what are we going to do with it? Leave it where it fell to make food for the ravens? Well, no.

The sum of the whole matter seems to be this. The still hunter must be closed out and it does appear to me that the law was framed with that end in view. This law must be modified or it never will be respected, and I will bet ten dollars that there cannot be two men be found in the municipality who are mean enough to try and enforce it, and they would utterly fail if they did. Now Mr. Editor, will you kindly give me space for this letter and oblige,

G. W. COONES,
Apsley.

SMITH.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The newly re elected council of the township of Smith met at the town hall, Bridgenorth, on Monday, the 16th January, 1893. After filing the necessary declarations of qualification and office the members took their seats, Mr. Middleton, reeve, in the chair. Minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

A TRIBUTE TO MR. M. SANDERSON.—Moved by Mr. McIlmoyle, secouded by Mr. Armstrong, and resolved,

That the municipal council of the township of Smith for 1893, at this our first meeting, desire to express and convey to Michael Sanderson, Esq., J.P., ex-Reeve of this Township and ex-Warden of the County of Peterborough, the high estimation and deep appreciation with which this township and county view his public services, so long, so disinterestedly and so faithfully rendered.

That this council feel that they are only voicing the sentiments of the whole county when they say that to our venerable friend, Mr. Sanderson, is due to a large extent the harmonious working of our municipal system in this county, and that to his sound judgment and matured experience we are indebted for many reforms in our local self-government.

That this council feel that in his public career the life and conduct of Mr. Sanderson has been an example to all public men inasmuch as after a public life of over a quarter of a century Mr. Sanderson has voluntarily retired, having retained to the last the respect and confidence of his township, the regard and esteem of his county, and with a character for purity and honesty such as but very few men in this world possess.

That this council express the hope that Mr. Sanderson may long live and enjoy health and comfort in his declining years and that this council may from time to time have the benefit of that advice and that experience which he so worthily possesses.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to Mr. Sanderson, signed by the clerk and members of this council and sealed with the official seal—Carried.

A board of health was appointed as follows: The reeve and clerk of this council, and Messrs. Geo. Westlake, R. Waram and Wm. Preston, jr. Messrs. McIlmoyle and Garbutt were appointed a committee to examine the road allowance between lots 36 and 31 in the 12th and 15th concessions, also the 11th and 18th concessions, and report as to the advisability of opening up the same. John Black and Andrew Young were appointed auditors, and R. Waram, collector for the current year. The overseer of highways was instructed to dispose of the elm trees on the 6th concession, opposite lot 18, provided the owner of said lot was willing. The following claims were ordered to be paid: Review Printing Co., $56.55; J. R. Stratton, $35.00. The council then adjourned to meet on Monday, the 30th inst.

Council room, Jan. 30th. Council met pursuant to adjournment, all the members present, the reeve in the chair, minutes of last meeting read and confirmed.

R. Waram was appointed assessor for 1893 at a salary of $70.

Councillors McIlmoyle and Garbutt, the committee appointed to examine roads reported as follows:—

We have examined the road allowance in the 12th con. between lots 30 and 31, and recommend that the timber thereon be granted to A. Fairbairn for the clearing and selling of the same till required to be opened by this council, and have examined the road allowance in the 15th con. between lots 30 and 31, and recommend that the timber thereon be disposed of to Mr. E. Sanderson for the performance of four days' statute labour and also that the sum of $9.00 be paid to Jas. Freeborn for cutting out road on the 18th concession line east of the Buckhorn road. The report was adapted. A by-law to provide for the appointment of officers passed its several readings having been filled in as follows:—J. Black and A. Young, auditors, salary $5.00 each; R. Waram, collector, $70.00; and R. Waram, assessor, $70.00. The following claims were ordered to be paid:—W. Irwin, clearing out gravel pit, $2.50; Jos. Elliott, work on road, $3.75; Jas. Freeborn, cutting out road, $9.00; M. J. Bell, work on road, $5.00; H. C. Garbutt for support of Mrs. Hatton, $5.00. The council then adjourned till Monday the 27th day of February.

KEENE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The second carnival of the season will be held in the Keene skating and curling rink on the evening of the 15th instant. This carnival promises to be one of great interest as three gentlemen of renowned ability as swift skaters have kindly consented to test their speed on this occasion, namely, D. Fraser, of Norwood; M. McIntyre, of Keene and J. Pantauch, of Hiawatha. Considerable excitement prevails as to which of those gentlemen will win the race but at present the majority of those interested express their willingness to bet on the dusky gentleman of Hiawatha. Don't fail to come early on the evening of the 15th inst., for the prospects are that there will be an immense crowd of spectators.

Great sorrow prevailed throughout our village and neighborhood on Monday the 23rd ult., on learning that Mr. Thos. Campbell one of our most esteemed citizens had departed this life. The deceased although in poor health for some time was not considered so near his end but the inexorable messenger, death, suddenly summoned him away from his loving wife and family. He has been in partnership with Mr. Jas. McNeil in the dry good business for the past thirty years and was noted as an obliging honest business man. We tender our heartfelt sympathy to the sorrowing family and relatives in their sad and sudden bereavement.

MOUNT PLEASANT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Miss Josie Eplett, of Coldwater, is visiting the Misses Mills.

Messrs. John Handley and John Cottingham, of Peterborough, were in town on Friday night.

Mr. T. W. McLean has re-commenced school after a week's close from illness.

Mr. Wm. McCall has sold his chattels and intends moving to the North-West in the spring.

Mr. James McCall and his son Edward, of Oxbow, are back to their home on a visit.

We are pleased to state that Mrs. Edward Courtney is improving steadily.

To grow old gracefully, one must live temperately, calmly, methodically; be interested in all that is going on in the world; be cheerful, happy, and contented, and above all, keep the blood pure and vigorous by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Be sure you get Ayer's.

A Great Surprise.

Is in store for all who use Kem's Balsam for the Throat and Lungs, the great guaranteed remedy. Would you believe that it is sold on its merits and that any druggist is authorized by the proprietor of this wonderful remedy to give you a sample bottle free? It never fails to cure acute or chronic coughs. All druggists sell Kemp's Balsam. Large Bottles 50c. and $1.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOUR COLUMN.

"FOR CHRIST AND THE CHURCH."

[All communications intended for this column must be marked "Christian Endeavour" and sent to Box 113, Peterborough, not later than Friday previous to date of issue.]

Topic for week beginning Feb. 6, "Joy in God's service and in His house, Ezra, 6:16, Rom. 14, 16-19.

Joy in God's house, (Ezra, 6, 16.) This was the joy of dedication, but it continued as long as the motive of the people in worship was pure. It is equally so to-day, our joy in worship will be in proportion to our love for the being whom we worship * * * The truest delight in God's house can only be experienced when the supplicant expects to meet God in Worship and realizes that God meets him * * * * * They enjoy most the services of the church who feel their need of communion with God, and know he meets them there and blesses them. The joy of divine worship depends upon the sacredness of our approach. Joy in God's service, (Rom. 14, 16-19.) It is very evident that the apostle was not willing to put any mere sentiment in the place of loving and loyal service. He believed that Christianity meant not only being something, but doing something. In his mind the Kingdom of Christ was based upon no ceremonial observance, a question of partaking of or obstaining from meats offered to idols, but upon righteousness and peace and joy; righteousness by faith and in person, peace toward God and man, and joy in communion and service. In this day our Christianity, to be genuine, must be an exceedingly practical thing. Different centuries show different characteristics. The sixteenth century was the time of revolution, the seventeenth the time of re-construction, the eighteenth the time of revival, the nineteenth seems to be the time of re-organization. Successfully these questions have been asked:—"Will you fight against error?" "What do you believe?" "How do you feel?" Now the question is: "What are you doing?" Sanctification not only indicates that the soul basks in the divine favour, but that it is ready to battle for a glorious victory over its Lord's foes. In this spiritual activity comes the highest joy. There is no joy like it. Bring in a wanderer; establish some weak one's faith; dispel some doubter's vain questionings; build up the kingdom of Christ a little higher among your fellow men, and you will experience supreme joy—the joy of Him who said:—"That my joy might remain in you and that your joy might be full."

DAILY READINGS.

First day—"With gladness and rejoicing," Ps. 45, 11-17.
Second day—"Thou hast put gladness in my heart," Ps. 4, 6-8.
Third day—"That your joy might be full," 1 John 1, 3-7.
Fourth day—"Joy in His service," Phil. 2, 14-18.
Fifth day—"I have loved Thy house." Ps. 26, 5-12.
Sixth day—"Let your hands be strong," Zech. 8, 7-13.
Seventh day—"Joy in God's service, and in His house," Ezra 6, 16; Rom. 14, 16-19.

ST PAUL'S SOCIETY ANNIVERSARY.

Anniversary meeting of the Christian Endeavour Society was held in St. Paul's church on the evening of Monday, 23rd inst. The meeting, which was the second of the "Round the World" series, was very interesting and proved a success. Subjects taken up were Formosa, Japan and Corea. Miss A. Lang read a very interesting paper on Formosa, Miss E. J. Best a paper on Japan, and Mr. J. Connal two tracts from Golden Rule on Corea. Disappointment was felt by the absence of Miss Simpson, who was to read a paper on Corea.

Two letters were read, one from Mr. Torrance, of Montreal, thanking the society for a unique calendar given to him at New Year's, the other from the Rev. J. Robertson, superintendent of the Presbyterian missions in the North-West, thanking the society for the gift of $150 for home missions.

The singing consisted of choice selections of appropriate hymns, also a much appreciated duet by Miss Roxburgh and Miss Jennie Rose.

The decorations were especially appropriate. In the centre was a picture of a large ship entitled the "Safe Adchored," the ship being a type of the church, and the anchors types of Prayer, Faith and Hope. On each side was a British flag, on one side the flag of China, on the other that of Japan. There was also a large banner with the question "Ship Ahoy, where are you bound?" and the answer "To Port of Heaven." A large map of the world was held in view, showing the several mission fields.

A SUGGESTION.

Christian Endeavourers, is your treasury scanty? Notice the plan adopted by the Norwood E.L. of C.E.—Each member earns at least fifty cents out of the ordinary line of work. This being done a social gathering is then held where an experience meeting of no little interest tells of the various ways in which the money was earned. The proceeds, which amounted to upwards of twenty dollars, is spent in procuring for league purposes, a choice selection of library books.

THE LOOKOUT COMMITTEE.

Lookout lovingly, sympathetically, carefully, constantly, earnestly, and enthusiastically for Christ and the church.

Lookout to invite the stranger, the indifferent, the weak Christian Endeavourer, the young.

Lookout to speak the word, whatever it may be, "in His name."

Lookout to point some one upward.

Lookout to aid some one to take their first step in Christian activity.

Lookout to praise the first step, so that they will take the second.

Lookout to help some one step firmer.

Lookout to take by the hand and return the retreater.

Lookout to do whatever you see.

SUGGESTIONS FOR LOOKOUT WORK.

Do everything in your power for the consecration meeting.

Pray often and earnestly for it.

Send notices to be received on the day to those you have reason to fear may not be present.

Kindly see the absent ones before the next week.

Seek to keep the standard so high that all will feel a vow broken when absent.

The pledge is made to Christ, so have it made with prayer to Him at home.

Let no member come into the Society uninformed; explain, read and talk about it.

Remember that quality is more important than quantity; that one poor member does more harm than several good ones, but that it is a wonderful means of grace to be a Christian Endeavourer.

Watch that a new member goes to work immediately. Introduce and help him to feel at home. Shake hands, shake hands, until the hand shakes you.

Be the first to speak to new members, and enlist them.

Have it an object to have the associate members become active members.

Invitations given at hotels on the day of the meeting are excellent outside work.

Six points, out of many, where Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets are better than other pills:

1. They're the smallest, and easiest to take—little sugarcoated granules that every child takes readily.
2. They're perfectly easy in their action—no griping, no disturbance.
3. Their effect LASTS. There's no reaction afterward. They regulate or cleanse the system, according to size of dose.
4. They're the cheapest, for they're GUARANTEED to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the GOOD you get.
5. Put up in glass—are always fresh.
6. They CURE Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, Sick or Bilious Headaches, and all derangements of the liver, stomach and bowels.

IN MEMORIAM.

Lines Written on the Death of Mrs. Hatherly, Wife of Mr. John Hatherly, Otonabee, who Died January 18th, 1893, Aged 64 Years.

Mother, dear, thou'rt gone to rest,
Gone to thy home above,
Gone to reign with spirits blest,
And Christ, whom thou didst love.

Our home is strangely sad and lone,
Thy loss we deeply feel,
But God, so wonderful and kind
Our broken hearts can heal.

We miss thy form at home, abroad,
We miss it everywhere,
And, oh, what sorrow fills our hearts
As we see that vacant chair.

The sharer of thy joys and cares,
Thy husband in this life,
Is left to weep and mourn the loss
Of a kind and faithful wife.

Thy children, too, whom thou didst love,
And cherish with tender care,
Have none like thee to comfort them,
And all their sorrows share.

But though thy loss we deeply mourn,
Thou dear departed friend,
We know it is our Father's will,
And to that will we bend.

We know that round the Great White Throne
Thy ransomed spirit sings
The everlasting praises of Our Lord, the King of Kings.

And in that land of heavenly bliss,
Where Christ himself doth reign,
We hope upon that rapturous shore
To meet with thee again.

We'll lay our woe at Jesus' feet,
He'll all our burdens bear,
And live in faith and trust, 'till called
To meet our loved one there.

M. WILLIAMSON.

January 28th, 1893.

You can never tell what a slight cold may lead to; it is best, therefore, to give yourself the benefit of the doubt, and cure it as soon as possible with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A day's delay, sometimes an hour's delay, may result in serious consequences.

Bronchitis cured.

GENTLEMEN,— I suffered four or five years from bronchitis and a severe hacking cough, and could get nothing to do me any good. A friend told me to get Hagyard's Pectoral Balsam, and I did so with good results. Two bottles cured me and I hardly know what a cold is now.

To Preserve

The richness, color, and beauty of the hair, the greatest care is necessary, much harm being done by the use of worthless dressings. To be sure of having a first-class article, ask your druggist or perfumer for Ayer's Hair Vigor. It is absolutely superior to any other preparation of the kind. It restores the original color and fullness to hair which has become thin, faded, or gray. It keeps the scalp cool, moist, and free from dandruff. It heals itching humors, prevents baldness, and imparts to a silken texture and lasting fragrance. No toilet can be considered complete without this most popular and elegant of all hair-dressings.

THE HAIR

"My hair began turning gray and falling out when I was about 25 years of age. I have lately been using Ayer's Hair Vigor, and it is causing a new growth of hair of the natural color."—R. J. Lowry, Jones Prairie, Texas.

"Over a year ago I had a severe fever, and when I recovered, my hair began to fall out, and what little remained turned gray. I tried various remedies, but without success, till at last I began to Ayer's Hair Vigor, and now my hair is growing rapidly and is restored to its original color."—Mrs. Annie Collins, Dighton, Mass.

USE

"I have used Ayer's Hair Vigor for nearly five years, and my hair is moist, glossy, and in an excellent state of preservation. I am forty years old, and have ridden the plains for twenty-five years."—Wm. Henry Ott, alias "Mustang Bill," Newcastle, Wyo.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE "IN IT."

A Life Agent called at a friend's place one day,
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He then met upon "the bore" coming and fled from his way
HE WASN'T IN IT;
He had heard so much said, he was tired and sick
Of insurance and agents—'twas all a blank trick,
When one's coil must be shuffled to win it,
HE WASN'T IN IT.

A bit of a draft blew o'er his bald head,
HE WAS IN IT;
Pneumonia sent him straightway to his bed,
HE STAYED IN IT;
His doctor made of it a "quite special" case,
To save him for running still more of life's race,
But the grave took some chances to win it,
AND HE'S IN IT.

When approached by a gent for insuring your life,
GET RIGHT IN IT;
It's the right thing to do for your children and wife,
THEN STAY IN IT.
Remember that fires take your goods "out of sight,"
And that accidents happen each day and each night.
While insurance protects every minute,
IF YOU'RE IN IT.

A Bank Manager's Opinion.

HE IS "IN IT."

The General Manager of one of the leading banks in Canada, writing to a personal friend, says:—"I have no hesitation in saying that I place the CANADA LIFE upon the highest platform. It is in my opinion carefully, economically and honestly managed; its Reserve Funds are well invested; its rates of Premiums are low, and its future is, I think better assured than a great majority of Companies. I have my own life insured in the Company for a round amount, and would not hesitate to increase the amount of my policies should I decide upon taking out further insurance."

A Government Insurance Actuary's Opinion

On the Relation between Ordinary and Tontine Service.

It is frequently asserted by Companies whose business is nearly all tontined, that although the CANADA LIFE may and does pay large ordinary profits, yet it cannot compare so favourably on a long term distribution or tontine period, and that in the end better results can be obtained on a tontine policy in a large American Co. than on an ordinary or tontine policy in the CANADA LIFE. To prove the absurdity of this statement, the following piece of common sense is quoted from Mervin Tabor, late Actuary of the Illinois Government Insurance Department. In his well known book, "The Three Systems of Life Insurance," he says: "A company that gives large dividends on the ordinary kind of policies, can give much larger on the same kinds when Tontined, and a company that pays but meagre dividends on the usual forms, adopting perhaps the Tontine system to "cover up" its small surpluses, cannot be relied on for large returns of surplus under the Tontine Forms of Insurance."

The CANADA LIFE does not "cover up" its Quinquennial profits as some Companies do, but publishes them throughout the country.

It can and does surpass other Companies on Quinquennial profits. It should and will surpass them on Tontine profits.

WHY TO BE "IN IT."

BISHOP HAWKE'S REASON:—"I claim that Life Insurance is not only a humane, but I might say a Christian Institution."

LORD LYNDHURST'S REASON:—"A Policy of Life Insurance is always an evidence of prudent forethought. No man with a dependent family is free from reproach if not insured."

WHEN TO BE "IN IT."

The younger, the cheaper. Therefore insure when young. Besides by insuring in the CANADA LIFE now, you will share in three years' profits.

WHERE TO BE "IN IT."

The best place to be "in it" is in the Company that gives the best returns for the least money, consistent with absolute security. Therefore, in order to be "in it," choose the Cleaning off the Snow.

A well-known citizen complained to a reporter this morning, that the side-walks were not thoroughly cleaned for traffic by the snow plough, during this snowy weather. He asserted that unimportant streets were cleaned first, and that more public streets, such as Park, King and others about St. Peter's cathedral, are left until a later hour. The snow thus becomes packed down owing to the number of pedestrians passing along, and the walks could not then be as well scraped.

To-Morrow! To-Morrow!

Death of an Old Resident.

On Saturday, Jan. 21st, after a very brief illness of acute indigestion, Mr. Joseph Sucee, an old and respected resident of Cardiff, expired. He was in his sixty-first year and had suffered more or less for years past from dyspepsia. Deceased was born in Asphodel township where he resided for many years; afterwards he removed to the vicinity of Norwood, and eleven years ago took up his residence in Cardiff. The late Mr. Sucee folowed agricultural pursuits all his life, and was one of the best known farmers in his township. Some thirty-four years ago he was wedded to Miss Jemima Sanders, daughter of the late Wm. Sanders who resided a few miles from Peterborough. Of this union seven sons, of whom Joseph Sucee, Bridgenorth, is the eldest, and three daughters,, were born, who together with their mother, are left to mourn the loss of their father. The remains were interred in Cardiff Cemetery, on the 23rd ult., the obsequies being largely attended.

Customs Duties.

There is a decided increase in the amount of customs duties collected at the port of Peterborough, in January of this year, as compared with January of previous year. The amount for January, 1892, was $4,081.86; for January 1893, $6,826.05. The increase of $2,544.17 is jocularly credited to the new customs building—the poll tax on visitors to see the new buildings being responsible for a considerable sum—on paper.

N.B.—all the above goods especially cheap for the next ten days at the Peterborough Bookstore.

Acknowledgment.

The Committee of Management of the Peterborough Protestant Home acknowledge with thanks the following donations for January:—Miss Nicholls, mince pies; Mrs. W. Davidson, 2 cakes; Mrs. V. Best, goose; A friend, 2 lbs. tea, $1.00 sugar, 25 cts rice; Mrs. Chas. McGill, papers; A friend, barrel of apples; St. Paul's Y. P. S. C. E., papers; Mrs. Blackwell, "Sunday at Home"; Mr. Frank Mercer, basket of lemons; J. C. Turnbull, dry goods.

Referred to Counsel.

The special committee appointed by the council to confer with the executors of the late Mrs. Nicholls' estate re the bequest of the town of Peterborough for the purchasing and maintenance of public parks, met the executors in the town clerk's office yesterday afternoon. Considerable discussion was engaged in, but no definite agreement could be arrived at, and it was finally decided to refer the matter to Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., Toronto, as to whether the town had the right to accept such public bequests.

Probable Purchase of a Chemical Engine.

Mr. Evison and the secretary of the Board of Trade were around town this morning looking into the question which was referred to a committee of the Board of Trade at its meeting on Monday evening, viz., of insurance statistics looking to the raising of Peterborough in the class of insurance. Mr. Evison represents a large chemical engine company and it is thought by many citizens that the buying of one is worthy of serious consideration. The matter of the purchase of a chemical engine by the town has been brought up before many times but was dropped.

A Good Class Begun.

Last night Capt. E. F. Mason, "A" company, 57th Battalion, met those desirous of joining the non-commissioned officers class in the drill hall of the drill shed. There was a large attendance and the members will meet once a week for instruction from Capt Mason. Lectures will also be delivered by the various officers of the battalion. The classes will continue until spring drill commences when an examination will be held and non-commissioned officers certificates awarded those successfully passing examination. The class will meet every Tuesday night.

Peterborough Fruit Growers' Association.

As Peterborough is to have the general meeting of the fruit growers of the province next December, the members of the local association are bestirring themselves to get in a large membership, and to awaken an interest in the subject amongst the farmers of the country. The local meeting will be held this month probably about the 22nd. Mr. Woolverton, of Grimsby, and Mr. Craig, of the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, will probably be present. One of the great objects of this work is to do for fruit growing what is being done for the dairying interest, to show what is required to insure success, and to point out what is to be avoided and guarded against. In these times of failure in growing grain and low prices combined, there is more hope for success in growing apples than in almost any other direction. But in this, as in everything else, more knowledge is wanted.

The Fire Brigade Will Remain on.

An adjourned meeting of the members of the Fire Brigade was held last evening with a large attendance. The extended time of the brigade's resignation expired to-day, but after considerable discussion at last night's meeting a motion to remain on was carried and a decision arrived at, whereby the offer of the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the new council was accepted. The members of the brigade by it get an increase in their salary for the year of $25 each, so that each fireman will receive $75 a year in the future for his services instead of $50 as in the past. The officers of of the brigade will also receive an additional grant of $25 extra per year. This was all that was practically done at the meeting and arrangements have by it been concluded between the members of the brigade and the new council on a satisfactory basis. Two or three of the firemen who sleep at the hall have expressed a desire to be removed and a certain length of time alloted in order to have others take their places.

If any doubt exists in the mind of any suffer as to the curative properties of Dr. Butler's Golden Pills, let him or her try them and if not cured money will be refunded.

CRISP CURLING CHRONIQUE.

What is Going on at the Rink Where Curlers Most do Congregate.

The curlers met in large numbers at the rink last night to put in a final practice contest before going to Toronto to-morrow. The ice was in a superb condition and the "broom sweepers" went at the sport with a spirit and a go that presages victory to-morrow. The following scratch matches occurred:

RINK NO. 1.

Rev H Symonds,	W Hall,
Geo Edmison,	R B McKee,
E B Edwards,	T E Bradburn,
Judge Weller, sk....7	R S Davidson, sk ... 21

Fourteen ends were played, the match being an inter-divisional one.

RINK NO. 2.

C J Leonard,	C N Brown,
F J Lewis,	J McClelland,
G W Hatton,	Geo Brown,
Dr. Boucher, sk .. 13	Sam Ray, sk.....10

Fourteen ends were played, the contest being a president and vice-president scheduled game, Dr. Boucher representing the president's and S. Ray the vice-president's sides.

RINK NO. 3.

W G Morrow,	R Stevenson,
E Rutherford,	A L Davis,
George Matthews,	D W Dumble,
J H Connal, skip .. 17.	T P Attrill, skip..... 8.

RINK NO. 4.

W H Robertson,	J S Knapman,
Gus Sawers,	R. Martyn.
J Stanger,	W Salisbury,
J B Pentland, skip..21.	W Ferguson, skip 15

Other make-up matches occurred but were not completed. On the whole, considering the short notice given, the curlers turned out for practice well.

The skips which will go to Toronto to-morrow at seven o'clock to play 12 rinks of the Granites and also of the Toronto's are Messrs. Attrill, Boucher, Budden, Dennistoun, Judge Weller and J. H. Connal, of the Granite division, and Messrs. Ray, Rutherford, McGill, Davidson, A. McNeil, and Ferguson, of the Thistles.

Following is the way in which the Peterborough rink will play to-morrow at Toronto:—

AFTERNOON MATCHES.

Skips Attrill, Judge Weller, and Dr. Boucher at Victoria rink.

Skips Dennisteun, Rutherford and Ray, at Prospect Park rink.

Skips Ferguson, Connal, McGill, Davidson, McNeil and Budden, at Granite rink.

EVENING MATCHES.

Skips Connal, McNeil, and Davidson, at Victoria rink.

Skips Ferguson, Budden, and McGill, at Prospect Park rink.

Skips Judge Weller, Attrill, Dr. Boucher, Dennistoun, Rutherford, and Ray, at Granite rink.

May success be theirs.

This afternoon at 1:30 o'clock play in the Ontario Tankard competition in Group No. 3 began. This morning five rinks, Keene, Campbellford, Lakefield, Millbrook and Bobcaygeon turned up. The two rinks of Port Perry, the umpire, did not put in an appearance and Mr. Gus Sawers was selected umpire instead. In this afternoon's play the draw was Keene vs. Bobcaygeon, Millbrook vs. Campbellford, Lakefield drawing the bye. This evening the winners will draw with Lakefield.

An interesting scratch match took place at the rink last night between two rinks of "green curlers" who will make their public "debut" in Toronto to-morrow. Following is the score:—

J C Smith,	W Clancy,
E H D Hall,	Wm Snowden,
S Howson,	T R Billett,

When the combined advantages of a charming climate and opportunities for profitable investment are offered now-a-days, sufficient inducement is presented to capalists, or even small investors, to investigate the subject. The wonderful success of the North Galveston Association has been due very largely to this combination which they have been able to offer. RESOLUTION OF CONDOLENCE.

On Tuesday the 17th ult. Excelsior Association, No. 5, Patrons of Industry, spent a very enjoyable evening, not the least among the good things being an oyster supper, after which followed speeches, recitations and singing. There were quite a number of visitors present and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

At a private meeting of the Association held afterwards the following resolution was passed:—

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God to remove from our midst, by death, our dearly beloved sister, Christie Chamberlain, who died on January fifth, 1893. Resolved, that by the death of our sister, her husband and children have lost a true wife and loving mother, and that the sympathy of this association be conveyed to the members of the family, committing them in their bereavement to the care of him who doeth all things well.

Signed on behalf of the Association.

J. HUTCHINSON, President.
E. I. HAIR, Treasurer. AGGIE HAIR, Secretary.

TRAINMEN EXCITED.

ALLANDALE, Jan. 30.—There is a good deal of excitement among the members of the local lodge of Railway Trainmen over a peculiar case that happened at Gravenhurst. It appears that a member of the lodge named Samuel Murray was disabled while engaged as a brakesman, and for several years lay helpless at his home in Gravenhurst. He had lost all the power of his lower limbs and had all the symptoms of kidney complaint coupled with a complete collapse of his nervous system. His case was given up by seven or eight prominent doctors, and the Grand Trunk Railway paid him his total disability claim. His total disability claim was passed by the local lodge here, and sent on to the Grand Division. The strange part of the thing comes now. Murray has been completely restored to health and states that he does not want the money, while the lodge members here claim he is entitled to it, and should have it. Murray was cured by using Dodd's Kidney Pills.

FRAZERVILLE.

From Our Own Correspondent.

The Rev. J. Kilgour gave a very interesting and instructive lecture in the Frazerville church on the evening of the 26th January, 1893. The subject of the lecture was "The strange and wonderful in and around human nature." The church was crowded with a most intelligent and appreciative audience. The receipts were large. Rev. Mr. Bennett, Presbyterian minister of Springville, opened with prayer. Rev. J. Drummond, of Centreville, closed a profitable evening with prayer.

Experience Tells It.

A triumph in medicine was attained when experience proved that Scott's Emulsion would not only stop the progress of Pulmonary Consumption, but by its continued use health and vigor could be fully restored.

Dr. Low's Sulphur soap is a delightful shampoo. It cleanses the scalp and darkens grey hair.

THE GOOD OLD DITCH AGAIN.

THE Dominion Parliament has met, the speech from the throne has been delivered, the estimates have been brought down and yet not a whisper about the Trent Valley Canal. At the last general election the stampers for the Conservative party led the people to believe that the Trent Valley Canal was only second in importance to the "N.P." We were assured the government meant to construct it at once. The late lamented Sir John sent a telegram promising an appropriation of several millions, more or less, and a local member even staked his seat on the bona fides of the government in the matter. Yet where is the appropriation? Where is the seat resigned? Echo answers, where—is last year's snow? Was there ever a grosser piece of political trickery than this same Trent Valley Canal scheme? Time after time the electors have been fooled into returning Government supporters on the strength of promises to construct this work, till it would be thought that electors, with common sense enough to go in out of the wet, would refuse to swallow the bait. Yet when another election comes on we shall have the mouth-worn Trent Valley Canal promises brought into play again. There seems to be another election in the air now; for a correspondent of the local Government organ is writing up the good old ditch again. He must be a solid Government supporter, for he indignantly reproves the Town Council and the Board of Trade for not pushing the construction of the canal. These two bodies have as much to do, in the way of power, with building the Trent Valley Canal as they have to do with the building of the Dover tunnel. Why didn't the correspondent pitch into the local members, and the Government, and lay the lash on their guilty backs? The people of this locality are willing to suffer a good deal, but it's the last straw to see any person writing to revive the discussion of that utterly discredited political fake. Tar and feathers are a dress suit compared to the dressing such a person should receive.

THE Toronto city council have refused to accept a tender for water mains from a Hamilton firm because it came from an outsider. On straight business principles this was hardly the correct thing to do, but it will give the extra work to Toronto workmen. The building of the Edison drain, Peterborough, was given to a Toronto firm. In future Peterborough will have to give Toronto a "taste of her own medicine," and while doing so retain for our own workingmen the labour performed by city contractors. It is a poor rule that will not work both ways.

—Rev. Wm. Buchanan, pastor of the Norwood Methodist church, will assist Rev. Mr. Locke at the quarterly services to be held in the George street church next Sunday.

MAGNIFICENT FANCY WORK

Made Solely by the Singer Sewing Machine—Inspection Invited and Instructions Given Gratuitously.

When you want your eyes to feast on beauty and see an abundance of fine and unique fancy articles made by machine alone and not by handiwork, call at the local office of the Singer Sewing Machine Company, just opposite the market, where you will be warmly welcomed by the genial agent, Mr. W. Laishley. The Singer is the greatest machine extant in every way. The Peterborough office is a marvel of gorgeousness and splendour. All these costly and artistic articles are made by the Singer machine alone without any contrivance or attachment, and the best of all is that a competent lady instructor gives free lessons on the art of making this work to all who purchase an improved machine, and will take the slight trouble of calling and leaving their names at the Singer office with Mr. Laishley. The public are cordially invited to visit the company's office here and see for themselves the wonderful and almost phenomenal results achieved. Mr. Laishley has on hand here a great supply of all the various machines made by the great company and there are the handsomest finished, most light and durable as well as the most perfect and true "aids to womankind" out. He can satisfy the tailoress, the harnessmaker, the shoemaker, the corset manufacturer, the milliner, the fancy goods manufacturer, and all other classes who have any use for a sewing machine. The fancy work in the office here, it might again be mentioned, would repay a visit from any lady and she is sure to go away delighted at what the Singer can do in this line. dtf

A SUCCESSFUL SOCIAL.

Given Last Night Under the Auspices of St. Peter's Court, No. 21, C. O. F., in Their New Hall.

One of the pleasantest and most agreeable entertainments of the season was held in the spacious and beautiful new lodge rooms of St. Peter's Court, No. 21, Catholic Order of Foresters last evening. There was an immense number present and each one voted it the "best time out." Bro. J. P. Bryson the wide awake recording secretary of the order presided in a capital manner and the following meritorious opening programme was carried out under him to the satisfaction of all:—

Solo.....Mary Green.....W. J. Watson
Song....The day I licked O'Brien....T. Jervais
Mouth organ solo.....E. Hickey
Duet.....Mr. and Mrs. Ball
Song...Memory of my Mother...Messrs. Costello, Hickey and Moore.
Mouth organ solo....My Love is the Man in the Moon.....E. Hickey

Each number was applauded liberally. Afterwards the devotees of Terpsichore were allowed full swing, and the many dance kept up until the early morning hours. About 75 couples participated in this favourite recreation, and the gathering was of the jolliest and most friendly character. Boyle's full orchestra rendered admirable selections to the delight of all. Mr. M. Costello was the capable master of ceremonies, and did his duty well. Between each dance songs were sung in fine style. Light refreshments were served by the Foresters to their guests in the lodge dining rooms. This was the Catholic Order of Foresters' first effort in the line of entertainment, and they have no reason to feel disconcerted at the success or enjoyment of their initial "at home," accepting the opinion of the guests present as a criterion.

HAVELOCK.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Havelock wants a grist mill.

Mr. E. Lynch, of Toronto, was in the village last week.

Mr. Meharry, of Port Perry, was in Havelock last Saturday.

Owing to the severity of the weather several cellars have suffered greatly from the frost.

Mr. I. N. Ackerman is getting material on the ground to build a two story brick cottage next summer.

Mr. Jos. McKee, having purchased a farm in the township, is moving hence from Belmont.

The following were elected members of our school board on Tuesday:—D. McIntyre, Wm. Mathieson, B. H. McAllister, T. Milne, J. Maiden, A. Copp.

The Oddfellows held an open meeting in their lodge room on Thursday night. An excellent supper was got up by their wives and a very enjoyable time was spent.

The concert in the Presbyterian church on Friday night was a decided success, and a nice sum was realized.

There is a great demand for houses to rent — not an unoccupied house in the village.

Reeve McAuley has returned from attending the county council at Peterborough.

The many friends of Mrs. C. Fanning will be glad to hear that she is recovering from her recent illness.

The assessor starts on his rounds in a few days.

Mr. E. Williams has bought Mr. McBride's stock of flour and feed, and has opened out a flour and feed store.

Mr. Bisnett, of Arden, will open a general store here on the 1st of March in Hamilton's Block.

GOLDWIN SMITH.

He Tells the New Yorkers That Canadians Want Annexation.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Prof. Goldwin Smith of Toronto was a guest at the Victoria yesterday. He intends to call upon the President-elect, either in this city or in Lakewood, and if possible obtain his views as to the policy of the new Administration toward Canada.

"We are hopeful," said Prof. Smith, "that the Cleveland Administration will meet us half way in the matter of annexation. Were the question put to a vote in the Dominion I believe a large majority would be returned for a union with the States. It must come sooner or later. The moment the union is established there will be an extraordinary development of the agricultural and mineral interests of the Dominion. We are after a better market, and we trust that changes will be made in the McKinley tariff law that will ensure free trade between the two countries.

"The public debt of Canada," continued Prof. Smith, "is about $280,000,000. The country is poor, but has remarkable possibilities. All that is needed is American enterprise to open up the mineral and other wealth of the Dominion and prosperity will result. Should Canada be annexed I believe the votes of the people would be about equally divided between the two great parties."

THE CZAR'S PERIL.

The Autocrat of the Russias Said to Be Imperiled by a Bomb.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—A report of an attempt upon the Czar's life was circulated here late last evening. The Czar and several members of his suite are said to have been injured by a bomb. No further details were given.

At the Russian Embassy all knowledge of such an attempt is denied.

A FRENCH TALE.

The English Home Office Orders a Murderess Released.

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Marguerite Dixblanc, convicted in 1872 of murdering her mistress, Mme. Riel, has been released from prison by order of the Home Office.

The crime was discovered April 8, 1872, by Mme. Riel's daughter, a member of the French company then performing here, who arrived from Paris early that morning and on going to No. 13 Park-lane was informed that her mother was absent.

Certain doors were found locked and the keys and the cook were missing. This led to an examination of the house and Mme. Riel's dead body was discovered in the pantry. Death appeared to have been caused by strangulation, as a rope was still round her neck, though there were marks of violence. Gold, bank notes, bonds and stocks had been stolen from the safe.

Marguerite Dixblanc, the cook, was known to have been in the house alone with her mistress on the 7th. She was tracked to Paris and arrested. She was convicted and sentenced to death, but the jury recommended her to mercy on the presumption that there had been a quarrel. The authorities commuted the sentence to imprisonment for life.

Earthquake at Stromboli.

ROME, Feb. 1.—Stromboli, the northeasternmost of the Lipari Islands in the Mediterranean Sea off the north coast of Sicily, was visited by a severe earthquake yesterday. The volcano at the west extremity of the Islands, which is in almost constant eruption, had an eruption of unusual violence immediately after the earthquake shock. Much alarm prevails among the inhabitants.

Only a Despatch Boat.

BERLIN, Feb. 1.—In the Budget Committee yesterday the Government asked the deputies to vote a battle ship, three corvets, a cruiser, a despatch boat and several torpedo boats. The committee, however, voted only the despatch boat. In view of the Emperor's recent speech for a strong navy, the meagreness of this concession caused much comment.

The Strike in Hungary.

BUDA PESTH, Feb. 1.—Three of the leaders in the agitation that resulted yesterday in a strike of 1500 men employed in the Government small arms factory here have been arrested. Four hundred of the strikers wanted to go back to work to-day, but the others threatened them and they consequently refrained from returning.

COMPLETELY REMOVED

his Dry Goods Business from the old and antiquated store in Burnham's Block to his new and more central premises,

365 George Street,

ROWSE'S OLD STAND.

We part from the old stand with regret. But it is not our fault that the trade is going up town. We see that it is going, and who can control the movements of trade? For our part, we think the sensible thing is to follow.

Being now comfortably settled in the centre of trade, we are fully prepared for business, and hope to be able to serve all our old customers and many more new ones.

The ladies are especially invited to call and look through our handsome new premises, where they will find us surrounded with the latest modern store improvements, increased shelf room, better light, and other accessories for the more effective display of our large and well assorted stock of Staple and Fancy Dry Goods.

BARGAINS as BIG and as REAL as ever. Some lines of goods slightly damaged by smoke to be sold for whatever they will bring.

SOMETHING TO REMEMBER, If you're a weak or ailing woman:—that there's only one medicine so sure to help you that it can be guaranteed. It's Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. In building up overworked, feeble, delicate women, or in any "female complaint" or weakness, if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back. It's an invigorating, restorative tonic, a soothing and strengthening nervine, and a safe and certain remedy for woman's ills and ailments. It regulates and promotes all the proper functions, improves digestion, enriches the blood, dispels aches and pains, brings refreshing sleep, and restores health and strength.

In all the chronic weaknesses and disorders that afflict women, it is guaranteed to benefit or cure, or the money is refunded.

Nothing else can be as cheap. With this, you pay only for the good you get.

The Hog's Protest.

I feel indignant, sir, because I am made an object of comparison with sundry depraved specimens of the genus homo. For instance, a few days ago a man sat at my master's fireside and squirted tobacco juice all over my mistress' nice, clean floor. Of course the lady was highly indignant, and I don't blame her, but when I heard her tell my master, with her eyes blazing fire, that that man was a regular hog, I felt indignant myself. For why should she have called him a hog? Why, I wouldn't touch a bit of their nasty tobacco if I was starving, and if I did take any I would eat it and not make my surroundings filthy by ejecting the juice from my mouth. I know I am only a hog, but I don't take into my mouth anything except what I want to eat. Another case: The hired man came home from town one day so drunk he could scarcely move. When he attempted to feed me he tumbled into my stye, and I had to root him out of the way to get my corn. Now, I never in my life acted in any such disgraceful way; so what on earth did my master mean when he told the hired man that he acted like a hog? Why, I was so mad at the insult to my kind that I grunted as hard and vehemently as I could. Of course, being only a hog, I couldn't swear as a man would have done; but the idea of my getting drunk as that fool of a hired man did! Why, when he tumbled into my pen and his bottle of whisky fell out of his pocket and got broken, do you supposed I would touch the nasty stuff? Not much. I prefer good, wholesome swill. —Farmer's Review.

Pulverization.

The general value of the art of pulverizing the soil, as a principle, should be well understood by cultivators. The difference between the effect of reducing a soil to fine powder, and merely breaking it up into lumps and clods, is not always appreciated. The farmer plows his field once, goes over the rough surface once with the harrow, and wonders why the resulting crop is so poor. Not every one makes this mistake. An Ohio farmer found that every day's work with his team in reducing to fine powder the soil for a coming crop, was worth ten dollars to him. The same difference exists between the rough-spaded garden bed, and its soil when made "as mellow as an ash-heap." A fine soil retains and hands out moisture, allows the free extension of roots, assists seeds in germinating, diffuses the enriching elements of manures, and brings moisture and fertility fully and freely into contact with roots and the seeds of coming crops.

How to reduce land to this desirable condition is an art to be well understood. The gardener uses freely the steel rake and other tools, the farmer the cultivator and smoothing harrow. As a preliminary of vital importance is perfect underdrainage. A bed of mud cannot be pulverized. Sometimes the addition of barn manure and sand greatly aids the operation in gardens.

Notes for Work.

Pruning can be done on mild days.

Make out the list of seed needed in the spring.

Keep the stock comfortable. Supply a variety of food.

Keep the stables and sheds clean by hauling out the manure.

After the pruning is done, gather up and burn all of the brush clean.

Get the grass and clover seed needed so as to be ready to sow next month.

If sod land is to be planted in the spring, plow it now at the first opportunity.

In planning out the garden, arrange to keep the ground occupied during the growing season.

This month is the best month to plan out the season's work and then arrange to carry it out.

A sled will be an advantage in hauling out the manure and hauling in the wood and fodder.

Straw For Sheep.

Galen Wilson tells in Home and Farm how he wintered fifty ewes and twenty-five lambs on straw. He fed this liberally in bunks, always giving them more than they would eat up clean. In addition he gave the ewes two cents' worth of barley each a week, when the grain was worth fifty cents a bushel, and kept an accurate account. The lambs had only a cent's worth of barley. These flocks came through the winter in excellent condition, and the ewes dropped and raised a full complement of strong, vigorous lambs. Soon after the twenty-five lambs went to pasture in spring, a passing butcher, noticing their good condition, wanted to purchase them for slaughter. Two of them had not eaten a particle of grain, as they never would go to the feed trough.

"La Cadena" and "La Flora" brands of cigars are undoubtedly superior in quality and considerably lower in price than any brand imported. Prejudiced smokers will not admit this to be the case. The connoisseur knows it. S. DAVIS & SONS, Montreal.

BARN FOR CATTLE.

Plan of One Large Enough to Hold Forty Cows.

A barn for holding forty cows, four horses and sufficient hay to last most of the winter is here shown. The dimensions of the barn are shown in the cut. The whole appears to be under a gable roof, the front gable end being over the entrance to the hay shed at A. It is 81 feet from the ground to the ridge pole. The hay shed is open to the roof, but over the other compartments are lofts which will hold from ten to twelve tons of hay. These lofts form, as it were, broad shelves around three sides of the hay shed.

Upon the stable side of this main entrance the eaves come down to within 6 or 8 feet of the ground, while on the other side, owing to the sloping nature of the ground, the height of the outer wall to the eaves is over 10 feet. As the barn is built somewhat on a slight slope this enables the roof to be carried on over the 16 feet forming one end of the cow shed, otherwise the eaves would come too low over the entrance B for the cows to enter. In case it should be desired to build such a barn on a level the roof over the projection of the shed should be pitched at a less incline or even a nearly flat tin roof put on.

In building such a barn one would naturally suggest some improvements on this plan. One would be an alley way in front of each row of cows for feeding them. It would also be well to have water in the stable so they need not be turned out. The boards are put on up and down and well battened with 3-inch strips of spruce, hemlock or pine. No windows are shown and no doors in the stable or implement room, which could be located to suit one's convenience.—Farm and Home.

Young men and women, have no secrets from your mother. Carry to her your joys and sorrows, your foibles and sins. She is the human form of the divine consoler and savior.

O, wad some Pow'r the giftie gie

There are some wicked people, remarks Rochefoucauld, who would be less dangerous if they did not have so many good qualities. We add: There are some good people who would be more influential if they did not have so many bad qualities.
